Visit of Miss Wakefield Recalls Loss of Ill-fated Steamer

Miss Mary Wakefield, of St. Augustine, Florida, who is visiting relatives and friends in this city after an absence of many years, is one of the heroines of the ill-fated steamer, Champlain, which was wrecked on Lake Michigan, near here, about 30 years ago.

Miss Wakefield was a passanger on the boat, unable to swim, but when she found herself with many others, in the water, she saved a child which was struggling near her, by catching its clothing in her teeth, and herself holding to a piece of floating timber, kept both herself and the child afloat until they were picked up by a rescuing party.

Francis, the six-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. John Parsons, Jr., died at the home of his parents near Atwood Wednesday evening, September 12, after an illness of two weeks, and was buried at the Holland cemetery Friday at noon. Death was caused by typhoid pneumonia, and although his death was hourly expected during the last few days of his illness, it came as a distinct shock to all his neighbors and friends with whom he was a great favorite. Mr. and Mrs. Parsons have the sympathy of the entire community.

A very sad accident happened at the farm home of Rollie Baumbach near Atwood last Thursday forenoon. While men were engaged in moving a house to take the place of the one destroyed by fire last spring, Mr. Baumbach's son Rolley, Jr., attempted to move the capstan ahead while the sweep was still in place and the cable was attached to the house. When the capstan started and tightened the cable the drum was turned and the sweep in turning struck the boy on the head killing him instantly. Rolley was a greatly loved lad and was thirteen years old on the day of his death. Mr. and Mrs. Baumbach have the sympathy of all in their bour of grief.

FARMERS WON IN BALL GAME

BUSINESS MEN BLOW UP IN NINTH INNING

Hundreds of People Visit Ellsworth On Barbecue Day—Music Great

Friday, September 14, 1917, was the date of the third annual barbecue and Ellsworth certainly lived up to her reputation as a liva town and a good entertainer on such an occasion. This year the Antrim County Republican club held their annual meeting in union with the barbecue and helped to make it a decided success.

The day started badly, the sky being overcast and a light rain falling until about half past nine, when tha rain ceased and things began to brighten up.

The band was on band between showers in the morning and helped to entertain the early morning arrivals. but it was not until about 10:30 that the real crowd began to arrive. From that time on things were in full swing.

The sports started in the morning with a baseball game between the Ellsworth school and the Mitchell school, the game being won by the former.

A crowd estimated from fifteen hundred to two thousand had congregated by 12:30 at which tima the ox were cut up and served and if any among the huge crowd went away hungry it was by reason of their being too bashful to step to the front for their share.

Following dinner the Republican club took charga of the affair. The Metropole orchestra of East Jordan had been engaged to assist in tha program, and they certainly lived up to their reputation of being the best orchestra in Northern Michigan.

E. R. Harris, the club's president, acted as master of ceremonies and certainly handled his job in a finished, workmanlike manner. Owing to short notice, outside speakers had not been secured, but their places were ably taken eare of by tha Rev. Prentice and the Hon. Thos. D. Meggison, both of Central Lake.

Mr. Prentice was the first one called on and the only way in which he disappointed the immense crowd was in the briefness of his address. After a few more numbers by the orchestra, tha judge enlled on the main speaker of the afternoon. "Tom" was in fine form and gave the best talk he has ever given here, pronounced by many in fact to be the best ever heard in Ellsworth.

Following the speaking the main event for many took place, this being the ball game between the Farmers under the leadership of C. E. Bearss and the business men managed by J. H. Elzinga. The game was a close one, the score being 2-1 until the first half of the ninth inning, when the farmers annexed three runs, making the final count 5 to 1.

The day wound up with two dances one at Harris Hall and one at Boss hall, and those who attended report a good time.

Nearly every city or town in this section of the country was represented and all visitors returned to their homes with words of praise for Ellsworth and the people, both of the town and the surrounding country.

BOOKS WANTED FOR SOLDIERS

EVERY RESIDENT ASKED TO HELP IN WORK

Tbe Carnegie Public Library Will Accept and Forward Books and Magazinee

If you cannot fight at the front, you can send a book to the man you are aending to the front to do your fighting for you. Tho government bas asked the American Library Aasociation to assume responaibility for supplying the camps and cantonments with reading material. Every group of aoldiers, small as well aa large, is to have books.

The library committee of the Charlevoix Woman's Club, in connection with the Carnegie Library of this city has been asked to get donationa of books and magazines in Charlevoix. These books will be aent to the various campa and cantonmenta throughout the country and will be made available to the aoldiers, eitber directly or through such agencies as have facilities for distribution of books.

If you will write in each book your name and address, the soldier who reads it will know tbat sameone in Charlevoix is his friend and stands ready to help him.

The following is suggested as to the booka and magazinea desired:

Poorly printed, uninteresting, obviously out-of-date books, are not worth shipping to the man. Tbey should be good and clear and the books in fair condition.

Books of good atorica will be wanted most, booka of adventure, aea storics, detective storiea, historical novels and collections of short stories especially humorous ones. Such authors aa Kipling, Doyle, McCutcheon, O'Henry, Stockton, Brindlóss, Tarkington, Hopkinson, Smith, Oppenheim, etc., have been found popular authors with men. oGod poetry and drama can be utilized.

All the men must be helped by these libraries. Some af them have not established reading tables. Some of the books must tberefore be light and easily read.

Foreign language study booka, eapecially French grammar and dictionaries are much needed—possibly more than any other non-fiction books. In one camp nearly one-fifth of the men are studying French. They ahould have easy readers and stories besides their text books.

Books of travel, biography and hiatory, especially lives of heroes and travela in the countriea at war.

Technical books on aviation, wireless, telegraphy, aubmarines, automobiles, signaling, first aid and hygiene drawing and lettering.

Fresh, attractive magazines are alao desired—such aa American, Century, Harper'a, Everybody's, Popular Mechanics, Popular Science Monthly, Scientific American, Saturday Evening Post, etc. None over two years old should be included.

The material ia needed at once. Why not select today the booka which you are willing to give? Do not give worthless, unattractive books, but some of your good, fresh, interesting and valuable onea.

Send the books and magazines to the Carnegie Library between the hours of 2:00 to 6:00 and 7:00 to 8:30 p. m. upon any week day. If you cannot send the books and magazinea notify the librarian or Mrs. J. L. Crane, either by telephone or mail and they will be called for. DO IT TODAY.

Rev. Pickart had charge of tha acrvicea at the Chriatian Reformed church at Ellsworth Sunday.

Jake Veenstra haa arrived at his home after apending about two months in the Lockwood hospital at Petoskey. Mr. Klooster took him home Saturday.

We wish to extend our heartfelt aympathy to our friends Mr. and Mrs. J. Parsons, Jr., and Mr. and Mrs. R. Baumbach and family in the loss of their loved ones.

This is the weatber we all have been wanting. Its hard telling though what it will be when this is read the latter pnrt of the week. Our local grocer advertised for warmer weather last week as you perhaps noticed. It pays to advertise allright.

It appeors that the practice afforded the Ellsworth baseball team by a few farmers from Atwood just before the barceue made the team over confident. Judging from tbe results of tbe game at the barbecue it becomes apparent that the Ellsworth team were not yet over their marathon races run around the diamond the Saturday before. At least they didn't seem to be able to reach home plote.

DEATH CAUSED BY TYPHOID-PNEUMONIA

Lily White

"The Flour the Best Cooks Use."

has been on the market more than thirty-three years; more than a third of a century.

During all that time it has given splendid satisfaction for both bread and pastry baking.

Lily White has made good because it has been made right. There has been no guesswork in connection with its manufacture.

We know why Lily White Flour is better; why it has always produced such pleasing results.

Furthermore we know why it will continue to be "The flour the best cooks use."

A single sack will win your admiration.

LATE CROPS MAY BE SAVED

PROTECTIVE MEASURES THAT ARE ADVOCATED

Simple Precautions May Save Labor of Entire Year—Some Suggestions

When the moisture of the air in immediate contact with the earth is condensed at temperatures above freezing, dew is formed; when at temperatures below freezing, frost is deposited. Frost is, therefore, the moisture of the air condensed at freezing temperatures upon plants and other objects near the surface of the earth.

Its pretty tough to raise a crop up to within two or three weeks of maturity and then have it destroyed by a frost in a single night. Very often this may be prevented and with a little work one could protect a field or several fields in fact. As the conditions favorable for the formation of early frost in the fall are usually of short duration, protective measures ordinarily will have to be employed only for a day or two. After the first fall frost there is generally a return to normal temperatures for a number of days, possibly a week or more, during which time immature vegetables or plants that have been protected will continue to grow or ripen.

Contrary to many opinions, the plants or surfaces upon which frost is deposited must possess freezing temperature, although the temperature of the air a few feet above the surfaces may be several degrees above freezing. So when the thermometer on the porch gets around 38 or 40 degrees, initial preparations should be made. By a comparatively simple method fields of beans, potatoes, corn, etc., could be saved.

Get some grain or burlap sacks and pack these with damp stable manure or any kind of hay or straw. If straw is used it will have to be dampened by immersing in a barrel of water. Distribute these sacks through the field in rows about 100 feet apart and the sacks about 50 feet apart in the row. Have a thermometer in the field, preferably on the ground and when it becomes necessary to protect, a small amount of coal oil is poured upon each sack and ignited. It is usually unnecessary to fire more than every second or fourth sack the remainder being left for later occasions. These sacks will burn with a smouldering fire for several hours. Twenty to twenty-five bags would protect a five acre field and 100 bushels of beans or potatoes saved now days would well repay the few hours labor of preparation.

NOW IS TIME TO GET REWARD

WHEN STATE AND FEDERAL AID PAYS OVER HALF

Charlevoix County Road Improvement Association Holds Second Meeting at East Jordan

The Charlevoix County Road Improvement Association met Monday evening at the Red Cross rooms in East Jordan, and a long and interesting meeting it was. Delegates were present from Charlevoix, Boyne City and Boyne Falls, as well as several of the farmers from the surrounding townships. All agreed that the day for building gravel roads had passed, except those roads where only a few farmers reside. Concrete, concrete, concrete, is here to stay, was loudly voiced by one and all. How best to build it was the all-absorbing question.

One thing is certain, the only road that can be built by Federal Aid (which means the county only has to pay 35 per cent of the cost) is the Dixie Highway and West Michigan Pike.

Tha only road thus far laid out for double state reward, is the Mackinaw Trail and the road from Boyne Falls to Boyne City, for which the state pays $6,800 per mile.

Our road commissioners were highly extolled for their good work, but the present system of building roads was severely condemned. What's the use of building a road today which will have to be rebuilt tomorrow? Or to be more exact, what's the use of building a road this year which will have to be repaired next year? And those who use the roads know that this is absolutely true.

The bonding proposition came in for its all important share of discussion. Its simplicity is what puzzles us all. People are so accustomed to hear the bad results of some bonding plans, that it causes that arch enemy, fear, to enter largely into the imagination, that we are mortgaging our farms, our children, and ourselves, and that it will be a great burden. Whereas, the facts are, there is absolutely no truth in it. Remember, a fact is truth, and truth is a fact. Here are the facts. The government gives us 50 per cent and the state 15 per cent on the Dixie Highway and West Michigan Pike, leaving us only 35 per cent for the county to pay. Shall we take this beautiful, magnificient gift, or shall we refuse it ?

Regarding the Mackinaw Trail and the branch to Boyne City. The state gives us for this road, $6,800 which is nearly half its cost. Shall we refuse that too?

Now for the present, we only get $3,400 regular state reward for any roads that the commissioners, both state and county, and the Board of Supervisors of the county, decide to give us. But that is no mean gift either.

Then the commissioners go on building just as they are now doing, and in the same financial way, only many, many, level headed business men, think that a 9 foot concrete road would be much cheaper in the end, than the gravel, and that the concrete is really what ought to be built instead.

At the next meeting, which will be held Monday, October 1, at Boyne City, these questions will all be threshed out, again and again, until all quarters of the county are fully satisfied, that the golden rule is a good rule, and we will all follow it.

Every Farmer In Michigan Should Read This—

Michigan Must Produce 20% More Winter Wheat in 1918--Now is the Time to Do Your Bit

The Michigan farm-business man is now being put to the test.

To meet the most serious food situation the world has ever faced, our Secretary of Agriculture has announced that this Nation must produce one billion bushels of wheat in 1918. An eighty-three million bushel rye crop is also part of the war agricultural program.

To do his utmost toward making this enormous yield a reality is the patriotic duty of every wheat and rye grower in the United States;

—a task not imposed upon our Nation as a whole—but an obligation resting upon every owner of wheat producing soil in the land.

Are you planning to do your share? Are you making a sincere effort to plant and raise more wheat—and better wheat —than your acres have ever yielded before?

If so, your reward will not be limited to the thought of a duty done in a big national undertaking,—for, the government guarantee of a minimum price of $2.00 per bushel for the 1918 harvest will also make your profits proportionally satisfactory. Never before have the combined incentives—Patriotism and Profits—been more harmoniously blended, or more generously repaid.

But if you have not yet realized the task ahead, the time is not too late. The course of action is plainly marked—divided into two broad aims:

First, can you put more acreage under cultivation? There must be 20 per cent more land sown to winter wheat in Michigan this Fall if the Billion Bushel program be accomplished. Make every acre do its duty! The "fence corners," the "left over" spots,—all should be productive.

Second, use nothing but the best of seed which has been cleaned and treated. The government two-dollar-a-bushel guarantee enables you to do this. Furthermore, good seed not only produces more abundantly, but it also weathers the winter better.

Also, labor shortage—the growing lack of man-power on our farms—makes necessary the utilization of every tractor, horse, or piece of farm machinery. Farm resources must be mobilized on the productive fields at home before our fighting men can "do their bit" on the battle fields abroad.

We suggest a friendly inter-country rivalry. Find out the high mark of production for our county—and the ones next to us. "Hitch your wagon" to a figure 20 per cent still greater—and see if our county can't do even better!

The Michigan Agricultural College and other Agricultural institutions are working for and with you. Both your banker and the millers have volunteered to help you get special seed wheat if you apply for it.

The market is assured—the demand cannot be over-reached no matter what the output.

A hungry world is knocking at our door—eager to pay a price which means good profits.

Your part is strictly up to you.
Do your share! Now!

RALLY 'ROUND THE RED CROSS

CHARLEVOIX WOMEN SEEM TO LACK PATRIOTISM

Why Is It That a Few Faithful Ones Have to Carry the Burden of Work in Our City

The question has been asked, and asked again and again—"Whst is the matter with the women of Charlevoix?" "Why do they not lend their aid to the great work the local uait of the Red Cross is trying to do?" This article is written, with the bope of arousing the women of our city, young and old, to a sense of their duty in this, the most trying hour that this country has ever had.

The local Red Cross organization has accomplished much. But, be it a shame to say it, much lf not most of the credit for the work thus far done, must be given to our summer visitors. The women of our Hebrew summer residents havs given generously of their time; the women of the Charlevoix Resort have done splendidly; the women of the Chicago Club have "done their bit." A few noble women of Charlevoix have sacrificed and labored whole-heatedly for the Red Cross. But they have had no help of any kind from scores, aye, hundreds of women and girls of our city who should have rallied to their aid when the first call was issued for volunteers in this great Army of Mercy.

The men have contributed liberally of money, and the local unit does not lack for funds. But they do lack volunteers to help make up the many necessary and useful articles that the American Red Cross requires ln its work of alleviating the sufferings of the wounded, and making more comfortable the lot of those of our soldiers who may escape the bullets of the Huns.

Women, and women alone, can do these things. Men cannot knit and sew. The writer cannot believe that the women of Charlevoix are less patriotic, less anxious to do their share in this great struggle between democracy and despotism, between Christianity and barbarism such as the world never dreamed could exist, than the women of other cities and towns. Yet it is the pitiful, the shameful truth, that the work thus far has fallen on the shoulders of but a few, when it should have been gladly borne by the shoulders of the many.

YOU, dear lady, if you have not aided the American Red Cross, are indirectly aiding the Germans. YOU young girls, if you are not doing your bit for the boys in the trenches, are indirectly helping the Huns to rob America of her heroic sons. This war is for ALL, not for a few. It is for YOU, as well as for me. It is as much the duty of those whose sons and husbands have been exempted, or have not yet been drafted, as much the duty of those who have no sons or husbands to go, to lend their aid to America, as it is the duty of those who have already suffered the pangs of seeing their loved ones leave for the front, to "rally 'round the flag." Shame be it said, some women have said—"Oh, of course SHE is interested; SHE has a boy in the ranks." Yes, and SHE is making the supreme sacrifice that motherhood can make. SHE ought not to be called on for more. YOU, who have not felt the torture of the heart when your boy marches forth to war, are the ones who ought to "do your bit," and do it gladly, willingly, loyally and with a singing heart.

There are several womens clubs in Charlevoix. We suggest that the women of these clubs, can show their real American Womanhood by suspending until the war is over, and uniting in a body with the Red Cross. And the young girls can and should do their bit. Cut out a few auto rides, cut out a few other things, and learn that greatest of all lessons, happiness through sacrifice for others.

The Red Cross needs you. You will be gladly welcomed. There is much that you can do. Take your neigbbor with you, and enlist for the splendid work in which the noble few of our women are engaged.

This is not written at the suggestion of any Red Cross officer or member. It is the outpourings from the heart of one who has seen the splendid work of some of our women, and the cold-hearted indifference of others. And it is written to arouse that indifference if possible.

NO MORE MEN TO GO TO BATTLE CREEK

Until Congested Condition is Relieved Says Telegram Received by Local Board

No more drafted men will be sent to Camp Custer at Battle Creek until further orders, is the text of a telegram received by the local exemption board Tuesday.

This means that the men booked to leave Charlevoix county on Wednesday of this week will be allowed to remain at home to continue their work on the farm or elsewhere until the congested condition at the various camps has been done away with and arrangements made to take care of them upon their arrival.

So far 33 out of Charlevoix's quota of 71 men have reported for duty leaving 38 still to go. Below is the telegram referred to and received by the local board:

STATE OF MICHIGAN
Adjutant General's Office
Lansing
September 24, 1917.

TO ALL BOARDS:

"Washington, D. C., Sept. 22, 1917
Governor of Michigan, Lansing, Michigan. Number 7192. No installment of your quota will be called for on October 3d, to go to Camp Custer, Battle Creek, Michigan. It is understood that camp is not prepared to receive drafted men.

"As soon as it is ready for the receipt of further installments, I shall notify you in ample time to get out your mobilization orders. Crowder."

Adjutant General.

ARGO MILLING COMPANY INSTALLS ELECTRIC POWER

Improvement Will be Appreciated by Patrons of Mill

The Argo Milling Company of this city has installed a 25 h. p. electric equipment, to be used almost entirely for custom grinding which will add greatly to the efficiency of the company's already well equipped plant.

Heretofore farmers wanting custom grinding have been compelled to wait until enough work had accumulated to warrant the expense of starting the big gas engine and with the installation of the new electric equipment, no wait will be necessary, as the plant is in position to take care of this class of work on a moment's notice.

The cost of the new equipment is considerable, and the company deserves the patronage of the community in their effort to give satisfactory service.

We guarantee Firestone, Goodyear, Kokomo, Peerless or Horseshoe tires. Not the cheapest on the market, but the best for your dollars. Benj. Brown. 33tf.

ATROCITIES OF GERMAN SOLDIERS

BURN BOY TO DEATH BEFORE MOTHER'S EYES

Baby Nailed to a Door—Women Ask for Death Rather Than Indignities

"Finding a calfskin nailed to a barn door to be dried, the Germans nailed a baby beside it and wrote underneath the word 'zwei,'" declared Rev. Newell Dwight Hillis to a horrified congregation in New York recently.

Dr. Hillis has just returned from a two months' visit at the front. He exhibited photographs of the results of "a thousand German atrocities."

The crimes, he charged, are inspired by German authorities.

The list of atrocities is based on observations, photographs and affidavits collected for the American Bankers' association in France, Belgium and England during July and August, 1917.

"The Crimes and Atrocities of Germany as the Logical and Inevitable Result of the German Philosophy of Militarism" was the subject of the sermon.

"Here upon this pulpit rests a reproduction of an iron coin given as a token to each German soldier," he said.

"At the top is a German portrait of Deity, and underneath are these words: 'The good old German God.' To encourage the German soldier to cruelty and atrocity against Belgians and French the Deity holds a weapon in his right hand, and to dull his conscience and steel his heart to murder, the token holds these words: 'Smite your enemy dead. The day of judgment will not ask you for your reasons.'

"German efficiency reached its highest point in the discovery of new and horrible devices for torturing old men, helpless women and little children.

Photographs Tell Truth

"The photographs of dead and mutilated girls, children and old men tell no lies.

"These atrocities also were committed not in a mood of drunkenness, nor in an hour of anger, but were organized by a so-called German efficiency, and perpetrated on a definite cold, precise, scientific policy of German frightfulness. It is not simply that they looted factories, carried away machinery, robbed houses, bombed every farm house and granary, left no plow nor reaper; chopped down every pear tree and plum tree with every grape vine, and poisoned all wells.

"Knowing his people through and through, the kaiser called his soldiers before him and gave them this charge: 'Make yourselves more frightful than the Huns under Atilla. See that for a thousand years no enemy mentions the very name of Germany without shuddering.'

Soldiers Degraded

"The German philosophy has dehumanized Germany's officers and

CUMMINS-HARRINGTON

Quiet Wedding Solemnized Last Wednesday Afternoon

A quiet wedding was solemnized last Wednesday afternoon, September 19, at the Congregational parsonage, when Hazel Cummins, of East Jordan, became the bride of Russell Harrington, of Flint, the Rev. C. E. Taggart performing the ceremony. The couple were unattended and left immediately for Flint, where Mr. Harrington has a fine position as motor tester in one of the large automobile factories, and where they will make their future home.

Weekly Ford Sales

The weekly Ford sales reported by J. G. Ekstrom, local representative of the Northern Auto Co., is a sure indication that the sales of this popular little gas wagon are not on the decrease, but rather on the increase. Those who have made investments in this line during the past week are: George Perry, Norwood; C. Vandenberg, Phelps; A. B. Clark, Norwood; Joseph Kemp, Ironton; W. F. Johnston Evelino and the Argo Milling Co. of Charlevoix, who have bought a ton truck.

SECOND LIBERTY BOND LOAN

EFFORT MADE TO INTEREST ALL FARMERS

Distribution of Bonds of First Issue Began Wednesday—Bond Issues Interchangeable

Mr. Mansfield, of the United States Reserve Bank of Minneapolis, Minnesota, was in this county last week organizing a campaign for the floatation of the new liberty bond loan. Mr. Mansfield is intending to prosecute a vigorous campaign to interest the citizens of Charlevoix county in this bond and his efforts should meet with hearty response.

Special effort will be made to interest the farmers in this loan, which will open October 1. The county agriculturists will be enrolled and the utmost use will be made of the organizations they have built up for the distribution of literature and in arranging meetings.

The distribution of the first issue of the bonds will begin through the federal reserve banks, Wednesday, (today.) This has been delayed by the immense amount of work that has had to be done. The total of the subscription was $2,000,000,000 and it is estimated that the deliveries will call for more than $8,700,000 individual bonds, of which $7,000,000 will be in $100 and $50 denominations. The first issue, bearing 3 1-2 per cent interest, will be exchangeable for the new four per cents when the latter are issued, and the department desires that banks, employers and others who made large subscriptions in behalf of the many small subscribers, to be paid for on the installment plan, take as many of the large denomination bonds as possible in return for their interim certificates, exchanging them later for the small denominations. This will save much work and delay.

RECEIVE FINAL ALLOTMENT OF LIBERTY BONDS

Subscribers Can Now Obtain Bonds at Any Time

The Charlevoix State Savings Bank has just received their final allotment of the Liberty Bonds. Subscribers who have not already received their bonds or parties who desire to procure a "Liberty Bond" may do so at any time now by calling at the bank office.

The officers of the Charlevoix State Savings Bank desire to announce that the service of the bank will be given to the public free of charge in taking their subscriptions to the next Liberty Loan which is to be made during the month of October.

COMMERCIAL ASSOCIATION MEETS FRIDAY NIGHT

Business of Great Importance to Come Before Session

The Charlevoix Commercial Association will hold its regular meeting at the I. O. O. F. club rooms on Friday night of this week.

A number of important subjects will be brought up for discussion among which are the final plans for the good roads campaign to be started this fall.

Be on hand yourself and bring a friend who is interested in the welfare of Charlevoix and vicinity.

CADDIES, ATTENTION!

During the golf season just closing, upward of two dozen boys' coats, sweaters and dinner pails have been left in the caddie-house at the links. Many of these articles are in good condition; all of them can be used. They should all be re-claimed by their owners by Thursday evening, when the course closes. I shall be at the links until that time to open the caddie-house. Clothing left will be turned over to charity.

WILL BUILD FINE NEW GARAGE

NORTHERN AUTO CO. PURCHASED VALUABLE SITE

Work on New Building to Start at Once—To be Two Stories and of Brick

The site for the new Ford garage for this city has finally been decided upon, and last week the Northern Auto Co., purchased the property owned by H. S. Harsha, on Clinton street, just west of the Central Drug Store.

The property has a frontage of 88 feet, and runs south to the alley, a distance of 160 feet. According to plans made by the Northern Auto Co., a building covering the entire frontage and running south some 145 feet will be erected, work to commence the first of next week. About one-half of the building will be two stories in height, giving ample storage room on the second floor. Space sufficient for a steam heating plant and coal storage will be excavated at the north end of the lot.

The entire building is to be built of brick with a modern equipment throughout. Plenty of floor space will give ample room for display of Ford products—"Lizzies," trucks and tractors. Mr. Ekstrom states that he expects the new building will be ready for occupancy in about 60 days.

POPULAR YOUNG BUSINESS MAN MARRIED SEPT. 17

Henry W. Partridge Springs a Surprise on His Friends

Henry W. Partridge, bookkeeper and stockholder in the Argo Milling Co., of this city, was united in marriage to Miss Marion Hayes of Detroit, in Greenville, on Monday September 17, at 6:00 o'clock.

Mr. Partridge left the city a few days previous to his marriage on his yearly vacation, and before his departure kept the real reason of his trip a secret. He met his bride in Detroit, when they proceeded to Greenville, where the knot was tied.

The newlyweds visited in Jackson and Grand Rapids before returning, making the return trip by auto. They will make their home in the Partridge cottage on Michigan avenue.

WOMAN'S CLUB MEETING

Libraries and Their Uses to be Discussed by Members

The next meeting of the Woman's Club will be held at the home of Mrs. Jennie Crouter on Auid avenue, Monday, October 1.

Library Committee—Mrs. Crane, chairman, in charge of program.

Selections will be read by members on subject of libraries and their uses. Miss Bon, our librarian, has something interesting to say and music will be provided by music committee. A good attendance is desired.

Given Deserved Promotion

Ward Bennett, coast guard number 1, has been appointed captain of the Coast Guard Station at Benver Island and left Thursday to take charge. Mrs. Bennett and son, Kenter, left Monday to join him there, where they will make their future home. Their many friends in Charlevoix wish them success and happiness in their new home.

CONCRETE ROADS ONLY GOOD ROADS

COUNTY AROUSED TO ENTHUSIASM OVER THEM

Rousing Meeting of County Boards of Commerce at Boyne City Monday Night

Seventy-five members of the Charlevoix Commercial Association attended a good roads banquet held at the Wolverine Hotel in Boyne City Monday night, which was the best yet held in the county. Delegations from East Jordan and Boyne Falls were present, as well as numerous farmers from various parts of the county. It was a "get-together" meeting of those who have come to realize that the only good roads are permanent roads, and about 200 sat down to a splsadid banquet, as guests of the Boyns City Chamber of Commerce.

After a splendid menu, gotten up in "good roads" language, had been disposed of, George H. Van Pelt, as toastmaster, called on Rev. Taggart for the invocation. Mayor Pomeroy of Boyne City welcomed the guests in a happy manner. President McCutcheon of the Boyne City Chamber of Commerce, told why that organization favors good roads, and why the various communities should co-operate to secure them. Chas. B. Wagner, the Boyne City "booster," spoke on why we should bond for good roads, and made plain the advantages of such a plan. "We should bond for good roads, because we need good roads; with government and state aid, we can build permanent roads cheaper than the temporary kind; we should take this aid now, while we can obtain it, tomorrow it may be too late." He enlarged on the Boyne City slogan—"We favor good roads everywhere," which by the way, is a mighty good slogan for every community to adopt. W. F. Tindall told how good roads stimulate business. E. J. Kerchner urged that we mix common sense with road construction, and get the best while we can. S. C. Smith told why banks believe in good roads.

That covered the regular program, but splendid talks were made by others, including an interesting explanation of state and federal aid by George W. Rowe, the well-known fruit farmer. Joseph Sprik of Norwood township spoke from the farmer's standpoint, and made a good argument. Capt. O. E. Wilbur told of early days, with "no roads," and the gradual development which should now culminate in permanent good roads. J. M. Harris spoke of the trials of good roads advocates, and the undeserved censure they often receive, being charged with selfish ends, when in reality they are spending their time and money for the good of all, and urged that everyone work shoulder to shoulder to obtain permanent good roads. Mr. Walton of the State Highway Department gave an interesting talk. Mr. Nash urged that we bond now, build permanent good roads, and let those who will derive the benefit in future years, help pay for those benefits, as 1 1-2 mills will take care of the interest on the $300,000 of bonds, and the county will derive hundreds of times that sum from immediate use of permanent roads, and there will be no expense for up-keep, and we will only have to provide for the ultimate taking care of the original cost which can be spread over as long a term as we desire.

The general committee made a report which was adopted, favoring a bond issue of $300,000 to build permanent concrete roads of not less than sixteen foot width.

Frank Pierce of Boyne Falls, invited the combined Associations to meet in that town next Monday evening for another banquet, and the invitation was accepted with a whoop.

A feature which attracted much favorable comment, was a relief map of the county, on a large table at one end of the dining room. The lakes and rivers were represented by mirrors, the land by moss, and the roads plainly outlined. It was a beautiful and realistic piece of work.

These "get-together" meetings are a splendid thing. By co-operation we can accomplish much. There has been too little of this spirit in the past among our towns, cities and townships. Now that we have awakened at last, let everyone get into the game and "boost" for Charlevoix county, and permanent good roads.

CORRESPONDENCE

MOUNTAIN DISTRICT

The threshers are now in the neighborhood.

Miss Marie Petree spent Monday at Charlevoix.

Wm. Scott has purchased a new Ford from I. Flora.

Fred Kowalske of East Jordan was in the neighborhood on Friday.

Mr. Sanderson, who is now school director, visited school last Friday.

School closed Thursday so that all could attend the fair at East Jordan.

Miss Blanche Flora called at the school for a few moments one day last week.

Miss Carmen Sheldon of Royal Oak was visiting her aunt, Mrs. G. Jardine last week.

Miss Ethel Brintnall, who is teaching at "Three Bells," spent Sunday with her parents near East Jordan.

Wilbur Stokie, who has been visiting at the Newville home for sometime, has returned to his work at Grand Haven.

Mr. Woodworth has resigned his office as teacher of the Bible class and will leave next week for his home in Tennessee.

Mr. and Mrs. Hosegood and Mr. and Mrs. Duffy enjoyed an auto trip last Sunday to Charlevoix and the surrounding country.

Jack Jardine drove a party consisting of Messrs. Jardine, Newville, Scott and Wilson to Boyne City Monday night to attend the good roads meeting.

The Star of Hope Sunday school raised thirty dollars for the Home Missionary Fund. This shows that the Sunday school is always ready to do its bit and lend a helping hand.

Mr. and Mrs. John Seiler, Mr. and Mrs. Newville, Mr. and Mrs. James Seiler and Miss Elizabeth took dinner at the Jardine home on Sunday.

Much interest is being shown in a collection of caterpillars which the school children have obtained. Already two of them have spun their cocoons and the others are being carefully watched.

M. McDonald and mother, and the Misses Beryl and Dorothy McDonald spent Sunday at the Jardine home. They were accompanied by Mr. Doolittle of Belleville, who came up to address the Sunday school.

A party was given at the Newville home last Tuesday evening in honor of the newlyweds, Mr. and Mrs. John Seiler. The evening was spent in music and playing games, after which Mr. and Mrs. Seiler were presented with a rocker with which were sent the best wishes of all.

EVELINE

Harry Coblentz has erected a new horse barn 30 x 30.

John Nasson lost a valuable steer last Saturday from black leg.

School is going in earnest at the Walker school with 38 in attendance daily.

Slight frosts visited us last week. Little damage excepting in the low places.

Ed. Cunningham delivered four beeves to Sam Regers of East Jordan last Saturday.

All the summer people from the Sweet Brier Resort farm have returned to their home again.

Geo McMulkin has acquired the faculty of running his car. There are many others who own cars who would be glad to do as well as George does now.

Breezy Point Farm has a plow for their tractor now and expect to compete with others at the plowing match to be held by the Ironton Grange, October 11.

If autoists realized the damage they are doing to the road under construction they would drive on the lake shore road. The lake shore road is in a passable condition and there is no excuse for tearing up our fresh macadam unless people have business in that vicinity. Lets give the road commissioners a chance to build good roads.

NORTH NORWOOD

Everybody is enjoying the fine weather.

Miss Merie and Emma Klusack spent Sunday at A. West's.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Brown of Detroit are visiting friends in this community.

Mrs. Meech of North Carolina is visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. H. Supernaw.

H. Sprik's two sons from Manton, have been visiting at the home of their uncle, Joe Sprik.

Mrs. Ayers and Mr. Barber from Charlevoix spent a couple days this weeks with Mrs. H. Lohr.

Mr. and Mrs. A. West and Hanley Blanchard left for their home near Grand Rapids Monday, after working for W. Supernaw for the summer.

Quite a number from here went to Boyne City to attend the Good Roads meeting. Among those from here were: Mr. and Mrs. Frank Brown, Mr. and Mrs. A. Lohr and Joe Sprik.

Mr. Huckleberry had the misfortune to break his leg in two places one day last week. It seems he had his horse tied to a rail fence and as he went to untie the horse, the rail slipped and hit his leg, breaking it. At this time Mr. Huckleberry is resting easy.

WILSON

Fair week opens with fair weather.

Silo filling has commenced.

Mrs. Ida Hayner has purchased a Ford and can now spin with the best of them.

Threshing has revealed the fact that the yield of small grains is light, with winter wheat in the lead.

Mr. and Mrs. Abe Stevenson of Rock Elm called on Mr. and Mrs. E. S. Brintnall of Cedar Valley, September 24.

A. Graham is confined to his bed.

Schools commenced in Three Bells September 17, and in Cedar Valley September 24.

Cedar Valley school district No. 2, Wilson, has secured the services of Miss Murphy, a graduate of the Marquette Normal, as teacher.

Corn, beans and potatoes, where not too badly frosted, are gaining slowly and some of it may mature in spite of the backward season.

GOOD BACKS FOR BAD

Charlevoix Residents Are Learning To Exchange the Old Back For a Stranger One

Does your back ache, feel weak and painful?

Do you suffer headache, languor and depression?

Is the urine discolored, passages irregular?

The kidneys may be calling for help.

Weak kidneys cannot do their work.

Give them the help they need.

To cure a kidney backache you must cure the kidneys.

Use a tested and proven kidney remedy.

Doan's Kidney Pills have stood the test.

Convincing proof of merit in Charlevoix endorsement:

Mrs. Rome Pappin, 117 E. Garfield St., Charlevoix, says: "I suffered from my back and kidneys. My back seemed to never stop aching. Every time I tried to bend or stoop sharp, knife-like pains caught me in my back, and I could hardly straighten up. I felt badly all over. Doan's kidney Pills removed the trouble in a short time."

Price 60c, at all dealers. Don't simply ask for a kidney remedy—get Doan's Kidney Pills—the same that Mrs. Pappin had. Foster-Milburn Co., Props., Buffalo, N. Y.

Miss May Stewart of East Jordan conducted a teachers' meeting at the school house here on September 19.

E. R. Evarts and Miss Adah Colden were the guests Sunday of Mr. and Mrs. F. B. Darrah of Petoskey.

A large crowd gathered at the depot here to see the special train bearing the drafted men on their way to Battle Creek.

D. H. Geyer has bought the W. R. Hawkins farm and will move there in a few days. Mr. and Mrs. Hawkins expect to leave in a short time for Onaway.

Mrs. D. H. Herrington writes that she arrived safely at the home of her daughter, Mrs. G. W. Sheatsley, of Tacoma, Washington, and enjoyed the trip. She was accompanied by Mr. and Mrs. Adolph Batchelor, who had been visiting relatives at Petoskey.

Mrs. Frank Hawkins has just received a letter from her son James, now with the troops in France, saying that he and Orlando Johnson, also of Clarion, are well and that both enjoyed the trip across the ocean. He also says that while they like the country there, a sight of the home folks would seem "mighty good."

BARNARD

Rev. C. R. Parshall is the name of the new minister who has been appointed to the Norwood circuit.

The next Ladies Aid meeting will be held with Mrs. Edmund Shapton October 3, who will entertain with a dinner.

Louis Mills, and old time resident of Barnard, who has not been here for thirty years, is here from the northwest on a visit to his brother, Isaac Mills.

Rev. Quinton Walker of Charlevoix preached at Barnard M. E. church Sunday afternoon. A good crowd was in attendance. A. B. Clarke filled the pulpit at the Epworth church in Mr. Walker's place.

Mr. and Mrs. Ela Maltby and family of Cheboygan, Mr. and Mrs. Cetos of Cross Village, motored over and visited Sunday at the home of Mrs. Maltby's sister, Mrs. Fred Swartout.

The Royal Oaks S. S. class held a business meeting and party at the home of Mr. and Mrs. James Block, at which time the class was reorganized and officers elected for the ensuing year, viz: president, Mrs. Jas. Block and secretary, is Mrs. George Block. The next meeting will be in the form of a corn roast or a marshmallow roast, whichever the weather conditions makes preferable, and will be held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Matchett on Thursday evening, October 4. All members and would-be members are cordially invited to come.

Throwing Scares

It has been well said that much of the effort to evade the draft has resulted from undue prominence given to portrayals of the horrors of war. By means of graphic descriptions, and pictures of portions of battlefields, the dangers and sufferings are emphasized until the possible soldier has a distorted impression. Men who might not otherwise be cowards are made such by continual presentation of depressing and terrorizing prospects. It is asserted that as a matter of fact not more than one in ten soldiers are killed and not more than three in ten seriously wounded. Life in the fighting region is not all spent on the firing line but ample opportunity is given for rest in protected places in the rear. No one will dispute General Sherman's statement that "War is Hell," but it is well to keep in mind that many of the horrors of hell may have no real existence.

Lord Northcliffe tells the newspapers that he is stunned by the American war-machine. We are glad that his lordship is so impressed. But the real fellow whom we are trying to make a dent in is the Kaiser.

men. Having full liberty to loot, these Germans become wild beasts.

"During July and August we went from one ruined town to another. In Gerbevillier, standing beside their graves, I studied the photographs of the bodies of 15 old men whom the Germans lined up and shot because there were no young soldiers to kill; heard the detailed story of a woman whose boy of 14, being nearest the age of a soldier, was first hung to a pear tree in the garden, and when the officer and soldiers had left him and were busy setting fire to the next house, she cut the rope, revived the strangled boy only to find that the soldiers had returned, and while the officer held her hands behind her back, his assistant poured petrol on the boy's head and clothes, set fire to him and while he staggered about, a flaming torch, they shrieked with laughter.

Women Ask for Death

"When they had burned all the houses and retreated, the next morning, the prefect of Lorraine reached that Gethsemane and photographed the bodies of 30 men lying as they fell, the bodies of women stripped and at last slain; while in the next village stood the ruined square belfry into which the Germans had lifted machine guns, then forced every woman and child—275 in number—into the little church, and notified the French soldiers that if they fired upon the machine guns, they would kill their own women and children.

"After several days' hunger and thirst, at midnight, these brave women slipped a little boy through the church window, and bade their husbands fire upon the Germans in the belfry, saying they preferred death to the indignities they were suffering. And so these Frenchmen turned their guns, and in blowing that machine gun out of the belfry killed 20 of their own wives and children."

WHY SEED TREATMENT PAYS

Over 3½ per cent of the wheat crop and 1 per cent of the rye crop is lost through smut.

Seed treatment with formaldehyde solution is practically 100 per cent efficient except in a few sections where the soil is badly polluted with smut spores.

The formaldehyde treatment costs less than 5 cents per acre for materials and labor. To this must be added in extreme cases the cost of 20 per cent of the seed grain, the germinating power of which may be destroyed because of seed injury.

In every case the entire cost of the treatment together with possible seed injury is much less than the value of the increased yield which it assures.

COMMUNICATIONS

Read this and understand how we propose to bond for $300,000 and not have it cost us One Dollar or One Cent.

Get the money by selling the bonds. Use it in building the roads —and pay it if we wish in 20 or 25 years, and then if those who may be here then do not want to pay the bonds, they won't have to; for they can renew the bonds for another 20 or 25 years, and let those who may be here at THAT time, pay the bonds as they fall due.

There will be no trouble in selling the bonds. Absolutely none. This has been done many times and can be done again.

We must wake up to the fact that time is going fast, and if we expect to get concrete roads, 65 per cent of which will be paid by the United States government and the state, now is the time to do it, for procrastination is a double-dyed thief and the greatest robber on earth.

Now is the only time there is. There is absolutely no past and no tomorrow. There is ONLY THE ETERNAL NOW. When you have anything to do, do it now, and do it well, if it is worth doing at all.

Yours,
VAN PELT.

We all remember the old pathmasters days. When roads were built by sitting down beside the road telling stories and doing next to nothing. Then came the new system of hiring men and getting a very little more. But that was better than the old way—so is this bonding plan very much better than that plan.

Bonding means getting concrete roads now. Concrete roads that can be used 365 days a year. Good, smooth, clean, dustless roads, and roads upon which you can haul larger and heavier loads than on any other kind of a road.

Bonding means saving 100 per cent on your tires over a gravel road with its ruts and chuck holes. I wonder if the stand-patter realizes the danger from indifference. Can't you wake up and see what it means? We need action—prompt and vigorous. We must get away from the old plaint, "in summer we are too busy and in winter we are too lazy," and adopt a new slogan: "Up and Doing," doing everything and everybody. If the town you live in is no good, try and find a better one. If it is good enough, your duty is to help make it better.

Yours,
VAN PELT.

Wilson Grange

Wilson Grange No. 719 met in regular session Saturday evening, September 22, with a good attendance and one visitor from Peninsular grange. After a brief business session the meeting was addressed by Worthy sister, Mae Stewart, County Commissioner of Schools, who gave an interesting talk on subjects connected with her work for the schools and Red Cross work, after which a good supper was partaken of and afterwards an unusually enjoyable social hour was spent before departing for home.

SLEEPINESS AFTER MEALS.

It Indicates Something Wrong With the Digestive System.

A condition of drowsiness, which may become an irresistible desire to take a nap shortly after eating, is usually a very accurate indication that something is wrong with the digestive apparatus. Usually this form of indigestion is chronic in character, and apparently there is no other evidence that it exists, or at least such evidence would not be detected by ordinary observation.

In such cases the desire to take a nap comes on suddenly, but the nap is a very short one, ordinarily not more than fifteen minutes. Sometimes the desire for these "indigestion naps" comes on at other periods than those immediately following meals, but in such cases this desire comes regularly at certain periods of the day. The cause, however, is the same as in cases where drowsiness comes on immediately after the meal, the difference in time being simply the difference in the interval required for the food to reach the portion of the intestinal tract that is not working properly.

Occasional drowsiness following an unusually hearty meal should not be confused with the type of periodic desire for a short nap referred to here. Such drowsiness indicates simply that the digestive apparatus is temporarily overworked and may be in a perfectly healthy condition. This sort of drowsiness, if indulged, usually persists for several hours, whereas the naps caused by indigestion are always of short duration.—Exchange.

CAREER SEEKING WOMEN.

One Hundred a Day Flock to New York Tempting Fate.

One hundred women a day come career seeking in New York city. This is the figure furnished by Director C. B. Barns of the state bureau of employment. He bases his estimate upon the number of women handled daily by the Travelers' Aid, the number registered at hotels and those registered by the state bureau and other employment agencies.

One hundred women a day, 36,500 a year. A fraction over four every hour; approximately one every time the minute hand crosses the fifteen minute mark.

Mr. Barns estimates that a large percentage of career seekers come from upstate and towns about New York and New Jersey. Probably 50 per cent, he says, come from western states. The smallest portion of the number comes from the south. Some succeed; more fail. Yet always others come, answering the call of the minute hand as it mills round and round like the finger of Fate, beckoning.

Statistics are impersonal. They say nothing of who the women are nor why they come nor what they find instead of what they expect. They don't say there's tragedy in a head shake. And a laugh round the edge of tragedy.

Statistics haven't told the whole story. They do not say that hope, promise, disaster wait a hundred times a day for the woman who comes to New York.—Winifred Van Duzer in New York American.

The Popular Side of the Street.

Owners or renters of retail stores should look out for the side of the street on which the property is located. Illustrative of this is the testimony of a real estate expert in a case some time ago that ground floors on the west side of Broadway, New York, should lease for $150 a front foot more than similar property across the street. The value of a retail business depends on the number of passersby, and the difference in this respect may result in a booming trade on one side of a street and only moderate success on the other. Some men are able to acquire such a reputation for their goods that the people go to them even when they are inconveniently located, but it is a good deal easier in building up a trade to put yourself on the route traversed by the crowds.—Leslie's.

Even Kipling Will Pun.

There is a new story about Mr. Kipling, for which G. F. Monkshood is responsible, having brought it out in his book, "The Less Familiar Kipling and Kiplingana." It appears that a friend asked Kipling whether he would not write on airmen, as he had done on the commanders and crews of submarines. "Perhaps, some day," replied Mr. Kipling. "Oh, but you must!" insisted his friend. "Let's see whether we can hit on a good title." "Well," said Mr. Kipling, after a moment's reflection, "what do you say to 'Plane Tails From the Sky?'"

Might Have Been Worse.

A Wisconsin man says that he was held up to ridicule because some one painted a harness on his horse. But that's nothing to the fun that would have been created if he'd led a set of harness from the barn and then found that the horse within it was only a painted one.—Buffalo Express.

ROUND OAK

Heating Stoves

Our fall stock is now ready for your inspection. When buying a stove, there are a few points we would like to call your attention to. The Round Oak Double Burner is the most famous, the best liked stove in America—the double hot blast—the only one in the world. The double hot blast is a Round Oak invention and gives double efficiency in burning the soot and gas; making the smoke clear. The ordinary single hot blast feeds the fire on one side only, while the Round Oak hot blast feeds all around over entire top of fire producing perfect combustion, more heat, cleaner and less ash, with an economical amount of fuel.

Burns Hard or Soft Coal

You can burn either hard or soft coal in the Round Oak Double Burner. The hard coal magazine is hung at the top, and can be put in or taken out in a moment. For this fuel it excels as a heater. It warms the floor perfectly around the stove, the fire starts quickly and is as quickly checked. It is a stove built to meet your personal demands.

GERMANY HAS LOST

Europe is not the only continent where this world war is being fought. Indeed, where Germany has won a square foot on her own east and west fronts, she has literally lost more than a square yard in other sections of the world. This is worth remembering at a time when we are prone to unduly magnify such a victory as that at Riga. When this war began, the German empire in Europe embraced a total of 208,780 square miles. The German empire outside of Europe, meanwhile, embraced a total of 1,027,820 squnre miles. No specific figures are available on how much of Europe Germany has conquered since she embarked upon her plans of world dominion. But all of Belgium embraces but 11,000 square miles; all of Serbia, but 34,000 square miles; all of Montenegro, but 5,600 aquare miles; the northern quarter of France, but 40,000 squaro miles. Credit Germany with all this conquested territory and throw in 110,000 square miles extra for good measure (to more than compensate for a corner of Russia, etc.) and the German arms have thus far added but 200,000 square miles to autocracy's serfdom. Meanwhile, practically the entire German possession outside of Europe—with the exception of a small sector in East Africa—has been won by the Grand Alliance. In other words, a gain of 200,000 aquare miles (the actual gain is probably much less) is offset by a loss of 1,000,000 square miles. And this is a bad balance for a Kaiserlust which went into this welter of blood for purposes of imperial expansion. Also, it is eloquent encouragement to mobolized civilization which has proclaimed, once and for all, that the imperial German plan shall fail.

In West Africa, German Togoland is invested by the British and French; and German Kamerun has been captured by allied British, French and Belgians. In Southwest Africa, the entire German colony has been captured by forces of the Union of South Africa and Rhodesia. In German East Africa, hostilities are still in progress, but ahout two-thirds of the Protectorate is occupied by British nnd French troops.

In the Pacific, the Samoa Islands were captured by the expeditionary force furnished by New Zealand. German New Guinea was captured by Australians. The Bismark Archipelago, the Solomon Island, and Nauru Island similarly fell before Australian offensive. In the north Pacific, the Japanese have taken the Mariane Islands, the Caroline Islands (east and west) and the Marshall Islands. In China, German Kiautschou is under the dominion of allied British and Jap troops.

This is ths complete German colonial roll. And it is equally a complets roll of German defeat. It is the roll of a million square miles of debit on the accounting sheets of imperial German ambition. It demonstrates what a complete failure—from Potsdam's view-point—this war already is. It shows how tremendously Germany has already lost—despite her comparatively puny advantages in Europe proper.

SUGGESTED USE OF "SELECTED MEN"

It has been suggested that instead of referring to the men in the new national army as "drafted men," the term "selected men" should be used. There is some reason for this suggestion, perhaps, for it is true that the men who have been called to the colors under the new draft law were chosen by a process of careful selection, taking into account their physical fitness and other qualifications necessary for the making of good soldiers. To call them "selected men" therefore, agrees with the facts, while it also serves to distinguish them from soldiers drawn for service under the old-fashioned draft law. It is this, in fact, which has given rise to the suggested use of a different term for the men of the new national army.

There is another way of looking at this question, however. While the term "selected men" may seem to some more honorable and without a trace of the reflection that has attached itself to the other term, the very fact that the nation has adopted the plan of drafting men by the selective process has completely removed all stigma from the word "draft" and has given it a new meaning and significance. The drafted men of today are honored and applauded quite as freely as are the actual volunteers, for it is recognized they are not unwilling conscripts, but are true patriots who are anxious to do their bit and serve the government in whatever place and capacity the latter designates. When called to the colors, after meeting the necessary requirements, they are indeed "selected" men, but they also are "drafted" men and the two terms are interchangeable and equally honorable. And while it may please the fancy of some to be called "selected men," they should realize it is the kind of service they render—not the term by which they are know—that really counts.

WHY NOT?

Why not send Colonel Roosevelt with a hundred thousand volunteers to Russia? He would do more to arouse the wavering spirit of the Russian republic than anything else could. For his fame as a fighter and apostle of democracy is world-wide. His going too Russia would be much like Lafayette coming to America during the war of Independence.

The refusal to use Roosevelt and his volunteer force in the early stage of the war was a bad mistake, which it is not too late to rectify. Lincoln once wrote a general of whom it was said that he desired to make himself dictator: "Remember only successful generals make dictators. Win victories and I will take chances on the dictatorship." If Roosevelt falls down at the front, his career will be ended; if he succeeds the country can afford to take chances on his future.

Perhaps the best defense for hospitals in Europe from German bombs is to remove all marks that identify them as such.

ENCHANTRESS HITS ROW BOAT LAUNCH

OCCUPANTS GIVEN HAIR-RAISING SCARE

Accident Takes All the Joy Out of Anticipated Pleasure Trip —No Damage

Two occupants of a row boat launch had a narrow escapo from n thorough wetting last Monday afternoon about four o'clock, whils in Round Lake just off the Wilbur dock.

The row boat was about to enter the channel just as the Enchantress was leaving the dock for her trip to Boyne City. In making the turn, the two boats met, the larger boat striking tha row boat about amidships. The occupants of tha row boat grabbed the rail of the Enchantress, and with help scrambled aboard. Neither boat was damaged, and besidea the scare no damage was done other than the occupants of the boat getting their feet wet.

A fisherman on the Lumber Co.'s dock witnessed the accident, and seeing the hats of the occupants of the row boat floating in the water, summoned the life savers, who mada the trip from the life saving station to tha scene of the accident in exactly four minutes, a most remarkable performance. Just shows the efficiency of these men who are placed here to guard against accidents and assist in instances of the above nature.

ELECTED PRESIDENT

Local Pastor Honored at Meeting in Traverse City

The local Baptist church was well represented in the annual session of the Grand Traverse association, which convened in Traverse City September 18-20, fifteen delegates having driven down for the occasion and the "apizerink time" injected into the work of the convention by their ebulliency in yell and song, gave to the convention an entirely new spirit and aspect. The report from the church here showed a larger result in actual accomplishment than reported from any other church in the association. The association after having voted a hearty endorsement of pastor Vinyard and his work, elected him president of the young people's work for the Grand Traverse association during the coming year, with Miss Jessie M. DeWitt, of Charlevoix, as superintendent of junior work.

Mr. Vinyard will also preach the sermon at Gaylord next year.

The B. Y. P. U. is alive and is preparing for a large representation in the state association at Benton Harbor in October where the Michi-wa-wa-nus trihe will hold their state pow wow.

All aboard for Benton Harbor.

AUTO AND BICYCLE COLLIDE ON STREET

Charles Moore Thrown to Ground and Severely Bruised

An accident which might easily have resulted in very serious consequences, occurred Tuesday at about six o'clock when Charles Moore, who lives on the Stover road near the beet sugar facory, was struck by a Maxwell car driven by Miss Lorna Bush, who lives on the Loeb farm.

Mr. Moore was coming down Bridge street hill on a bicycle and had reached the corner of Mason street when Miss Bush, who had also just drove down the hill and stopped for a moment for a companion to alight from the car, suddenly swung around the corner preparatory to driving west up Mason street, and wheel and car met with a terrific crash, tossing Mr. Moore into the air and bruising him quite badly about the right eye and right side of his face. His wheel was completely demolished, but he attaches no blame to the driver of the car as he acknowledges that he was on the wrong side of tha street at the time of the accident.

DEATH OF MRS. GLOSSINGER

Had Undergone an Operation in Petoskey Hospital

Mrs. Harry Glossinger, of Detroit, formerly Miss Alvina Genelt, of this city, died Sunday, September 23, at Petoskey hospital where she had undergone an operation two days before. The body was brought to this city Tuesday afternoon and taken to the home of her brother, Grover Geneit. Funeral services were held Wednesday afternoon at 2 P. M. at the Congregational church. The members of the order of Eastern Stars attended the services in a body.

Besides her husband and a four year old son, Mrs. Glossinger is survived by two brothers and two sisters; John Geneit of Gloucester, Massachussetts, Grover Geneit of this city, Miss Nita Geneit of Detroit and Mrs. Sherman Castle of Petoskey. Interment will be in Brookside cemetery.

MOVES TO FLORIDA

Former Charlevoix Pastor Buys Real Estate in Southern City

A card received by Mrs. William Poole, from Rev. B. Atchison formerly pastor of the Baptist church of this city, states that he and his family motored from Howell, Michigan, where Mr. Atchison has been pastor of the Baptist church since leaving here, to Vero, Florida, where they will make their future home.

Mr. Atchison has purchased a farm in Florida and will also continue his pastoral duties in a Baptist church there.

"Renown" Underfeed Heater

The Heater that is revolutionizing the burning of Soft Coal—More Heat—Less Fuel—It burns the Smoke, Gas and Soot. If you want to get away from the disagreeable feature of the smoke rushing out into your face every time you put coal on the fire, try the

"Renown Underfeed Heater"

The coal is fed under the fire and all products of combustion (gas and smoke) are forced up through the red hot coals, where perfect combustion is obtained by the admission of highly heated air through a perforated Hot Blast Chamber directly above the fire-pot. The heated air mixes perfectly with the escaping gases as they leave the fresh coal and as this mixture passes over the fire, it ignites and is consumed. This produces a strong even heat at all times instead of a spasmodic heat as is the case when the coal is fed on top.

We will guarantee that this stove will not puff or explode if operated according to our instructions.

Last Friday afternoon while Bernie Klooster was driving his car past the Essex school house, he accidentally struck the little son of Del Bowman, breaking the little fellow's leg just above the knee. He was taken to his home and a physician called, who reduced the fracture and at present is getting along fine. No blame is attached to the driver of the car, as the lad was at fault in trying to cross ahead of the car on a too narrow margin of time.

Interesting Letter From L. K. Clark, Telling of Conditions in Virginia

The following letter received by Wm. Eastcott from L. K. Clark, formerly of this place, but now located at Buckner, Virginia, will no doubt be of great interest to the many friends and acquaintances of Mr. and Mrs. Clark in an around Ellsworth. It was at first intended by Mr. Eastcott to read the letter in grange meeting, but decided that more people could be reached through the colums of the "Courier" the readers of which are all or nearly all acquainted with Mr. and Mrs. Clark and are all anxious to hear from them and more than pleased to learn that they are doing well in their new home:

Buckner, Va., Sept. 6, 1917.

Mr. Wm. Eastcott, Worthy Master,
Ellsworth grange No. 1198,
Ellsworth, Mich.,

My Dear Mr. Eastcott:

"I have not forgotten that I promised to write you a letter after getting settled here, and have been intending to do so for some time, but we farmers you know can not always do as much writing as we would some times like to do, for after hitting the high places all day you do not feel in the right humor for writing letters. Our thoughts have been with you all quite often, each day some one has something to remind the others of what happened there. We keep in general touch with the news through the Ellsworth section of the Courier. One week we will read something to cause a smile while perhaps the next week we will see something that will make us feel sad. One thing I have noticed these last few weeks and that is the condition of the crops up that way. Corn being very poor, one report was running from 18 inches to 4 feet, that was about three weeks ago. I wish you might see ours. Honestly I have mentioned it so many times to different ones that I do not want to seem to blow only my own horn, but as the neighbors remark about it, we know it is some corn.

Started cutting this week. Help being scarce my father-in-law and I had to jump in and help. Put in a full day at it today and believe me, the rows looked like small haystacks or something of the kind. The corn runs around 12 feet, some more, have had ears that would run 14 inches tip to tip. Nothing short of 2,000 bushels will satisfy me after it is cribbed.

"We have had a good season since we have been here. Could have had a little more rain in August, but as it was about 7 to 8 degrees cooler than any August for several years, it helped out on the drouth question.

"Wheat through here was not a full crop owing to the wet weather and cold spring. Rye was good, ours was good enough that we were able to dispose of all our surplus at 10 cents better than market price.

"On the strength of Uncle Sam setting the price of wheat this year at $2.20, quite a number around here are going to put in more acreage than usual, but do not think we will put in any more, about 15 acres. About the same of rye and about 20 acres of beans.

"We planted an acre of beans this year after getting down here—prospects are good for 10 bushels or more. Anyway what ever we get we will plant next year.

"We have had lots of fruit, apples, peaches, pears and grapes. Plums we have none of.

"Last Sunday forenoon I took a walk down through the woods to see how things were there and found several Persimmon trees loaded. Calling to mind the puckerishness of the blooming things, I stood and looked at them and wondered if they had the same drawing qualities that they had when I was a boy, so I knocked one off the tree and stuck my teeth into one and found that they certainly had, as I have hardly gotten my mouth straightened out since. Of course to get even with my own foolishness I had to bring one up to the house and make the rounds with the folks and had them try it. Each was game and said nothing until the last had tried it. We have made about 125 gallons of cider. Expect to shake the balance of the fall apples and make them up into cider for vinegar. Will probably do that tomorrow as had a very hard rain this evening and will be too wet to cut corn. Expect them to make about 150 gallons more. Sweet potatoes are large enough to eat. We have not tried them as yet, but suppose we will in a few days. What spuds we had in went at the rate of about 165 bushels per acre. Only had small patch though, some half acre.

"Put in some for late ones but they are going to not give back much more than seed, just after they began to come up nicely had so much rain that it drowned out most of them.

"I used to thing things grew quick up them, but I will take off my hat to Virginia. You remember we did not get here until the 13th of June and did not get our goods here to house until the 16th, so of course by the time we got straightened around enough to do much of any thing out side, several days had past.

"Symlins were large enough to use in six weeks, corn planted about

PAY YOUR SUBSCRIPTION

During the last two weeks of August the Courier management sent statements to all persons owing subscription accounts. Many have responded to these, but there still remains hundreds of dollars that is due us and should be paid. We are making a direct appeal to you, to settle your indebtedness to us. In these days of high prices we must insist on subscriptions being paid promptly when due and as much as possible in advance. Look at the label on your paper. If it reads Sept. 16 you owe for one year. If it reads any date prior to Sept. 17, you are indebted to us for every month prior to Sept. 17, and it is your duty to settle it. It is no pleasure to us to be compelled to continually call your attention to arrearages, but as stated above, it takes a lot of money to do business and we need every dollar due us. Hence we insist on a settlement.

People living in the vicinity of Ellsworth can pay their subscription to Mr. Townsend at the Citizens bank. Proper credit and receipt will be given by him. tf.

STRUCK DOWN BY SPEED CAR

WILLIAM BOSS HAS NARROW ESCAPE FROM DEATH

Thrown Into Air by Car and Receives Painful Bruises—Warning to Speed Demons

Wm. Boss Jr., narrowly escaped serious injury or possible death on Tuesday afternoon, September 18, when he was struck by a speeding car driven by Edd Baar, a resident of Ellsworth.

Mr. Boss was crossing the street from the hardware to his house, when the auto driven at an estimated speed of thirty or thirty-five miles per hour, swerved from the road center and headed for him. Bill dodged, and in fact, did everything but climb a telephone pole, but was too slow and the machine, buck-jumping like a scared rabbit, was too speedy for him and caught him amidships.

Mr. Boss' feet left the ground and while he was in the air the car passed under. Then he came down and one ear and the left side of his face plowed through the gravel. The skin and most of the flesh on the left side of his face was torn and bruised, but with the exception of this and a badly bruised side and lame back, he was all right and left on Thursday with the Antrim County boys for the new army.

Before leaving town, however, he had a hand to hand talk with the driver of the car and convinced him that he made a bad mistake in trying to burn up the road through town.

Too much cannot be said against the habit of fast driving anywhere on the road, but especially is speeding through town to be condemned. It was only Mr. Baar's good fortune that it was not a child or old person who was struck, as if such had been the case they would almost certainly have been killed.

A petition signed by residents of Ellsworth and surrounding country asking that a speed limit of ten miles per hour be enforced has been placed in the hands of the township board, and it is hoped that some action will be taken by this body to safeguard pedestrians from broken limbs or sudden death in the future.

WILDWOOD

Mr. Kniper is removing a silo to his farm that he recently bought from John Stevens.

Victor Cross with some other men is harvesting their radish crop on the Wilson farm.

Mr. and Mrs. Reid Genett have rented the Fales' farm for next year and will move to it soon.

Duncan Crawford was over from East Jordan a few days the first of the week, to help thresh, etc.

Mr. and Mrs. Will McLachlin and family of Kewadin, were in this neighborhood on a visit to relatives.

Miss Charlotte Stevens has so far recovered from her recent serious illness to be able to travel and is expected home soon.

Mrs. John Crawford is nursing two very sore fingers having had the cover of the ice chest fall across them on Monday morning. She is fortunate, however, in having Miss Catherine at home to help her.

Mr. and Mrs. Jas. Wilson and baby daughter, accompanied Mr. and Mrs. H. H. Fales to Charlevoix last Thursday, where the latter had bills printed announcing an auction sale at their farm, October 11, after which they will visit Mr. Fales' birthplace in Missouri, making the trip by auto. They will probably spend the winter there and return home again to farm another year, as they are not selling their real estate here. Their many friends wish them a pleasant trip, a splendid visit and a safe return to their home.

Poultry Wanted

L. Barber & Co. will load a car of poultry at Ellsworth October 1, and at Central Lake, October 2. Following are the prices guaranteed: 16c for Fowls, 18c for Spring Chickens.

ANTRIM CITY

No frost to amount to anything as yet.

Mr. Elzinga and family went to Central Lake Saturday.

Mrs. R. Brayton of Traverse City is visiting at the F. Simon's home.

Miss Bingham of Central Lake spent Sunday at the Elzinga home.

Mr. Simon is having his beans pulled. Glad somebody has ripe beans.

Mr. VanDusen of Norwood called on some of his old friends in this neighborhood Friday.

The meetings at the school house are quite well attended. They will be every night this week.

Mr. Brant has his house nearly painted and is shingling his chicken coop. If he was a young single man we would certainly think something was going to happen as he is fixing things up so lately.

ATWOOD

There are still a few cases of typhoid in the neigbborhood.

Mrs. B. J. Beuker from Ellsworth spent a few days visiting friends in Atwood.

Mr. and Mrs. Martin Elzinga and family spent Sunday evening with Mr. and Mrs. John Bos.

H. Klooster went to Holland on business last week and took in the West Michigan state fair on his way home.

Harry Wedderburn has been working for H. Klooster the past week. He painted the store front the first of the week.

Mr. and Mrs. John Klomp from Manton, are visiting their son, John, who is farming the Wm. Seymour farm this season.

A number of Atwood people attended the evangelestic meetings at the Antrim schoolhouse. They have been continued all this week.

Henry Koster is quite ill at the home of his parents. He appears to have pneumonia and the last reports were that he was some better.

Two sons of Harm Sprik from Manton drove through to visit their uncle, Joe Sprik, at Norwood. Mr. and Mrs. Klomp accompanied them on the trip.

A. B. Clarke conducted the services at the M. E. church last Sunday morning. He was accompanied by Mrs. Clark, who assisted in the song service.

Two brothers of John Essenberg arrived in Atwood unexpectedly Saturday evening. They came to see their brother, who has been quite sick with rheumatism.

We are glad to be able to report that Mrs. John Parsons is recovering from her recent illness. She does not improve very fast, but we hope she will soon be able to attend her household duties.

The grain crop in this section does not come up to the crops in some parts of the county, according to crop reports. Oats was very poor, with wheat a close second. Rye averaged about as usual, which is poor at best. A few fields yielded fair crops of oats but the average yield was about ten bushels per acre.

Louis Veenstra and Miss Jessie VanderHeide, both of this place, were married last Wednesdny evening at the home of the bride. Rev. Pickart tied the knot, the ring ceremony being used. A number of relatives and friends were present. Music was rendered by the Atwood Charivari orchestra, who after rendering a few selections and wishing the couple good luck, departed. We all join in wishing them much joy and happiness in wedded life.

ESSEX

Threshing is over; silo filling is next.

Dr. Parks called at the Tillotson home Saturday.

The Cooper family have relatives visiting them from Spring Lake this week.

A. Doty of Central Lake was around here taking pictures last week.

Mr. Tillotson sold a young calf to John Wieringa of near Central Lake last week.

Ada Cooper is home from Charlevoix where she has been working the past summer.

Mrs. Dennis is visiting relatives at East Jordan until after the Charlevoix County Fair.

'Tis said that lots of caterpillars is a sign of a late fall and if we have a frost now hundreds of caterpillars will have an untimely end.

There came very near being a big smoke at Mr. Wieland's last Monday when fire started twice in his barn from sparks from the engine of the threshing machine. A pail of water put out both fires.

When Ray Bowman attempted to run across the road in front of the car driven by Bernie Klooster of Ellsworth Friday, he was not quick enough and the car struck and knocked him down breaking his leg near the hip. Dr. Parks of East Jordan set the leg and is attending him. This should be a warning to people not to go in front of autos.

ROCK ELM

Ed. Metz expects to begin filling silos the last of the week.

Thomas Crothers is suffering from a bad attack of eczema in his face.

Mrs. Stephenson, Mrs. Metz and Miss Julia Jensen were in Charlevoix Saturday.

Ed. Metz has just finished extracting his honey, and thinks he will have about thirty gallons.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Grossett of East Jordan visited their daughter, Mrs. Charles Donaldson, Sunday.

Good auto tires are the cheapest in the end. User of our tires will testify to this. Buy your tires of us. Benj. Brown. 33tf.

NO TRUTH IN STATEMENT

Government Not After Private Supply of Foods

There is no truth in a widely circulated statement that the government expects to take food supplies from any family. Both the food administration and the department of agriculture join in a statement to counteract what seems to be a deliberate propaganda to the effect that the government intends to take from every family all canned goods put up in excess of 100 quarts. This is only one of the variations of the rumor, which has been widely circulated. Another statement is that the government has been urging the canning, drying, and preserving of fruits and vegetables so that they will be in a convenient form for the government to handle and transport when it takes them away from the people.

An Odious Law Repealed

The newspapers tell us that the new Hoover administration has effected a substantial reduction in the price of sugar and has also evolved plans for encouraging economy in its use. Excellent; on both counts! We are all glad to have the price of sugar reduced; we are all glad to have Hooverism do something to curtail the extravagant use of sweets in our neighbors' households, and particularly by our neighbors' children. That it has become not quite so expensive as it was will—to be frank—encourage our own use of it just a trifle, even if we have to do it on the sly. At least this is true, if we are normal human beings, and we have usually claimed that distinction.

In the elder days the law of supply and demand accomplished that purpose. It adjusted the quantity of an article available to the demand for it, by setting the price at just the figure that would establish the equilibrium. Eggs were cheap enough in April to sell all that came into market, and high enough at Thanksgiving to keep them in the grocers' shops for such emergency and other uses as arose, and at the same time, reward the hen-keeper for his laborious endeavors. That old law of supply and demand we are repealing. It will soon be in the discard. We shall depress prices by public mandate, and prevent the legitimate effects of that depression by public appeal to the better nature and better conscience of men—and women.

We hope this will work well. It may. But there are obstacles. We all have the acquaintance of people who waste coal furiously in winter; they insist on dressing in flimsy cloth and then maintaining a temperature of 75 degrees to make it comfortable. What better way of calling their attention to the folly of such an arrangement than by a high price of coal? Do you suppose Mr. Hoover's appeal to public spiritedness will lead such people to buy sweaters for inside wear, so that they can lower the temperature to 65 degrees, where it belongs? We hope so, but we have our doubts.

Then, there is the question of maintaining the supply. What cleverer device could there be for bringing out the last ounce of any crop, or product, than a sensationally high price for it? You all know how it works. If you are a farmer, or a fisherman or a woodsman, you "see things," when a big price attaches thereto; you may not be equally keen in discovering substitutes and ways of extending the product when this old law has been repealed. Think it over! Perhaps we shall want to reenact this ancient statute sometime!

When it comes to the roof you can make a real saving, and get a better roof by specifying
Certain-teed Roofing
CERTAIN-TEED is not cheaper because the quality is lower, but because it is a less expensive roofing to manufacture. It is better, not only because it is cheaper, but also because it is light weight, weather-tight, clean, sanitary, fire-retardant and costs practically nothing to maintain.
It is now recognized as the preferable type of roofing for office buildings, factories, hotels, stores, warehouses, garages, farm buildings etc., where durability is necessary.
CERTAIN-TEED is guaranteed for 5, 10 or 15 years, according to thickness (1, 2 or 3 ply).
There are many roll roofings on the market, but only one CERTAIN-TEED. It pays to get the best. It costs no more to lay a CERTAIN-TEED roof than it does to lay a poor roof, but there is a vast difference in the wear. You can't tell the quality of a roofing by looks or feel. Your only safety is the label. Be sure that it is CERTAIN-TEED—then you are certain of quality and guaranteed satisfaction.
Certain-teed* Slate-Surfaced Asphalt Shingles
are supplanting wood and slate shingles for residences. They cost less, are just as good looking, wear better, won't fall off, buckle or split. They are fire-retardant, and do not have to be painted or stained.

BAYLISS MAY BE CANOIDATE AGAIN

Friends of Soo Man Hear He Will Run in Eleventh District

That Joseph E. Bsyliss, of tbe Soo, will again seek the nominstion for congress in the Eleventh congressional district is a report that hss interested Mr. Bayliss' Marquettc friends, ssys the Mining Journal. He was a candidate against Congressman Scott in 1914, but wss defeated. Scott's popularity is said to be running somewhst low in the district, and thcre is promise thsf the privilege of succeeding him will be contested by a number of candidates. Roger M. Andrews has been discussed in the connection, but so far has taken no notice of the informal use of his name. James C. Wood of Manistiquc, is another man whose name usually crops up when there is a discussion of Eleventh district politics.

Mr. Bayliss has spent much of his time the past two years at Midland, but he is intimately in touch with the affairs of his district. He made an excellent run three years ago, under considerable handicap, and would be regarded as a factor next year, if he entered the field.

Prudden for the Senate

Another report dealing with politics that hss been noted with interest here is onc that ascribes to William A. Prudden, of Lansing, ambitious to succeed William Alden Smith in the U. S. senate. Mr. Prudden is a member of the Michigan war committee appointed by Governor Sleeper, and he accompanied Governor Sleeper on his recent visit to the upper peninsula. He remained in Marquette for a dsy after the governor's departure mecting many Marquette men and diseussing with the agricultural agents the various food plans the committee is interested in.

Mr. Prudden was for many ycars head of a wheel company nt Lansing. He recently retired from activc part in the business and is giving all his time to publie and semi-public matters. Those who met him here attach eonsiderable weight to the report that he will be a candidate to succeed William Alden In the senate.

CHARLEVOIX H. S. NOTES

Charlevoix High School's classic halls wers opened on September 12. and the usual number of Freshies presanted themselves for inspection. After a careful survey we sre wont to say that our worat fears are realized, In that we ara afraid that their prewess will sweep us from our pedestals in the eyes of the faculty. Ws are very glad to nots that Fish Halverson is one of that clsn.

English IV has begun the study of English drama, with the idea of presenting Oliver Goldsmith's masterpiece, "She Stoops to Conquer," sometims later in the yesr.

Leo bss slresdy Inscribed his name on the back of one of Pickles clean collars. Bad 'cess to 'im.

The new English inetructor, Miss Carrell, hss already provsn that she understands how to win the admirstion of her classes. Miss Wells, at the head of the History department, is a thoroughly efficient instructor. Don't take any clssses from Mr. Beecher, but hc's all right. Ask the girls if it is not so.

Miss Wells in History (American) "He kissed her on the doorstep." Msdge Kibbe: "Where is her doorstep?" We were discussing some esrly laws, so do not be surprised.

Freshlc to Mr. Craig: "I would rather tske all my hours vacant than to take slgebra."

Football is a great fsctor now. Over 20 reported for the first practiee.

Senior orators to Freshmen: "Dear little people, some dsy you may be old and experienced as we are. You may be adored by the faculty as our four years have esused them to adore us (usually is is the door also). Do not chew gum, or eat candy during school hours, but study all the time, as we have done. Look at our class. Jack Supernaw, the best boy to behave in German. Kenneth Widdifield, who would not whisper to Beatrice Harrington for any amount. Leo Butler, our baby giant, is a perfect angel. Lee Newson is very self-composed. Ask him to see his notebook. Odillion Weed is Miss Horst's greatest order keeper. Russell Schwcitzer is a perfectly behaved young man. Do as we have done and fame will be yours. Heed our words. Look upon us as your slders and respect us as such. Caesar said, "Veni, vidi, vici," and so say we. You should save some of your "eats", at your parties for us. Dear, infants, we must stop now. We thank you for your kind attention.

LIBRARY NOTES

Have you ever used the "Mentor?" It is a semi-monthly publication, beautifully illustrated and treating a great variety of subjects. Sample subjects are: Earthquakes and Volcanoes, Hawaii, The Story of our Navy, The Orchestra, Prehistoric Animal Life, Pictures We Like to Live With.

The July National Geographic has an artiele by Edward Nelson: "The Rat Pest, a National Liability." It is illustrated with 21 photographs and contains startling information.

The gifts for our soldiers are coming in rather slowly. Have you done your share? Books and magazines of current interest are wanted.

"Bab, a Sub-deb," a new book in the rental collection of new fiction is voted to be as funny as "Seventeen." "Seventeen" by Booth Tarkington furnished laughs for hundreds of grown-ups, though those of the age mentioned in the title were not enthusiastic concerning it.

Don't fall to look over the new Brittnniea Encyclopedia when in the library. It is a splendid reference work.

Your Home Comforts in Sanitation

THINK what it means. No more need to thaw out an old pump before breakfast. Never again to have to lug hot water up stairs and stand on one foot in a wash basin as you try to take your Saturday night ablution. Think of the joy of getting into a big, white, roomy bath tub, turning on hot and cold water to suit your requirements. Oh, joy!

Then there will be plenty of water in the garden, a sprinkler for the lawn, the flower garden; fire protection for the house and farm buildings, water for the stock, every comfort that running water under sixty pounds of pressure can afford. We are agents for the famous Duro electric and gasoline shallow and deep well pumping outfits. We furnish an engine that is none-breakable from freezing of the water. jacket, these pumping outfits are not equalled on the market today.

We specialize in this kind of work. Just let us know that you are thinking about a water supply outfit and we will be glad to go over the proposition with you and handle the whole installation in every detail.

Your Home Comforts in Heating

Get right with the wife. How? Listen! Just carefully remove that old, dusty, dirt-making stove out into the back yard very quietly, early some morning while the wife sleeps, and then inform her that you are going to have a modern heating plant installed — you'll be in right at once. Can't fail.

We are experts in heating, anything you require, steam, hot water and hot air and listen, we have a hot air furnace that is guaranteed by the makers to be gas and smoke proof for 15 years. There are no joints in this furnace, we guarantee it to be superior to any other hot air furnace on the market today. Don't buy any furnace until you call and see this furnace keep down your future repair bills.

We don't claim to be the cheapest, You wouldn't put in the cheap scrap iron furnace after you had seen this one, the difference would be too plain for you to have it handed to you in the cheap furnace. Let us measure up your home and tell you what it will cost you. We can give you a pipeless job if you want it, let us advise.

Apologies to the Old Oaken Bucket

BY BRYANT VENABLE

How dear to my heart is the family bathtub when midsummer sunshine melts grease from my skin; inviting; refreshing its shimmering whiteness as I take off my clothing and tumble right in. In fond recollection I gladly compare it with the old oaken washtub my infancy knew, and 'Im only too glad to acknowledge the merit of the plumbing profession which brought it to view—the family washtub, the snowy-white bathtub, the luxurious bathtub, so bright and so new.

In childhood I toted each Saturday morning eight buckets of water from out at the well to fill up the washtub that stood there adorning the floor of the kitchen; and I would rebel as my mother relentlessly ordered and urged me to strip to the skin and prepare for my fate, and when I was helpless she calmly submerged me in oceans of suds from my feet to my pate in the old oaken washtub, the iron-bound washtub, the grease-covered washtub that filled me with hate.

And when I emerged with the water all dripping from my hair and my ears and my nose I felt like afellow who'd just had a whipping and as red as a lobster from forehead to toes. To add to my troubles I was sternly admonished to tote all the water way back to the yard, and mother and aunty were truly astonished when I grumbled and said the job was too hard. So I hated that washtub, that old oaken washtub, that iron-bound washtub, as greasy as lard.

But now every morning I rise in a hurry and turn on the faucet so shiny and bright and the water comes rushing and I need not to worry as I plunge in and rinse off the dreams of the night. And when I have finished I pull out the stopper and the water goes gurgling away through the drain with never a leak or a splash or a slop or a bucket of suds to remind me again of the old oaken washtub, the iron-bound washtub, the soap-crusted washtub that gave me a pain.

I am thankful indeed to the honored profession that brought modern plumbing at last into style and I'm happy to give this formal expression to the pleasing emotions which cause me to smile as the old oaken washtub of sad recollection recedes to the background of memory's stages at the turn of a new fangled plumbing connection that shows me we live in an up-to-date age. And the proof is the bathtub, the snowy-white bathtub, recorded in honor on history's page.

No Apology to "Old Oaken Bucket"

Oh the nightmare of childhood
How oft does it haunt me,
As the old heating stove yet I plainly see,
With its old rusty stove pipe with drippings galore
With a tin can hung noath the joints oh so neatly,
My prayer—may I see them no more.
The old heating stove with its red and warped castings
Made an uncertain stand on its hobbly legs,
While we opened the door and shoved in the fuel
While the red-bollied critter just bellowed for more.
A halo of smoke hovered over and 'round it,
While a circle of ashes its presence enclosed
While we sat with our tumies and faces a scorching,
While the frost and the chill of the cold winter waather,
Raced over our foat and our backs unopposed.
But now as I fire my up-to-date heating,
Tho Boiler my basement is holding therein
While the Radiator above is hoating perfection,
And all is contontment, no smoke or no din.
For this I am thanking the boating profession
Whose march of progress has given me joy,
And I sigh as I look at the days of my boybood
As I think of the days that I could not enjoy.
We cannot stand still, must go forward or backward
In these busy days of science and skill.
The HEATING sure ranks with all other progression
In reaching porfoction for driving out chills.

CARING FOR THE POTATO CROP

IS PRODUCERS NEXT JOB IN CONSERVATION

Honest Care in Digging and Handling Crop Urged—Good Suggestions

The storage and treatment of potatoes for storage is a problem that is being widely discussed, and the government has called in, to hendle this end of the food coaservation and give tips to producers, Lou Sweet, of Colorado, considered the best potato producer and bendler of tubers in the country. Mr. Swcet reeently outlined in the Country Gentlemen as the chief things neeessary for looking after and conserving the year's crop, the following preeepts:

"Exercising honest eare in digging and handling the crop to put the very best stuff on the merket. This meaas taking pains not to bruise, scratch or gash it. Abuscd potatoes are in no conditlon to resist rot.

"Secking the crop so as to leave dirt and trash on the ground, where thesc belong, filling the ssck with potatoes and not culls.

"Storing them so they will keep. This means cleaning out old storage bins and houses and disinfecting them, giving the houses plenty of ventiletion.

"If every grower will do these things," says Mr. Sweet, "then, in spitc of a crop from poor seed, a crop that has been poorly nourished end therefore is a ready prey of diseascs, this 1917 crop will have its very best chance to do the job cut out for it when it was planted—feed the people!

"The entire problem wouldn't present nearly so many difficulties," he said In a reeent interview, "if we had been raising and handling potatoes as we surely must raise and handle them as long as the war lasts, and after the war, if we ever expect to make a reputation for success.

"The potato crop in this country as a whole has been badly treated, from sced to the table. We begin by planting In land that has not been brought into prime condition for this plant; next we put in anything that looks like a seed; then we forget to guard against disease; and finally harvest and store a bruised, ill-treated tuber in praetically any sort of shelter.

"Now the wartime emergeney has ealled for the planting of a greatly inereased aereage. The erop is coming along to face insuffleient storage capacity and a congested transportation. How are we going to get around all these things?

"The first thing we hnve got to do is to put n dnmper on some of the hysterieal drafts that are sweeping over the country to the effect that we will harvest a crop of potatoes thet eanaot possibly be consumed by ourselves and our armies. Seed was scarce this spring; everything was planted from culls to peelings. Fertilizer prices were in many instances prohibitlve; consequently the plantings were given starvation rations. These two things hsve not made a strong tuber; it's weak and a ready pray to disease both while it's in the ground and after it is harvested.

"Then we've been so careless about hendling our potatoes for market. I heve opened a sack after seck of stored potatoes to shake out as bigh as threo and a half pounds of dirt and trash and soven and a half pounds of culls end bruised, cut potatoes that rot hed spread at tha slightest provocation.

"And when we store we forget to elean out the floors and sides of the bins. We forget to disinfect them. And we pay for this in earloads of potatoes that dry-rot when they should be keeping in prime condition.

"Just put it down that we're not going to raise more potatoes than we can use if we een get the meebinery for taking charge of such of the crop as proves marketable and eetablo.

"Everybody knows that railroed transportation is suffering a greet congestion and that for lack of ears we ere up against a stiff problem in the moving of the erop. The crop isn't eny too strong to stand up end I don't believe the reilroads ean move it in six weeks. It's got to be handled in a hurry.

"Beeause we lack storage capacity the towns and cities will heve to jump into the breach and put up municipal storege houses for families thet are not able to store their own supply. This sort of arrangements would not only help the groeers but it would give the poor families a chance to have plenty of potatoes at a reasonable priee for eight or ten months of the year. We've got to sidestep the toll demanded by speculators and such who command storage facilities.

"And another thing we've got to do: We've got to educate our people to sell potatoes by the pound! I hate to say it, but the average poor family doesn't get half a peck or a peek of potatoes when he tries to buy that quantity. We've got to put this idea aeross, not only as a wartime mensure, but for sll time to eome. Doling out potatoes by measure is an economie crime!

"When we ship potatoes they lose something like 20 per eent of their bulk. Suppose we cut down this shrinkage before the potatoes were loaded into the ears. Then we would save on transportation and insure the keeping qualities of the produet. That loss in weight, you know, is a loss of water. If our potatoes were dried before shipment, they'd lose 80 per cent in weight. And that opens up a field of promise.

"How has Germany kept herself feeding on potatoes, year in and year out. Before the war she had 66,000,000 people and when we were raising 331,000,000 bushels of potatoes, Germany raised 1,989,000,000 bushels. Of this crop she dried 42 per eent, used 28 per eent on the tables as we used the erop. Then there was the produetion of alcohol, stock feed and the like, to consume the balance.

"That's how and why Germany's potato erop is a sure thing after it is harvested. They save it by drying it. We've got to come to the same thing. And right now is an exeellent time to begin."

Hot Water for Sick Headaches

Tells why everyone should drink hot water with phosphate in it before breakfast.

Headacha of any kind, is caused by auto-intoxication—which means self-poisoniag. Liver aad howel poisons called toxins, sneked into tha blood, through the lymph ducts, excite the heart whieh pumps tha blood so fast that it congests iu tha smallsr arteries and veins of the head producing violent, throbbiag pala and distress, called headache. You becoms nervous, despondent, sick, fevsrish and miserable, your meale sour aad almost nauseate you. Thea yoa resort to acetanilids, aspiria or the bromides which temporarily relieve hut do not rid the blood of tbese irritating toxine.

A glass of hot water witb a teaspoouful of limestoao phospbate in it, drank before breakfast for awhile, will not only wash these poisons from your system and cure you of beadacba bst will elenase, purify and freshea the entire alimeatary caaal.

Ask your pharmscist for a quarter pound of limestone phosphate. It is inexpensive, harmless as sugar, and almost tasteless, except for a sourish twinge which is aot unpleasaat.

If you aren't feeling your best, if tongus is coated or you wake up with bad taste, foul breeth or have colds, indigestion, biliousnes, constipation or sour, acid stomach, begin the phosphated hot water cure to rid your system of toxins and poisons.

Results are quick and it is claimed that thosa who coatinue to flush oat the stomach, liver and bowels every morning aever have aoy headache or know a miserable moment.

WHAT CATARRH IS

It has been said that every third person has catarrb in some form.

Science has shown that nasal catarrh often indicates a general weakness of the body; and local treatments in the form of snuffs and vapors do little, if any good.

To correct catarrh, you should treat its cause by enrichiag your blood with the oil-food in Scott's Emulsion which is a medicinal food and a bulldog-tonic, free from alcohol or any harmful drugs. Try it.

BOYNE CITY RAILROAD IS NEARING COMPLETION

Leading Crew is Now Working in Thunder Bay Swamp

The Boyne City, Gaylord & Alpena railroad is working its way east towards Lake Huron with steady tread. A largo force of men, engines, dumpcars, steam shovels and ditchers are makiog a grade out of hills and fields and swamps some twenty milee east of Atlanta. The force is camping in some nine boarding cars at what will be known as "Connors." The leading crew is now working near Black Creek in the middle of the big Thunder Bay swamp. While men are at a premium "they ean be had if you go after them" as tersely put by Supt. of Construetion, Mr. I. Criek. Two miles of steel has nlready been laid and three miles more will connect tbs link that will give through servlee between Alpena and Boyne City. Interesting Letter From L. K. Clark, Telling of Conditions in Virginia the 25th of Juno is now ready to eut. We have been eating musk melons for the last three weeks from some seed of some you raised last yeer, and thsy were fine oncs. Speaking of melons reminds me that we do not slice them off any more, especially the water melons, just split them and take a half and run.

Believe me, they are meloas too. One of the neighbors hed a melon party the other night, about 25 or 30 were there and from the pile of them we had they must heve eaten about a whole one each.

"One day last week we went to the mill with some wheat. Went in the ear to learn the way and see the mill. In meking inquiries as to road after going about four miles or so, some man that had made the drive, to save us some mileege, directed us a short eut which landed us in a big mud hole and had to call on a neighbor to pull us out. This happened to be in a stretch of woods and while figuring on getting out I happenod onto a "Yellow Jackets" nest and the little rascals stung me nine times before I could shake them off.

"Heve also made a eequaintanee of couple wasps and stood good show at different times to meet some horets. Of course this is all in a life time. There are five churches within two and a half miles of the house, and last month seems to be the big month with them. In the south you know they are great for all day meetings at different times during the year. Well we have been to two and are going to one next Sunday, that means counting from the eats' side, all the fried chicken one ean eat at least. One lady said the other day she fried six chickens and boiled a ham last Sunday.

"As we are none too flush on the chicken deal this year, we are letting them furnish that part of the program, as we have only about 40 young ones running from a couple weeks old to near laying age. Have 13 young guineas, which is our lucky number. Placed 18 eggs under the hen, hstched 17 and have the 13 left. Had one of the turkey hens steal out her nest and when we found it she wss setting on nine turkey and five hen eggs. Hatched all but one turk and still have seven of them. Getting down as late for this section as we did that is not so bad, but next year we will be able to start in with the rest, whether we do as well or not.

"It would have caused you to smile to have seen me try to drive the mules for the first time. You know the niggers have a way of their own in handling them and they seemed to know what I wanted them to do as well as if I had been over in the next county. After the first trial I decided it was easier for me to learn their way of driving than to try and teach the mules my way. I guess I have been an apt scholar as I get along very nicely with them now. Still I catch myself now and then saying 'Haw' when I should have said 'Woa' or to say 'whoa' when I should have said 'oo.' Still if you will come down will prove to you that I can do it.

"There are no grangers in these parts. We have about the same, but it is called the Farmers Union.

"So far we have not attended, although they have asked us to several times, but it seems that we have had so much to do that we could not get around to it, but must look them up before long and hand in our names.

"The days are getting much shorter, so of course we know that fall is near us. Every one here seems to think that fall is the prettiest part of the year. Well if it is, it certainly must be going some, for this summer has been good enough one for me. With the exception of a few days last month I do not think there has been a night that I did not sleep with some cover over me, regardless of how hot it had been in the day.

"About every one down this way is going wild over alfalfa, I think nearly everyone has a small piece of it. We have only about an acre but want to get in two to three acres next week if we can possibly get at it.

"Put in an acre of sweet clover in part of the hog lot for the pigs next year. Part of the hog lot includes about 25 acres of good woods, most of which is oak and there are enough acorns falling to fatten 25 or 30 hogs, but we do not happen to have the 25 or 30 this time. Hope for better luck next year. Have about 25 acres sweet clover besides this.

"Tell Pete Weiland that I have not had a good scrap since coming down here and would like to be able to come to Grange meeting again.

"Well I must stop this rambling or you will more than tire of it. All hands join in sending their regards to you and Mrs. Eastcott. Also to all inquiring friends. Now let us hear from you when you find it convenient. Yours very truly,

"L. K. CLARK."

HEART of the SUNSET

Alaire did not swoon, but she never could remember very distinctly those first few moments. Scarcely knowing what she did, she found herself clinging to her lover, laughing, weeping, feeling him over with shaking hands that would not be convinced of his reality. She was aware of his kisses upon her lips, her eyes, her hair; he was saying something which she could not understand because of that roaring in her ears.

"You heard me calling," she told him at last. "Oh, I was—so frightened!" She clung closer to him. After a time she discovered that she was mechanically nodding and shaking her head at the questions he was putting to her, but had only the vaguest idea what they were. By and by she began to tell him about Longorio, speaking in a sort of hypnotic murmur, as if her words issued at his mental suggestion. And all the time she snuggled against his breast.

"Dearest!" Dave held her away in gentle hands. "I was afraid you'd go to pieces like this, but I had to break through the best way I could. I learned you were here and something about what was going on from the people at the next ranch. But I expected to find him here, too."

"How did you manage to get here?"

"I hardly know. I just wouldn't let 'em stop me. This lieutenant wouldn't let me in until I told him I was from Monterey with important news. I don't remember all I did tell him. I tried to get here last night, but I had trouble. They caught me, and I had to buy my way through. I've bribed and bullied and lied clear from Romero. I reckon they couldn't imagine I'd risk being here if I wasn't a friend."

It was more Dave's tone than his words that roused Alaire to an appreciation of what he said.

"Are you alone?" she asked, in vague dismay. "Then what are we going to do?"

"I don't know yet. My plans ended here."

"Dave! You rode in just to find me! Just to be with me?"

"Yes. And to get him." Alaire saw his face twitch, and realized that it was very haggard, very old and tired. "They lifted my guns—a bunch of fellows at the Rio Negro crossing. Some of them were drunk and wouldn't believe I was an amigo. So I finally had to ride for it."

"Can't you take me away?" she asked, faintly. "What will you do when—he comes?"

"I reckon I'll manage him somehow." His grip upon her tightened painfully, and she could feel him tremble. "I was afraid I wouldn't find you. I—O God, Alaire!" He buried his face in her hair.

"I had a terrible scene with him last night. He insists upon marrying me. I—I was hoping you'd come."

"How could I, when nobody knew where you were?"

"Didn't you know? I wrote you." He shook his head. "Then how did you learn?"

"From Jose. I caught him within an hour of the murder, and made him tell me everything."

Alaire's eyes dilated; she held herself away, saying, breathlessly: "Murder! Is that what it was? He—Longorio—told me something quite different."

"Naturally. It was he who hired Jose to do the shooting."

I'll be safe. He can't ignore our marriage. But otherwise— There's no telling what he may do. Why, he'll kill you, Dave, as he killed Ed." She upturned a face eloquent with pleading. "Won't you do this for me?"

"No!" Law declared, firmly. "You wouldn't ask it if you were in your senses. Get me a gun and I'll shoot my way out. We'll go until they stop us. But don't ask me to leave you."

She searched his face eagerly, piteously, then with a quivering sigh relaxed her tension. "Then we've only made matters worse. You've spoiled our only chance."

Father O'Malley, who had been lost in thought, spoke up again: "Perhaps you will let me try my wits. But first, do I understand that it was he who effected the death of—Mr. Austin?"

Dave recounted as coherently as he could the circumstances of Ed's death, and told how he had learned, through Jose, of Longorio's intentions. As the priest listened a spot of color grew in his cheeks, his eyes glowed with indignation. He was about to make known what was in his mind when Alaire raised her hand and in a strained whisper exclaimed:

"'Sh-h! Listen!"

The heavy door of the hacienda creaked, a quick tread sounded on the tiles, the door to the living room was flung open, and Longorio entered. He was hot and dusty from his ride, but with a lover's impetuosity he had made straight for this lighted room.

For the briefest instant he balanced himself just inside the portal, and the smile remained fixed upon his lips. Then his eyes became ringed with white and he made a swift, catlike movement of retreat. Plainly this was the supremest surprise of his lifetime, and he seemed to doubt his senses. But he recovered quickly. Thrusting his head forward, he demanded:

"What is this? You—and you?" He stared from Dave to the priest, then back again.

They all spoke at once, but he heard only Alaire's words:

"He came to find me."

Pancho appeared in the doorway behind Longorio, saying, "I heard you ride up, sir, so I ran to tell you about this fellow."

But the general cut him short. "Call your men, quick," he cried in a voice that sent the soldier leaping back into the night.

Alaire was clinging to Dave, merely clutching him the tighter when he tried to unclasp her hold. Her movement into the shelter of his rival's arms infuriated Longorio, who uttered an exclamation and fumbled uncertainly with his holster. But his fingers were clumsy. He could not take his eyes from the pair, and he seemed upon the point of rushing forward to tear them apart.

"Don't touch her! Don't—" he began, cursing in a high-pitched voice. "God! What a reckoning!" Then he stamped his feet, he wrung his hands, he called shrilly at the top of his voice: "Lieutenant! Ho, Pancho! You fellows! Quickly!" Under the stress of his excitement the feminine side of his character betrayed itself.

Alaire felt her newly made husband gather himself for a spring; he was muttering to her to release him; he was trying to push her aside, but she held fast with the strength of desperation.

"You can't harm us," she declared, flinging her words defiantly at the Mexican. "You dare not. You are too late. Father O'Malley has just married us."

Longorio uttered a peculiar, wordless cry of dismay; his mouth fell open; his arms dropped; he went limp all over, paralyzed momentarily by surprise and horror; his eyes trembled; he swayed as if his sight had blurred.

"This is the Man I Love—the Only Man."

"I said I'd never marry you," she rushed on, vihrantly. "This is the man I love—the only man. Yes, and I've learned the truth about you. I know who killed Mr. Austin."

Longorio did a very unexpected thing then; slowly, unconsciously, as if the movement were the result of a half-forgotten training, he crossed himself.

But now from the hall at his back came the pounding of boot-heels, and a half-dozen panting troopers tumbled through the door. He waved them back and out into the hall again.

Father O'Malley, who had been trying to make himself heard, stepped in front of the general and said, solemnly: "Take care what you do, Longorio. I have married these people, and you can't undo what I have done. We are American citizens. The laws of civilization protect us."

The Mexican fought for his voice, then stammered: "You are my priest; I brought you here. I offered to marry

"Oh-h!" Alaire hid her face in her hands. She looked up again quickly, however, and her cheeks were white. "Then he won't spare you, Dave." She choked for an instant. "We must get away before he comes. There must be some way of escape. Think!"

"I'm pretty tired to think. I'm pretty near played out," he confessed.

"They're watching me, but they'd let you go."

"Now that I'm here I'm going to stay until—"

She interrupted, crying his name loudly, "Dave!"

"Yes. What is it?"

"Wait! Let me think." She closed her eyes; her brows drew together as if in the labor of concentration. When she lifted her lids her eyes were alight, her voice was eager. "I know how. I see it. He won't dare— But you must do what I tell you."

"Of course."

"No questions. Understand?"

When he nodded impatiently she ran to the door and, flinging it open, called down the hall:

"Father! Father O'Malley! Quick!" Then she summoned Dolores.

The priest answered; he hurried from his room and, with a dazed lack of comprehension, acknowledged his swift introduction to Dave. Alaire was keenly alive and vibrant with purpose now. Dolores, too, came running, and while the men were exchanging greetings her mistress murmured something in her ear, then hastened her departure with a quick push. Turning upon the others, Alaire explained:

"I've sent for some of the women, and they'll be here in a minute. Father, this man has come for me. He loves me. Will you marry us before Longorio arrives?"

"Alaire!" Dave exclaimed.

She stilled him with a gesture. "Quick! Will you?"

Father O'Malley was bewildered. "I don't understand," he expostulated.

"Nor I," echoed Dave.

"You don't need to understand. I know what I'm doing. I've thought of a way to save us all."

An incoherent refusal was upon his lips, but Alaire's face besought him; it was shining with a strange, new ecstasy, and he could not bring himself to deny her. Of what her plan consisted he had only the dimmest idea, but he assured himself that it could by no possibility succeed. After all, what did it matter? he asked himself. They were trapped. This might serve, somehow, to cheat Longorio, and—Alaire would be his wife.

"Very well," he stammered, weakly. "What are you thinking of?"

"I haven't thought it all out yet, but—"

At that moment Dolores returned, bringing with her the three black-haired, black-shawled house servants, bundling them through the door and ranging them along the wall.

Father O'Malley's face was puckered; he said, hesitatingly: "My dear madam, this isn't regular; you are not Catholics. How can I bless you?"

"You can marry us legally, just the same, can't you?" Alaire was breathing rapidly, and some part of her eagerness began to thrill her hearers.

"Oh yes, but—"

"Then marry us. And make haste, please! Please!"

Law nodded. He could not speak, for his mouth was dry. His heart was beating violently; his temples were pounding; all the blood of his body seemed centered in his head.

QUIT MEAT IF YOU'R KIDNEYS

Take tablespoonful of Salts if Back hurts or Bladder bothers—Drink lots of water.

We are a nation of meat eaters and our blood is filled with uric acid, says a well-known authority, who warns us to be constantly on guard against kidney trouble.

The kidneys do their utmost to free the blood of this irritating acid, but become weak from the overwork; they get sluggish; the eliminative tissues clog and thus the waste is retained in the blood to poison the entire system.

When your kidneys ache and feel like lumps of lead, and you have stinging pains in the back or the urine is cloudy, full of sediment, or the bladder is irritable, obliging you to seek relief during the night; when you have severe headaches, nervous and dizzy spells, sleeplessness, acid stomach or rheumatism in bad weather, get from your pharmacist about four ounces of Jad Salts; take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast each morning and in a few days your kidneys will act fine. This famous salts is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and has been used for generations to flush and stimulate clogged kidneys, to neutralize the acids in urine so it is no longer a source of irritation, thus ending urinary and bladder disorders.

Jad Salts is inexpensive and cannot injure; makes a delightful effervescent lithia-water drink, and nobody can make a mistake by taking a little occasionally to keep the kidneys clean and active.

MICHIGAN FRIUT MEN BETTER OFF

LETTER WRITER PROVES BY ACTUAL EXPERIENCE

Weot From Here to Montaoa and Fouod Rain, Labor and Marketing Facilities Scarce

George C. Conn, freigbt traffic manager, Perc Marquette Railway company, at Petoskey, got a ietter, not long ago, from e young man who went from Michigan to the northwest to work on a fruit ranch. We quote from his ietter as follows:

"From my observations on a large fruit ranch in the Bitter Root Valley of Montana, 1 learned a few facts wbich emphasize that Michigan has many advantages over the west for fruit growing.

"The greatest is that of Michigan's marketing faeilities. In the west refrigerator cars are very hard to get at the right time, and in some eases large crops have been left on the trees owing to no cars in whieh to ship. When they are obtainabie they requirc ieing for a period of at least a week and have a iong haul to market; whereas in Michigan, the best markets are but a comparatively short distanee away.

"Most western fruit is raised in the volleys between ranges of mountains. Due to this faet the altitude is very high, causing iate and uneertain springs and falls so earlv at times that the fruit freezes on the trees before it eàn bc harvested. The apple trees bloom in the latter part of May and early in June. Late though it is, at nights the temperature, due to the nearness of snowcovered mountoins on all sides, drops so low that either there is a great period of anxiety or the blossoms are frozen on the trees.

"The rainfall is very scarce, necessitating irrigation to provide moisture. While it may be true that this menns furnishes a sure source of supply, it is both unsatisfactory ond expensive. It requires many extra men to see that the water renches the proper places, and the soil for the most part having no bottom, a constant flow is needed. Mueh trouble ia caused by washouts, overflows, too small a flow, and the building of flumes.

"Labor is a serious problem. The majority of the fruit is rnised far from any towns or industrial centers, so that to obtain help it is neccssary to keep them for the entire season or face a great shortage in harvesting the crop. The laborers there have little or no means of recreation, causing much discontent.

"So in reality, Michigan, with its splendid marketing facilities, moderate temperature, a plentiful rainfall most years, and an adequate labor supply, has many factors which lend to success in the production of quality fruit which the west lacks."

SCHOOL COMMISSIONERS NOTES

Eighteen visits made last week. Everything moving nicely.

The Melrose township teachers' meeting was held Wednesday, the 19, at 2:00 p. m., in Clarion. All present but one. The teachers voted to have n township spelling contest in which all five schools would eompete. The words are to be chosen from the new spelling bulletin published by the department and is to be both oral and written. The date set is November 23 at 2 p. m. All additional numbers on the program will be patriotic. Miss Mayme Scroggie was elected chairman to carry out all details which may need attention.

The Boyne Valley teachers' meeting was heid Friday afternoon at 2:00 p. m., in the high school room of the Boyne Falls school. These teachers also voted to have a township spelling contest from words in bulletin number 10. This spell-down will be held the evening of November 23 in the Boyne Valley Town Hall. The songs selected were: "Hurrah for the Flag," "Our Flag," "America," "The Star Spangled Banner," "Our Banner," "My Uncle Sam" and "Red, White and Blue." The music will eonvert the spelldown into a patriotie feast. Supt. Tate is chairman.

Miss Thayer reports that the Ranney school has enrolled 36 pupils and has not had a single tardy mark. May they hold to the record.

Miss Georgia Redfield writes that her school in Hayes No. 1 has worked several changes for the better. Two cloak rooms and a hall take the place of the old storm shed,. they have ordered 11 sets of new standard texts, and have a flag pole in working order with rope, snaps and pulley.

The Hopyard school has to have new seats in order to find places for all the new ones enrolled this year. They are adopting the approved arithmetic.

Ten teachers have asked for supplies in order that they may introduce the Home Credit system into their schools again this year.

Boyne Valley No. 3 plans on having a short vacation on after the first month of school in order to repair and remodel the schoolhouse. Boyne Valley No. 4 has adopted many of the approved texts this year. Melrose No. 2 expects to order a large number of library books this year. Melrose No. 4 has increased the school library to 70 books in one year. Melrose No. 3 hns increased the school room over 40 per cent nnd has but two things to do in order to become a standard school. Some of our smaller districts may yet reach the approval of the state before the larger, wealthier ones get there.

Every school now has a teacher and we could find teachers for five or six more districts—that is if they could pay the price.

Thursday the 27th—school day at the Fair! Let school out and everybody go.

There were 12 schools started last week aceording to the slips received entitled "Reports to the Commissioner at the Opening of School." All but two are evidently using Smith's Combination Register.

The new grammars seem to be very much in demand.

COMB SAGE TEA IN FADED OR GRAY HAIR

If Mixed with Sulphur it Darkens so Naturally Nobody can Tell.

Grandmother kept her hair beautifully darkened, glossy and attractive with a brew of Sage Tea and Sulpbur. Whenever her hair took on tbst dull, faded or streaked appearance, this simple mixture was applied with wonderful effect. By asking at any drug store for "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound," you will get a large bottle of this old-time recipe, improved by tbe addition of other ingredients, all ready to use, for about 50 cents. This simple mixture can be depended upon to restore oatural color and besuty to tbe hair.

A well-knowo downtown druggist says everybody uses Wyetb's Sage and Sulphur Compound now because it darkens so naturally and evenly that nobody can tell it bss been applied—it's so easy to use, too. You simply dampen a comb or soft brush and drsw it through your hair, taking one strand at a time. By morning tbe gray hair disappears; after another application or two, it is restored to its natural color and looks glossy, soft and beautiful. This preparation is a delightful toilet requisite. It is not intended for the eure, mitigation or prevention of disease.

Many have responded to these, but there still remains hundreds of dollars that is due ue and should be paid. We are making a direct appeal to you to settle your indebtedness to us. In tbese days of bigb prices we must insist on subscriptions being paid promptiy wben due and as much as possible in advance. Look at the label on your paper. If it reads Sept. 16 yon owe for one year. If it reads any date prior to Sept. 17, you are indebted to us for every montb prior to Sept. 17, and it is your duty to settle it. It is no pleasure to us to be compelled to continually call your attention to arrearages, but as etated above, it takes a lot of money to do business and we need every dollar due us. Hence we insist on a settlement. tf.

NO-WHEAT AND NO-MEAT DAYS

EVERY TUESDAY WILL BE MEATLESS DAY

And Every Wednesday Wheatless Day According to Plans Outlined by Food Dictetor.

Every Tuesdsy ofter October 1, a meatless day, and every Wednesday a wheatless one, is the first plan of Food Director Hoover as applied to Michigan.

George A. Prescott, of Tawas City, named last week as food director for Michigan, has commenced work with great food conservation campaign.

The first move is a campaign of edueation and publicity to secure tbe co-operation of every housewife, every restaurant keeper and every hotelman in the state. This portion of the work will be under H. H. Freeman of Kalamazoo, a government expert, who is already preparing to send out the cards which will secure the actual promise of the women to eooperate and obey the suggestions of the government, in order that Michigan's supply of food msy be thoroughly conserved.

Mrs. Sleeper Heads Committee

A committee consisting of prominent men and women was appointed as an executive one by Director Prescott. This committee met at Lansing early last week with Governor Sleeper and the help and co-operation of the state will be pledged and the actual work started with a rush. The committee follows: Mrs. Albert E. Sleeper, Bad Axe; Miss Georgia L. White, East Lansing; Arthur C. Stebbins, Lansing; John J. Staley, Detroit; Fred L. Keeler, Mt. Pleasant and Woodbridge N. Ferris, Big Rapids.

Director Prescott and Mr. Freemen are starting with the campaign for the meatless and wheatless days beeause they feel that the public must be educated up to the point of not asking for so much foodstuff ip order that the commission man, the wholesaler and the retailer can be controlled. Curtailment of demand for certain foodstuffs which are to be curtailed will help out the men who sell it; consequently the public must be patriotically appealed to and asked to make its contribution first—in cutting down on meat and white bread, or anything in the bread line made from wheat.

All Organizations to Help

Every angle will be used; every alleyway which may lead to the dissemination of the ideas of the wheatless and meatless days will be utilized for publicity. The churches, the schools, civic organizations, fraternal societies, every known organization, is expected to help spread the gospel and secure absolute promises that the days will be observed.

Housewives will be asked to sign a card promising to observe in their households the rules for Tuesdays and Wednesdays. There are more than 804,000 households in Michignn and the plan is to reach all if possible. The exact details as to the cards, their method of distribution, and other incidentals will be discussed and completed the Lansing meeting.

Under the regulations of the government, every commission man, wholesaler and jobber is brought within the power of the food director in that they will have to be licensed. This licensing means a strict accountability to state headquarters for everything and it also means that if they do not live up to the regulations their licenses will be canceled and they will practically be put out of business. Each will have to make and take inventory, so that the state can readily ascertain the quantities of food on hand, how much of it is being dispensed, and to whom it is going.

Prescott Urges Co-operation

Food Director Prescott realizes that the job he has is a man-sized job, but he is confident that with the co-operation of everybody and with the people of the state once realizing the gravity of the situation it will not be so hard after all. As a matter of fact the housewives of Michigan are already practicing economy in many ways and the establishment of two fast days will not be so radical a step as may be imagined.

BIG LAND DEAL HAS BEEN CLOSED

Henry Stephens Disposes of 4,000 Acres to Chicago Parties

A deed was filed at Gaylord on September 4th for the transfer of land aggregating over 4,000 acres by Henry Stephens to King Karpen and John H. Jenny of Chicago, the deal being handled through W. J. Chalker.

The tract of land is located in Otsego Lake and South Hayes township that in the latter township being nesrly all in one block while that in Otsego Lake township is more or less scattered.

The land is now being surveyed by surveyor Houghton from Grayling, preparatory to a large portion of it being fenced at once.

It is understood they will stock the ranch with cattle in the spring and that they will carry on this business in quite an extensive manner.

TRAVERSE CITY DAM BLOWN UP

GERMAN SYMPATHIZERS ARE CHARGED WITH JOB

Power Plant Was Located on Boardman River—Many Industries Forced to Shut Down

A dozen Traverse City industries are idle and many laborers are automatically thrown out of work as a result of the blowing up of the spillway at the lower dam of the Boardman River Electric Light and Power company, four miles south of Traverse City on Monday of last week.

German agents are believed to have used the explosives. The spillway is a total wreck, the loss being fully $50,000. The dam is now useless and before it can be put into operation again the loss will approximate $100,000. The spillway, constructed at a cost of $50,000 three years ago, was one of the two used by the Boardmsn river company.

Because of the fact that the power house is some distance away the damage was not detected for some time after the explosion. It was at first thought high water might have torn out the spillway. An investigation revealed unmistakable evidence of an explosion. Bits of the structure were hurled some distance and the entire spillway was wrecked as only explosives could have done.

Some of the city's biggest concerns depended on the Boardman company for power. They have closed, the other power plant being unable to take care of the entire city. A few plants having auxiliary steam systems can run short handed. The situation is critical as repair of the damage done is not a small job.

POTATOES COST MUCH TO RAISE

NINE EMMET CO. FARMS GIVE FIGURES

Expenses on Tubers Amaunt to $1.03 For Every Bushel; Beans $78.50 Per Acre

According to figures carefully compiled from nine leading Emmet county farms each bushel of potatoes raised this year cost $1.03, says the Petoskey Evening News.

Figuring every cost from the time of plowing until the tubers are delivered at the market, the sum of money spent on each acre is $117.67.

Figuring the average yield in former years on the same land, and allowing for this year's conditions, the estimated yield on these nine farms is 114 bushels per acre, which is less than the number of dollars required to produce them.

On the same nine farms it cost $78.50 to raise an acre of beans, but no estimate as to the yield has been given.

Cost to Raise Potatoes

The expense items on potatoes are as follows: Plowing $2.97; harvesting, $2.49; rolling, $.35; fertilizer $3.14; manure, $6.45; applying manure, $7.33; cost of seed, $30.27; cost of planting, $3.33; cultivation, $5.06; fungicide and insecticide, $2.49; labor applying and foregoing, $3.39; digging, $10.66; storage, $2.78; delivery to market, $8.67; unenumerated, $1.22; interest on investment, taxes, insurance, etc., $27.07; total cost, $117.67; estimated yield per acre, 114 bushels.

Expense Details on Beans

The cost details on beans are as follows: Plowing $2.75; harrowing, $2.34; rolling, $.54; fertilizer, $2.54; manure, $5.11; applying manure, $6.89; seed per acre, $5.72; planting or drilling, $1.94; cultivation, $5.39; hand weeding, $5.11; threshing machine cost, $2.19; fuel, $.44; labor, and board (threshing), $2.78; delivery to market, $1.72; harvesting, hauling and storing, $5.00; interest on investment, insurance, taxes, etc., $27.07; total cost per acre, $78.50.

BUSINESSMEN URGED TO TAKE ACTIVE PART

Ironton Grangers Put Up Good Prizes for Best Plowing

Business men of Charlevoix, East Jordan, Boyne City and vicinity are going to have the opportunity to demonstrate their ability along agricultural lines at the big Plowing Match at Ironton, Thursday, October 11.

Every man who thinks he can handle the plow will have a chance to show what he can do and how much of an expert he is. The business men's plowing contest will take place immediately after the regular scheduled matches as advertised. No limitations are made other than to the safety of teams, onlookers and implements.

The Ironton Grangers have put up two prizes a first and second for the best laid and straightest furrow made by any business man—not engaged in farming pursuits. Entries for the contests will without a doubt be numerous, especially for first prize—a bushel of beans. For second prize, a bushel of potatoes, two chickens, one pound of butter and one dozen eggs are offered.

The plowing match will be held on Mrs. Lyngklip's farm instead of on the Will Bird farm as advertised, owing to lack of room at the latter place.

WORK IS STRENUOUS

Such is Report of Rollie L. Lewis Now at Fort Sheriden

A recent letter received by Dr. Levi Lewis from his son, Rollie, states that the latter is in the best of health and physically fit for anything. He says that while the work is very strenuous, he is enjoying it, notwithstnnding that he has been in trenches in sham battles, in which were four inches of water. He laughingly states, "I do not blame the French for wanting to get away from the ramparts on the land and fight on the water."

BURNED TO WATER'S EDGE

STEAMER COLUMBIA NOW A TOTAL LOSS

Fire From Uoknown Cause Destroys Boat and Coal Sheds Early Thursday Morning

The steamer Columbia, formerly on the Petoskey-Harbor Springs ferry run, purchased last spring by the Beaver Island Transportation Co. to be used on the Charlevoix-Beaver Island run, was burned to the water's edge and reduced to almost a complete loss in a fire Thursday night.

The boat had been making two trips daily between this city and East Jordan, to accommodate fair visitors, and had been tied up for the night at the Charlevoix Coal & Wood Co.'s dock on the south side of Round Lake, after taking on fuel for the following day's run.

The fire was first discovered about 3:45 a. m., and the alarm immediately turned in. Before the department arrived the fire had gained such headway that little could be done to save the boat, as well as the coal sheds, which were a mass of flames and were burned to the ground.

The cause of the fire is unknown. A fireman, Charles Brow, and wheelsman, Pat O'Donnell, were sleeping aboard the boat but were not aroused until the boat was burning from end to end, and had a narrow escape.

The craft is valued, according to Captain George Weaver who operated her, at $15,000, and was insured for half that amount. The loss of the coal dock and sheds is estimated at about $3,500 with no insurance.

This is the second disastrous fire suffered by boat operators on the Beaver Island run, the Str. Beaver burning in about the same manner some two years ago. For about a year after the burning of the Beaver, the run was made by the Str. City of Boyne, owned and operated by Capt. Roe of Harbor Springs. Last spring on the organization of the Beaver Island Transportation Co., the Columbia was purchased and placed on the run.

The hull of the Columbia is of little value, according to a statement by her owners, and there is little expectation of her ever being rebuilt. The company, however, had previously bought the gasoline boat Irene, with the intentions of placing her on the run, after the bulk of the the season's work was over. For the balance of the season the Str. City of Boyne has been leased and will make daily runs to and from the island until after the first of December, when every other day trips will be made by the Irene.

The loss is a severe one to not only the owners of the Columbia, but to the community in general, and immediate steps will undoubtedly be taken towards the purchase of a boat suitable for the run.

BOYNE FALLS CROWDED WITH ROAD ENTHUSIASTS

Little City Entertains Visitors From All Parts of County

Boyne Falls—all take off your hats—for when it comes to royally entertaining a big bunch of good roads enthusiasts we will have to concede the plum to this hustling little village in the eastern part of our county.

Monday night, the occasion being the fourth meeting of the Charlevoix County Good Roads Association, all roads led to Boyne Falls, and some 175 men from all parts of the county met and enjoyed the hospitality of the residents and business men and the Board of Commerce.

The meeting was held in the town hall, and the supper was served by the ladies of the Red Cross. Speaking of "eats," nothing pulled off by any city in the county was better served than at this event.

The good roads proposition was discussed in all its phases, and all expressed their willingness to put their shoulder to the wheel and boost for good roads and the proposition to bond the county.

PRIVATE M. F. ORVIS MARRIED SEPTEMBER 6

Ceremony Took Place in Grace Church in Grand Rapids

An interesting wedding took place at Grace Church, Grand Rapids, September 6, when Miss Lela May of Port Huron, became the bride of Mortimer F. Orvis, of Evelina township, a member of Co. I, 33rd Michigan Infantry, station at Fort Wayne, Detroit. Rev. Sargent officiated using the beautiful ring ceremony.

The bride was very prettily gowned in white lace over white satin, and was attended by Miss Carrie Orvis and Mrs. Barnstle, sisters of the groom. The groom wore his uniform and was attended by his brother-in-law, Mr. Barnhastle.

Mr. Orvis obtained a ten day leave of absence and the happy couple are now enjoying a short wedding trip through northern Michigan.

BERT ACKERT BADLY HURT

MAY LOSE SIGHT OF ONE OF HIS EYES

Slipped and Fell Into Lake and Was Hit by Heavy Capstan—Injuries Serious

A telegram received by James Ackert last Wednesday night, announced the serious injury of his son, Bert, at Frankfort, where he is employed on the ferry.

It seems that Mr. Ackert was engaged in moving a capstan on the ferry, when he slipped and fell into the lake, the heavy capstan falling after him and striking him on the head. He was taken from the lake unconscious and suffered severe hemorrhages from the mouth, eyes and nose. One of his eyes was so badly injured that it is considered doubtful if the sight can be saved, and one ear was badly lacerated. At first his recovery was considered exceedingly doubtful, but at last reports he seemed to be improving, having regained consciousness and partaken of a very little nourishment.

Mr. and Mrs. James Ackert left on the noon train Thursday for Frankfort, Mr. Ackert returning Saturday.

DIED IN DETROIT

Nelson Moore Was Well Known in Charlevoix and Vicinity

Mrs. William Cowan of this city received a telegram Sunday announcing the death of her uncle, Nelson Moore of Detroit, who passed away in that city on the evening of the previous day.

Mr. Moore was 73 years of age at the time of his death. He was a resident of Atwood for over 40 years and later made his home with Mrs. Cowan. Last fall he went to Detroit, where he lived up to the time of his death. He was well known in this city and had a number of relatives in and around Charlevoix. Funeral and interment took place in Detroit on Tuesday.

SCHOOL EXHIBIT AT COUNTY FAIR

FIRST PRIZE AWARDED TO EAST JORDAN

Charlevoix County Teachers to be Commended on Good Work They Are Accomplishing

The Educational and Fine Arts hall was never so full of school work as it was this year. Our educators tell us that those who are fighting ignorance are paving the way for a permanent peace in the future. If this is true, surely Charlevoix county teachers are doing their bit in the world war. There were four city schools exhibiting, including East Jordan public schools, the parochial school of St. Joseph, the Charlevoix schools, the Boyne City schools and the village of St. James. The district schools exhibiting under the restrictions of the first class of premiums were represented by Ironton, Three Bells, Walker, Slaughter, Marion Center, Sunnyside, and Deer Lake.

For years Boyne City has carried away all the honors in Class 2, with East Jordan a more or less distant second. This year East Jordan was preparing weeks ahead of time, trying to make some sort of home run. This was not so easy for Boyne City, was in trim and had good men at the bases. Every complete department exhibited counted on a basis of 20 points, and each prize counted from one to four points, according to its number whether first, second, third, or merely commended.

Mr. Wells of the East Jordan schools had prepared the finest display of furniture made by the boys, that the people have seen, and the judge, who was a specialist in this line, was very enthusiastic in his praise of this work. He commended it as being very original, varied, well made, and useful, and granted both first and second prizes to East Jordan pupils. The bench work, however, ha considered inferior to that displayed by Boyne City and in this he awarded the collective first prize to Boyna whose entire work, including furniture, he considered very good. The art work was next in order and in this there could be no competing with Boyne, whose work was simply wonderful and carried away both first and second prizes.

The two county agents who were judging the garden displays were quite at a loss in determining the individual prizes. The East Jordan selection was undoubtedly good, but the Boyne City boys and girls had evidently been more practical in their selections, and also displayed a greater amount of work accomplished. They awarded most of the individual prizes of first degree to East Jordan students, but all the seconds, part of the first and all of the commended's to Boyne, and topped the climax by awarding a collective first prize to the Boyne City display with a second to East Jordan, with Charlevoix first in floriculture.

The domestic art department would have been puzzled, but in came Charlevoix with a canning display from her cooking department, while East Jordan and Boyne City had done things by halves by bringing only their sewing. The judges granted first honors to Charlevoix, second to Boyne City, and third to East Jordan.

One very remarkable feature of this display was the Red Cross and military display of the East Jordan schools, whose work this year will be entirely patriotic in this department. East Jordan was the only school of the three to exhibit work from its commercial department, from its algebra, and geometry. Charlevoix won all honors in science by bringing the best physics and art note books. Penmanships first was awarded to Charlevoix and second to St. Joseph, so the points gained in the last mentioned did not help either of the two nearest in the race to win first place. Charlevoix came in first in grade work display, with East Jordan second. When the judging was all in the three first in the race stood as follows: East Jordan, 287 points; Boyne City, 207 points; Charlevoix, 165 points.

The district schools were also well represented and the walls so completely covered that considerable work could not be placed on display.

Not a Bite of Breakfast Until You Drink Water

Says a glass of hot water and phosphate prevents illness and keeps us fit.

Just na coal, when it burns, leaves behlad a certaia amount of incombustible material la the form of ashes, so the food and drink taken day after day leaves ia ths alimentary eaaal a certain amouat of indigestible material, which if aot completly elimisated from tho system eaeh day, bscomes food for ths milliosa of bacteria which iafest the bowels. From this mass of left-over wastc, toxins and ptomain-liks poisons are formed and sucked iato the blood.

Men aad women who can't get feeling right iaust begin to taks inside baths. Befors eatiag breakfast each morniag drink a glass of real hot water with a teaspoonful of limestons phosphate in it to wash out of the thirty feet of bowels ths previous day's accumulation of poisons and toxins and to keep the estire alimentary cansl clean, pure and fresh.

Those who sre subject to sick headnehe, colds, billousness, constipation, others who wake up with bad taste, foul breath, baekache, rheumatic stiffaess, or have n sour, gassy stomaeh after meals, are urged to get a quarter pouad of limestoae phosphate from the drug storc, aad begia practieing interaal sanitation. This will cost very littls, but is sufficiest to mako aayons an oathusiast oa tha subjsct.

Remember insido bathing is moro important than outside bathing, beause tho skla porcs do not absorh impurities iato the blood, causing poor health, wbile the bowel pores do. Just as soap and hot wator clennses, sweetens and freshens tho skin, so bot water nnd limestone phosphate act on the stomach, liver, kidneys aad howels.

IF BACK HURTS USE SALTS FOR KIDNEYS

Eat less meat if Kidneys feel like lead or Bladder bothers you—Meat forms uric acid.

Most folks forget that the kidneys, like the bowels, get sluggish and clogged and need a flushing occasionally, else we have backache and dull misery in the kidney region, severe headaches, rheumatic twinges, torpid liver, acid stomach, sleeplessness and all sorts of bladder disorders.

You simply must keep your kidneys active and clean, and the moment you feel an ache or pain in the kidney regioo, get about four ounces of Jad Salts from any good drug store here, take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast for a few days and your kidneys will then act fine. This famous salts is made from the acid of grapes and lemon jniee, combined with lithia, and is harmless to flush clogged kidneys and stimulate them to normal activity. It also neutralizes the acids in the urine so it no longer irritates, thus ending bladder disorders.

Jad Salts is harmless; inexpensive; makes a delightful effervescent lithia-water drink which everybody should take now and then to keep their kidneys clean, thus avoiding serious complications.

A well-known local druggist says he sells lots of Jad Salts to folks who believe in overcoming kidney trouble while it is only trouble

HEART of the SUNSET

By REX BEACH

Author of "The Spoilers," "The Iron Trail," "The Silver Horde," Etc.

Before the eyes af the four wondering women Father O'Malley married them. It seemed to Alaire that he would never reach the end, although, in fact, he stumbled through the ceremony swiftly. Alaire clipped his last words short by crying:•

"Tell these people so that they'll understand what it all means. Tell them to remember they heve seen a marriage by the church."

The priest did as he was directed, and his audience signified their understanding. Then Dolores led them out.

CHAPTER XXIII.

The Man of Destiny.

"Now, then, I'll explain," said Alaire, turning to the men. "Longorio declares he won't have me except as his wife, and I think he means it. He is amazingly egotistical. He has tremeadous ambitions. He thinks this war is his great opportunity, and he means to be president—he's sure of it. He loves me, but he loves himself better, I'm sure. Now, don't you see? He'll have to choose one or the other."

Father O'Malley did not appear to appreciate the full force of this reasoning. "My dear," he said, gravely, "he can make you a widow again. In such times as these men are saveges."

"Oh, but that's not all." Alaire turned to her newly made husband. "They let you in, and they'll let you out again—if you go quickly, before it's known what we've done."

Dave stared at her in bewilderment. "I? I go, and—leave you?" He seemed doubtful of her sanity.

"Yes." When he laughed shortly, Alaire cried: "Dave, you must! Don't you see what I'm driving at? If he can't merry me, if he finds you're gone and he can't lay hands on you, what can he do but let me go? Dave dear, for my sake, for the sake of us both—"

"You're excited," he told her, and drew her to himself gently.

"Please! Please!" she implored.

"You don't know that man," said Father O'Malley, with conviction.

But Alaire insisted, half hysterically now: "I do; that's just it, I do know him. He is planning the greatest things for himself, his head is in the clouds; and he daren't do the things he used to do. That's why I called in those women as witnesses. He can't put them out of the way. With Dave gone—"

"Then he is wrong, child," Alaire clasped her hands in thanksgiving, but the father cautioned her:

"Don't be too sanguine. He is not afraid of consequences. He appears to have no conscience. He is without mercy and seems lost to shame. I have never met a man quite like him. Do you know what he feels at this moment? Chagrin. Yes, mortification raised to the highest pitch, and a sort of stupefaction that you should prefer another man to him. He can't understand your lack of taste." Father O'Malley smiled fatally.

"Conceited idiot," Dave growled.

"His humiliation kills him. When I saw that it was useless to appeal to him on moral grounds, and that threats were unavailing, I took another course. Something gave me insight into his mind, and the power to talk as I have never talked before. All in a flash I saw the man's soul laid bare before me, and—I think I played upon it with some cunning. I don't remember all I said, for I was inspired, but I appealed to his vanity and to his conceit, and as I went along I impressed upon him, over and over, the fact that the world knows we are here and that it trusts him. He aspires to the presidency; he believes he is destined to be Mexico's dictator; so I painted a picture that surpassed his own imaginings. He would have been suspicious of mere flattery, so I went far beyond that and inflamed him with such extravagant visions as only a child or an unblushing egotist like him could accept. I swelled his vanity; I inflated his conceit. For a moment, at least, I lifted him out of himself and raised him to the heights."

From beyond the closed door came Longorio's voice, issuing some command to his men. A moment passed; then he appeared before the three Americans. He seemed taller, thinner, more erect and hawklike than ever. His head was held more proudly and his chest was fuller. A set, disdainful smile was graven upon his face.

He began by addressing his words directly to Alaire. "Senora," he said, "I am a man of deep feeling and I scorn deceit. Therefore I offer no apology for my recent display of emotion. If I have seemed to press my advances with undue fervor, it is because, at heart, I am as great a lover as I am a statesman or a soldier. But there are other things than love. Nature constituted me a leader, and he who climbs high must climb alone. I offered Chapultepec as a shrine for your beauty. I offered to share Mexico with you, and I told you that I would not be content with less than all of you. Well, I meant it. Otherwise—I would take you now." His voice throbbed with a sudden fierce desire, and his long, lean hands closed convulsively. "You must realize that I have the courage and the power to defy the world, eh?" He seemed to challenge denial of this statement, but, receiving none, he went on, fixing his brilliant, feverish eyes once more upon Alaire. "As a man of sentiment I am unique; I am different from any you have ever known. I would not possess a flower without its fragrance. You did not believe me when I told you that, but I am going to prove it. All your life you are going to think of me as heroic. Perhaps no patriot in history ever made a more splendid sacrifice for his country than I make now. Some day the world will wonder how I had the strength to put aside love and follow the path of duty."

Alaire trusted herself to ask, "Then we are free to go?"

The general's face was swept by a grimace intended for a smile. "I have ordered your horses to be saddled."

Dave, who had with difficulty restrained his anger at the fellow's bombast, was upon the point of speaking when Father O'Malley took the words out of his mouth:

"Would you send this woman out of her own house into a country like—like this? Remember the fortune in cattle you have already taken—'

Longorio broke in with a snarl: "Is it my fault that the country is in arms? Military necessity compels me to remain here. I consider myself magnanimous. I—" His voice cracked, and he made a dispairing, violent gesture. "Go, before I change my mind."

"Go Before I Change My Mind."

Dave signaled to the others, and Alaire slipped away to make herself ready. During the uncomfortable silence which succeeded her departure, Longorio paced the room, keeping his eyes resolutely turned away from Law.

"Do you mean that I, too, may go?" O'Malley inquired.

"What good are you to me?" snapped the general.

"You will give us safe conduct?"

"Be still, priest!" Longorio glared at the speaker, clasping and unclasping his fists behind his back.

With the sound of hoofs outside, Alaire and Dolores appeared, and the Mexican straightened himself with an effort.

COAL BARONS SQUIRM

No sooner had the President fixed a maximum price for bituminous coal than the operators, according to Washington dispstches, were "laying plans for a mass attack on the prices fixed." Officlal representatives of their association who happened to be meeting in a Washington hotel at the time, "sent an appeal to every bituminous operator in the United States to meet in Pittsburgh next week to determine on a line of action."

These gentlemen may meet as much as they like, and determine on any line of action that seems good to them. The rights of assembly and discussion in this country are still free—within reasonable limits. But if they have any great hope of upsetting the government's purpose by a display of resistance or coercion they are deceiving themselves. And if they carry their activity very far, they will find themselves in a heap of troubls. The government is in no mood to tolerate any nonsense from the coal barons. And certainly the public is not.

The priee-fixing may pinch unjustly here and there, though it is meant to pinch off nothing but exhorbitant profits. It is hard to be fair in every case where an industry is so big and complex. But there will be as little unfairness as possible, despite the temptation to retaliate for the gross unfairness of the operators toward the public in the past year. They will be held down to a legitimate return on their investment. And if they are not satisfied with that, the government can and will proceed to take over the whole business. The coal industry as a whole has alienated the sympathy of the nation by its grasping policy in a time of great need. It has been unpatriotic. It has charged "all the traffic would bear," extorting the last penny from rich and poor alike. It might have run its business on a basis that would win the approval of the nation, suffering no loss for the present and laying up golden good will for the future. Instead, it drove the public into open hostility.

To such a course there could be but one end. The people are now in control, and will stay in control. They will be fairer than the coal barons have been, but they will be no more than fair. If the barons don't like it, let them squirm.

Meanwhile, it behooves the dictators of several other industries vitally affecting the nation's life to take due notice of what is happening.

"Buckeye soldier nearly meets death at the hands of an army mule," says the Toledo Times. There must be a new sort of mule in the market.

A recently captured Prussian officer says thers is scarcely a German soldier who wouldn't be willing to crucify the man who invented poison gas. One can't help wondering how they like ths man who first thought of dropping bombs on babies.

The kaiser says President Wilson is trying to drive a wedge between him and the German people. And wo thought him so bull-headed that he wouldn't get the idea.

One can't help wondering how the kaiset will punish those Swedish diplomats for getting caught at it.

"What is a depsndent," asks an exchange, "Well, we had to take care of the nsighbor's canary for seven weeks."

The only way out for Sweden seems to be to admit that her diplomat was a "notorious ass."

Every day sees us closer to being abls to lick the kaiser than we have ever been before.

Kerensky always seems to havs another crisis to look forward to.

Peaee is what the kaiser should be made to beg for.

Intriguo must have besn invented in Germany.

PAY YOUR SUBSCRIPTION

During the last two weeks of August the Courier management sent statements to all persons owing subscription accounts. Many have responded to these, but there still remains hundrsds of dollars that is dus us and should be paid. We are making a direct appeal to you to settle your indebtsdness to us. In these days of high priess we must insist on subscriptions being paid promptly when due and as much as possible in advance. Look at the label on your paper. If it reads Sept. 16 you owe for one year. If it reads any date prior to Sept. 17, you are indebted to us for every month prior to Sept. 17, and it is your duty to settle it. It is no plsasurs to us to be compelled to continually call your attention to arrearages, but as stated above, it takes a lot of money to do business and we need every dollar due us. Hence we insist on a settlsment. tf.

No Advance on Round Oak Stoves

The following letter has just been received from the Beckwith Company, makers of the famous Round Oak Stoves, Ranges, etc.:

Dowagiac, Mich., September 28, 1917

TO THE TRADE:

"The long looked for and anticipated Governmental control of the prices of steel, iron and coke, has become a reality. The recent announcement in the papers regarding this action has received instant recognition on the part of the Round Oak Folks.

"This enables us to continue to sell Round Oak Stoves, Ranges and Moistair Heating Systems on basis of June list instead of the new list recently mailed you, which was to have gone into effect October 1st. Please destroy the October list and insert in your Catalog the enclosed duplicate of the June list.

The actual effect of Governmental control on deliveries of raw materials, in view of the present shortage and abnormal demand, must determine future prices.

Granted Government control of price of iron and steel, works out satisfactorily, there can be no hope of lower prices than shown in the list enclosed. In view of car shortage and transportation difficulties, deliveries will be handicapped, therefore, liberally anticipate your season's needs. If Government price control does not work out in practice, we may all look for radical advances.

You and your Sales Organization will appreciate this action on the part of the Round Oak Folks to the extent that in presenting the specialties to your Trade you will explain WITH CONVICTION that your retail prices are in keeping with the present Governmental quotations on raw materials.

Very truly yours,
THE BECKWITH COMPANY.
Round Oak Folks

This enables us to sell at last spring's prices. The Round Oak would be cheap if sold at the advance, but at the old price they are the best value on the market today. Our line is ready for your inspection.

STATE OF MICHIGAN
Adjutant General's Office
Lansing
Sept. 28, 1917

TO ALL BOARDS:

The following telegram received from General Crowder is published for the information and guidance of all concerned.

"Washington, D. C., Sept. 27, 1917 Governor of Michigan, Lansing Michigan. Number 8215. A reward of $50 is payable for the delivery at the nearest army camp or post of a deserter. This reward is in full satisfaction of all expenses incurred in said delivery.

"A person who fails to report to his Local Board for military servics at the time specified in his order to report is a deserter.

A person who fails to report for military service to Ths Adjutant General of the state specified in the order of The Adjutant General to said person is a deserter.

"It is highly desirabls from every standpoint that an effort now be made to round up all persons who are delinquent in reporting for military service.

"It is thought that if the fact of reward, is given the widest publicity we shall have a great force of police officers, and even of individuals, interested in bringing such delinquents under military control.

"If, after such persons are brought to a military authority, it appears to the military authorities that their delinquency is not wilful, they will be forwarded to a Mobilization Camp and their Local Board will be given credit. If it appears that the delinquency was wilful, they will be prosecuted before court martial as deserters.

"In either case the reward is payable. Crowder."

"Renown" Underfeed Heater

The Heater that is revolutionizing the burning of Soft Coal—More Heat—Less Fuel—It burns the Smoke, Gas and Soot. If you want to get away from the disagreeable feature of the smoke rushing out into your face every time you put coal on the fire, try the

"Renown Underfeed Heater"

The coal is fed under the fire and all products of combustion (gas and smoke) are forced up through the red hot coals, where perfect combustion is obtained by the admission of highly heated air through a perforated Hot Blast Chamber directly above the fire-pot. The heated air mixes perfectly with the escaping gases as they leave the fresh coal and as this mixture passes over the fire, it ignites and is consumed. This produces a strong even heat at all times instead of a spasmodic heat as is the case when the coal is fed on top.

We will guarantee that this stove will not puff or explode if operated according to our instructions.

ELLSWORTH LOCAL NEWS

J. Leahy, the Optometrist, will be at the hotel in Ellsworth, Tuesday, October 16, one day. Parents should learn the condition of their children's eyes when they have the opportunity. 30t2

Ellaworth was well repreaented last week at the East Jordan and Traverse City fairs.

We are glad to announce that Mrs. Jack Parsons is recovering very nicely from her attack of typhoid fever.

P. M. conductor "Bill" Hawker arrived at the New Orient last Saturday where he will spend a few days hunting and fiahing.

Will Boss writes from the cantonment at Battle Creak that he ia now a member of Co. H. 337th Inf. and that he likes the place and thinks he will stay awhile.

The Ladies Aid Society meeting scheduled to meat this week with Mra. M. R. Nelson haa been postponed one week on account of the Antrim county fair.

Farmers around Ellsworth are busy this week pulling beans and say that if the frost holds off a few days more there will be a fairly good crop of ripe corn.

Eugene Osborne is at home from Camp Custer, having received a ten daya leave of absence to attend to his crops. He has been assigned to the ambulance service.

Frank Louiselle writes to friends here that he is now a full fledged member of Co. B, 310th engineers. He likes his surroundings at Camp Custer and would be pleased to hear from his friends in this vicinity.

W. A. Boss returned from his southern trip on Saturday of last week. On his way home he stopped at Camp Custer and visited the Antrim county boys and reports them as feeling fine and enjoying themselves.

Plans have been made and bills are out announcing the home-coming at Central Lake on Tuesday and Wednesday, October 9 and 10. Free attractions have been arranged for and a good time is assured all who attend.

To our readers: Owing to the fact that the Charlevoix and Grand Traverse fairs were in session last week, the Antrim county fair this week, and the hunting season opening last Monday, the reporter has been too busy to gather much local news for this issue of the Courier.

Private Eben Yettaw, Co. I, 125th Inf. is at home for a few days. The 125th Inf. was formerly the 33rd. Mich. Inf., but has been changed. Eben, as is the case with all the Ellsworth boys, looks and feels fine. He expects his outfit to leave for the border the first of next week.

Plans have been made for a farmers picnie to be given by Libby, McNeil and Libby in the near future. The Blue Hall has been engaged for the occasion and at the picnic each person who has grown cucumbers for this firm this year will receive a check frpm the company of 25 cents per hundred lbs. on all pickles marketed the past season. This will be in the nature of a bonus and is a free gift.

The farmers of this vicinity are beginning to respond to the invitations sent out by the Citizens Bank and have brought in during the past week a nice display of fruits and vegetables. However, there is still room for more. Don't be bashful. If you have any good produce such as vegetables, fruit, grains, etc., bring in a sample and put it on exhibition. Mr. Townsend also has pamphlets dealing on the care and storage of fruit and vegetables, and work that can be done with concrete and these are free to all.

STEADFAST CONFIDENCE

The Following Statement Should Form Conclusive Proof of Merit to Every Charlevoix Reader

Could stronger proof of the merit of any remedy be desired than the statements of grateful endorsers who say their confidence has been undiminished by lapse of time? These are the kind of statements that are appearing constantly in your local papers for Doan's Kidney Pills. They are twice-told and confirmed with new enthusiasm. Can any reader doubt the following. It's from a Charlevoix resident:

Mrs. John Cook, 307 Mason St., Charlevoix, gave the following statement on October 26, 1911: "I have used Doan's Kidney Pills on different ocessions for kidney disorder and backache and they have always given me splendid results."

On October 4, 1916, Mrs. Cook added: "Doan's Kidney Pills cured me of kidney trouble and I have had no occasion to use a kidney medicine since. I am always ready to say a good word for Doan's Kidney Pills."

Price 60c, at all dealers. Don't simply ask for a kidney remedy—get Doan's Kidney Pills—the same that Mrs. Cook has twice publicly recommended. Foster-Millburn Co., Props., Buffalo, N. Y.

SCHOOL EXHIBIT AT COUNTY FAIR

FIRST PRIZE AWARDED TO EAST JORDAN

Cherlevoix County Teachers to be Commended on Good Work They Are Accomplishing

Ironton had considerable good work that was left in the corner and merely called to the attention of the judges when necessary for awarding prizes, and to the interested visitor whenever the size of the crowd would permit.

Sunnyalde school, which is Peaine No. 1, on Beaver Island expressed some very good work which did not reach the building until late Wednesday when all spsee was gone. Part was placed over other exhibits, however, for a brief time and the judges had some very splendid things to say about the rope knots, the bird studies, the maps, and penmanship. This is the first year that the space over the office windows has had to be used and the teacher deserves a chromo for her patient, and untiring climbing of the ladder in placing her display. Fortunately it won ten dollars collectively so her work was not in vain.

The Walker display was the most remarkable surprise of all. Due to lack of space there was but a small space left which was just large enough for this display. It had to be placed here, although the light was poor in this corner, and many failed to aee it. The judges began their work and lo and behold almost every first prize in this class was awarded to this little exhibit 'way off in the corner by itself. It had followed the premium list in its choice of material and it had also been selected from the very best work in the school instead of displaying nll of it as is sometimes done. Its size alone prevented it from carrying all the premiums in that class.

The Slaughter school was the only school bringing bird houses and also had such a splendid patriotic poster that the judges made a special entry for it. Deer Lake school had some beautiful work exhibited although it did not follow along lines in which prizes were offered and there was so much competition in the cut work nnd drawing that one would need to have expert pupils in order to win.

Marion Center snd Ironton competed easily with the city schools in local map drawing, although these achools are listed in a class with rural schools instead of with the city schools. Three Bells, Marion Center, Ironton and Slaughter school, all had some very good sewing done by girls Friday afternoons and recesses. The boys in the Ironton grammar grades had done work that was very interesting and commendable. The first prize collectively wns grnnted to Ironton for the largest, good display of general school work, second to Three Bells and third to the little but remarkable display of the Walker school.

Many teachers who were visiting the building on school day remarked that they gained some excellent ideas, and the boys nnd girls stood wide-eyed before the work done by their neighbors. We are sorry the building is so small but so many have promised assistanee if nn addition should be built that with n little co-operation from the exhibitors we hope never again to be compelled to turn away work done by hopeful, earnest little boys and girls.

One of the best features of the fair was the splendid co-opcration of the schoolboards near and far. Almost every school within a radius of twenty miles elosed down for at least one day ao that all possible could attend the fair—to learn and to enjoy.

A WORD FOR MOTHERS

It is a grave mistake for mothers to neglect their aches and pains and suffer in silence—this only leads to chronic sickness and often shortens life.

If your work is tiring; if your nerves are excitable; if you feel languid, weary or depressed, you should know that Scott's Emulsion overcomes just such conditions.

It possesses in concentrated form the very elements to invigorate the blood, strengthen the tissues, nourish the nerves and build strength.

Scott's is strengthening thousands of mothers—and will help you. No alcohol.

SAGE AND SULPHUR DARKENS GRAY HAIR

It's Grandmother's Recipe to Restore Color, Gloss and Attractiveness.

Almost everyone knows that Sage Tea and Sulphur, properly compounded, brings back the natural color and lustre to the hair when faded, streaked or gray. Years ago the only way to get this mixture was to make it at home, which is mussy and troublesome. Nowadays, by asking at any drug store for "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound," you will get a large bottle of this famous old recipe, improved by the addition of other ingredients, for about 50 cents.

Don't stay gray! Try it! No one can possibly tell that you darkened your hair, as it does it so naturally and evenly. You dampen a sponge or soft brush with it and draw this through your hair, taking one small strand at a time; by morning the gray hair disappears, and after another application or two, your hair becomes beautifully dark, glossy and attractive.

Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound is a delightful toilet requisite for those who desire dark hair and a youthful appearance. It is not intended for the cure, mitigation or prevention of disease.

ENSIL CORN AT RIGHT TIME FOR RESULTS

Put Corn in Silo When the Kernel Is Hardened and Glazed

With the price of all feeding stuffs steadily mounting skyward it behooves the feeder to utilize home-grown feeds to the very best advantage," W. E. J. Edwards of the animal husbandry department of the Michigan Agricultural college states. "Lucky is the feeder who has a good silo with sufficient corn to fill it."

"The feeding value of silage depends very largely upon the condition of the corn when ensiled. The fact that occasionally a silo does not give satisfaction can in nearly all cases be traced to the ensiling of corn which is either too immature or has been allowed to become ripe. The best silage is made from corn in the glazed stage or when almost sufficiently matured for cutting for husking purposes. The rapid storage of valuable nutrients which occurs during the later stages of development of the corn plant is the most important reason for waiting until the crop is nearly mature. The crop should, however, be cut and ensiled while most of the leaves are yet green and succulent. Immature corn, on account of its high water content, produces excessive fermentation which decreases its feeding value and makes a very sour silage. With the present backward season considerable of the corn crop was slow in maturing and much sour silage will result unless precautions are taken. A slight frost often benefits immature corn as it drives out a part of the water so that better silage is produced. On the other hand, a heavy frost dries the leaves to such an extent that the corn will not pack solidly enough to exclude the air, and mouldy silage, which is dangerous to stock, often results. In this case the corn should be ensiled as soon as possible after the frost and sufficient water added to make it pack well. It is impossible to state exactly the amount of water to add. Corn which is quite ripe or which has been cut some time is also improved by the addition of water.

"The cut fodder should be kept level in the silo at all times and thoroughly packed. One of the essentials in the filling of a silo is to exclude as much air as possible. Put the best men in the silo, so that the silage is well tramped. Otherwise mouldy silage may result, which has a greatly decreased feeding value and is dangerous to feed to live stock."

COMMUNICATIONS

It is a good thing sometimes to be disappointed, for disappointment frequently works to profit and advancement.

We lost out in our last bonding proposition, and it was a mighty good thing for us that we did, for had it carried we would have gone ahead and built just such roads as we have built, they being the best we knew of at that time.

Now we know better. The upkeep of those gravel roads, had we built them in large mileage, would have bankrupted our county. The roads would have been all worn out long before the bonds came due, and then we could not have bonded again. Now we will build good concrete roads that will be as good as new 20 or 25 years hence, sell our bonds, and let those who may be here at that time, pay them, or renew them if they prefer.

Say, said I to a banker one day in Chicago, "Will you lend me $300,000 on $12,000,000 security?

He said, "what do you want it for? I said, "to build concrete roads." He said, "you bet I will. How long time do you want it for?" I said, "25 years." He said, "that's all right, and what's more I will agree to renew it for another 25 years. Your county will be worth nearly double in 25 years, and probably in a good deal less time. There is nothing that increases the value of land equal to concrete roads, and it also increases the value of city property."

I said, "all right, give me the dope," and this is what will happen next winter with Charlevoix county, and when we get it we can say to the banker: "Say, you jumped for that bond like a trout for a fly, didn't you?" And the banker will say, "You bet I did, and it was a big trout too."—Edited by Geo. H. Van Pelt.

What They Learned Over Here

Not the least humiliation of the Russian crisis so far as we are concerned, is that many of the exiles in this country who have gone back to Russia are the most unconscionable leaders of the extremists. They presume, moreover, on their experiences over here, to abuse republican ways and to denounce free America as a sham. One of the returned leaders who has been interviewed confesses frankly that all that he learned in America was how to organize and conduct strikes and promote public disorder in the interest of his cause. The curious thing is that some of our sentimentalists who have been acclaiming the superior democratic methods of free Russia are ready to read us a lesson by blaming the American people because these exiles who lived here did not learn to love or to respect us. They ignore the fact that most of these immigrants were and are anti-social in their instincts. They cared neither for good governments nor for freedom and liberty, save to subvert all order. Their behavior then and now confirms the warning that Professor Ross in his papers on immigration uttered several years ago, when he said that we had oversympathized with certain immigrant strains from Russia and that they were not desirable citizens, but ungrateful enemies of society. Thus today they are abusing the land that gave them asylum and endeavoring to hamstring the country that has let them return. No wonder that one revolutionist says, "We talked too much in 1905, and now we are doing it again; while Catherine Breshovskaya the "grandmother of the revolution," points out that "it is one thing to love liberty, but quite another to know how to use it. Ignorance is ruining Russia."

Come In and See This Spreader Work.

We announced a short time ago that we have the agency for the New Idea Spreader. We believed at the time that this was the best spreader made, and now, after scores have examined it thoroughly and commented favorably, we are more than ever convinced that we have the ideal spreader—the original wide-spreading machine.

We want our customers to come in and see this practical, low-down, light-draft spreader. We have it all set up and can put the mechanism in motion just as you'd see it in the field.

Perhaps you don't need a spreader. No matter! Come in just the same and see the "New Idea." Our word for it, you'll be interested anyway. The stands unique among spreaders. It puts manure on the soil in the best possible condition to furnish necessary plant food. A chain conveyor carries the load to a pair of cylinders, revolving one over the other, where it is thoroughly pulverized and thrown to swiftly revolving paddles that distribute it evenly over three corn rows. The feed can be easily regulated, 3, 6, 9, 12, 15, 18 loads per acre, or shut off entirely.

NEW IDEA Registered U.S. Pat. Off.

Manure Spreader

The New Idea Spreader will carry a big load of manure—never clogs, and with reasonable care will last a lifetime. It is the and got the name "New Idea" because it first embodied this great improvement—wide-spreading.

WE'VE AN INTERESTING BOOK TO GIVE YOU. Called "Helping Mother Nature." Tells more about manure than you ever thought of. Shows how fresh manure, distributed by the New Idea Spreader, builds up soil fertility and increases farm profits. Don't miss your copy—it's here when you call.

MERCHANTS COMMENCE CO-OPERATIVE DELIVERY

Three Stores Combine and Cut Expenses of Delivering Goods

Charlevoix merchants have combined and started a movement that not only should be of great benefit to themselves, but to the purchasing public as well.

The idea is combine on the delivery proposition. In other words, instead of each individual running at least one and most of the time two delivery wagons, the same number of deliveries can be made by all combining, running as many wagons as needed to take care of the united deliveries of all, resulting in lessening the number of delivery wagons by one-half, and also a proportionate saving in expense.

Those who are at present working together are the firms of Martin Block, Edward Klooster, A. E. Mason and McCann's Bakery.

Deliveries are made as often as found necessary, both forenoon and afternoon, the delivery wagons calling at each of the four places of business when starting out on a trip. The result is, prompt delivery for all and a big saving in expense to all, which will ultimately result in a saving to the purchasing public in the cost of the many lines of goods the four firms handle.

The idea is a good one and has been carried out to a great degree of success in many places and there is no reason as we can see why the same result should not be accomplished here.

LIBRARY NOTES

Five boxes were shipped to distributing stations for the soldiers' library this week. They contained about two hundred and fifty books and several hundred magazines. This is our first shipment, others will follow. Bring in your bit as soon as possible.

Mr. R. W. Kane donated about eighty volumes to the library last week. He also gave about three fourths of the books which were sent to the soldiers.

The new programs for the Historical Society are out. The library is well equipped to supply material for the various subjects. Let us know what you want early so that the material may be reserved.

The attention of library patrons is called to a new warning posted in the library. It is an extract from the Penal Code of Michigan, and should be read by every person who uses the library.

RED CROSS

It was gratifying to those present on Friday p. m., at the Red Cross rooms to see seven boxes of work ready for shipment to East Jordan, our headquarters. These boxes contained the garments and surgical dressings made by the Belvedere and our summer visitors and residents during the past summer. One shipment went earlier and another not long ago.

We feel deeply grateful to Mrs. Baker and the Troy Loundry for the laundering of all garments, and there were dozens of them, free of charge.

There is plenty to do at the Red Cross rooms as the work in surgical dressings, knitting and garments continues and workers are few.

Monday afternoon the board was addressed by David Warner of Grand Rapids, in the interest of the sale of the second issue of Liberty Bonds. The board gave the speaker a vote of thanks for the intelligent manner in which he explained the handling of the bonds, and went on record expressing their willingness to give all aid in the disposal of the bonds.

During the same session a petition was presented, signed by free holders throughout the county, asking that the board appropriate the sum of $1400 amounting to but ten cents per thousand assessed valuation, for the maintenance of a county agricultural agent, the state and federal government also to pay $1600 towards the expense.

On Tuesday a petition was presented asking the board to call a special election, the purpose being to vote on the proposition to bond the county for $300,000 for good roads. The petition was referred to a special committee composed of D. S. Payton, D. H. Wilson, T. J. Gilbert, F. D. Thompson, Howard Schaffer, W. H. Cook and C. C. Hutton.

During the Wednesday forenoon session a resolution was passed instructing the board to employ the services of an expert accountant to audit the books of the county road commissioners, the purpose being to ascertain the exact amount of money to date expended by them in the construction of all roads so far built, or under construction.

Committees are now busily engaged in preparation of the various reports to be made, the first to report being that on equalization. Thursday afternoon will be given over to discussion of the bonding issue, and Friday afternoon to that of county agent affairs. Representations of leading citizens are looked for on each of these afternoons, and those interested are urged to be there and express their opinions regarding the advisability of carrying both propositions.

SCHOOL BOYS "DO THEIR BIT"

DO A RECORD JOB AT BEAN PULLING

Pull and Stack Five and One Half Acres of Beans in Less Than Two Hours

To have the assurance that his crops will be looked after and harvested when called to render his services to Uncle Sam, is an experience seldom known, but never-the-less this pledge was made to Dan P. Mather when he left last August for the officers training camp at Fort Sheridan.

Mr. Mather had five and one-half acres of beans on land at the turn of the Norwood road south of the city. Friends assured him his crop would be looked after during harvesting time. Harvesting time came with its accompanying rush of work, and those who Mr. Mather held responsible for the care of his beans found themselves in a position where they were unable to obtain help to harvest the crop.

The matter was laid before Superintendent Craig of the Charlevoix schools who suggested that there was doubt that the young men of the high school would do the work in a satisfactory manner if their assistance was asked.

The result was that Friday afternoon nearly every one of the young Americans reported for work and within two hours had pulled and stacked the entire crop. It is useless to say no urging was needed, as all were willing to do their "bit" in this manner.

It might be well if Charlevoix's business men would give this matter their close attention. There are hundreds of acres of beans and potatoes to be harvested right at our very doors, and on account of the lateness of the season there may be many acres of both these products left unharvested, especially if weather conditions are not favorable. Why not take a half a day off at least twice a week and help our farmer friends harvest their crops? A wonderful amount of good, to both parties would be the result. Think it over, Mr. Businessman.

LEAVE FOR EAST JORDAN TO ENTER INTO BUSINESS

J. E. Redmon Purchases Interest in Empey Furniture Store

J. E. Redmon and wife will leave the latter part of this week to take up their residence in East Jordan, where Mr. Redmon will engage in the furniture and undertakng business in company with Noah French, they having purchased the Empey Furniture store of that place.

Mr. Redmon has been in the employ of S. M. Seo & Sons here for the past eleven years, taking charge of the undertaking department, and Mr. French has been in the undertaking business practically all of his business life. It seems certain that these gentlemen will make a success.

ACCIDENT IN BLINDING RAIN

FORD CAR COMPLETELY WRECKS BUGGY

Driver of Car Failed to See Rig on Account of Blinding Rain—Buggy Demolished

Another accident which might be attributed to careless automobile driving occurred on Dixon Avenue about 8:30 Saturday, when a Ford car struck the horse and buggy driven by Samson Godhold, who lives about a mile from town on the Petoskey road.

Godhold was on his way home from taking his wife to the home of his daughter, Mrs. James Bogart, of this city. He was driving slowly down Dixon avenue, between the green house corner and the Inn. When about half way to the Inn, a Ford car, containing four young men on their way to the country, and traveling in the same direction, came up behind him, and on account of the blinding rain, failed to see the buggy until almost upon it. The driver of the car swerved to the left, but in making the turn, the running board caught the rear wheel of the buggy, overturning and completely wrecking it.

The car stopped and the occupants extricated Mr. Godbold from the wreck. Upon being asked if he was injured, he stated he was not, and picking up the lines started with his horse towards town, and the boys continued on their way.

However, Mr. Godboid was in a dazed condition, and did not realize what he was saying or how badly he had been shaken up, and did not fully recover from the shock until the following morning.

That he escaped with so little injury is miraculous. Besides a few bruises and a severe shaking up, he was uninjured.

SUPERVISORS AND BANKERS' MEETING

Second Issue of Liberty Bonds Discussed

A meeting of the board of supervisors and bankers of Charlevoix county was held at the court house, Monday afternoon. They were addressed by David Warner, of Grand Rapids, on the second issue of Liberty bonds. He said in part: "The question is not, who will win the war? We know who will win it. The question is, how soon will we win the war? The more ammunition and guns we supply; the more high explosive shells we can drop on the German trenches, the sooner the war will be over. In other words, the more Liberty Bonds we buy, the more lives will be saved. The war is going to be financed. The government will get the money. We now have the chance to loan money but if the government does not raise the funds by the sale of bonds, it will raise it by taxation of the people."

The meeting adopted a resolution approving the plan of the government to raise funds for war purposes and offering their support and assistance to the government in the sale of the 4 per cent Liberty Bonds. They also gave a vote of thanks to the speaker for his intelligent explanation of the matter.

ANNOUNCE ENGAGEMENT

Former Charlevoix Young Lady About to Become Bride

The news has just been received here of the engagement of Miss Bessie Small of Benton Harbor, formerly of this vicinity, to Lionel McCowen of the same place.

The engagement was announced at a party at which about fifteen of Miss Small's friends surprised her on her birthday anniversary. Miss Small in turn surprised them by announcing her engagement, and was immediately showered with congratulations and good wishes.

Both of the young people hold splendid positions with the Baker-Vawter Company and have a host of friends who wish them a long life of happiness and prosperity. Miss Small's many friends in Charlevoix join her Benton Harbor friends in their good wishes.

FAIL TO SEE REAL BEAUTY

PEOPLE BECOME SO ACCUSTOMED TO COMMUNITY

That They Do Not Realize Its Great Value Says Summer Visitor From Ohio

Below we reproduce a letter from a resident of Oxford, Ohio, who spent a part of the past summer in Charlevoix and has become quite eloquent in his praise of Charlevoix as a beauty spot and summer resort.

He states that it is his belief that people who live here the year round have become so accustomed to their surroundings that they fail to fully realize the fact that we are residents of one of the greatest beauty spots in the world. The letter follows:

Oxford, Ohio, Sept. 28, 1917.

George H. Van Pelt,

Dear Friend:

"I want to thank you and the people of Charlevoix for kindness shown me in many ways. I am especially indebted to you for the opportunity I had of seeing so much of the country, meeting the country people, and seeing your roads. On my way home through southern Michigan, I saw from the train so many beautiful concrete roads, the roads so much needed in your country.

"Charlevoix is one of the most beautiful places I have ever seen in Michigan. I wonder if your people who live there all the time become so accustomed to it that they fail to see the real beauty of the place, as strangers see it.

"I want to compliment the officers and the citizens who have backed them up in their street improvements. Your streets are perfectly fine. Few towns of your size can boast of so many miles of good streets, you have a system of boulevard lights that certainly is much to your credit. I especially want to compliment those who were most interested, and worked the hardest to make such a fine display of civic pride as you have on State street. Just the right thing in the right place. No other town of your size that I have been in has so many miles of beautiful lake drives. That one thing certainly is an asset to your beautiful city. You have adopted the slogan "Charlevoix, the beautiful," which is perfectly all right. If you want to adopt another, make it "All roads lead to Charlevoix," and then make them good, once concreted always concreted.

"If northern Michigan and Charlevoix county in particular had all good roads, your town would only have one other problem to solve, and that is this: under present conditions you would not be able to accommodate all the people who would go there. Make your town easy of access. People travel so much in automobiles now, and they will go where the roads are good. It is not to your credit that people must ship their cars in and out of Charlevoix . I hope it will not always be so.

"I am sure concrete roads are of especial interest to the farmers because one concrete road through Charlevoix county will enhance the value of real estate more than any other single improvement could do, and it will be so much better on the horses. A horse can go so much farther, and pull so much heavier loads, and do it so much easier. There is no other one thing that is so depressing on a team as to constantly pull a loaded wagon on a soft road. To be convinced of this you will only have to take one look at the rural route horses.

"Charlevoix county has private improvements that no other county in that part of the state has, or is likely to have, as far as I know. That one thing ought to be incentive enough to carry the good roads question without one single dissenting vote.

"We had a pleasant trip home, and found everything all right. I am now helping to seed on the farm. Mrs. Gillespie joins me in sending kindest regards to you and our we other Charlevoix friends. I hope we will see you all next year."

R. D. GILLESPIE.

PRIZE WINNERS AT THE CHARLEVOIX COUNTY FAIR

Babcock & Son, Local Florists, Carry Off Twelve First Prizes

Babcock & Son, local florists, carried off twelve first prizes and four second prizes with the excellent exhibit of flowers and vegetables they made at the Charlevoix county fair, regardless of the fact that there were many other exhibits made, and the competition was keen.

Messrs. Babcock conduct a greenhouse that Charlevoix should be proud of. They are thorough gardeners who know the secrets of coaxing plants from out their hiding place in mother earth and getting them to put on their best apparel.

DIED AT HOME OF BROTHER

J. D. PARRISH WAS ON WAY TO FLORIDA

Suffers Slight Stroke of Paralysis Which Results in Death a Few Days Later

J. D. Parrish, a well known resident of Charlevoix, where he had been engaged in the grocery business until two weeks ago, when he sold out his store with the intention of spending the winter in Florida, died at the home of his brother, Gilbert Parrish, Sunday morning, October 7, in Detroit.

Mr. Parrish had stopped at the home of his brother for a short visit, on his way to Florida, when he was taken with a slight paralytic stroke, from which he grew rapidly worse until death came to end his sufferings. The body was brought to this city Tuesday afternoon at 4:14, and the funeral was held at the residence of his sister, Mrs. C. H. Minnis, on Antrim street, Wednesday afternoon (today) at 2:30 p. m., the Rev. Lloyd C. Vinyard officiating.

Jackson Duane Parrish was born in Northwest Williams county, Ohio, 69 years ago the sixteenth of last June. He is survived by two sisters, Mrs. C. H. Minnis of this city, and Mrs. C. B. Jones, of Detroit, and one brother, Gilbert Parrish, of Detroit, at whose home he died.

ENTERTAIN OLDEST REBEKAH IN COUNTY

Thirty Ladies Spend Very Enjoyable Afternoon

Mrs. George Eagleton entertained about 30 members of the Rebekah lodge Tuesday afternoon at her home on Mason street.

The guests of honor were Mrs. Mary Jane Chamberlain, the oldest member of the Rebekah lodge in this county, who is nearly 90 years of age, and her sister, Mrs. David A. Holmes, who is 81 years old.

The afternoon's entertainment consisted of a delightful literary program, after which the guests amused themselves with various games and visiting, until finally a fine pot luck supper was served which was a fitting climax to a thoroughly enjoyable afternoon.

ENTERTAINED NEWLYWEDS

Cooper Home Scene of Enjoyable Event

Mr. and Mrs. Clinton G. Cooper entertained a number of young married couples at their home last Friday evening, in honor of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Partridge.

The rooms were prettily decorated with pink and white sweet peas, and the feature of the evenings entertainment was "progressive hearts" the place cards being in pink and white. Dainty refreshments were served which were also in the colors of the decorations.

Badly Injures Finger

John Wells of Norwood township sustained a painful accident last Wednesday. While engaged in threshing on the farm of William Wiles, about four miles out on the Norwood road, his right forefinger became caught in the feed of the machine, lacerating the member badly and necessitating medical attention.

THE SUNNY SIDE OF FORT KELLY

WHERE UNCLE SAM PUTS WINGS ON ROOKIES

Ray Fraatz Writes Interesting Letter on Comic Side of the Birdmao's Life

Judging from the contents of the following letter, life at Camp Kelly is not a continuous round of pleasure. At least, one would not draw his conclusions to this effect, taking into consideration all Mr. Fraatz says about it.

It will be remembered that the writer held the position of clerk at the Hotel Charlevoix during the summer months, and during his stay in the city made numerous friends who are interested in his career. The letter is explanatory:

"In this article, I will try and write the comic side of the birdman's life, as I see it, where Uncle Sam puts wings on Rookies. Bugle, 5:30 a. m. Why don't you get up? Why don't you get up? Why don't you get up in the morning? There is a stir in the camp. Then the corporal's voice rings out in our tent: 'Well, why don't you guys pile out? Where da ya think ya are? Home, or some place like that.' A refrain from a near by tent: 'When ya wake up in th morning, and ya have to go ta France, blame the Kaiser, blame the Kaiser.'

"'All out for reville,' the sergeant yells. 'A little pop there, fall in, and get your space, cover off, get your forty inches, snap it up, you on the left I mean, attention! right dress, head and eyes to the right, you with your mouth open, Hell! one would think this was Coxy's army, by the way you birds move.'

"'Front, attention to roll call.' (The roar of an aeropiane is beard overhead.) 'The order of attention has been given,' yells the sergeant, 'that man up there will take care of himself. Fall out with you glasses on, can you execute the order of attention? Maybe I can sir. Maybe you can, eh, yells the sergeant, maybe the statue of Liberty is made out of stewed prunes, but it ain't, get me. Now can you execute the order of attention? Yes sir. All right, retorted the Sergeant, fall in.'

"At ease. 'Now you birds have some hard duties to perform before you loop the loop, and become flyers, and I want to say the word fly is in everything you do down here. You will have to get this drill down because when you are enroute and going through a city, you won't go through like a lot of cattle. After breakfast we have general police, then first call for drill, then recall for drill, then drill, drill, drill. Squadron attention. Squadron dismissed.

"In the line up for mess there is always a few boys that try and run ahead and break in the line. (Yells heard from the line.) 'Thrown him out! Don't let him in! Get back in the line, you big fish. Begorra, if you don't get back there, its meself that will kill ye with me two hands, or me name ain't Pat McKetchum. Say, Hank, I'd be disappointed if we don't get liver again this morning, because I am so used to it now. Then the crazy cadenza starts up. Just imagine an orchestra of mess kits, tin pans, and other noisy unharmonious utensils beat and banged around with a certain regard for time, and you will have the 'Chopstick Jazz Band.' No, I don't think you would be infatuated with it. Then to put a climax on the whole works, some cabaret Carusos with unmusical tonsils, and coloratura adenoids, will inflict himself on the squadron by singing the song that has such a friendly title, "Helo Pals.'

As we sit on the ground eating breakfast, and the blazing suns rays shoot down, 'tis then we fight our first battle. It is the down to earth attack. There are centipedes to the right of us. There are tarantulas to the left of us, and scorpions in front of us. Pink hali worms, rattlesnakes and the red ants charge by the hundred.' Gee, I thought if I only had leather soles on my pants. Oh, yea, the Gillygaloo bird (excuse me) the Gillygaloo bird, is a joke bird, that bury themselves in the sand and squawk through their spurs, they are very fond of cactus plants. One old boy with a Quaker Oats smile remarked to me in a sort of stage whisper, 'They say this is good for us Pilgrims, but on the level, now pal,

RHEUMATISM ARRESTED

Many people suffer the tortures of lame muscles and stiffened joints because of impurities in the blood, and each succeeding attack seems more acute until rheumatism has invaded the whole system.

To arrest rheumatism it is quite as important to improve your general health as to purify your blood, and the cod liver oil in Scott's Emulsion is nature's great blood-maker, while its medicinal nourishment strengthens the organs to expel the impurities and upbuild your strength.

Scott's Emulsion is helping thousands every day who could not find other relief. Refuse the alcoholic substitutes.

An Inside Bath Makes You Look and Feel Fresh

Says a glass of hot water with phosphate before breakfast keeps illness away.

This excellent, common-sense health measure being adopted by millions.

Physicians the world over recommend the inside bath, claiming this is of vastly more importance than outside cleanliness, because the skin pores do not absorb impurities into the blood, causing ill health, while the pores in the ten yards of bowels do.

Men and women are urged to drink each morning, before breakfast a glass of hot water with a teaspoonful of limestone phosphate in it, as a harmless means of helping to wash from the stomach, liver, kidneys and bowels the previous day's indigestible material, poisons, sour bile and toxins; thus cleansing, sweetening and purifying the entire alimentary canal before putting more food into the stomach.

Just as soap and hot water cleanse and freshen the skin, so hot water and limestone phosphate act on the eliminative organs.

Those who wake up with bad breath, coated tongue, nasty taste or have a dull, aching head, sallow complexion, acid stomach; others who are subject to bilious attacks or constipation, should obtain a quarter pound of limestone phosphate at the drug stors. This will cost very little but is sufficient to demonstrate the value of inside bathing. Those who continue it each morning are assured of pronounced results, both in regard to health and appearance.

COMMUNICATIONS

Charlevoix County Road Improvement Association

We met at Boyne Falls—we were conquered. We sat in at the game. Here is where the child was born and where the graduation exercises took place, at the Town Hall, Monday evening, October 1, 1917, name, concrete, age not given—but the standing was 100 in everything. Prof. Bill Pearson, our own old reliable Bill, yes, he came to the rescue, set aside all selfish claims, in the general meeting, and with the executive, compiled the amounts assigned for each part of the county, which cannot help being satisfactory to all concerned. This was the best meeting that the Charlevoix County Road Improvement Association ever held. Everybody was satisfied that we would bond and raise $350,000, and Mr. Ruegsegger had the figures to show that in addition to the $350,000 and with it, we would add to this sum as received from federal aid and state aid, the extra sum of $277,900. Anyone can see what a lot of good road work can be done in Charlevoix county with this sum, and the best part of it is that not a dollar of the $350,000 will have to be paid under 15 years, this being the longest term a bond can be made for according to our state laws, but then we can renew the bonds, because the county will have so increased in value, that the security will be double what it is now, and the concrete roads will be just as good then as they are now if the three pieces of concrete road built in Charlevoix county, seven and eight years of age, which are in as good condition now as they were when they were built, is any criterion to go by.

Van Pelt has had a good deal to say about good gravel roads for every farmer in Charlevoix county, and concrete roads for all the main roads—with a row of apple or cherry trees on either side of the road. No one has worked more unremittingly earnestly or unselfishly than he has. He has said over and over again that the road tax, next to the war tax, is the greatest tax of any in the United States, the state, the county and the township, and necessarily must be, because of the lack of knowledge in building roads, and the still greater expense of keeping the roads in good condition. That the upkeep of dirt roads will be much greater than the original cost of the road.

It was for the saving of this great tax that he began to wage a war on the system, but not on individuals. The taxpayers can do that if they see that the roads are not properly built, and if the proper men are not elected, and if not qualified, if not sober, temperate, honest men who do not work for the best interests of the city or county, it is up to the taxpayers to adjust this, and to demand a strict accounting for every item charged up to the road account.

That the taxpayers will, by an overwhelming majority, vote that $350,000 be raised by bonding, really goes without question.

BECAUSE, by so doing the roads can be built right away by contract and under state and government inspection, and we will have the use of them now. In the meantime, our county road commissioner can go right on building according to the present system and try to keep the roads which we have already built in passable condition, which cost us approximately $175,000 or $200,000. The top dressing is pretty well worn off on most of the Boyne City road, and this work alone will take lots of time and cost lots of money.

Van Pelt claims that the running of cars over these roads as they are today, costs the automobile owners 200 per cent more than it would over a concrete road. We begin to think he is right. We urge upon every voter and every citizen who has the interest of Charlevoix County at heart, to join the association of commerce nearest their home—thereby becoming a member of the Charlevoix County Road Improvement Association, and for all to work for every good thing which will in any way be of benefit to the county.

There is great necessity for such an organization, in order to discuss the city's and county's affairs. There is need to band together for the promulgation of unified views that will help right public opinion.

We believe that business men and farmers are face to face with a preemptory necessity for taking a deep interest in political affairs.

The stake which business men have is enormous. Great as it is however, it is of no more concern to them and of no more importance to the future happiness and welfare of their children, than it is to the condition and the outlook of the humblest worker in the mills or on the farm.

The right hand of fellowship and a helping hand for the good of all, must be extended by one and all, for a glorious day awaits Charlevoix county. The old adage, we can make of ourselves whatsoever we wish, applies to our county. This with the golden rule is all we ask.

Signed by the Committee.

CONDITION OF MICHIGAN CROPS

SEPTEMBER A BAD MONTH ON AGRICULTURISTS

Heavy Frost on Septamber 10 Will Cost Farmers Thousands of Dollars

A marked decline in the condition of corn, beans, buckwheat, potatoes, clover seed and pasture and some deteoriation in practicelly all other crops has taken piece during the month of September. Unseasonably dry weather over large areas within the State played an important part in lowering the condition of pastures, field peas, potatoes, sugar beets and the truck crops, but the principal cause in the case of the other crops was the occurrence of heavy frost on September 10th and 11th, from three to four weeks earlier than the average date, and the crops affected being about that much later in meturing.

The quantitative outlook for the corn crop was reduced about 15 per cent. A special inquiry regarding the extent of the frost damage indicates that much of the crop will be of poor quality; that 15 per cent matured without any frost damage; 15 per cent matured with some, but not serious frost damage; 37 per cent is not yet mature, but still undamaged or not seriously injured; and the remaining 33 per cent was seriously injured before maturity.

The condition of field beans was also lowered 15 per cent during the month. Local areas suffered much greater damage than this while other districts were unharmed. The harvest is in progress, being nearly completed on light soils; but where planted late on heavy soils the pods are still green and ripening unevenly. The yield per acre will be somewhat larger, in general, than last year, and as the acreage is about one-third larger, the total production will show a marked increase over last year's crop notwithstanding the present outlook for but little more than one-half a normal yield per acre.

It is estimated that frost damaged the buckwheat crop fully 30 per cent. Only a small portion had matured in advance of the frost and, as it was planted chiefly on light soils or as a substitute for other crops on low ground that was too wet to plant earlier in the season, a large percentage was subject to frost damage.

Potatoes suffered mainly from dry weather in the central and southern districts, the development of the tubers being held back from lack of moisture in many localities. In only small local areas were the tops entirely killed by frost. In the northern districts the crop suffered about equally from frost and dry weather.

There is a very light acreage of clover seed: the crop is very slow in maturing; and considerable areas have been seriously injured by frost. Truck crops are slowly coming to maturity with fairly good yields in prospect. Peaches have nearly all been harvested and were a very light crop as predicted; and the apple crop will also be comparatively light. Grapes and pears will be quite plentiful. Sugar beets suffered in some localities from lack of moisture, but are generally in good condition in most sections.

SCHOOL COMMISSIONERS NOTES

Many new books added to the Clarion library.

Four sets of approved text books ordered in Chandler No. 1.

The water supply problem still unsolved in Chandler No. 2.

Eight visits made during the past week.

The teachers of Hudson township decided to hold a township spelling contest and the night of December 20, together with a joint Christmas tree for the six schools, all exercises being held in the town hall. Miss Esther Palmer is chairman to make arrangements for decorating and local details. They will choose the first one thousand common words in bulletin No. 10 and will sing Christmas songs for the occasion.

Columbus Day, October 12. Remember the law on Patriotism. Spend Friday afternoon to good advantage.

Monday, October 15, is Patriotic Day by state proclamation. Light in each schoolhouse window at night is the state-wide slogan. Teachers, parents, boys and girls, do your bit, and have that bit more than a shameless bit.

A new floor tells of interest and progress of the little school in Hudson number 2. There are but three pupils enrolled, but the teacher is one of the busiest in the county. A large collection of bird nests, a growing collection of autumn plants, an interesting weather chart, a health chart, boxes of cocoons, individual spelling booklets, are only little items of side interest that make the school wide awake.

The little boys and girls in Hudson number three are dramatizing the "Three Bears" and they like it so well that it never grows old.

We have five experienced teachers in Hudson this year and one inexperienced, but a hustler, the best corps of teachers Hudson has known for many years.

Every school in the county is supplied with a teacher and this year we are fortunate enough to get four life certificate people to start in their work in the rural schools.

Each school had a flag but three did not have them up. We may lack a rope one day but we should not be without it for two days.

The teacher in Hudson number 4, Mrs. Edna Wilson, suggests that junior Red Cross work may be done by girls and boys, and the consensus of opinion was that knitting might be done to provide busy work if the teacher were careful in her selection of garments and garment makers.

WANT CONCRETE HIGHWAYS

Muskegon Road Officials Would Follow Ottawa's Lead

Muskegon, October 2.—A campaign has been started here to force Muskegon county road building officials to follow the lead of Ottawa county, where years of experimenting, such as this county is now undergoing, has united the highway builders on one point—that it does not pay to build gravel or macadam roads at the present time. The Ottawa county road commissioners will recommend to the board of supervisors there, when it convenes the latter part of this month, that $92,000, the largest amount that can be raised by taxation for the purpose in a single year, be expended entirely on concrete highways.

It is plain to be seen that Charlevoix county is doing the right thing. The fact is, that ALL our main travelled roads should be made of concrete—built by the state and with state inspection.

HOMESICK SOLDIERS

Are there any among our brave boys? They wouldn't be human if there weren't. And it will merely mean strong attachment to home. Probably the boys who have the most of this feeling will also have the most of the similar feeling of patriotism and will fight best.

Observers of the soldier boys say that the majority of them looked cheerful as they departed. But others couldn't keep back the tears. Perhaps it was not so much the thought that they might not return, as that they had never been away from home before.

The sons of the rich are apt to be sent away to schools and camps, where they acquire the valuable quality of self reliance. The sons of the poor also are apt to have to shift for themselves and go among strangers. But among those neither rich or poor, there are many who find work near home, and live under its sheltering care until some great change comes like this.

When young men go away from all home restraint, the result is often disastrous. All supervision being removed there is nothing to hold them straight but the memory of early instruction and with many active young men that soon fades out.

The soldier boys will be pretty well looked after. Their officers will be largely educated men of good intellectual standards. There will be the camps of the Y. M. C. A. and the Knights of Columbus, etc., to give moral and religious guidance. Any boy who wants to do right can find plenty of friendship and help. The whole tone of the camps will be against any dissipation. Under these conditions the chances for their moral welfare are better than if cast adrift in strange cities to earn their own living. The necessity for self dependence will be the making of many a homesick fellow. He went away a boy, and he will return a man.

UNCLE SAM INCREASES PRICE ON LETTERS

New War Tax Bill Raises Price on Letters to Three Cents and Postal Cards to Two Cents

Detailed instructions to postmasters on increased letter rates which become effective November 2, under the terms of the war tax bill, were issued October 5, by Postmaster General Burleson. They do not apply to mail to most foreign countries, which are fixed by international treaties, but they do apply to all domestic mail and under that classification is included mail to Canada, Mexico, Cuba, Panama, the United States postal agency at Shanghai, and all persons in the military service of the United States in Europe.

The postoffice department issued these instructions:

"Postmasters shall on and after Nov. 2 see that postage is paid at the rate of 3 cents an ounce or fraction thereof on letters and other first class matter except drop letters. All drop letters, that is, letters mailed for delivery from the office at which posted, including those for delivery by city, rural or other carrier of such office, are required to have postage paid on them at the rate of 2 cents an ounce or fraction thereof. Postal cards are required to be prepaid 2 cents and therefore the 1-cent postal cards must have a 1-cent postage stamp affixed to them in addition to 1-cent stamp impressed on such cards.

Postcards (private mailing cards) bearing written messages must have 2-cent postage prepaid on them.

Twenty-Five Young People Spend Evening at Linda Vista

Last Friday evening about twenty-five young people were the guests of the Misses Margaret Saunders and Beatrice Harrington at the Linda Vista.

That the month of gayly colored woods had arrived was evident from the appearance of the rooms, which were festooned with autumn leaves and flowers.

Dainty refreshments were served by the hostesses and the evening was very pleasantly passed in dancing, until the stroke of twelve, which came only too soon, when the guests dispersed.

No Time for Sitting By

A house was burning, says George Ade, the great American humorist. All the neighbors, except one, were trying to save the building. He sat on the fence. Some one suggested that he should help.

"They don't need me," he replied. "The others are so blamed energetic and efficient that probably the fire will be put out without me turning a hand."

A ship was sinking. The captain ordered all hands to the pumps. "Keep the pumps going and I will land you safely." That was the captain's assurance.

All of the sailors, except one, sprang to the pumps. This one sat on a coil of rope and smoked his pipe. "Do you want to drown?" asked a shipmate.

"I won't drown," was the cool reply. "Not while you boys are doing my share of the work. I know you have got to keep the pumps going whether I help or not."

Once a great republic, in real need of the loyal assistance of every citizen called for subscriptions to a bond issue of enormous dimensions.

One kind of man said, "I don't believe I'll subscribe. The country is full of fellows who are all keyed-up and patriotic and when it comes to a showdown, they'll make a few sacrifices and take care of my part of the subscription rather than see the enterprise flatten out and fail."

Don't perch on the fence when your neighbor's house is burning.

Don't sit on a coil of rope when the ship is sinking.

Don't fail to subscribe for the second issue of Liberty Loan bonds.

"Adios, senora!" he said, with a stiff bow. "We have had a pleasant friendship and a thrilling flirtation, eh? I shall never cease to regret that fate interrupted at such an interesting moment. Adios! Adios!" He bowed formally, in turn to Dave and to the priest, then resumed his pacing, with his hands at his back and his brow furrowed as if in a struggle with affairs of greater moment than this.

But when he heard the outside door creak shut behind them his indifference vanished and he halted with head turned in an effort to catch the last sounds of their departure. His face was like tallow now, his lips were drawn back from his teeth as if in supreme agony. A moment and the hoofbeats had died away. Then Longoria slipped his leash.

He uttered a cry—a hoarse, half-strangled shriek that tore his throat. He plucked the collar from his neck as if it choked him; he bent his breast. Seizing whatever article his eye fell upon, he tore and crushed it; he swept the table clean of its queer Spanish bric-a-brac, and trampled the litter under his heels. Spying a painting of a saint upon the wall, he ran to it, ripped it from its nail, and, raising it over his head, smashed frame and glass, cursing all saints, all priests, and churchly people. Havoc followed him as he raged about the place wreaking his fury upon inanimate objects. When he had well-nigh wrecked the contents of the room, and when his first paroxysm had spent its violence, he hurled himself into a chair, writhing in agony. He bit his wrists, he pounded his fists, he kicked; finally he sprawled full length upon the floor, clawing at the cool, smooth tiles until his nails bled.

"Christ! O Christ!" he screamed.

The sound of his blasphemies reached the little group of soldiers who had lingered curiously outside, and they listened open-mouthed. One by one they crossed themselves and stole away into the darkness, muttering.

CHAPTER XXIV.

A Grateful Peon.

With a singing heart Alaire rode through the night at her husband's side. The strain of the last few hours had been so intense, the relief at her deliverance so keen, that now she felt curiously weak, and she kept close to Dave, comforted by his nearness and secure in the knowledge of his strength.

Although he was unusually taciturn and rode with his chin upon his breast, she attributed his silence to fatigue. Now and then, therefore, she spurred to his side and spoke softly, caressingly. At such times he reached for her hand and clung to it.

Dave was indeed weary; he was, in fact, in a sort of stupor, and not infrequently he dozed for a moment or two in his saddle. Some two hours out from La Feria the riders halted at a point where the road dipped into a rocky stream-bed; then, as the horses drank, Dolores voiced a thought that had troubled all of them.

"If that bandit really means to spare us, why did he send us away in the night, like this?" she asked. "I shall be surprised if we are not assassinated before morning."

"He must have meant it." Alaire spoke with a conviction she did not entirely feel. "Father O'Malley aroused the finer side of his nature."

"Perhaps," agreed the priest. "Somewhere in him there is a fear of God."

But Dave was skeptical. "More likely a fear of the gringo government," said he. "Lobgorio is a fourflusher. When he realized he was licked he tried to save his face by a grandstand play. He didn't want to let us go."

"Then what is to prevent him from—well, from having us followed?" Alaire inquired.

"Nothing," Dave told her.

As they climbed the bank and rode onward into the night she said: "No matter what happens, dear, I shall be happy, for at last one of my dreams has come true." He reached out and patted her. "You've no idea what a coward I was until you came. But the moment I saw you all my fears vanished. I was like a lost child who suddenly sees its father; in your arms I felt perfectly safe, for the first time in all my life, I think. I—I couldn't bear to go on without you, after this."

Dave found nothing to say; they rode along side by side for a time in a great contentment that required no speech. Then Alaire asked:

"Dear, have you considered how we—are going to explain our marriage?"

"Won't the circumstances explain it?"

"Perhaps. And yet— It seems ages since I learned—what happened to Ed, but in reality it's only a few hours. Won't people talk?"

Dave caught at the suggestion. "I see. Then let's keep it secret for the present."

With a little reckless laugh she confessed, "I—I'm afraid I'll find it difficult to be conventional."

"My wife!" he cried in sharp agony. Leaning far out, he encircled her with his arm; then, half lifting her from her saddle, he crushed his lips to hers. It was his first display of emotion since Father O'Malley had halted them.

There were few villages along the road they followed, and because of the lateness of the hour all were dark, hence the party passed through without exciting attention except from an occasional wakeful dog. But as morning came and the east began to glow Dave told the priest:

"We've got to hide out during the day or we'll get into trouble. Besides, these women must be getting hungry."

"I fear there is something feminine about me," confessed the little man. "I'm famished, too."

At the next rancho they came to they applied for shelter, but were denied; in fact, the owner cursed them so roundly for being Americans that they were glad to ride onward. A mile or two farther along they met a cart the driver of which refused to answer their greetings. As they passed out of his sight they saw that he had halted his lean oxen and was staring after them curiously. Later, when the sun was well up and the world had fully awakened, they descried a mounted man, evidently a cowboy, riding through the chaparral. He saw them, too, and came toward the road, but after a brief scrutiny he whirled his horse and galloped off through the cactus, shouting something over his shoulder.

"This won't do," O'Malley declared, uneasily. "I don't like the actions of these people. Let me appeal to the next person we meet. I can't believe they all hate us."

Soon they came to a rise in the road, and from the crest of this elevation beheld ahead of them a small village of white houses sliding from the shelter of a grove. The ranchería was perhaps two miles away, and galloping toward it was the vaquero who had challenged them.

"That's the Rio Negro crossing," Dave announced. Then spying a little house squatting a short distance back from the road, he said: "We'd better try yonder. If they turn us down we'll have to take to the brush."

O'Malley agreed. "Yes, and we have no time to lose. That horseman is going to rouse the town. I'm afraid we're—in for it."

Dave nodded silently.

Leaving the beaten path, the refugees threaded their way through cactus and sage to a gate, entering which they approached the straw-thatched jacal they had seen. A naked boy baby watched them draw near, then scuttled for [illegible] ping an alarm. A man appeared from somewhere, at sight of whom the priest rode forward with a pleasant greeting. But the fellow was unfriendly. His wife, too, emerged from the dwelling and joined her husband in warning Father O'Malley away.

"Let me try," Alaire begged, and spurred her horse up to the group. She smiled down at the country people, saying: "We have traveled a long way, and we're tired and hungry. Won't you give us something to eat? We'll pay you well for your trouble."

The man demurred sullenly, and began a refusal; but his wife, after a wondering scrutiny, interrupted him with a cry. Rushing forward, she took the edge of Alaire's skirt in her hands and kissed it.

"God be praised! A miracle!" she exclaimed. "Juan, don't you see? It is the beautiful senora for whom we pray every night of our lives. On your knees, shameless one! It is she who delivered you from the prison."

Juan stared unbelievingly, then his face changed; his teeth flashed in a smile, and, sweeping his hat from his head, he, too, approached Alaire.

"It is! Senora, I am Juan Garcia, whom you saved, and this is Inez," he declared. "Heaven bless you, and forgive me."

"Now I know you," Alaire laughed, and slipped down from her saddle. "This is a happy meeting. So! You live here, and that was little Juan who ran away as if we were going to eat him. Well, we are hungry, but not hungry enough to devour Juanito."

Turning to her companions, she explained the circumstances of her first meeting with these good people, and as she talked the Garcias broke in joyfully, adding their own account of her goodness.

"We've fallen among friends," Alaire told Dave and Father O'Malley. "They will let us rest here, I am sure."

Husband and wife agreed in one voice. In fact, they were overjoyed at an opportunity of serving her; and little Juan, his suspicions partially allayed, issued from hiding and waddled forward to take part in the welcome.

Shamefacedly the elder Garcia explained his inhospitable reception of the travelers. "We hear the gringos are coming to kill us and take our farms. Everybody is badly frightened. We are driving our herds away and hiding what we can. Yesterday at the big Obispo ranch our people shot two Americans and burned some of their houses. They intend to kill all the Americans they find, so you'd better be careful. Just now a fellow rode up shouting that you were coming, but of course I didn't know—"

"Yes, of course. We're trying to reach the border," Father O'Malley told him. "Will you hide us here until we can go on?"

Juan curtsied respectfully to the priest. "My house is yours, father."

"Can you take care of our horses, too, and—give us a place to sleep?" Dave asked. His eyes were heavy; he had been almost constantly in the saddle since leaving Jonesville, and now could hardly keep himself awake.

"Trust me," the Mexican assured them, confidently. "If somebody comes I'll send them away. Oh, I can lie with the best of them."

The Garcias were not ordinary people, and they lived in rather good circumstances for country folk. There were three rooms to their little house, all of which were reasonably clean. The food that Inez set before her guests, too, was excellent if scanty.

Juanito, taking one from his parents, flung himself whole-heartedly into the task of entertainment, and since Alaire met his advances half-way he began, before long, to look upon her with particular favor. Once they had thoroughly made friends, he showered her with the most flattering attentions. His shyness, it seemed, was but a pretense—at heart he was a bold and enterprising fellow—and so, as a mark of his admiration, he presented her with all his personal treasures. First he fetched and laid in her lap a cigar-box wagon with wooden wheels—evidently the handiwork of his father. Then he gave her, one by one, a highly prized blue bottle, a rusty Mexican spur, and the ruins of what had been a splendid clasp-knife. There were no blades in the knife, but he showed her how to peep through a tiny hole in the handle, where was concealed the picture of a dashing Spanish bull-fighter. The appreciation which these gifts evoked intoxicated the little man and roused him to a very madness of generosity. He pattered away and returned shortly, staggering and grunting under the weight of another and a still greater offering. It was a dog—a patient, hungry dog with very little hair. The animal was alive with fleas—it scratched absent-mindedly with one hind paw, even while Juanito strangled it against his naked breast—but it was the apple of its owner's eye, and when Inez unfeelingly banished it from the house Juanito began to squall lustily. Nor could he be conciliated until Alaire took him upon her knee and told him about another boy, of precisely his own age and size, who planted a magic bean in his mother's dooryard, which grew up and up until it reached clear to the sky, where a giant lived. Juanito Garcia had never heard the like. He was spellbound with delight; he held his breath in ecstasy; only his toes moved, and they wriggled like ten fat, brown tadpoles.

In the midst of this recital Garcia senior appeared in the door with a warning.

"Conceal yourselves," he said, quickly. "Some of our neighbors are coming this way." Inez led her guests into the bedchamber, a bare room with a dirt floor, from the window of which they watched Juan go to meet a group of horsemen. Inez went out, too, and joined in the parley. Then, after a time, the riders galloped away.

When Alaire, having watched the party out of sight, turned from the window she found that Dave had collapsed upon a chair and was sleeping, his limbs relaxed, his body sagging.

"Poor fellow, he's done up," Father O'Malley exclaimed.

"Yes; he hasn't slept for days," she whispered. "Help me." With the assistance of Dolores they succeeded in lifting Dave to the bed, but he half roused himself. "Lie down, dear," Alaire told him. "Close your eyes for a few minutes. We're safe now."

"Somebody has to keep watch," he muttered, thickly, and tried to fight off his fatigue. But he was like a drunken man.

"I'm not sleepy; I'll stand guard," the priest volunteered, and, disregarding further protest, he helped Alaire remove Dave's coat.

Seeing that the bed was nothing more than a board platform covered with straw matting, Alaire folded the garment for a pillow; as she did so a handful of soiled, frayed letters spilled out upon the floor.

"Rest Now, While You Have a Chance," She Begged.

"Rest now, while you have a chance," she begged of her husband. "Just for a little while."

"All right," he agreed. "Call me in—an hour. Couldn't sleep—wasn't time." He shook off his weariness and smiled at his wife, while his eyes filmed with some emotion. "There is something I ought to tell you, but—I can't now—not now. Too sleepy." His head drooped again; she forced him back; he stretched himself out with a sigh, and was asleep almost instantly.

Alaire motioned the others out of the room, then stood looking down at the man into whose keeping she had given her life. As she looked her face became radiant. Dave was unkempt, unshaven, dirty, but to her he was of a godlike beauty, and the knowledge that he was hers to comfort and guard was strangely thrilling. Her love for Ed, even that first love of her girlhood, had been nothing like this. How could it have been like this? she asked herself. How could she have loved deeply when, at the time, her own nature lacked depth? Experience had broadened her, and suffering had uncovered depths in her being which nothing else had had the power to uncover. Stooping, she kissed Dave softly, then let her cheek rest against his. Her man! Her man! She found herself whispering the words.

For a long time she sat gazing at him tenderly; then she tiptoed out and delighted the naked Garcia baby by taking him in her arms and hugging him. Inez thought the beautiful senora's voice was like the music of birds.

LESS MEAT IF BACK AND KIDNEYS HURT

Take a glass of Salts to flush Kidneys if Bladder bothers you—Drink lots of water.

Eating meat regularly eventually produces kidney trouble in some form or other, says a well-known authority, because the uric acid in meat excites the kidneys, they become overworked; get sluggish; clog up and cause all sorts of distress, particularly backache and misery in the kidney region; rheumatic twinges, severe headaches, acid stomach, constipation, torpid liver, sleeplessness, bladder and urinary irritation.

The moment your back hurts or kidneys aren't acting right, or if bladder bothers you, get about four ounces of Jad Salts from any good pharmacy; take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast for a few days and your kidneys will then act fine. This famous salts is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and has been used for generations to flush clogged kidneys and stimulate them to normal activity; also to neutralize the acids in the urine so it no longer irritates, thus ending bladder disorders.

Jad Salts cannot injure anyone; makes a delightful effervescent lithia-water drink which millions of men and women take now and then to keep the kidneys and urinary organs clean, thus avoiding serious kidney disease.

Returning Once a Month

DR. IRVING E. SANDERS

Will again visit Charlevoix, Mich., and will be at Hotel Charlevoix, on Monday, 22nd. day of October, for ONE DAY ONLY. Hours, 9 a. m. to 8 p. m.

holding a Dispensary Clinic for all his patients having appointments and others who may want to see him. Dr. Sanders is too well known to most people in this locality to need any introduction except to newcomers. Having practiced medicine in most of its branches for more than fifty-five years in Ohio, he is known from one end of the state to the other as a great Medical Expert in the Diagnosis and Treatment of Chronic Diseases of MEN, WOMEN and CHILDREN.

The hundreds of chronic sufferers cured give testimony to the truth of this assertion. Come and see some and talk to others you will meet, and be convinced.

No matter how long you are ailing, or what the nature of your ailments are, how many doctors you have seen, or what has been done for you. Go and see Dr. Sanders. Your visit will cost you nothing, and at last you will meet a man, grown old in the service of humanity, honest, up-right, sincere, qualified, well recommended and able. He will examine you thoroughly and scientifically, thus diagnosing your case and tell you just where the trouble is and what to do to get rid of it.

Dr. Sanders treats MEN, WOMEN and CHILDREN afflicted with Chronic Diseases only, that is to say, diseases of long standing. If you are now in the care of your family physician, and he is doing good work, do not come and take up his valuable time, as in that case he will not see you. If he can help you, he will tell you so, and give you such treatment, remedies and advice as will restore you to perfect health. If your case is not curable, he will give you such advice as will relieve and may prolong your life.

CONSULTATION and EXAMINATION at this visit is FREE. YOU will be charged only with the actual cost of the treatment required to affect your cure, which at all times will be reasonably moderate. Under no circumstances will he take a case for treatment that can not be cured.

This is not a scheme to trick you out of your money, not a C. O. D. snare or anything that is not strictly ethical and according to law. Come and be convinced and find at last that you are not hopelessly doomed to suffer for lack of expert medical skill and knowledge and that you may obtain perfect health for less money than you spend on patent medicine.

NOTE: If you have pain in the back bring a two-ounce bottle of urine for chemical and microscopical examination and analysis. Minors without parents or guardians not admitted to examination rooms. Calls to private homes $10.00. Consultations with physicians by appointment only. Remember the date. Hours 9 a. m. to 8 p. m. 412t

Everybody Is Sentimental.

The truth is that we are all sentimental at heart, whatever our culture, says Robert M. Gay in the Atlantic Monthly. Even though we appreciate Brahms, shall we not find some pleasure in the repertory of the band organ, and, though we admire Botticelli, shall we utterly condemn "Darby and Joan?" There are moods in which Jean Ingelow and Mrs. Hemans are not mawkish. The thousands still weep over the death of Little Nell, though the critics sneer.

It is estimated that the waves of the Atlantic ocean that beat upon the British shores have an average force of one ton a square foot in the winter months.

JOHN N. WILLYS TO RIVAL FORD

WILL MARKET CAR FOR LESS THAN $500

Toledo Auto Maker Will Compete With Ford Product by Placing Low Priced Car on Market

John N. Willys, of Toledo, will be a rival of Henry Ford in the manufactnre of a car under $500 in price, says the Detroit Free Press of October 6. The real price is not known, but is reported to bs very closs to tha figure set by the Ford Motor company for its product.

The rsport states that this car is of extrema simplicity, that its weight is 100 pouads less than the Ford car, or about 1500 pounds; that it has fewer parts; that every part is standardized, and tberefore economical to manufacture and economical to replace, and that it will bo easily assembled at the numerous big service plants which the Willys-Overland company has been erecting throughout the country in the last year or two.

Forceful Challange to Ford

Many months have been spent in bringing this car to mechanical perfection. Thera have been months of painstaking analysis, and every preparation has been made for an enormous production which will be the most forceful challenge the Ford Motor company has ever received. Mr. Willys is making the biggest bid yet for the Ford business out and out.

Guy O. Simons of ths Simons Sales company, who received the information regarding the new product of the Willys-Overland company, day, said that he would shortly call a convention of eastern Michigan distributors, as this was the greatest and most surprising news of the automobils world, meaning the marketing of thousands of more Willys-Overland cars in the Detroit territory.

Chevrolet, Maxwell and many smaller companies have announced at various times within ths last two years new cars which have been priced to compete with the Ford car. The initial figure set for these cars has been low, but improvements and advancing cost of material have invariably increased the original price, and have brought the cars up into the $600 or $700 class. Today there is not a car on the market which can be really said to compete with the Ford in price.

Project Has Surprising Scope

Consequently, the scope of ths Overland project can be gathered from the fact that it is stated positively that the car will be considerably under the $500 figure. More surprising still is the statement that the new model will be fully equipped with starting and lighting system and all of the modern day necessities. The lines will be most pleasing and modern in every way.

The Overland plant facilities include the big $5,000,000 plant at Elmira, and the $1,000,000 foundry at Pontiac, in addition to the main plant at Toledo, which are to be utilized. Few people outside of the Overland organization have realized the number of plants owned by the company in addition to those at Toledo. The magnitude of the factory facilities of the Willys-Overland company will largely make the price possible.

Reports state that the Willys-Overland company will probably reduce the number of its other models so as to increase its manufacturing efficiency.

Benj. Brown, local representative of the Overland states that ths company have been working on the new model for some time, and that it will be a wonderful little car when placed on the market.

CHRISTMAS MAIL FOR AMERICAN FORCES ABROAD

Washington, D. C., Oct. 3, 1917.
TO THE PUBLIC:

The time is approaching to give thought to bring Christmas cheer to the American soldiers and sailors abroad.

Arrangements have been perfected whereby the Christmas mail to the American Expeditionary Forces in Europe is to be delivered by Christmast morning. Without the fullest co-operation on the part of the public it will be impossible to accomplish this result.

Three essential respects in which the public can aid in assuring a happy Christmas at the front are: MAIL EARLY, PACK SECURELY AND ADDRESS INTELLIGENTLY. For this reason it is urgently requested that all persons having Christmas mail for the soldiers and sailors and the civilian units attached to the army in Europe observe closely the following directions.

1. Mails to reach the soldiers in France by Christmas morning must be posted not later than November 15.

2. Every package must bear conspicuously the words "Christmas Mail," the complete address of the person for whom it is intended, and in the upper left hand corner, the name and address of the sender.

3. Every parcel must be so wrapped as to admit of easy inspection by the postmaster. No parcel will be dispatched to France which has not the postmaster's certificate that it contains no prohibited articles.

4. Parcels containing perishable matter should be withheld from the mails unless it is absolutely certain that the contents will not deteriorate within six weeks from the date of mailing.

5. The principal articles classed as unmailable are intoxicants of all kinds; poisons, inflammable materials (including friction matches) or compositions which may kill or injure another, or damage the mails. As all contents of parcels will be examined, mailers should refrain from inclosing in parcels any intoxicating liquors or other articles classed as unmailable.

Parcels for the Expeditionary Forces abroad may not be registered or insured.

6. Owing to the great demand on transportation space, patrons are urgently requested to make their packages as small as possible preferably not to exceed ten pounds in weight—as smaller parcels will have to be given the preference in shipment, in order to accommodate the greatest number of persons.

Additional information concerning the preparation and mailing of parcels may be obtained from the postmaster who should be consulted when the patrons are in doubt.

HAVE YOU A BAD BACK?

If You Have, the Statement of this Charlevoix Resident Will Interest You

Does your back ache, night and day;
Hinder work; destroy your rest?
Does it stab you through and through
When you stoop or lift or bend?
Then your kidneys may be weak.
Often backache is the clue.
Just to give you further proof,
The kidney action may be wrong.
If attention is not paid
More distress will soon appear.
Headaches, dizzy spells and nerves,
Uric acid and its ills
Make the burden worse and worse.
Liniments and plasters can't
Reach the inward cause at all;
Help the kidneys—use the pills
Charlevoix folks have tried and proved.
What they say you can believe.
Read this Charlevoix man's account.
See him, ask him, if you doubt.

John McCall, 905 Bridge St., Charlevoix says. "My back was so lame that I could just about move. My kidneys were weak and irregular in action. Dizzy spells bothered me also. I would often have to grasp something to keep from falling. I was in awful shape when a friend recommended Doan's Kidney Pills and I tried them. This medicine completely cured me of the trouble."

Price 60c, at all dealers. Don't simply ask for a kidney remedy—get Doan's Kidney Pills—the same that Mr. McCall that cured Mr. McCall. Foster-Milburn Co., Props., Buffalo, N. Y.

The New Stromberg Carburetor for Fords

A Ford touring car carrying three people made a record of 37.4 miles to the gallon of gasoline. This test was observed by an official of the American Automobile Association and this mileage admitted as an official record.

Owners in this vicinity are reporting 23 to 30 miles to the gallon with greater power and speed, more flexibility, and quicker acceleration.

With the Stromberg you can start your Ford these cold days without cranking your head off and at the same time double your gasoline mileage. Owners have proven this.

We have a stock of these carburetors; come in and get yours.

Mrs. B. J. Beuker and children, John and Alida, left Ellsworth last Wednesday enroute to Louisville, Kentucky to the former's husband, Capt. B. J. Beuker, who is stationed at Camp Taylor, near Louisville.

A surprise party on Alida and John Beuker was held at Boss' hall on Tuesday evening of last week. About twenty-five of their young friends were presnt and the event was a kind of a send-off for them before they went away.

Edd Boss and C. E. Bearss were the Banks township men chosen to act as jurymen for this term of court. They reported at Bellaire Monday morning, but were sent home to care for their crops and no jury cases were hesrd this term.

PRODUCE DISPLAY IS ATTRACTING ATTENTION

Farmers Urged to Brlng in Their Best Produce Samples

The display of fruit and vegetables at the Citizen'a Bank ia increasing each day and is naturally attracting more attention with each new exhibit. Among the last samples of produce ls a single stalk of navy white beans having one hundred and sixty-nine perfectly formed and well fllled pods.

It has been almost impossible to convince visitors from the southern part of tho state that the potatoes, beans, corn, etc., on display were grown in this locality, they not realizing tho fact that this part of the country equals any locality ln the world for general farming and beats most places.

There ls still room, however, for more samples and farmers and fruit growers are urged to step in and look over the exhibit and if they have anything to equal what they see, get busy and show their wares.

POTATO GRADES AS RECOMMENDED

BY UNITED STATES DEPARTMENT OF AGRICULTURE

Precautionery Meesures Teken By Government and Dealers in Handlieg Tubers

The present prospect for a record-breaking crop of potatoes this year, the general situation with regard to food supplies, the over-taxed condition of the transportation facilities of the country, and tbe recent ruling of the Federal Reaerve Board that member banks are autborized to make loans against warehouse receipts for potatoes, properly graded, packed, atored, and insured, emphasize the importance of adopting uniform grades of this product.

For the above reasons, the government is asking all buyers, for the protection of not only themselves, but also the producer, to adopt the two grades stipulated by the government ln regards to handling the enormous crop this year. Results have shown where potatoes have been graded, that it is desirable, practical and economical.

Potatoes that have been graded according to regulation laid down by the government will be of greater market value, and if it is desired, loans can be obtained on them.

Following are the two gradea recommended by the government in detail, and we have been informed that local dealers will require a strict adherence to these rules, if producers market their tubers with them:

U. S. Grade No. 1

This grade shall consist of sound potatoes of similar varietal characteristics, which are practically free from dirt or other foreign matter, frost injury, sunburn, second growth cuts, scab, blight, dry rot, and damage caused by disease, insects or mechanical means. The minimum diameter of potatoes of the round varieties shall be one and seven-eighths (1⅞) inches, and of potatoes of the long varieties one and three-fourths (1¾) inches. In order to allow for variations incident to commercial grading and handling, five per centum by weight of any lot may be under the prescribed size, and, in addition, three per centum by weight of any such lot may be below the remaining requirements of this grade.

U. S. Grade No. 2

This grade shall consist of potatoes of similar varietal characteristics, which are practically free from frost injury and decay, and which are free from serious damage caused by dirt or other foreign matter, sunburn, second growth, cuts, scabs, blight, dry rot, or other disease, insects or mechanical means. Tho minimum diameter shall be one and one-half (1½) inches. In order to allow for variations incident to commercial grading and handling, five per centum by weight of any lot may be under the prescribed size, and, in addition, five per centum by weight of any such lot may be below the remaining requirements of this grade.

Note

Potatoes of U. S. Grade No. 1, unless shipped in bulk should be placed only in new, clean sacks or barrels, which should be well filled, securely sewed or covered, and, in addition to any necessary statements or marks, should be plainly marked "U. S. No. 1." Containers of potatoes of No. 2 grade, also, should be plainly marked "U. S. No. 2."

ELLSWORTH SCHOOL NOTES

Tho high school had a surprise party on Alida and John Beuker, two of its members, Monday night. They left with their mother to spend a month or so with their father, Dr. Beuker in Kentucky.

Physical geography and geometry have been put in tha high school as part of the tenth grade course. These subjects have not been taught here before.

Tha enrollment of the school has reached 106.

The High School has developed a very strong baseball team, having won all games played so far. Friday afternoon, they played DeWitt Patterson and Ruel Chelles' schools, winning by the score of 7-5. Mr. Chelles pitched for the opposing side while John Ruys and Leonard Hillman for the High school. Tbe score was 5-5 until last half of ninth, when with two men on bases, Walter McKie, teacher of Ellsworth high, made a three base hit bringing in one safe run. Tben while the pitcher had the ball in his hand, McKie stole home, making tha score 7-5.

This winter wa expect to develop a strong boys, also girls basketball team.

There was no school last Thursday because of tbe county fair.

MARVELOUS HUNTERS.

Natives of Australia Are Wizards in the Art of Tracking.

In endurance and speed the Australian aborigine is not the equal of the American Indian, and his weapons of wood and poorly fashioned stones are effective only at short range, but as a hunter the native Australian is marvelously adjusted to his environment. His success lies in an intimate knowledge of the habits of animals on land, in the ground, in trees and under water, and his wonderfully developed powers of observation.

He decoys pelicans by imitating their cries, catches ducks by diving below them, locates an opossum in a tree by marks on the bark or by the flight of mosquitoes, finds snakes by observing the action of birds and follows a bee to its store of honey.

Any animal which leaves a track, however dim, is said, on rock or in grass falls an easy prey to the black fellow. Children are taught to track lizards and snakes over bare rocks and to find their absent mother by following tracks too indistinct to serve as a guide for a European. When a white man is lost in the desert or a child strays from home the final resort is to secure a "black tracker."—National Geographic Magazine.

CARRIER PIGEONS.

Messages They Carry Are Packed in Small Goose Quills.

The general notion that all that has to be done in forwarding a dispatch by pigeons is to catch the bird, tie a letter to its leg and then liberate it is wrong, as the method of attaching the message is of great importance.

Prior to the siege of Paris the method of affixing the message to the bird had not received that attention which it demanded, and consequently many dispatches were lost in transit.

At first the message was merely rolled up tightly, waxed over to protect it from the weather and then attached to a feather in the bird's tail. But it was soon found that the twine which kept the missive in place cut or damaged the paper, and therefore in order to prevent it from being pecked by the pigeon and from being injured by wet the dispatch was inserted in a small goosequill two inches in length.

The quill was then pierced close to each end with a redhot bodkin, so as not to split it, and in the holes waxed silk threads were inserted to affix it to the strongest tail feather. By attaching the message to this part of the bird's body its flight was not in any way interfered with.—Lone Scout.

Hunting the Emu.

The natives of Australia are ingenious. A black on discovering emus feeding on a plain will cover his back and head with an emu skin, allowing it to hang down well on the side toward the unsuspecting birds. In his right hand he will carry hidden by the skin a boomerang and one or two throwing sticks or "waddies." Then his left arm will protrude beyond the skin straight out to the elbow, and the forearm will be bent up, with the hand at right angles to it, thereby making a capital imitation of an emu's head and neck. Now and then his hand or head will be brought to the ground as if for feeding, and as the black walks along he imitates every motion of the bird while at the same time by means of the big toe he draws a spear along the ground. He proceeds thus until close enough to spear his bird.

His Trademarks.

Little redheaded Johnny got a job as office boy for the president of a large western railway. After he had been upon the job several days they gave him a form to fill out with his "Personal Record."

When young Johnny came to a particular paragraph that said, "Have you any visible marks for identification in case of accident or death?" he rose from his chair and rushed over to a mirror near by to give himself a general inspection; then he returned to his task and wrote as his answer to this personal query, "Nothing except freckles."—Youth's Companion.

Anne Howard Shaw.

Dr. Anna Howard Shaw has been a pioneer in many fields. She was the first woman ordained a minister in the Methodist Episcopal church. Her efforts to obtain a college education marked an epoch in coeducation. She carried the gospel of equal suffrage into the most remote places, undeterred by the inconvenience of primitive travel. Dr. Shaw was born on Feb. 14, 1847.

The Touch Courteous.

"What do you want to see me then for?"

"I want to pay you the $5 I am going to touch you for now."—New York American.

Harmony Grange

Night of meeting has been changed to the second and fourth Tuesday of each month. The next meeting was held Tuesday evening, October 9. There were four candidates for the 3rd and 4th degrees. There were also several proposals for membership.

The Woman's Work Committee met last week at the home of sister Coykendall. They always have a good time, enjoyed a good dinner and added a mite to the building fund. The work on our hall is progressing and it will soon be enclosed.

Our Fair Committee made a fine exhibit considering the season and report the winning of 1st premium on vegetable display and first on display of canned fruit, which means a good boost to our building fund.

Those who failed to attend the last meeting missed not only a very good supper, but the surprise feature in the form of a patriotic pageant by the children under the direction of the Misses Lola Wilson and Laura Wooden.

Harmony grange sent a full delegation to the county convention at Ironton last Tuesday consisting of Brothers J. A. Newville and Chas. Brooks and Sisters Mary Ikens and Ruth Newville. They report the election of Mr. and Mrs. H. L. Wilson of our grange to represent this end of the county at the State grange to be held at Jackson, beginning the second Tuesday in December.

Harmony grange is always glad to welcome visiting members from other granges. Come and see us.

A Classic Monster.

"Write down all you know about centaurs," said a schoolteacher to a new pupil. The boy retraced to his seat and presently handed the teacher the following attempt at composition: "A centaur was ancient cavalry and archery all in one piece. He could not be knocked out of his saddle because he hadn't any, being the same person as his horse. If he needed a feat he did not need a stable, or if he needed a stable he did not need a tent—I do not know which—and if he needed forage he did not need rations, or if he needed rations he did not need forage. Although he was mythical and primitive, this made him very convenient for war!"

Forest Destruction.

Fires and insects are the chief causes of forest destruction, and the United States bureau of entomology finds these harmful agencies curiously interrelated. Insect-killed sections of forests are the inflammable starting spots of fires. While on the other hand, fire wounds on trees give a ready opening for boring insects. More timber of merchantable size is lost directly through insects than through fires.

Baseball.

"I don't understand baseball," complained Mrs. Flubdub. "It's a mixed game."

"What's mixed about it?"

"They appear to think just as much of the man who steals a base as the man who earns a run."—Kansas City Journal.

Certain-teed Roofing

CERTAIN-TEED is the best roof, not only because it costs less to manufacture, but also because it is weather-tight, light weight, clean, sanitary, fire-retardant, and costs practically nothing to maintain.

It is now used as the preferable type of roof for office buildings, factories, hotels, stores, warehouses, garages, farm buildings etc., where durability is demanded. CERTAIN-TEED is guaranteed for 5, 10 or 15 years, according to thickness (1, 2 or 3 ply).

There are many roll roofings on the market, but only one CERTAIN-TEED. It pays to get the best. It costs no more to lay a CERTAIN-TEED roof than it does to lay a poor roof, but there is a vast difference in the wear. You can't tell the quality of a roofing by looks or feel. Your only safety is the label. Be sure that it is CERTAIN-TEED—then you are certain of quality and guaranteed satisfaction.

Certain-teed* Slate-Surfaced Asphalt Shingles

BOARDS HAVE NO NOTICE

TO ISSUE CALL FOR SECOND QUOTA

No Date is Fixed for Sending the Next Unit of the First Quota to Camp Custer

The Charlevoix exemption bosrd has not received word as to the number of men required from this county for the next call. Various reports have been current, but they are not authentic inasmuch as none of the members of the local board know anything about them.

Work in the Charlevoix board is at a standstill at the present time owing to the fact that orders were received to postpone the sending of the next quota to Camp Custer until further notice. The local board has the notices made out with the exception of the date, ready to mail within an hour after the order is received.

The reason given by the Provost Marshal in his telegram instructing the bosrd to postpone sending men to camp was that the cantonment at Battle Creek would not be ready at that time to accommodate them.

It is expected, however, that Charlevoix's next contingent to Camp Custer will leave about the 15th of October, or shortly after. The authorities have notified the board that ample time would be given them for sending the regular five day notices to the men.

To date, no official notice has been received by the board regarding men rejected at Camp Custer, although two men, Peter Tjapkes of Ellsworth and Lawrence Terry of Charlevoix have returned home on account of physical disability.

W. C. T. U. MEET IN RED CROSS ROOMS

Members to Spend Afternoon in War Relief Work

The members of the W. C. T. U. are to meet every Thursday afternoon at the Red Cross rooms for war relief work.

On account of the missionary convention to be held here the last of this week the regular monthly meeting of the society has been postponed until next week Tuesday, and will be held at the home of Mrs. Emmet Coulter.

The topic is "Child Training" and the leaders are Mrs. Saltonstall and Mrs. Correll. Young mothers are specially invited whether members or not.

A pot-luck supper will be served. Take either escalloped potatoes, sandwiches, cake or fruit salad. Meet at two o'clock at either Mrs. Peter Campbell's, Mrs. Geiken's or Hooker's garage, where jitneys will call for those who wish to engage them.

THE SUNNY SIDE OF FORT KELLY

WHERE UNCLE SAM PUTS WINGS ON ROOKIES

Ray Frantz Writes Interesting Letter On Comic Side of the Birdman's Life

wouldn't this place make a fine old Hell?'

"Yesterday, we were innoculated again, and shot with typhoid vaccine and stabbed' for smallpox. Some of the birds of prey went down for the count. The technique of those needle artists are unusually fine, so 'gentle' you know. You don't feel like dancing the 'Chinese Toddle,' after you get stabbed. A Chinese laundry sign would look good to me now. I had my washing out on the line the other day when some one yells, here comes 'Texas', looking up I saw what looked like a dark cloud on the horizon—it was a sand storm. You can guess what happened to my 'washee.' And so it goes, work, fun, and laughter, with the men from Mars, and after retreat, the sun sink low in the sky of brass and the desert - night comes quick upon our torrid world. As we sit in our tents by candlelight, up speaks one bird and says, 'Mr. Cohen, tell us a story.' Cohen takes three puffs from his corn cob pipe and begins thus: 'Vell, maybe you don't know where Pittsburgh is, yes,? no? Vell on Smithfield, near Fifth Avenue, believe me when I say I had such a fine hat store and mine friendly vinds would blow 'sis' like that on the corner. Oh, such a fine business such a business.' 'Say Cohen, was you in the drsft?' 'Oh, the drsft you should ask such a foolish question, and when I get out of dese wars, believe me I will go in business again if I have to pyramid peaches on a push cart, or sell gum at a subway entrance, believe me.'

"Taps, 'tis eleven o'clock . There are many ways to sleep in an army blanket, but the most appropriate way is to roll up in the blanket then bend over towards your feet and get the end of the blanket firmly in your teeth, and then go to sleep.

"The boys are hushed to sleep, one by one, I am sure they all dream of the day beyond tomorrow, when all roads of the world shall lead together to the main road that leads to home."

CHARLEVOIX H. S. NOTES

On Saturday, October 6, we met Petoskey High School in the first game of the season, which resulted in a victory for the "Red and White" 13-0. On Wednesday, C. H. S. plays East Jordan and on Friday, Harbor Springs.

Miss Wells: "Can any one answer Mr. Butler's question regarding the source from which Louisisna obtained its name?"

Madge Kibbe: "Louis, from the name of the French king, and Anna, his wife."

Laura Brown did not remain away from school with Nellie. My! how did it happen?

Vernard Miller, Margucrite Ditlefson, Helen Webster, and Clair Cartier, motored to Petoskey Saturday to see the football game. Marguerite claims she was very cold but said Sunday night warmed her up.

Miss Carrel assisted the high school in pulling beans at Mr. Mather's farm.

The English III class have begun the study of "The Spy."

Miss Carrel (in English IV): "Explain the passage, " 'The eye wink at the hand.' "

Bill Hampton: "They must have been flirting."

In general science: "What is a solid?" Mr. Cooper, a freshman, by the way, "A solid is something which can't be put into something else."

Jack Supernaw has decided to play the part of a spirit for a time. For further particulars, see . Bun Bartlett.

Miss Carrel: "What are you doing, Mr. Cartier?"

"Buttoning my shoes."

Bill Hampton: "You might at least dress before class."

One night when Kennetb W. was calling on Madge Kibbe and had remained rather late, Madge's father entered and said: "All 1917 models have self starters."

Jack Supernaw in physics: "What makes the tower of Pisa lean?" Mr. Beecher: "I don't understand. Why do you wish to know this?" Jack: "Because I would like to try it myself."

Leo Butler to Pickles Weed in American history: "Did you ever Bunker Hill?"

Pickles: "No, but I tried to climb it once."

Miss Wells: "How did Massachusetts obtain its name?"

Mary Groenik: " A slave said 'Massa choose it.' "

Madge Kibbe: "Cbews what?"

An after school party was held at the Greeks on Monday evening, composed of Laura Brown, Bob Miles, Hazel Allen, Jack Supernaw, Bun Bartlett and Odillion Weed. The fat boy and the thin boy were the goats.

FISH TUG IN TROUBLE

Drifts From Cross Village to Near Petoskay

The following article taken from the Petoskey Evening News under date of October, tells of a Charlevoix fish tug and her troubles caused by a breakdown: "A fish tug, operated by Mr. Simmineau of Charlevoix, experienced engine trouble while coming from Mackinaw City to Charlevoix and drifted from near Cross Village to about three miles west of Petoskey.

"The boat was anchored in shoal water and one of the crew came ashore and to Petoskey for assistance. A. G. Cook took the launch Iola and towed the craft to Petoskey where it is being repaired.

LECTURE COURSE OPENS WITH MALE QUARTETTE

Year's Program Should Appeal to Young and Old Members of Family

"The Lecture Course this winter consists of five exceptionally good numbers, enlisting music, art, science and the educational problems of today. The program from beginning to end will appeal to the youngest member of your family as well as the oldest.

"The first number of the course will be given at the opera house, November 6. The evening will be given over to the Weber Male Quartette. This organization is composed of four of the well known concert and church soloists of New York City. The Lecture Course committee can definitely promise that this will be a treat to the people. The Quartette has had several years of training in concert and phonograph work, which has resulted in the beautiful blending, the clearness of enunciation and the artistic distinction which are the essentials of a satisfactory and pleasing quartette. Each member of this company is an accomplished artist in himself ond we would feel well repaid if only one of them entertained us—but look! Charlevoix, we are to have the rare opportunity of hearing four of these live, jolly musicians.

"January 14th brings to us another unusual treat in the American Girls Trio. This trio may well be termed 'American,' for truly they are a patriotic three. The American Girls company is composed of three unusually talented young women who have appeared in our largest cities and before many of our most critical audiences. They are held in high esteem by the Cheutouqua and on many of its circuits have shared honors on the same day with William Jennings Bryan, Senator Gore of Oklahoma, and Congressman Aswell of Louisiana. Come and spend your evening, January 14th with this interesting company. Your blues will vanish and you will go home inspired by the evening's enjoyment.

"If eny of us are of the visual members, but that of Miss Milner was be more than satisfied with Mr. Alton Pockard, who will entertain us on February 13th. Mr. Packard is a genius in the art of cartooning. He is both unique and resourceful in that he furnishes us with more than mere fun. Alton Packard is a 'whole show in himself' and we are confident that this evening's entertainment will be unrivalled.

"March 25th brings to us a man of rare qualities in the person of Chancellor George H. Bradford. Here we might well say is a self made man. Mr. Bradford had to work his way through school and was not given a reward in the shape of a high salaried position after graduation. Mr. Bradford comes to us from the Methodist University of Oklehoma, hence it is natural that his greatest interest should be along educational lines. Doctor Brodford is considered among the greatest educational counsellors of the day. He is a strong supporter of social education and has spent his life studying the puzzling parts of the question. Mr. Bradford's magnificient appearance and kindly look compels his audience to enter into the spirit of his lecture. Let's not miss this opportunity to gain a broader vision of this present day question.

"Science! Who is not attracted to the great scientists of today? If any of us ore but casually interested, we will be keyed up to the highest point of interest after having heard Montraville Wood, who will appear on the Leeture Course April 12th. This entertainment will be one of the newest in the line of scientific lectures. Mr. Wood's demonstrations, although unique and almost unbelievable, are approved and looked upon as 'wonder inventions' by the world's highest critics. No danger of this number of the Lecture course being a 'dry' one, for Professor Wood is as good an entertainor as he is a lecturer and scientist.

"After reading this announcement of the Lecture Course that the people of Charlevoix are to enjoy, you will agree that the Lecture Course committee is well deserving of your heartiest support. So, let every one be a 'Booster' for the Charlevoix Lecture and Entertainmeat Course.

"Season tickets: adults $1.50, students $1.00 with ten cents extra per number for reserved seats. Tickets will be on sale at the Drug Stores. Don't fail to get ONE."

(The above article was written by Miss Margaret Milner of the Charlevoix Public Schools, as part of the class work in English I. Several good articles were written by class members, ut that of Miss Milner was considered the best written on the subject.—Ed.)

Mrs. Swartz was the recipient of many beautiful gifts, and the guests departed wishing her many happy returns of the day.

DIED IN SERVICE OF COUNTRY

FROM WOUNDS RECEIVED ON FIELD OF BATTLE

James Raby Returned to Mother Country to Do His Part in Great World War

A telegram was received last Thursday by Mrs. James Raby, of this city, from the war department at Ottawa, Canada, stating that her husband had died in France, September 30, from wounds received in the head, both limbs and chest, while in the service of his country.

Mr. Raby was 28 years old and had lived here about two years, but was a native of Canada and had never become a citizen of the United States. He wes a member of the militia in Canada and went there to offer his services when he realized that they were in need of them. He was a mechanical engineer and it is supposed he was doing duty in the construction of bridges nt the time of receiving the wounds which caused his death. His wife had received a letter from him only o few hours previous to the telegram which announced his death, in which he stated that he was well and expected to be there for some time to come.

He leaves a wife and one child, three years old, in this city. Mrs. Raby is a niece of Mrs. George O'Brien of this city, and is nearly prostreted by the news of her husband's death. She will leave for Canada in the near future.

Friends of the family state that about a week before the arrival of the news of her husband's death, Mrs. Raby told of dreaming of his wounds, and resultant death, but paid little or no attention to the matter until the arrival of the telegram, believing that the presentment wes caused by worry and the longing to see him. However, she made note of the event, and his death occurred on the seme date aa foretold in her dream.

RIGHT NOW

BY EDITH BARNARD DELANO

If your neighbor's house is burning, and the sparks are falling on your shingled roof, are you interested in the fire?

If the boy next door has a sore throat, and there's lot of scarlet fever about, and you have four children of your own, does it mean anything to you?

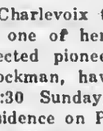
If the man who owns the farm just across the road from your orchard won't spray his apple trees, what do you esre?

If folks in the house back of yours persist in leaving the lid off their garbage pail, the nesty pestilent flies bred there never come over to your house, do they?

NOW—fire and fever, famine, pestilence, and that which is worse than murder are YOUR NEIGHBORS. Oh yes they are! You can't say that they are across the water, in Europe, where they are too far away to harm you or yours. They are here, right here in your country. Your neighbor's fire smoked before it blazed; the boy next door had scarlet fever for days before it "broke out" on him; the unsprayed apple trees and the uncovered garbage pail were getting in their deadly work for days before you knew anything about them. The danger that this war is spreading throughout avery corner of the world is not over there, but here. HERE and NOW! Much of the danger you know; much you do not know. There are enemies, germ carriers, where you think it is impossible for them to be. You may rub your elbows with them on your way to work. You may sit next them in street cars. They may be your customers, your tradespeople, your very neighbors; but they are spreading by ways that are open and that kill quickly and by ways that are secret and that stab in the dark the most dreadful disease that has ever been on this earth—WAR. You know what war does; there is not a man, nor a woman, nor a child in all this broad land who will not be hurt by this war if it is premitted to repeat itself. War has got to be ended, ended soon, and ended forever; and there is only one way to do it. One way, that is, for you and for me, who cannot place our bodies where they will stand between our loved ones and the shot and steel of war. You and I have got to do our part by providing the means with which war can be stopped and shall be stopped. You and I, who cannot fight, have got to provide money, just money, so that others can do our fighting for us. And the fighting of this war is the one big final housecleaning of the world; even the germ-carriers have got to be routed out and cleaned up.

Housecleaning costs money. So does sickness. But cleanliness and health are worth paying for. They are good investments. You do not hesitate to pay for your fire insurance, to call in the doctor, to keep your home premises clean and to do what you can to see that the people around you do the same. It's worth it.

Right now, you have got to insure your country and yourself and your children's children against disaster worse than any fire. Buy a Liberty Bond and let our soldiers be your properly equipped firemen.



Right now you have got to force your neighbor—and remember that he doesn't live only in the Germany which produced his poison—to clean his premises of something that is more dangerous than scale or dry rot or borers or moths or anything else that the world has ever had to deal with. Buy a Liberty Bond and help rid the world forever of this ghastly pestilence of war.

Right now is the time to make sure your home and all that you wish Home to stand for; the life and health of you and your children; the security of your ineomes; the upholding of the ideals without which you wouldn't care to live. There is only one way in which you and I can do it, but that way is going to bring us in mighty good interest. It's the best investment you'll ever make, or anybody else.

CITY LOSES AGED RESIDENT

CAME TO CHARLEVOIX DURING PIONEER DAYS

Mrs. Morris J. Stockman Taught School in Little Log School House Years Ago

Charlevoix today mourns the loss of one of her oldest and most respected pioneers, Mrs. Morris J. Stockman, having passed away at 12:30 Sunday, October 14, at the residence on Park avenue, after a long illness.

Charlotte Moses was born April 2, 1833, in Euclid, Ohio. She was married July 12, 1854, to Morris J. Stockman, who survives her. Mr. and Mrs. Stockman came to Charlevoix in October 1857, just 60 years ago, when this place was almost a wilderness, Mrs. Stockman being the first school teacher Charlevoix ever had. She taught in a little log school house located where the Belvedere resort has now been established, receiving the sum of $4 a month for her services.

Mrs. Stockman is survived, besides her husband, by two brothers and a sister: John and Elihu Moses, and Eliza Growne, all of Cleveland, Ohio, and one niece, Mrs. Edwin Buttars Parmalee, of San Deigo, California.

The funeral was held Tuesday afternoon at 2:00 o'clock from the Congregational church, the Rev. C. E. Taggart officiating. Interment was in Brookside.

BOARD SOLVES KNOTTY PROBLEMS

PRESENT SESSION PROVING A STRENUOUS ONE

Solution of Road Problems, County Agent, and Other Matters Take Up Large Amount of Time

The 1917 October session of the county board of supervisors is about as strenuous as any meeting the board has ever held. Seems as if everyone has an axe to grind, or trouble that demands immediate solution.

We covered the board's proceedings up to Wednesday noon of last week, and if we were to give attention in detail to all that has occurred since, it would occupy more than a page. Under these conditions, we will but briefly mention the most important transactions.

The County Agricultural society was granted the request for an appropriation of $600.00.

An auditing committee of three members of the board has been named, whose duties are to meet the first Tuesday in each month and audit and pay all bills contracted during the preceeding month, and act as a balance wheel on the expenditure of the county's finances.

Jerome Cole of Boyna City was the choice of the board to fill the vacancy on the board of county poor commissioners.

The committee on roads, bridges and dams recommended an expenditure of $500 for repair work on the Dufora bridge.

The committee on printing awarded the contract for printing the official proceedings during the coming year to the Charlevoix Courier.

The board turned down the recommendation of the committee on ways and means to appropriate $250 or a sum set by the board, to the Western Michigan Development Bureau.

The real troubles of the board seems to be centered on a solution of the good roads problem and the agitation about the work of the county road commissioners. Monday a resolution was presented and passed, asking the three members to resign. The object being to do away with the present board and allow the county to come under the new road law, passed at the last session of the state legislature. Two members of the board complied with the request, it being understood, however, that they were to be reappointed at a later date.

Tuesday a motion was carried to reconsider the matter, and it was mada a special order of business for Wednesday afternoon's session. Wednesday afternoon all previous action was rejected, the two county road commissioners withdrew their resignations, and the matter now stands exactly where it was at the start.

A majority of the committees have been unable so far to report and it is expected the deliberations of the board will continue through the entire week, if not longer.

LIZZIES CUT UP QUEER CAPERS

DRIVER OF ONE ATTEMPTS TO TURN SQUARE CORNER

Another Takes Unfair Advantage of Inexperienced Driver and Dashes Off Highway

Inexperienced drivers oftentimes find that a "Lizzy" is as capricious as a skittish colt, and do some queer and unforseen things. Such, anyway was the experience of Mrs. Joe Kemp of Eveline township.

Lizzy was being exercised on the big hill just south of the old Nowland ferm, on the East Jordan road, last Wednesday. Mrs. Kemp, not as yet accustomed to handling the steering wheel, was doing the driving. We don't know how it happened, but have been told Lizzy took the bits in her teeth and made for the high bank alongside the road. Result: Overturned car, driver pinned under wreck—no one hurt except Mrs. Kemp's son, Walloce, who after the excitement had subsided, discovered he had a broken shoulder blade. Narrow escape for all and Lizzy is right on the job again.

Wednesday night, late we are told, the S. O. S. call was turned in from the corner of Bridge and Antrim streets. Investigation revealed that the driver of a Lizzy had attempted to turn a square corner. Result: Wheel collapsed when it hit the curbing and bodly bent radius rods.

We were somewhat relieved when told the young people in the car were on their way home from a meeting held in a neighboring church. Might have attributed the accident to some other reason.

We were also told that the broken wheel penetrating the sod between the street and the sidewalk was all that saved the car from striking the large shade trees, probably resulting in the serious injury to its occupants.

Drivers of Lizzies, it seems, bear the charm of life or carry a rabbit's foot in their pocket. Seems is if they are never injured to any extent, no matter how badly the car is smashed up.

SERIES OF ACCIDENTS

Young Lad Hurts Finger and Is Badly Scalded

Little Rolando Brown was the victim of two painful accidents last week. On Thursday he had the misfortune to catch his finger in a clothes wringer, badly lacerating it, and on Saturday in playing around the kitchen, he upset a pan of hot water on the same arm and hand, scalding them so badly as to necessitate medical attention. At the present time both burn and bruise are doing nicely. Rolando resides with his grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Petter, about five miles out on the Barnard road.

COUNTY FARM AGENT ASSURED

$3,000 NOW AVAILABLE FOR DOING WORK

County, State and Nation Share Expense—Supervisors Appropriate $1,200

Through the action of the Charlevoix county board of supervisors, which appropriated $1,200, and through the action on the part of the state and federal governments in appropriating $1,800, Charlevoix county is to have a farm agent for the coming year. The action of the board of supervisors was taken Friday afternoon, and the $1,200 will be used to pay the agent's expenses. The $1,800 will be for his salary. It is expected today or Thursday the board will take up the matter of organizing a farm bureau, which will act in an advisory capacity with the county farm agent. Just how this farm bureau will be organized is not known, but it is believed a number of influential farmers will call a meeting for that purpose. The state agricultural department recommends that this bureau be composed of not less than nine farmers, three of whom are members of the board of supervisors. Such a meeting will probably be called this fall.

H. B. Blandford, who is connected with the federal and state department of agriculture, gave the board an interesting talk on the work and aim of a county agent. A brief outline of his remarks follow:

"You are doubtless more or less familiar with the great organized movement in agriculture which is now being carried on through county farm bureaus, in co-operation with state agricultural colleges and the U. S. Department of Agriculture.

"About one half of the 3000 counties of the United States now have farm bureaus employing county agricultural agents and the movement was begun only eleven years ago, being started in the South in 1906. It was begun in Michigan in 1912 and there are now thirty-two counties having farm bureaus and agricultural agents. So successful has this movement been and so valuable in the great emergency brought on by the world war, that our Government has decided to make it possible for every county in the United States to have a farm bureau and an agricultural agent by January 1st, 1918.

"Like eny other new movement the county farm bureau idea has been misunderstood. It is simply a recognition of the community, county, state and national aspects of agriculture and the need of organizing all these forces so that they may really work together on a practical plan which all help to make. The county agricultural agent is not an adviser or expert, but is the agent of the organization and paid by the farm bureau, the state and the government to represent their common agricultural interests. He carries out the policies formulated by the county farm bureau. These policies as they are actually being carried on in the different counties include solution of the problems of marketing; control of plant and animal diseases; elimination of scrub sires; standardization of crop varieties and of live stock; testing of soils and determining the most economical plant foods for the different types of soil; and organization of the young people to interest them in the problems of the farm and country life. The salary of the county agent is paid by the Agricultural College from Federal funds, and the expenses of the agent must be paid by the county."

Farmers of northern Michigan are beginning to realize the need of a county agent more and more each year. The Antrim county board of supervisors votad an appropriation of $1,500, as did Emmet county to the amount of $1,000, this county having money from another fund to make up any amount lacking in the payment of the agent's expenses. The move is a wise one, and members of the board are to be congratulated on the step thus taken.

NOT ENOUGH CHILDREN

ever receive the proper balance of f.. to sufficiently nourish both body and brain during the growing period when nature's demands are greater than in mature life. This is shown in so many pale faces, lean bodies, frequent colds, and lack of ambition.

For all such children we say with unmistakable earnestness: They need Scott's Emulsion, and need it now. It possesses in concentrated form the very food elements to enrich their blood. It changes weakness to strength; it makes them sturdy and strong. No alcohol.

NORWOOD

There was a large attendance at Sunday school Sunday, also ten visitors.

Lush Pearl from Central Lake spent a few days in Norwood last week calling on old friends.

Quite a few of the Norwood people attended the home-coming at Central Lake Tuesday and Wednesday.

Mr. Khaler, of Petoskey, who is employed in the Darling Seed Co.'s factory passed through our town quite often recently, looking after the bean and radish crop.

LIBRARY NOTES

Have you forgotten the magazines and books for the soldiers? Your bit is needed to help the collection.

Some new books for the children are in circulation. Some are gifts from Mrs. Henry Hart, Miss Greensfelder and Miss Webb.

"Kings, Queens and Pawns" is by Mary Roberts Rinehart, and tells of her experiences at the French front.

"Ambulance No. 10," is another new war book on our shelves. This adds to our already splendid collection of war books.

A beautiful new book for the children is Gene Stratton Porter's "Morning Face."

POTATOES UNUSUALLY FREE FROM DISEASE

Most of Tuber Crop May Be Stored Without Fear of Spoilage

Because of the high price of potatoes last year, many householders are putting in a supply for the winter this year. Some, however, hesitate in the fear that the tubers will spoil. "Good sound potatoes, stored under the proper conditions of heat and moisture will keep sound and firm until spring," the plant disease specialists at the Michigan Agricultural college advise.

"Late blight, which is the common cause of rotting in the cellars, is entirely absent in Michigan this year, because of the dry weather conditions during the first half of the growing season. Fortunately, potatoes can be stored this season without fear of rotting from this disease. In some of the northern regions Black Leg is abundant. This is a bacterial disease and affected tubers rot at the stem ends. Tubers showing Black Leg should be used at once since there will be considerable loss in storage. There are also fungi always present on potatoes which will cause rotting if the storage conditions are not good, or if the potatoes are wounded or bruised. Hot humid conditions will hasten the development of these molds, while dry, cool, well ventilated locations are safe. Experiments have shown that a high temperature (100 degrees Fahrenheit) in the storage cellar or car may lead to a breaking down of the tuber, which manifests itself by blackening of the heart.

"Only good sound, well ripened potatoes should be put into the pit or warehouse. The pits must be made with care in order that the potatoes may be kept cool and well ventilated. The usual waste that comes from rotting in storage may be prevented if a little care is exercised."

TO SUPERVISE ALL OTHERS IN COUNTY

Broader Scope Given Charlevoix Office Through New Ruling

The Charlevoix postoffice has become the general clearing house of all postoffices in the county with the exception of Boyna City.

Word was received from Washington, which announced that a postal law was recently passed whereby the main postoffice in every district would be the central office of the district. All stamps used by the postoffices in the district will be purchased through the central office, and all reports of the smaller offices must come through the main office for auditing before being forwarded to Washington. This means that the Charlevoix postoffice will have complete charge of the offices of the county with the exception of Boyne City. The local postmaster can do everything but "hire and fire" help for the other offices.

Heretofore each office made a separate report to Washingtn, purchased stamps, envelops and other accessories direct, and in every manner ran its own affairs independent of everything but Washington.

DEATH RESULTED FROM INJURIES RECEIVED

Well Known Echo Township Farmer Dies in Petoskay Hospital

George Murray, Sr., a well-known resident of Echo township, died at the Reycraft hospital, Petoskey, Saturday October 6. On the previous Tuesday, Mr. Murray was thrown from a wagon receiving serious injuries. In an effort to save his life he was taken to Petoskey where an operation was performed.

He leavea a wife, two sons, Elmer and Clarence, a daughter, Mrs. Scott Bartholomew, a brother, Peter, all of Echo township, and a sister, Mary J. McDonald, of Canada. Funeral services were held in the South Arm Grange hall, Tuesday afternoon, October 9, 1917, conducted by Rev. Myron E. Hoyt, pastor of the Methodist church.

SCHOOL COMMISSIONERS NOTES

Hayes township schools visited October 8tb to 12th. Everything going nicely. Hayes township teachers' meeting was held at Maple Grove, Wednesday nfternoon at 1:30. Every teacher notified was present. These teachers decided to hava a township spelling contest whicb will be held in conjnnction with the Christmas exercises at tbe hall in Bay Shore on tbe night of December 21. Ward Genett was appointed to get the townsbip tree and look after the decoratiбns. Each school furnishes part of tbe program.

There was some talk concerning the teaching of spelling, bistory, civil government and grammar, and general dissatisfaction was expressed concerning the present text books on those subjects. New ones will probably be adopted in most of the cases.

Undine sincerely regrets that a changs in teachers will be necessary and are anxious to have Miss Genett return at ths sarliest opportunity. The Undine school has a new set of scats and has arranged them accordlng to a definite floor plan. We understand that tbs wlndow frames for one sido lighting are already ordered and made. The carpentsr work will be done during the one week potato digging vacation.

The Knop school board has again postponed doing anything at all to provide ventilation in the school room. A number bas offered to cooperate in procuring any amount of help necessary and wa hope the delay may not need to be very long.

The Fairgrove school has done conaiderable work in changing the cloak rooms in their building and expect to finish the good work during the potato digging vacation.

During the visits of the past week, four schools in succession were not displaying their flags. On investigation, it was found that one school waa getting the pole in readiness, one had all the equipment and the other two were almost slnckers. One energetie teacher this week tells of binding the school flag with strong tape so as to prevent its wearing out from whipping in the wind. This is both economical and patriotie.

Speakers were sent to every school house ln the county on the night of October 15. Teachers were instructed in advance to have the building in readiness and co-operate in evary way. This is from a mandate of tha governor.

Two schools in Marion visited but no teachers' meeting can be arranged for in the immedinte future.

Many towaships are now having potato digging vacations in one district or another. This is a good system at this time of the year in teaching boys and girls to work and still not lose interest ln their studies, even though it does interefera with consecutive visiting of schools.

The United States committee on Food Conservation wishes to mail ovary teacher material for class room instruction on this subject. Could we devote our morning exercises to thus serving our country?

The County Normal class accompanied the commissioner on two drives during the week, watching tba work actually done in our district schools. They are studying class room management and wish to make their work as practicable as possible.

Miss Mndge Allen of the Cbarlevoix city schools is very much interested in the work she is accomplishing with her boys nnd girls in making ration heaters for the army by having tight rolls of paper boiled in paraffin.

A brief visit to the Johnson school in Marion township revealed the fact that the teacher was not joking when she said that they were more comfortable since new seats had been bought. Her enrollment is double this year because of the workers on tbe Loeb estate.

Fairgrove has an enrollment of 48 and Burgess of 36, the two largest schools in Hayes.

May we convey our thanka in this way to the number of earnest speakers who so generously donated their time and energy to our country and also the country schools ln ths patriotic service of October 15th.

Houck-Ness Nuptials

Wesley Houck and Olga Ness, both of Boyne City, wors quietly married at tbo Congregational parsonage, by the Rav. C. E. Taggart, Monday at high noon. They wera attended by Mr. Houck's brother, Leo Houck, and his sister, Miss Anna Houck. The couple left immediately after tbs ceremony for Boyne City, where they will reside.

RED CROSS

The work rooms of the Red Cross have been changed from the banquet hall of the Masonic templs to the reception room. This room is light, well-heated and very pleasant for our work which must be done as long as tbe war lasts—on Monday, Wednesday and Friday now. Surgical dressings class will meet on Mondays and Fridays.

Wa need knitters and more to help on garments.

Flva or aix at tbe rooms is a small proportion of the number which might be present. Many of our women who lean ordinarily to good things have never darkened the door to the Red Cross work room. We wonder lf later ths thought will come to them that "that was a way I might have helped but I was SO BUSY.'"

The Red Cross Auxiliary wishes to express its gratitude for the use of the Masonic temple rooms. Because of this generoaity it has been possible to make the splendid reports we bave for the summer of 1917.

Thanks to Mrs. Adams of Ironton, wbo sent in a fine box, conaisting of a muffler, eighteen fracture pillows and six wash cloths.

RAILROAD EMPLOYE FALLS UNDER CARS

E. J. & S. Railroad Conductor Meets Death in Accident

William Raino received injuries in a railroad accident Monday foreaoon of last week, whicb resulted in his death Tuesday evening.

Mr. Raino was employed as freight conductor on the E. J. & S. R. R. and his train was working on a switch near Camp 7. In attempting to couple onto two cars the coupling failed to catch and the two cars started down nn inclino. Mr. Raino mounted one of the cars and was trying to set the brakes when the bearing gave way, throwing him to the ground between the rails. A part of the car passed over his body before he was ablo to extricate himself. He was taken to his bome at East Jordan where an examination showed wounds on his forehead, and ln his legs and feet. Later it developed that onc sido of his chest was badly injured internally. It was hoped at first that his life might be spared but he passed away Tueaday evening.

Deceased was a member of the Catholic churcb, the Knights of Columbus and the Holy Name Society. Funeral services were held from St. Joseph'a Catholic church Friday morning, October 12.

CARING FOR THE MAIMED SOLDIERS

It is gratifying to know that already the authorities of this government are carefully planning to salvage the soldier wrecke, eo far as possible, if there actually is left a large number of maimed and broken men. According to Major General Gorgas, surgeon-general of the United Statee army, it is not the purpose of the government to do what it can in hospitals to mend the broken bodies of its wounded soldiers and then let these men shift for themselves as best they can in the paths of peace. Tho new idea of government responsibility is that the state should follow theee men lnto civil life and take the pains adapted to each case to equip or re-equip them for private action in the so-called etruggle for existence. Insuring soldiers while they are in service and granting them, possibly, a pension of a few dollars for life as recompense for their loyal eervice are not now considered an exhaustion of the state's duty toward them. It is decreed by those in authority that something more is required to satisfy gratitudo and the common sense of right and justice.

If a soldier be maimed in body so that he cannot return to the kind of employment be left when he went to war, he is to be educated manually or mentally for something elee. This is as it should be. The soldier or sailor who loses an arm or a foot or the strength of his body in helping to defend and maintain the things for which the flag stands should not be loft to start life all over again without such reasonable aid as organized society can give him. As never before we are to be during this war and after, "our brother's keeper." The principle that underlies our workmen's compensation laws in the industrial world ie to be extended in some form to those who take the hazards and pains of military service. Not only the justice but the wisdom of this conrse is apparent.

Some of our soldiere will lose their eight, some their hearing, eome their powers of locomotion. The burdens thus thrown upon them should be shared as far as may be by the great majority who will not be called upon to face the risks and to auffer the misfortunes of battle. Government cannot give them back what they lose, but it can intervene—not in a spirit of charity, but with a sense of plain duty and justice—to turn their energies, mental or physical into new channels. It not only can but should so intervene.

DECIDE NOW

Do you know that the outcome of the war rests with you and every other red-blooded American? Do you know that victory depends not only upon the ability of our figbting men, but upon our stay at homes as well, and that you, who are among the stay at hómes must do your part just as well as the boys in the trenches? Do you know that you cannot be a slacker any more than the other fellows? Do you know that you have a real duty to perform and must perform it if victory is to crown American arms? The raising of a mighty army and navy and the sending of those forces forth to battle is but half the fight. The real decision rests with those who remain at home and upon whose efforts depends the effectiveness of the actual fighting forces. We have sent our young men forth to battle and now do we propose to forget all about them? They must be clothed, fed, their health protected, their comfort provided for and munitions of all kinde supplied them. To do theee things funds are necessary and to raise those funds Liberty loans are necessary. Truly the namee of those loans in themselves should be sufficient to inspire immediate thought and action—loane for liberty purposes, for that is juet what they are. They are loans to pay our war bills and the war is the war for the preservation of our own liberty. Let's find you among the buyere of the Liberty bonds today. Do you want it eaid that you refused to do your part in the great strife for justice and humanity? Yet that is just what will be eaid and there will be good reason for saying it if you refuse to buy a Liberty bond, but buy one yourself and set an example for the other people. What'e the matter? Are you waiting for some member of the Liberty loan campaign committee to call upon you personally? Can't you make up your own mind? Don't you know that a Liberty bond is one of the best and safest investmenta you could make? Then why hesitate any longer? Let'e find your name on the list of subscribers. The first list will be published soon and what explanation will you have to offer unless your name appeare on that list? Now is the time to act. It is action that will decide and end the war and that action must be on the part of the stay at homes as well as the men at the front.

MORE GERMAN TRICKERY

Germany is still playing a mean and underhanded game in this country. A wholesale plot to injure American munition factories and other war plants has just been unearthed at New York and has resulted in the arrest of about 100 eliene, mostly Germans, of course. Secret service men have closely been following this piot for some time, it appeare, but permitted the plotters to proceed with their plans until the time was ripe for a coup. Most of the men arrested have been employed in various important war industriee or in actual government work. And among the evidence gathered in by the authorities were maps and detailed drawings of munitions plants, arsenals and war supply depots and even of the forts and fortificatione guarding ths harbor and the city of New York. Also there were arms and explosives, doubtless intended for sinister use, and a quantity of carborundum which wae to be introduced in delicate machinery for the purpose of injuring the latter and making it useless.

All this is in keeping with the usual German plan of utilizing spies and traitors against an enemy country and resorting to the most perfidious and treacherous methods to serve the cause of Germany. It again discloses and emphasizes the German plea that neeessity knowe no law, and indeed it would seem that the German war leaders entirely have lost their sense of right and wrong. Deception and treachery have become their chief stock in trade and they etop at nothing, no matter how low and base, if it promises to aid Germany or hurt an enemy.

KNOW THE GRIM TRUTH

All the blood; all the heroism; all the money and all the munitions in the world will not win this war unless our allies and the people behind them are fed. They will not be fed and our sacrifice of blood and money will be in vain and a great cause will sustain a great injury unless each one in his home each day stands guard over the nation's supply of WHEAT, MEATS, FATS AND SUGAR.

We are told that it is nothing unusual to use a hillion shells a day in ths artillery engagements in northern France. And after ths soldiers get accustomed to so much racket, how will thay evar manage to settle down to a peacsful life?

HEART of the SUNSET

By REX BEACH

Author of "The Spoilers," "The Iron Trail," "The Silver Horde," Etc.

It was growing dark when Dave was awakened by cool hands upon his face and by soft lips upon his. He opened his eyes to find Alaire bending over him.

"You must get up," she smiled. "It is nearly time to go, and Ines is cooking our supper."

He reached up and took her in his arms. She lay upon his breast, thrilling happily with her nearness to him, and they remained so for a while, whispering now and then, trying ineffectually to voice the thoughts that needed no expression.

"Why did you let me sleep so long?" he asked her, reproachfully.

"Oh, I've been napping there in that chair, where I could keep one eye on you. I'm terribly selfish; I can't bear to lose one minute." After a while she said: "I've made a discovery. Father O'Malley smures dreadfully. Juanito never heard anything like it, and it frightened him nearly to death. He says the father must be a very fierce man to growl so loudly. He says, too, that he likes me much better than his mother."

It seemed to Dave that the bliss of this awakening and the sweet intimacy of this one moment more rewarded him for all he had gone through.

"I've been busy, too," she was saying. "I sent Juan to the village to learn the news, and it's not very nice. It's good we stopped here. He says Nuevo Laredo has been destroyed, and the federal forces are all moving south, away from the border. So our troubles aren't over yet. We must reach the river tonight."

"Yes, by all means."

"Juan is going with us as guide."

"You arranged everything while I snoozed, eh? I'm ashamed of myself."

Alaire nodded, then pretended to frown darkly. "You ought to be," she told him.

"My wife!" He laid his lips against her hair.

They were standing beside the window, speechless, oblivious to all except their great love, when Dolores entered to tell them that supper was ready and that the horses were saddled.

CHAPTER XXV.

The Dawn.

Juan Garcia proved to be a good guide, and he saved the refugees many miles on their road to the Rio Grande. But every farm and every village was a menace, and at first they were forced to make numerous detours. As the night grew older, however, they rode a straighter course, urging their horses to the limit, hoping against hope to reach the border before daylight overtook them. This they might have done had it not been for Father O'Malley and Dolores, who were unused to the saddle and unable to maintain the pace Juan set for them.

About midnight the party stopped on the crest of a flinty ridge to give their horses breath and to estimate their progress. The night was fine and clear; outlined against the sky were the stalks of countless sotol-plants standing slim and bare, like the upright lances of an army at rest; ahead the road meandered across a mesa, covered with grama grass and black, formless blots of shrubbery.

Father O'Malley groaned and shifted his weight. "Juan tells me we'll never reach Romero by morning, at this rate," he said; and Dave was forced to agree. "I think you and he and Alaire had better go on and leave Dolores and me to follow as best we can."

Dolores plaintively seconded this suggestion. "I would rather be burned at the stake than suffer these agonies," she confessed. "My bones are broken. The devil is in this horse." She began to weep softly. "Go, senora. Save yourself! It is my accursed fat stomach that hinders me. Tell Benito that I perished breathing his name, and see to it, when he remarries, that he retains none of my treasures."

Alaire reassured her by saying: "We won't leave you. Be brave and make the best of it."

"Yes, grit your teeth and hold on," Dave echoed. "We'll manage to make it somehow."

But progress was far slower than it should have been, and the elder woman continued to lag behind, voicing her distress in groans and lamentations. The priest, who was made of sterner stuff, bid his best to bear his tortures cheerfully.

In spite of their efforts the first rosy herald of dawn discovered them still a long way from the river and just entering a more thickly settled country. Daylight came swiftly, and Juan finally gave them warning.

"We can't go on; the danger is too great," he told them. "If the soldiers are still in Romero, what then?"

"Have you no friends hereabouts who would take us in?" Dave inquired.

The Mexican shook his head.

Dave considered for a moment. "You must hide here," he told his companions, "while I ride on to Romero and see what can be done. I suspect Blanco's troops have left, and in that case everything will be all right."

"Suppose they haven't?" Alaire inquired. All night she had been in the lightest of moods, and had steadily refused to take their perils seriously. Now her smile chased the frown from her husband's face.

"Well, perhaps I'll have breakfast with them," he laughed.

"Silly. I won't let you go," she told him, firmly; and, reading the expression in her face, he felt a dizzy weakness. "We'll find a nice secluded spot; then we'll sit down and wait for night to come. We'll pretend we're having a picnic."

Dolores sighed at the suggestion. "That would be heaven, but there can be no sitting down for me."

Garcia, who had been standing in his stirrups scanning the long, flat road ahead, spoke sharply: "Caramba! Here come those very soldiers now! See!"

Far away, but evidently approaching at a smart gait, was a body of mounted men. After one look at them Dave cried:

"Into the brush, quick!" He hurried his companions ahead of him, and when they had gone perhaps a hundred yards from the road he took Juan's repeater, saying: "Ride in a little way further and wait. I'm going back. If you hear me shoot, break for the river. Ride hard and keep under cover as much as possible." Before they could remonstrate he had wheeled Montrosa and was gone.

This was luck, he told himself. Ten miles more and they would have been safe, for the Rio Grande is not a difficult river either to ford or to swim. He dismounted and made his way on foot to a point where he could command a view, but he had barely established himself when he found Alaire at his side.

"Go back," he told her. But she would not, and so they waited together.

There were perhaps a dozen men in the approaching squad, and Dave saw that they were heavily accoutred. They rode fast, too, and at their head galloped a large man under a wide-brimmed felt hat. It soon became evident that the soldiers were not uniformed. Therefore, Dave reasoned, they were not federals, but more probably some rebel scouting band from the south, and yet— He rubbed his eyes and stared again.

Dave pressed forward eagerly, incredulously; the next instant he had broken cover with a shout. Alaire was at his side, clapping her hands and laughing with excitement.

The cavalcade halted; the big man tumbled from his saddle and came straddling through the high grass, waving his hat and yelling.

"Blaze! You old scoundrel!" Dave cried, and seized one of the ranchman's palms while Alaire shook the other.

"Say! We're right glad to see you-all," Jones exclaimed. "We reckoned you might be havin' a sort of unpleasantness with Loogorio, so we organized up and came to get you."

The other horsemen were crowding close now, and their greetings were noisy. There were the two Guzman boys, Benito Gonzales, Phil Strange, and a number of Jonesville's younger and more adventurous citizens.

In the midst of the tumult Benito inquired for his wife, and Dave relieved his anxiety by calling Dolores and Father O'Malley. Then, in answer to the questions showered upon him, he swiftly sketched the story of Alaire's rescue and their flight from La Perla.

When he had finished Blaze Jones drew a deep breath. "We're mighty glad you got out safe, but you've kicked the legs from under one of my pet ambitions. I sure had planned to nail Longorio's hide on my barn door. Yes, and you've taken the bread out of the mouths of the space writers and sob sisters from here to Hudson's bay. Miz Austin, your picture's in every newspaper in the country, and, believe me, it's the worst atrocity of the war."

"War!" Father O'Malley had joined the group now, and he asked, "Has war been declared?"

"Not yet, but we've got hopes." To Alaire Blaze explained: "Ellsworth's in Washington, wavin' the Stars and Stripes and singin' battle hymns, but I reckon the government figures that the original of these newspaper pictures would be safe anywhere. Well, we've got our own ideas in Jonesville, so some of us assembled ourselves and declared war on our own hook. These gentlemen"—Blaze waved his hand proudly at his neighbors—"constitute the Jonesville Guards, the finest body of American men that has invaded Mexican soil since me and Dave went after Ricardo Guzman's remains. Blamed if I ain't sorry you sidetracked our expedition."

It was evident, from the words of the others, that the Jonesville Guards were indeed quite as heedless of international complications as was their commander. One and all were highly incensed at Longorio's perfidy, and, had Alaire suggested such a thing, it was patent that they would have ridden on La Perla and exacted a reckoning from him.

Such proof of friendship affected her deeply, and it was not until they were all under way back toward Romero that she felt she had made her appreciation fully known. When she reflected that these men were some of the very neighbors whom she had shunned and slighted, and whose honest interest she had so habitually misconstrued all these years, it seemed very strange that they should feel the least concern over her. It gave her a new appreciation of their chivalry and their worth; it filled her with a humble desire to know them better and to strengthen herself in their regard. Then, too, the esteem in which they held Dave—her husband—gratified her intensely. It made no more difference to them than to her that he was a poor man, a man without authority or position; they evidently saw and loved in him the qualities which she saw and loved. And that was as it should be.

They were gentle and considerate men, too, as she discovered when they told her, bit by bit, what had happened during her absence. She learned, much to her relief, that Ed's funeral had been held, and that all the distressing details of the inquiry had been attended to. Jose Sanchez, it appeared, had confessed freely. Although her new friends made plain their indignation at the manner of Ed's taking away, they likewise let her know that they considered his death only a slight loss, either to her or to the community. Not one of them pretended it was anything except a blessing.

The journey drew to an end very quickly. Romero, deserted now by its garrison, stirred and stared sleepily at the invaders, but concerned itself with their presence no more than to wonder why they laughed and talked so spiritedly. Plainly, these gringos were a barbarous race of people, what with their rushing here and there, and with their loud, senseless laughter. God had wisely placed them beyond the Rio Grande, said the citizens of Romero.

The crossing was made; Alaire found herself in Texas once again, and it seemed to her that the sun had never been so bright, the air so clear, the sky so high, the world so smiling, as here and now. The men who had ridden forth to seek her were smiling, too, and they were shaking her hands and congratulating her. Even the Guzman boys, who were shy in the presence of American ladies, were wishing her the best of fortune and the greatest of happiness.

Blaze Jones was the last to leave. With especial emphasis upon her name, she said: "Miz Austin, Paloma and me would like to have you come to our house and stay until you feel like goin' back to Las Palmas."

When Alaire declined with moistened eyes, explaining that she could not well accept his invitation, he signified his understanding.

"We're goin' to see a lot of you, just the same," he promised her, "'cause we feel as if you sort of belonged to us. There's a lot of good people in this part of Texas, and them that ain't so good, God and the rangers is slowly weedin' out. We don't always know the ones we like best until something happens to 'em, but if you'd heard the prayers the folks of Jonesville have been sayin' lately you'd know you was our favorite." Then, with a meaning twinkle in his eye, he told her, gravely: "It seems a pity that I ain't younger and better-lookin'. I would sure cut short your grief." Then he raised his hat and rode away, chuckling.

Alaire turned to Dave in dismay. "He knows!" she cried.

"I'm afraid they all know. But don't worry; they'll respect our wishes."

Father O'Malley had ridden on ahead with Benito and Dolores; Dave and Alaire followed leisurely. Now that the moment of their parting was at hand, they lingered by the way, delaying it as long as possible, feeling a natural constraint at what was in their minds.

He Took Her Hand in His and They Rode on Silently, a Song in the Heart of Each of Them.

"How long—will it be?" he asked her, finally. "How long before I can really have you for my own?"

Alaire smiled into his eyes. "Not long. But you'll be patient, won't you, dear?"

He took her hand in his and they rode on silently, a song in the heart of each of them.

SALTS IF BACKACHY AND KIDNEYS HURT

Drink lots of water and stop eating meat for a while if your Bladder troubles you.

When you wake up with backache and dull misery in the kidney region it generally means you have been eating too much meat, says a well-known authority. Meat forms uric acid which overworks the kidneys in their effort to filter it from the blood and they become sort of paralyzed and loggy. When your kidneys get sluggish and clog you must relieve them, like you relieve your bowels; removing all the body's urinous waste, else you have backache, sick headache, dizzy spells; your stomach sours, tongue is coated, and when the weather is bad you have rheumatic twinges. The urine is cloudy, full of sediment, channels often get sore, water scalds and you are obliged to seek relief two or three times during the night.

Either consult a good, reliable physician at once or get from your pharmacist about four ounces of Jad Salts; take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast for a few days and your kidneys will then act fine. This famous salts is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and has been used for generations to clean and stimulate sluggish kidneys, also to neutralize acids in the urine so it no longer irritates, thus ending bladder weakness.

Jad Salts is a life saver for regular meat eaters. It is inexpensive, cannot injure, and makes a delightful, effervescent lithia-water drink.

The Soup Course.

TOMATO SOUP.—One can of tomatoes, one scant tablespoonful of sugar, one level teaspoonful of salt, one tablespoonful of butter, one tablespoonful flour, one-third teaspoonful cloves, one-half pint water. Before serving add spoonful of whipped cream to each plate.

Cream of Carrot Soup.—The soup is made from one cupful of leftover stewed carrots, two cupfuls of rice stock and one cupful of milk. Mash the carrots through strainer, add the rice stock, put on to boil and when boiling add the milk and one tablespoonful of flour mixed with a little cold water. Boil five minutes, add a little parsley and seasoning to taste.

Bean Porridge Hot.—After the beans are parboiled ready for baking save out two cupfuls; cut one-quarter pound pork into dice and stew with the beans until one-half hour before dinner. The water should just cover the beans. When done add one cupful milk and lump of butter, or one cupful cream if you have it.

Excellent Clam Soup.—One quart of milk, four small potatoes cut into small dice and boiled in water until soft; then drain, add milk and when it comes to a boil add twenty-five clams chopped fine. Stir occasionally, as it burns quickly. In the meantime cream one tablespoonful of butter and one of flour together and stir in soup until all is dissolved. Add chopped parsley, pepper and salt to taste. This is delicious and can be made quickly.

Parsnip Soup.—For parsnip soup boil three washed and pared parsnips until tender; then put them through a sieve and return to the water in which they were boiled. There should be just enough to cover them. Add the same quantity of milk. Season with salt and pepper, and to each pint of milk add two tablespoonfuls of flour rubbed smooth in a little cold milk. Cook until the mixture is smooth. Serve with croutons and minced parsley.

DR. IRVING E. SANDERS

Dr. Irving E. Sanders
Bay City, Mich.

Will again visit Charlevoix, Mich., and will be at Hotel Charlevoix, on Monday, 22nd. day of October, for ONE DAY ONLY. Hours, 9 a. m. to 8 p. m.

holding a Dispensary Clinic for all his patients having appointments and others who may want to see him. Dr. Sanders is too well known to most people in this locality to need any introduction except to newcomers. Having practiced medicine in most of its branches for more than forty-five years in Ohio, he is known from one end of the state to the other as a great Medical Expert in the Diagnosis and Treatment of Chronic Diseases of MEN, WOMEN and CHILDREN.

The hundreds of chronic sufferers cured give testimony to the truth of this assertion. Come and see some and talk to others you will meet, and be convinced.

No matter how long you are ailing, or what the nature of your ailments are, how many doctors you have seen, or what has been done for you. Go and see Dr. Sanders. Your visit will cost you nothing, and at last you will meet a man, grown old in the service of humanity, honest, up-right, sincere, qualified, well recommended and able. He will examine you thoroughly and scientifically, thus diagnosing your case and tell you just where the trouble is and what to do to get rid of it.

Dr. Sanders treats MEN, WOMEN and CHILDREN afflicted with Chronic Diseases only, that is to say, diseases of long standing. If you are now in the care of your family physician, and he is doing good work, do not come and take up his valuable time, as in that case he will not see you. If he can help you, he will tell you so, and give you such treatment, remedies and advice as will restore you to perfect health. If your case is not curable, he will give you such advice as will relieve and may prolong your life.

CONSULTATION and EXAMINATION at this visit is FREE. YOU will be charged only with the actual cost of the treatment required to affect your cure, which at all times will be reasonably moderate. Under no circumstances will he take a case for treatment that can not be cured.

This is not a scheme to trick you out of your money, not a C. O. D. snare or anything that is not strictly ethical and according to law. Come and be convinced and find at last that you are not hopelessly doomed to suffer for lack of expert medical skill and knowledge and that you may obtain perfect health for less money than you spend on patent medicine.

NOTE: If you have pain in the back bring a two-ounce bottle of urine for chemical and microscopical examination and analysis. Minors without parents or guardians not admitted to examination rooms. Calls to private homes $10.00. Consultations with physicians by appointment only. Remember the date. Hours 9 a. m. to 8 p. m. 412t

ASLEEP AT THE WHEEL.

A Reason For Some of the Automobile Accidents at Night.

Frequently when there is an accident, where the automobile runs off the road, hits an obstruction or is upset, the driver or some other occupant of the car or the reporter says that "the steering gear gave way." Yet it is safe to venture that it is not the real reason for the accident. What often happens is that the driver goes to sleep.

In a report of an accident some time ago the driver frankly said he went to sleep and the next thing he knew he was under the car, which was thrown against an abutment. The soporific effect of driving an auto at night for several hours is really responsible for more accidents than defective construction. The constant vibration of the steering wheel, the continuous noise of the machine and the drone of the wind have the same affect as does the buzz of an electric fan on most folk.

Before the driver realizes it he is getting drowsy. The wheel is held more and more loosely. Gradually the car takes the line of least resistance, aided by the slacking (but not totally abandoned) control of the driver. The next thing he knows he is off the road. Sometimes the car overturns. Sometimes the driver escapes, together with the occupants of the car. Oftentimes the dereliction results in injury or death.

If more drivers realized the danger of not keeping awake there would be fewer accidents. At least this is the opinion of experienced drivers.—Chicago Journal.

Australia's Lyre Bird.

The lyre bird of Australia is a noted mimic. In the early morning hours it is at its best, duplicating the whistle of a locomotive, the barking of a dog, the call of a magpie and the buzz of a circular saw in varying tone.

"Yes; Charlie is as brave as a stack of lions. Did you hear about his daring a policeman to arrest him?"

"No! Gee, what happened?"

"He was arrested."—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

This is the Stove Polish
YOU Should Use
IT'S different from others because more care is taken in the making and the materials used are of higher grade.
Black Silk Stove Polish
Makes a brilliant, silky polish that does not rub off or dust off, and the shine lasts four times as long as ordinary stove polish. Used on sample stoves and sold by hardware and grocery dealers.
All we ask is a trial. Use it on your cook stove, your parlor stove or your gas range. If you don't find it the best stove polish you ever used, your dealer is authorized to refund your money. Insist on Black Silk Stove Polish. Made in liquid or paste—one quality.
Black Silk Stove Polish Works
Sterling, Illinois
Use Black Silk Air-Drying Iron Enamel on grates, registers, stove-pipes—Prevents rusting. Use Black Silk Metal Polish for silver, nickel or brass. It has no equal for unsoiled automobiles.

HAVE ROSY CHEEKS AND FEEL FRESH AS A DAISY—TRY THIS!

Says glass of hot water with phosphate before breakfast washes out poisons.

To see the tinge of healthy bloom in your face, to see your skin get clearer and clearer, to wake up without a headache, backache, coated tongue or a nasty breath, in fact to feel your best, day in and day out, just try inside-bathing every morning for one week.

Before breakfast each day, drink a glass of real hot water with a teaspoonful of limestone phosphate in it as a harmless means of washing from the stomach, liver, kidneys and bowels the previous day's indigestible waste, sour bile and toxins; thus cleansing, sweetening and purifying the entire alimentary canal before putting more food into the stomach. The action of hot water and limestone phosphate on an empty stomach is wonderfully invigorating. It cleans out all the sour fermentations, gases and acidity and gives one a splendid appetite for breakfast.

A quarter pound of limestone phosphate will cost very little at the drug store but is sufficient to demonstrate that just as soap and hot water cleanses, sweetens and freshens the skin, so hot water and limestone phosphate act on the blood and internal organs. Those who are subject to constipation, bilious attacks, acid stomach, rheumatic twinges, also those whose skin is sallow and complexion pallid, are assured that one week of inside-bathing will have them both looking and feeling better in every way.

EVERYDAY LIFE AT CAMP CUSTER

INTERESTING LETTERS FROM ARTHUR NETTLETON

Says That Camp Life Agrees With Him and That Boys From Charlevoix are Well Satisfied

News from the boys in camp is always read with interest as the folks at home are anxious to learn of their daily life, what they are doing, of advancements made and all join in extending congratulations to the lucky ones who are advanced in the service to positions of command, even though it be the first step towards the goal sought for by all engaged in the service.

Excerpts taken from letters written by Arthur Nettleton, one of Charlevoix's men at Camp Custer, Battle Creek, tells of the life of the "rookie," his daily work and environments, and how it appeals to him as the actual life of the army man is revealed to him:

"Dear Folks at Home:—Arrived in Battle Creek at 5 a. m. Thursday, September 20. We marched about two miles to camp and had breakfast. Then we went through some more red tape. I saw two fellows from Flint that I knew pretty well. I am in the same barracks as Herb Wakefield, Jim Dougherty, and a fat fellow from Charlevoix county. After the fellows were on the train upon our departure from Charlevoix, they expressed themselves as being pretty well pleased with the send off given them, and we also had a good time all the way down to camp."

Under date of September 3, Mr. Nettleton writes: "Am having a good time here and feel as though I could stay the balance of my life. Arriving here on Thursday morning at 5 o'clock as we did, we had practically nothing to do the balance of the day. Friday and Saturday they took us out for drill in squads of about 16 and the officers seem like mighty nice fellows. We have not been examined or furnished uniforms yet but expect we will get them about Monday of next week. They took my name down for the regimental band. I do not know whether they will take me or not, as I think I would rather stay with the regulars or else get in the buglers corps.

"Our first meal seemed queer to most of us. No butter or fancy stuff, but I am now getting so I can eat anything that looks like good food. Our outfit consists of one deep plate with a handle, a shallow dish that fits into the plate, a tin cup that holds about a quart, a teaspoon, fork and knife. In our sleeping quarters we have steel cots, a mattress that we stuff with straw, two heavy blankets, and a rubber blanket called a poncho that we can make a sleeping bag out of or transform it into a raincoat.

"We were examined last Wednesday, also vaccinated and got an injection in the shoulder for typhoid Thursday. We have also received our drill suits. We sure needed them for our civilian clothes were getting pretty dirty. We have not got our jackets or overcoats yet, but I think we will get them soon as it is pretty chilly here during the early morning and evenings. This morning we were inspected by the Major and this is all we have had to do today except to report for roll call at six in the morning and six at night. I am acting as corporal now. It takes up practically all of my spare time.

"October 9.—Parade this afternoon and inspection by the majors and major general. There must have been fully 5000 soldiers of our regiment on parade. I enjoy the march for inspection and would like to repeat it every day. I don't know why, but there is something about it that the fellows like.

"There are about 150 men in our barracks. It is a two story brick building about 150 feet long and 50 feet in width, with the cook room and mess hall in half of the lower part, the balance of the room being taken up with bunks. We have a captain, two first lieutenants and three second lieutenants in our company. There are over 1000 of these barracks on the grounds and they are building more. There are about a dozen Y's already, and some canteens (stores.) We have several near our barracks. We have our heat and hot water now and are thoroughly enjoying it. It is almost time for taps (9 o'clock p. m.) so must go and make my bunk and get a good night's rest.

"Give my regards to all of the folks at home and tell them that everything is hustle and bustle at Camp Custer."

ARTHUR NETTLETON,
Co. H, 337th Infantry, Barracks No. 25, Camp Custer, Battle Creek, Michigan.

GRANDMA USED SAGE TEA TO DARKEN HAIR

She mixed Sulphur with it to Restore Color, Gloss, Youthfulness.

Common garden sage brewed into a heavy tea with sulphur added, will turn gray, streaked and faded hair beautifully dark and luxuriant. Just a few applications will prove a revelation if your hair is fading, streaked or gray. Mixing the Sage Tea and Sulphur recipe at home, though, is troublesome. An easier way is to get a 50-cent bottle of Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound at any drug store all ready for use. This is the old time recipe improved by the addition of other ingredients.

While wispy, gray, faded hair is not sinful, we all desire to retain our youthful appearance and attractiveness. By darkening your hair with Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound, no one can tell, because it does it so naturally, so evenly. You just dampen a sponge or soft brush with it and draw this through your hair, taking one small strand at a time; by morning all gray hairs have disappeared, and, after another application or two, your hair becomes beautifully dark, glossy, soft and luxuriant.

This preparation is a delightful toilet requisite and is not intended for the cure, mitigation or prevention of disease.

INCASED POSTAGE STAMPS.

Once Used as Money, They Are Now Rare and Valuable.

New York city was the birthplace of a peculiar sort of money, made by putting United States postage stamps in flat circular brass cases, with the faces protected by a thin sheet of mica. The incased stamps consisted of these denominations: 1, 3, 5, 10, 12, 24, 30 and 90 cent, 1862, and this method of protecting the stamps so they could withstand the wear of circulation was the invention of John Gault, who was in business at Park place, New York city.

Mr. Gault manufactured many kinds to be used by business firms in place of small change, as well as the mutilated and worn postage stamps used for money at the beginning of the war. Many of the incased stamps bore the name of the firm on the reverse side, so that the currency served to advertise the firm that issued it.

Occasionally a subscriber asks us in regard to these stamps and their value. Our reply always is that they are of considerable rarity and not infrequently they command a big premium. This is particularly true of the 12, 24, 30 and 90 cent denominations. These stamps are eagerly sought for by collectors of both stamps and coins, but especially the former, and they fetch good prices whenever offered at auction sales.—American Boy.

FIRST "ONE HORSE SHAY."

Quaint Old "Ad." That Told the Public of the New Invention.

A newspaper advertisement in the London Daily Post of Aug. 22, 1728, a copy of which is in the Wisconsin Historical library, telling of the invention of the one horse chaise, affords an interesting example of the advertising methods at that date. It is as follows:

"His Majesty has been graciously pleased to grant his Royal Letters Patent bearing the date of the 20th Day of July last, unto William Chapman, of London, Coach and Coach-harness Maker (for the term of 14 years) for his sole making a newly invented Chaise or Chair with two wheels, to be drawn by one Horse between a pair of shafts, which is so contrived as to quarter the Roads with great Ease by the Person riding in it, without Lett, Stop, or Hindrance, the Horse continuing in the same path, so as the Wheels go exactly at all times in the Coach Track, by which means the person in such carriage may travel with more expedition, Safety and Pleasure both to himself and Horse, than in anything of like nature hitherto invented. The great Use and Convenience of the said invention will readily be made to appear by the said William Chapman at his House in Wormwood Street, London Wall, Near Bishopsgate, where several carriages are already made."

Varieties of Bananas.

To most persons in the temperate zones a banana is a banana. But the truth is that there are over sixty known varieties of the fruit, with as great or greater variation in character as the different kinds of apples. Hawaii is said to have something over forty distinct varieties of the fruit, most of which have been introduced by the whites. Some of these are of extremely delicate and delicious flavor, while other kinds are used, if at all, only when cooked in various ways. There is scarcely a city house lot or country "kuicana" or homestead which does not have a clump or two of bananas, which grow with practically no care, new plants or suckers shooting out to replace the ones which have fruited and been removed.

Quail Aids the Farmer.

"The most value of the quail is inconsiderable—negligible—when compared to the services these birds render to the farm," a bird expert of the University of Oklahoma says. "They prey upon 145 different kinds of destructive insects and consume no less than 120 varieties of noxious weed seeds. They stay on the job twelve months in the year and labor continually when weather conditions permit. I do not believe that the landowners should permit a multitude of so called sportsmen to destroy this powerful ally of the farmer."

A Lily of Asia.

The lilium chalcedonium is supposed to be the lily indicated in the sixth chapter of Matthew, twenty-eighth verse, where it is compared with the gorgeous robes of Solomon, and its color was scarlet or purple. This lily grows profusely in the moist parts of Asia Minor.—Indianapolis News.

The New Stromberg Carburetor for Fords

A Ford touring car carrying three people made a record of 37.4 miles to the gallon of gasoline. This test was observed by an official of the American Automobile Association and this mileage admitted as an official record.

Owners in this vicinity are reporting 23 to 30 miles to the gallon with greater power and speed, more flexibility, and quicker acceleration.

With the Stromberg you can start your Ford these cold days without cranking your head off and at the same time double your gasoline mileage. Owners have proven this.

We have a stock of these carburetors; come in and get yours.

The schools in this vicinity are taking a two weeks vacation on account of the rush of potato and bean harvesting.

The Klooster boys, Jake and Bernie, have formed a partnership and are buying potatoes at the Klooster & Son store.

Supervisor H. S. Peebles is at Bellaire this week completing the business of the board of supervisors which began last week.

Adam Martin of near Atwood, has been busy the past week making repairs on his property here in town, preparatory to moving in for the winter.

Cards are out announcing the arrival on October 10, of an eight pound son at the home of Mr. and Mrs. H. Q. Altenborg at their home at Ionia, Michigan.

Funeral services were held at the Holiness church last Saturday for George Hyde, an old resident of this vicinity, who died last week at the home of his sister in Charlevoix. The funeral was in charge of the Odd Fellow lodge and was conducted by Rev. Kridler, and his remains were laid away at Boss cemetery west of town.

Potatoes are yielding far above the average this year, in this part of the country at least, and reports of extraordinary crops are coming in daily. Bart DeGroot reports five hundred bushels from two acres and L. VanSkiver harvested from slightly less than an acre, potatoes which yielded at the rate of three hundred and ninety crates per acre.

Wm. J. Boss, private of Co. H, 337th Infantry, stationed at Camp Custer, sends us a very interesting letter regarding himself and his surroundings. Bill says he is enjoying himself, has plenty to eat and wear, and that their querters will have steam heat in a few days. It was our intention at first to publish this letter, but Bill Patterson and Geo. Hunter, officiel censors, spoiled our plans.

ORRIS CARPENTER INJURED IN ACCIDENT

Rue Over By Frightened Cattle While Attempting to Turn Them

Orris Carpenter suffered a painful injury last Sunday morning when in attempting to turn some cattle, which were being transferred from one field to another, he was struck by one and severely injured.

At first is was not thought serious, but as his condition rapidly grew worse he was finally persuaded to see a physician. He was taken to East Jordan where Dr. Parks found that he was hurt internally and advised an immediate operation which was performed the same evening at Lockwood hospital at Petoskey. At last reports the patient is getting along O. K. and expects to be at home again in about two or three weeks.

PATRIOTIC DAY WELL OBSERVED

FITTINGLY OBSERVED IN ALL SCHOOLS

Fifteen Hundred Dollars in Bonds Sold During Meeting at District No. 2, Banks

Ellsworth sent out six of her best public speakers for the Liberty Loan drive and patriotic meeting held at the different schools throughout the state last Monday night.

G. C. Townsend, D. Patterson, E. R. Harris, D. E. Clow and Walter McKie spoke at Districts 1, 2, 3, 4, and 5 respectively of Jordan township and C. E. Bearss was sent by school commissioner Belding to District No. 1, Banks township at Antrim.

The best reports so far come from District No. 2, Banks, where fifteen hundred dollars in bonds were sold. This is the school taught by Ruel Chelles. School commissioner Belding was the speaker at District No. 3, Banks, which is taught by DeWitt Patterson.

Owing to short notice and the fact that the Ellsworth schools were having a vacation, a small crowd was on hand to greet F. W. Katzenstein, of Mancelons, who spoke at this place, but those who braved the weather to be on hand were well repaid.

Rev. Eldred, pastor of the M. E. church here and at Central Lake, delivered a fine talk at District No. 4, the school taught by Miss Ethel Smith.

We regret that we are unable to give the names of speakers of the other schools of this township, but we are sure good ones were provided for each and every one, and if every township in the state did as well as Banks, an immense amount of money was subscribed, which will do much to bring "His Imperial Highness," the Kaiser to his senses.

MUST HAVE BEEN LIKE FATHER'S WOOLEN SOCKS

Shrink From Large 42 to Smaller Than Infant's Size

The following story is told of a certain young lady of this vicinity, who having the interests of the soldiers at heart, and wishing to "do her bit," decided that her best effort would be to make something for them to wear. Accordingly she invested in yarn and knitting needles and the result was a pair of socks which she carefully crated, and after inclosing her name and address, together with the information that the work was done with her own hands, shipped the package to Camp Custer. In due time she received the following acknowledgment:

"Socks received, but they do not fit.

"I used one for a cap and one for a mit.

"It was kind of you, I must admit,

"But where in H——l did you learn to knit?"

HURT WHEN BUGGY WAS OVERTURNED

Mrs. Wm. A. Cook Victim of Serious Accident Monday Night

A serious accident happened Monday night at about 7:30, when Mrs. William A. Cook, who lives near Barnard, fell from the buggy in which she was driving to the Barnard church to attend the reception which was to be held for the new minister that night, and sustained concussion of the brain.

Owing to the extreme darkness, she accidentally turned out of the road and up a steep bank, which caused her to fall from the buggy and strike her head a severe blow on the hard ground.

She was picked up unconscious and carried to her home and medical assistance summoned. After a considerable time she regained consciousness but was badly dazed for some time. At last reports she is resting easily and unless unforseen complications arise, she will doubtless make a speedy recovery.

PAY YOUR SUBSCRIPTION

During the last two weeks of August the Courier management sent statements to all persons owing subscription accounts. Many have responded to these, but there still remains hundreds of dollars that is due us and should be paid. We are making a direct appeal to you to settle your indebtedness to us. In these days of high prices we must insist on subscriptions being paid promptly when due and as much as possible in advance. Look at the label on your paper. If it reads Sept. 16 you owe for one year. If it reads any date prior to Sept. 17, you are indebted to us for every month prior to Sept. 17, and it is your duty to settle it. It is no pleasure to us to be compelled to continually call your attention to arrearages, but as stated above, it takes a lot of money to do business and we need every dollar due us. Hence we insist on a settle-

People living in the vicinity of Ellsworth can pay their subscription to Mr. Townsend at the Citizens bank. Proper credit and receipt will be given by him.

CORRESPONDENCE

WILDWOOD.

John Crawford lost a fine calf last week.

Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Lehman were Sunday visitors at the Stevens farm.

Miss Alice Hale of Charlevoix, is visiting her sister, Mrs. Chas. Cornell and family.

Mrs. Cross has returned to her home in Central Lake after a week's stay with relatives here.

Miss Charlotte Stevens returned home from her trip east and looks fine since her recent illness.

Many from here attended the home coming at Central Lake last week, despite the inclement weather.

Mrs. Cross returned to her home in Central Lake last week after a week's stay with relatives here.

John Crawford sold a load of lambs to Mr. Odell at Central Lake, which he delivered on Monday of this week.

Word from the Wilson's in Detroit says that Emery arrived home safely and is at present employed where his father works, in the Peninsular Stove Works.

RANNEY DISTRICT

Most all farmers around here are filling silos.

Clarence Baker is digging potatoes for Frank Kizer.

Did you see the light in the school house window Monday night.

Miss Eunice Liskum spent the past week at home, it being vacation for her school.

Our school is having a week's vacation so the children can help dig potatoes.

Many farmers have their beans pulled, but are having very poor weather to cure them.

WRIGHT DISTRICT

Most of the farmers are filling their silos or digging potatoes.

Road work was stopped last week on account of bean pulling, but they are it again this week.

Mrs. Melvin Smith and little son, Cloise, are at Boyne City this week visiting friends and relatives.

Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Smith of East Jordan spent last week at the home of their daughter, Mrs. Isa Alward.

C. E. Bearss was called to speak at the Antrim City school house Monday evening, but as it was not generally advertised no meeting could be held.

Mrs. Isa Alward took her son, Charles to Charlevoix one day last week to consult Dr. Armstrong about his eye which was injured about a month ago. She was told that the sight could not be restored.

About 25 were present at the patriotic program which was held at the schoolhouse Monday evening. All enjoyed the short program by the school, which was followed by a very interesting talk on "Patriotism and the Liberty Bond," delivered by Rev. Eldred of Central Lake.

COUNTY LINE NOTES

Frank Walker has purchased a horse of F. H. Skow.

The threshing machine is on its way into this neighborhood.

Dale Parks attended Hershel Fales sale and bought a new buggy.

H. J. Walker and family took dinner with Frank Walker Sunday.

Elmer Walker has purchased a new bicycle of John Hodgkens, Jr.

FAIRVIEW-BANKS

All kinds of weather this week.

Mr. Scholten of Ellsworth is working for H. J. Timmer this week.

John Timmer, Sr., left for an extended visit with his children in Zeeland, Michigan.

Messrs. Oosterbaan and Seneker are hauling sweet corn to Central Lake this week.

Fred O'Dell of Central Lake was in the neighborhood Saturday buying young stock.

Farmers are busy digging potatoes—a good crop this year and a fair price—$1 a bushel.

John Timmer, Jr., is working for Oscar DeGroot this week, digging potatoes at 10c a bushel.

Rev. T. VanLoo of Vogel Center, occupied the pulpit of the Christian Reformed church last Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Klomp, of Reeman, Michigan, who have been visiting with their children, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Boes, returned home last Friday.

Quite a number from our neighborhood attended the sale of H. Fales last week and reported, as usual, a good crowd, good lunch and high prices.

A Good Roads meeting was held at the Mitchell school house, Friday evening, with D. Patterson as chairman and H. J. Timmer, secretary. Among those present were our supervisor, clerk and commissioner of Banks township. It was decided to make a new road in the S. W. 1-4 of the S. E. 1-4 of Sec. 27, as it is quite impossible in the winter on account of the amount of snow to use the road we have at present. A talk of 15 minutes was given by the chairman about "cement roads," and a lively discussion followed. Another meeting will be called in the near future which we think is a very good plan to get our farmers interested in the good roads problem.

POPULAR YOUNG PEOPLE UNITED IN MARRIAGE

News of Wedding Comes as Surprise to Their Many Friends

Cards are out announcing the marriage on September 29, 1917, of Mr. Duncan Crawford and Miss Mina Stewart, at Marquette, Mich.

The news comes as a surprise to their many relatives and friends who in return extend to them their best wishes for a happy voyage down the stream of life.

They had not intended being married at such an early date, but on account of Mr. Crawford being drawn in the selective draft, they thought best to have the ceremony before his orders to report at Battle Creek came.

They are among the best known and most appreciated young people of Charlevoix and Antrim counties. Miss Stewart will be remembered as one of our best teachers and a lady of fine character and refinement. Mr. Crawford was a former member of Co. I, M. N. G., saw service on the Mexican border, was in the employ of the Everett B. Clark Seed Co., in East Jordan for several years, thus making no further introduction of either party necessary.

Mrs. Crawford will teach the remainder of the school year at Crystal Falls, while Mr. Crawford will await his call to the colors, it being impossible to make any further plans until his discharge from the army.

ATWOOD

Herman Pol butchered two hogs last week.

John Faber and Robert Blow are busy harvesting their crops on the J. T. Odbert farm.

Miss Jennie Petter has been on the sick list the past few weeks. She is on the gain at this writing.

Miss Maggie VanHouten from Grand Rapids is visiting at the home of her mother, Mrs. K. VanHouten.

Benj. Boes of Horrenga & Boes, creamery operators at Ellsworth, was in Atwood selling oilmeal Monday.

A. Bos & Son have purchased a quantity of baled straw from Judge Harris of Ellsworth.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Bos from Chicago, Ill., are spending a few weeks at the home of their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Adrian Bos.

Mrs. Wm. Wolner, who has been visiting her mother, Mrs. J. T. Odbert for a few weeks, left for her home last Saturday.

Mike Welsh, who was employed by J. H. Smith on his farm here this summer, moved to Norwood and is employed there at present.

Mr. and Mrs. Ed. Klooster, of Charlevoix, stopped at the home of their parents enroute from Central Lake to Charlevoix, one evening last week.

Mr. and Mrs. Ralph A. VanderHeide returned from their auto trip to Southern Michigan last week. Their nephew, Henry Berens, returned with them, but leaves again this week Friday.

Atwood is back again. Has it been away? No, but the people have lived in Traverse City, East Jordan, Bellaire and Central Lake for a few weeks. Weren't enought left to make a little news.

Mr. and Mrs. A. Bos have received word that their son, Simon, had enlisted in a corps of engineers a short time ago. He is now stationed nt Camp Grant, Rockford, Ill. He is with Co. C, 21st regiment of engineers.

In order to have a collision or wreck it is not at all necessary to own a Ford. Andrew Essenberg was driving through Atwood Sunday evening when two youngsters driving a horse and buggy ran into his buggy doing considerable damage.

Someone must have been rather hard up for apples and knew what kind to take too. They stole a bushel of hand picked snow apples of one of the Atwood folks the other night. He says his shotgun is in pretty good shape and expects to try it out one of these fine nights.

Last Saturday morning people in the neighborhood of the sand grade south of Atwood were surprised to see a Ford on its side in the ditch. It had been abandoned by Joseph Hofman the night before. He was coming down the grade when his lights went out and before he knew or thought of it, was in the ditch. The fact that the top was up saved them from injury.

ROCK ELM

Friday was observed as Columbus Day by the school.

Ed. Metz finished silo filling Saturday, the work having been hindered by the rains.

Jesse Lawton buzzed wood for Mr. Hyatt Monday, and expects soon to cut for Mr. Jenson.

Mrs. Grace Stephenson recently gave a farewell party for Ed. Metz, who expects to be called to the colors soon.

Everybody Agrees With Us New Idea Spreader Is Best

Since we began telling in the public press about the New Idea Manure Spreader, our store has been a central point of interest with farmers for miles around.

And to a man, they all agree that the "New Idea" is the most practical spreader they ever saw. Even men who have used other spreaders for years, quickly concede the superiority of the "New Idea."

Now, this is very gratifying to us because we took the New Idea Agency only after personal investigation, and this unanimity of approval confirms our good judgment. There isn't a doubt that the

NEW IDEA Registered U.S. Pat. Off.

Manure Spreader

will handle manure—fresh or stored—easily, economically and efficiently. A chain conveyor carries the manure to two cylinders, revolving one over the other, where it is thoroughly fined and pulverized. Then, swiftly revolving steel paddles distribute this fine manure over a strip wider than the wheel base of the machine itself—actually across three corn rows. The "New Idea" will spread 3, 6, 9, 12, 15, 18 loads per acre according as the feed lever is set and do it evenly. It is built low; mounted on wide tire wheels, and strong enough from kingbolt to drive wheels to stand steady hard service for a lifetime. Never clogs nor strains a team unduly.

First Wide-Spreading Spreader Ever Built

Leads now as it did when first invented 17 years ago. Called "New Idea" because wide-spreading was a new idea at the time.

We've An Interesting Book To Give You

"Helping Mother Nature." This book is valuable. Tells fertility facts you never dreamed of. Gives suggestions about the care and use of manure that it will pay you to follow out. Don't miss your copy—ask when you come in—it's waiting.

ARRIVED SAFE ON FRENCH SOIL

MOST WELCOME NEWS FROM DEAN C. SCROGGIE

Ate and Slept With Life Belts on While in Dangar Zone—Hard at Work

News of the safe arrival of Dean C. Scroggie, a member of the American Expeditionary Force which sailed from some Atlantic port for France during the last week of August, was received by his parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. Scroggie, a few days ago. The trip was made without mishap, thanks to the wonderful patrol system now used in connection with all transports crossing the Atlantic.

The following letter described the trip in detail and tells of the many experiences of the writer, both on the trip and upon his arrival on foreign soil:

"When we started on board of ship, we were held two weeks in sight of land.

"September 4.—Still at anchor. No doubt we will be here for some time.

"September 12.—Still at sea. We attended church on board ship today. They say we will be here two more days, then we will reach England. Gee, it will be great to get ones feet on solid earth again, still the trip has been fine; just now we are in the war zone. Everyone is compelled to wear his life belt all the time, even to meals. We sleep in our clothes, so you see all precautions are taken. Still, don't let it cause a thought of worry. England is with the United States and they can keep the coast fairly clear. We will go in training in England most likely.

We rested in camp there* * * * Have crossed English channel and have arrived in France. Everything is going fine—could not wish for better. The country is fine. Do not worry as I am well and happy. Cannot give any dates as all letters are censored. The English people were fine and wanted to help us. Saw some fine country and sights. Am beginning to see real signs of war. Do not worry about me, for I am enjoying every bit of it.

"September 22.—You cannot imagine the joy, when the postman arrived yesterday and I received 13 letters. They were the first since we left the States. I laid off work and read them. I was surprised that you had not heard from me. Mother, I like Franco very much. They are fine people. We had the good fortune of journeying through a part of the country where no American had ever been before. Gee, they met us at the train with coffee, milk, sweet cider and cigarettes. Everywhere they wanted to do something for us. You would be surprised to know that the climate and country resembles Michigan. One sees some fine old buildings, churches and monuments.

"Mother, you will have to do most of the writing, as mine will be slow in coming as we travel a great deal. The eats are fine and we make our own beds.

"With love to everyone in Charlevoix."

UNCLE SAM WANTS INCREASE IN HELP

Needs 10,000 Stenographers and Typewriters at Once

Now that Uncle Sam has the young men of the country in training for military service, he finds that he needs 10,000 typewriter operators and stenographers and typewriters, both men and women, for the Departments at Washington. The Civil Service Commission has notified all of its 3,000 boards of examiners that they should put forth their best efforts to secure these urgently needed workers.

While examinations are now held weekly in 450 cities, the commission states that arrangements will be made to have an examination held at any accessible place where a small class of applicants can be secured. The entrance salaries range from $1,000 to $1,200 a year. Promotion is reasonably rapid to those whose services prove satisfactory. No appointments can be made to these or other positions in the Federal classified civil service unless authorized by the Civil Service Commission under the civil service law. Any information to the contrary is unauthorized. This is a splendid opportunity to serve your country.

Full information may be secured from the secretary of the board of civil service examiners at the post office in your city.

POEM WRITTEN BY MRS. A. CHAMBERLAIN

Read at Reception in Her Honor at Rebekah Lodge

To show her appreciation for honors bestowed upon her at an afternoon entertainment, Mrs. A. Chamberlain, said to be the oldest Rebekah in the county, read the following poem. The occasion took place in the I. O. O. F. hall, and was thoroughly enjoyed by all present:

THE DEAR OLD TIMES

The oldest Rebekah is with us today,
She's not very sad, nor yet very gay,
And nothwithstanding her years, eighty five,
She is still very well and muchly alive;
And as she looks on the years that have fled,
And thinks of some things that people have said,
Of the old world growing wiser and better each day,
As the old time things seem fading away,
She cannot agree with their sentiment quite,
For the old time ways are dear to her sight.
'Tis true, great inventions have made mighty springs,
And we wonder and wonder at the wonderful things,
But the wonderful things are a curse to the world,
And in her poor old face by vengeance they're hurled;
Some darkens the sky above her old head,
Some tears up her surface, and scatters the dead.
There are more things we could bring right along,
That curses the earth because they're used wrong,
So man is to blame for the cruel abuse,
Of the wonderful things that might be of use.
The far away times, we very well know,
Compared with these times were simple and slow,
The cycle, the cradle, the scythe and the rake,
Were the tools they used the harvest to make.
The triangle drag and one furrow plow,
A few simple things, so different from now,
Were the farm implements that were used then.
True, it was harder for the hard-working men,
Then riding to mow, to rake and to plow,
As the farmers manage their farming work now.
But as they went on from day unto day,
Contented and happy in the old way,
Having a cozy log house for a home,
Knowing not of the present hurry to come,
And caring not for the high price of coal,
For they had wood plenty in log and in pole.
They knew naught of the modern terrible push,
And naught of the speeders foolhardy rush,
Who so oft to eternity he sends,
So many he values as personal friends.
And so I, the aged Rebekah, can say,
I think the world's condition is worse today,
Than in the dear old days of long ago;
When things were more simple and people more slow,
Yes, the world's condition is worse I say,
Than I knew it to be in my early day.

WAR TO END IN FEBRUARY

DATE SET FOR THE KAISER'S FINISH

Dopastar Says 666 Is His Number and Draws His Conclusions From Chapters in Bible

The Kaiser will see hie finieh in February, 1918, if the dope figured out and printed helow proves true. If not, we hope he will get what is coming to him, either at a prior data or some other time in the near future—and the sooner the hetter for all concerned. The following article was sent to the Courier hy an out-of-town reader with a request to puhlieh it. It was taken from the Jackson Sun-Patriot, issue of Septemher 23. Tha articlo follows with senders comment:

"I have never been much of a heliever in astrology, necromancy, 'spirits that peek and mutter,' and auch like, hut recently I came across aomething so curious and uncanny I thought your readers might like to aee it, teo. Ilere it is:

Did you know the Kaiser's number ia 6?

The Kaiser ia the man who started tho war; Serhia ie ths country where the war atarted. There are aix letters in each of these words, and if written together and divided in halves alao apell Kaiser and Serhia:

K a i—s e r
S e r—h i a

The greatest man in France is Joffre, commander at the Marne.

Apply the same aa ahove, we have:

J o f—f r e
F r e—n c h

Germany claims to he the most cultured nation in the world, and thia superculture is called Kultur. Turkey has the least culture.

Apply the rule:

K u l—t u r
T u r—k e y

And now for the Kaiser'a numher. If the word Kaiser ia written with each letter followed by the numher of its place in the alphahet and after tbese is placed the significant number 6, we have

K—116
A— 16
I— 96
S—196
R—186

666—The Kaiser's numhar.

Six times aix is 36, plus 6 equals 42 months.

Also notc that when the Kaiser atarted the war he was 55 years and 6 months old—666 months—which again fixes the Kaiser's numher. Having eatahlished thia fact, you will be interested in reading from the 13th chapter of Revelation, the 4th, 5th, and 18th verses:

4th—"And they worshipped the dragon which gave power unto the beast, and they worshipped the heast saying, 'who is ahle to make war with him?"

5th—"And there was given unto him a mouth speaking great things and blaephemies, and power was given unto him to continue forty and two months."

18th—"Here is wisdom. Let him that hath understanding count the numher of the heast, for it is the numher of a man, and his number is six hundred tbree score and six."

The war started in 1914, plus 42 months hrings you up to February, 1918.

CHARLEVOIX BOYS AT FORT SHERIDAN

Sat Good Example for tha Folks Back at Homa

Rollia L. Lewis, Frederick V. Tyler and Dan W. Mather, of this city, now in training at the officers camp at Fort Sheridan, are not only going to do their bit in the trenches fighting tha Huns, hut they are setting a good example for the folks hack heme in purchaeing the Liherty Bends.

The Liberty Loan driva has heen on in every brsnch of the service for two weeks and to date several millions of dollars in subscriptione hava been handled by the soldiers. It is plainly to he seen that tha local boys have home at heart in sending in their suhscriptions to the local hank that Charlevoix may gat the credit.

File your subscription for your bond during tha present week as it is impossihle to see all who ought to subecriho to thia loan. The secrifice you make is trifling compared with tha sacrifices made hy the boys who go on the firing line.

HOUSE FILLED TO CAPACITY

HUNDREDS ATTEND PATRIOTIC MASS MEETING

Wounded "Sammy" Tells of Experiences in Trenches and While in Hands of Germans

Tho results of ths patriotic mass meeting at the Charlevoix Theatrs Tuesday avening was very gratifying to those who have had the Liherty Loan campaign in charge. The opera housc was filled to capacity, it heing almost impossihle to ohtain even atanding room.

The meeting was opened hy a prayer hy Rev. C. E. Taggart, who was followed hy R. W. Kane, county chairman of the Liherty Loan committea, who hriefly stated the object of the meeting. This was followed hy a timely solo by the Carey sisters, who received an ovation from the vast audience nnd respended with a beautiful eelection, very appropriate fer the occasion.

The chairman then introduced the main speaker of the evening, Sergt. A. Gihbons, of the 3rd Canadian Battalion, Toronto regiment, who is home on a furiough, after eerving many monthe in the trenches, fighting under the Union Jack.

Mr. Gihhons told many of his porsonal experienees, and described in vivid word pictures eome of the hattles in which he waa engaged. He dwelled on the awfulness of the first few monthe of the war, and the hardships endured by the soldiers until the newer methods of present-day warfare were worked out to the advantage of the allied troops. He also told of his experiences while wounded and a German prisoner and of the manner in which his exchange was made.

His apeech was one of great interest to these hearing him, hecause it brought tho war nearer to us than it has appeared at any time, and atirred the audience to deeper patriotism than has heen displayed in Charlevoix since the war began. His earneetness of speech and manner convinced the audience that everything possihle shonld he done to hring the war to an early termination.

J. L. Crane then spoke, representing the Charlsvoix Board of Commerce, and urged his fellow citizens to dig deep in their pockets in the purchasa of Liherty Bonds.

A. D. Crimmins spoke on the hond issue from tho hankers standpoint, stating that no hetter secnrity was ever offered to the people of America.

Aa a result of the splendid discussions and interest shown, more interest has heen manifeeted in the purchasing of honds, and it is hoped by the end of the week Charlevoix's qaota will he disposed of.

HOME TEAM LOSES GAME

DEFEATED BY BOYNE CITY H. S. SATURDAY

Visitors Carry Off Honors by Accident and Were Outplayed During Entire Game

It has been well said that "accidents will happen." One of the greatest accidents that Boyne City ever had, occured on Saturday when they defeated C. H. S. on the home grounds 20-19.

The game opened conspicuously when Boyne kicked to Charlevoix, and hy end runs the hall was forced over for a touchdown within three minutes of play, Cartier making the score and O'Neill making the goal. Scoro 7-0.

Boyne City in her turn scored a touchdown and made the geal. Score 7-7. On the nsxt kick-off the homo team made their way to the twenty yard line, where hy a neatly executed forward pass, Driggett, our star end, carried tho ball over for a touchdown. No goal. Score 13-7. Boyne City hy good luck again scored and made another goal making the score 13-14.

In the second quarter the heme team again scored, Hampton taking the ball over on an end run. The goal kick again was unsuccessful, and the score was 19-14 in favor of Charlevoix.

Boyne was held for downs and Cartier intercepted a forward pass and carried it hack to the 20-yard line. As he was tackled the half ended and thus Boyne was saved hy time.

In the third quarter Boyne scored on a fluke play. They fumhled the hall and the Charlevoix man tried to pick it up, hut the renowned "Rasty" dova under him and fell on the ball over the goal line, making n touchdown, but no goal was made. Scors 20-19 favor of Boyne.

From then on the hall was in possession of our team until just hafore the whistle blew.

Driggett at end, Supernaw at guard, Cartier at quarter were the etars of the game, O'Neill doing stellar work in tackling.

Shippers should do all possihle to lead car as soon as possihle and get it moving. This also appliee to inhound loada, which ahould he unloaded promptly, coal cars are very scarce and it is the desire of the railway company to keep them moving as fast as possihla in order to get coal meving.

TRAVERSE POWER PLANT BURNED

CITY IS NOW ALMOST IN DARKNESS

Loss of $50,000 Sustained Saturday When Explosion Sets Building Afira

Fifty thousand dollar loss waa sustained, Traverse City is practically without power and one man, John Johnson, is near death, the result of a fire Saturday that destroyed ths upper power house of the Boardman River Electric Light and Power company there. It was the secon catastrophe this concern hae suffered in three weeks, the lower dam and spillway having heen destroyed either by high water or dynamite hut a ehort time ago with a loss of $75,000.

The fire started when a hothox on the dynamo exploded. It is helieved to have thrown luhricating oil ahout, thus apreading the fire. John Johneon was the night operator and was hsdly hurned hefore he could get to a place of safety.

So rapidly did the flames spread that soon the hig power plant was a heap of smoldering ruins.

CITY TAKES OVER THE ROCK PRODUCT PLANT

Will Manufacture Own Juice for Indefinite Period

Another knot in the untangling of the city electric light and current prohlem was solved at Monday evening's session of the common council hy the city taking over the Reck Product Co.'s plant, which they will operata for an indefinite peried of time, or prohahly until Mr. Ahhott, with whom the city entered into contract with some weeke ago, is ahle to penetrate the many perplexing prohlems confronting him in taking over the Richardi holdings at Belliaire.

The city will operate the plant on a 10 per cent hasie on cost of operation, thus taking complete charge of the plant and assuming all responsihilities of producing current, fuel, etc. The date of the transfer was set for Octoher 15. The present crew of the compsny's plant will prohahly he retained to co-operate with the superintendent of electric lights and water and other city emploves.

CO. I BACK IN TEXAS AGAIN

33RD REGIMENT LEFT DETROIT OCTOBER 10

Company Received Royal Send-off Upon Leaving for South—Changes in Company

(By Harold W. Usher)

"The Thirty-third regiment left Michigan for tha second time, Wednesday, Octoher 10. Ths destination this time was Camp McArthur, Waco, Texas. For the last three months Company I, has heen stationed at Fort Wayne with headquarters, and these two nnits entrained together.

"The fort was turned over to Company F, of the Forty-first U. S. Infantry from Fort Snelliag, Minesota, the morning of tho tenth, and we were ready to leave hy noon. The usual hustle and hurry was again gone through, and we did not leave Detroit until 6:30 p. m.

"We received a royal aend off from the people of Detroit, a large crowd of friends and relatives heing at the cars to see us off. The sight of women crying took us hack again to the day we left East Jordan for service on the Mexican horder over a year ago.

"The hardest work of all waa leaving Detroit. Our treatment there has been of the very best and the regiment made a host of friends. The route eelected for us was the Cotton Belt, which was not nearly as good as the one we took south last year. We passed through Chicago and St. Lonis, which were tho only towns of any importance ws saw. On the way down the trip was mostly through the farming districts of Missouri and Arkansaa.

"We arrived in Waco on the morning of the fourteenth and found ourselves in confusion. Instead of now being the Thirty-third Michigan, we are the One Hundred and Twenty-fifth Infantry, U. S. N. G., and we were changed from Company I, to Headquarters company, with Captain Winters in command. This in itself was a graat change to Company I as well aa to Captain Wintars, who is now the leading captain of the regiment.

"Everything here in Camp MacArthur is in a hustle and hurry, and so far we have found no time to explore the camp or visit Waco, which is ahout four and one-half miles from camp. From what we have seen thus far, it is a fine camp and conditions are hetter here hy far than on the horder. We have sanitary kitchene, showers and electric lights, and will huild wooden quarters as eoon aa we get organized.

There are other Charlevoix hoys here with the One Hundred and Twenty-sixth infantry. Forrest McGeagh, Clare Nowland and Harry Noble, so Charlevoix is pretty well representad in Waco.

"Will look the place over and tell yeu about it next week."

DICKENS' CLUB ENTERTAINS

COME ACROSS

BY EZRA WOOD

"Can you lend me fifty dollars?" says my Uncle Sam to me,
"Well, Uncle, I don't know," I says, "I'll have to go and see."
"You'll have tn gn and sea?" he says, sarcastical and dry.
And I didn't feel too cheerful when I looked him in the eye.

"Now, son, you listen here," he says, "I'll give it to you straight
I know,—you're in a hurry. Better let the hurry wait.
"There's things I'm goin' to tell you,—or to try to anyhow.
If you never done much thinkin', you bettar dn some now.

"I brought you up in freedom. I allowed you'd have the run
Of the fairest, finest country that sver gat the sun.
I gave you school and readin' as much as you could learn,
And never asked an hour of your service in return.

"You had it soft and easy; you didn't have to fight;
And you looked on peece and plenty as if they was yaur rigbt.
"I took a chance to raise you, I said, 'he won't forget.
Some day he'll do ma credit.' And this is what I get.

"I ask a little favor that you cnn do for me,—
So small I hate to ask it,—and, You've got to go and see!
I've strove with men aud angels for the honor of our name,—
Tn make it stand for something', and keep it clean of shame.

"I alwaya planned to give you a country and a flag
You could call as good as nny and you wouldn't have to brag.
"If you figure so to keep them, I only know one plan
That'll stand all kinde of acids, and that's to be a man.

"So you better think it over and show what you can do:
I can use about a billion. So long. It's up to you."
Now I guess, unless I'm willing to be charged up as a loss
And thrown into the discard, I'll have to come across.

Everyone Should Drink Hot Water in the Morning

Wash away all the stomach, liver, and bowel poisons before breakfast.

To feel your best day in and day out, to feel clean inside; no sour bile to coat your tongue and sicken your breath or dull your head; no constipation, biliuus attacks, sick headache, colds, rheumatism or gassy, acid stomach, you must bathe on the inside like you bathe outside. This is vastly more important, because the skin pores do not absorb impurities into the blood, while the bowel pores do, says a well-known physician.

To keep these poisons and toxins well flushed from the stomach, liver, kidneys and bowels, drink before breakfast each day, a glass of hot water with a teaspoonful of limestone phosphate in it. This will cleanse, purify and freshen the entire alimentary tract, before putting more food into the stomach.

Get a quarter pound of limestone phosphate from your pharmacist. It is inexpensive and almost tasteless, except a sourish twinge which is not unpleasant. Drink phosphated hot water every morning to rid your system of these vile poisons and toxins; also to prevent their formation.

To feel like young folks feel; like you felt before your blood, nerves and muscles became saturated with an accumulation of body poisons, begin this treatment and above all, keep it up! As soap and hot water act on the skin, cleansing, sweetening and purifying, so limestone phosphate and hot water before breakfast, act on the stomach, liver, kidneys and bowels.

IRONTON

Commissioner May L. Stewart visited school last Friday.

Opal Lewis had the misfortune to fall, cutting her lip and bruising her face quite badly.

The primary pupils are studying Indian life, each grade taking up the work in a different way.

Conrad Voelker has put a cement floor in the basement of his barn and Vilan Kahler has put up a new silo and a cement floor in the basement of his barn.

R. Newman of Petoskey put a self supporting concrete floor in the garage over the potato cellar and other pieces of cement work about the farm for Wallace Bros., last week.

The home of Mr. and Mrs. D. Van Camp was burned Saturday forenoon. The fire started from the chimney and the house was so far gone when help got there that only a very few pieces of furniture was saved. Partially covered by insurance.

The Ladies of Bay Shore and vicinity are doing what they can to help with the Red Cross knitting for Emmet county, and several sweaters and pairs of socks as well as wristlets and scarfs are being knit, The work here is in charge of Mrs. E. R. Sly. Would be glad to have more help with the knitting.

Singer Bros. had the misfortune to lose 10 out of the herd of 18 young cattle they were raising. The veterinarians her pronounced it poisoning from eating poison plants in the pasture, but when the state veterinarian, Dr. Dumply was called he said it was hemorraghic septicemia and the only help to save would be by inoculating with serum as it was caused by a germ in the ground from long standing pasture and has only been found in Michigan the past three years.

Boys, here's a chance to earn some money. We will pay you 10 cents each for X sacks and 15 cents for Argo sacks. Argo Milling Co. 42t2

HOPYARD

Our school is learning the song, "Canning the Kaiser."

The girls of Hopyard school are busy learning to crochet.

Most of the grades are busy learning that list of one thousand words.

Catherine Smith was absent from school one day last week on account of illness.

Alexander Winnick is staying home to help his father with the farm work.

Lester and Alta Fay have left our school and gone to their new home in Petoskey.

Clara, Peter and Robert Winnick were absent Monday of last week and this, to pull beans.

William Booth was absent from school Wednesday of last week to help fill silo for Mr. Bird.

We have new arithmetics and new geographies. We have a new supply of paper for the year.

The primary grades have little booklets for their copy work. They are doing some fine work in writing.

Last Saturday night some of Mrs. Moses Cooper's friends gave her a pleasant surprise to remind her of her birthday.

Mrs. Booth was pleasantly surprised last Saturday night, when some of her friends and neighbors came in to spend the evening with her, the occasion being her birthday.

If you like a good time come and spend the evening of November 2 with us and enjoy a box social. Bring your friends. The proceeds of the social go to purchase materiale for manual training and sewing for Hopyard school.

EVELINE

Will Walker has purchased a new car.

Nearly everyone have finished filling their silos in this vicinity.

Joseph Pettinger is seriously ill at the home of John Knudsen.

Frank Courier is working for the Charlevoix Hardware Co. at Charlevoix, this fall and winter.

We were sorry to hear of the auto accident on the good roads, but are glad to report that Mrs. Kemp is feeling quite well again and the others as well.

Mrs. Peter Knudsen is visiting with relatives and friends in Muskegon, Manistee and Milwaukee.

The Cooper boys are attending high school at Charlevoix, making daily trips in their new Ford.

Everyone who attended the plowing match enjoyed themselves. Plowing matches are always interesting.

Miss Emily Meggison visited at the home of Will Meggison last Sunday. She teaches in the Star district in East Eveline.

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Peterson and daughter have returned to their home in Nebraska, after a two weeks visit with their aunt, Mrs. Karen Lyngklip.

COMB SAGE TEA IN HAIR TO DARKEN IT

It's Grandmother's Recipe to keep her Locks Dark, Glossy, Beautiful.

The old-time mixture of Sage Tea and Sulphur for darkening gray, streaked and faded hair is grandmother's recipe, and folks are again using it to keep their hair a good, even color, which is quite sensible, as we are living in an age when a youthful appearance is of the greatest advantage.

Nowadays, though, we don't have the troublesome task of gathering the sage and the musay mixing at home. All drug stores sell the ready-to-use product, improved by the addition of other ingredients, called "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound" for about 50 cents a bottle. It is very popular because nobody can discover it has been applied. Simply moisten your comb or a soft brush with it and draw this through your hair, taking one small strand at a time; by morning the gray hair disappears, but what delights the ladies with Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound, is that, besides beautifully darkening the hair after a few applications, it also produces that soft lustre and appearance of abundance which is so attractive. This ready-to-use preparation is a delightful toilet requisite for those who desire a more youthful appearance. It is not intended for the cure, mitigation or prevention of disease.

NORTH NORWOOD

Harry Webster filled a silo for Joe Sprik Tuesday.

Mrs. Hutchins of Chicago is visiting her sister, Mrs. Henry Supernaw.

Mr. Ginerich and family called on Mr. Jones and family Sunday afternoon.

Robert Santose and wife and child expect to leave for their home in Detroit this week.

Miss Lila Lohr is assisting Mrs. Will Hoffman of Atwood with her housework this week.

Mr. and Mrs. A. Lohr and daughter, Vera, called on Mr. and Mrs. Jos Sprik Sunday evening.

John Runyan got a serious shaking up one day last week. As he was coming home from Charlevoix a part of the harness broke, frightening the horse which ran away, breaking the buggy and throwing Mr. Runyan out. At this writing he feels better, but does not care to repeat the experience.

BARNARD NOTES

Robert Beattie of Howell arrived Friday on a short visit to relatives and business trip combined.

Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Ives of Charlevoix, spent Sunday at the home of his mother, Mrs. Clarisa Townsend.

Miss Georgia Seroggie, who is teaching at North Bay this year, visited with friends in this neighborhood during the latter part of last week.

The Misses Klusak and Orville Hilton and Frank Hartwell, of Inwood, attended church, and visited at the home of John Walker and family, Sunday.

Mr. Ela Maltby and family and Miss Anna Truds motored over from Cheboygan on Sunday and visited with his sister, Mrs. Fred Swartout and family.

Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Dawson and Miss Grace Hoffman of Mancelona were visitors at the home of Mrs. James Block during the latter part of last week.

Large flocks of wild geese with a hundred or more in a flock were seen passing over Monday and Tuesday. Will the weather man tell us what it means?

Mrs. George Sands, of Charlevoix, has been spending the last few days at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Edmund Shapton, helping her mother while they are having silo fillers.

The quarterly conference of the churches on the Norwood circuit will be held at Norwood Thursday. There will be a morning and afternoon service and Rev. Drs. W. W. Diehl and J. K. Stewart and Dist. Supt. Meader will be present and address the meeting. Thursday evening they will hold services at Barnard. Friday morning the services will begin at Barnard at 10 o'clock and continue throughout the day. Drs. Diehl and Stewart are eloquent speakers and everybody will find it worth their while to turn out and hear them.

By special request we report the following as the true statement of the facts concerning Mrs. Wm. Cook's accident as far as either Mr. or Mrs. Cook can tell, as it all happened so suddenly and in such an odd manner. As everyone knows, Mr. Cook and family were driving to the church to attend the reception for the new minister, when as they were about to turn the corner in toward the church, John Hoffman started up his car to leave the church. The sudden flashing on of the lights blinded Mr. Cook so he could not see anything for a minute and the horses got off from the road. It was at this time that Mrs. Cook, without any sort of an outcry nor effort to save herself, fell out of the buggy from the back seat, where she had been sitting with little Archie. She does not remember anything about falling out and was unconscious from that time until 2 a. m. that night. As quickly as possible Mr. and Mrs. Cook were conveyed back to their home in Mr. Hoffman's car and Dr. Dunham of Charlevoix summoned, who arrived in 20 minutes. He made a thorough examination, but found no bones broken or other serious injuries. Mrs. Cook was unable to sit up much until after Friday, but is up and around again now, although she doesn't feel much like herself and one side is quite numb yet.

MOUNTAIN DISTRICT

UP TO THE FARMER

Upon the farmer of the United States lies the responsibility of the success or failure of the Second Liberty Loan. He can virtually make or break the government in the prosecution of this war.

When the first loan was floated the farmers were tied up handling their crops in which their money was invested. The banks and residents of the cities then carried the burden.

Crops are now harvested and the farmer is receiving untold wealth for the production from the soil. The biggest crops in the history of the nation have been reaped. More than 1,000,000,000 bushels more grain was raised during the past season than 1916, and the highest prices are being paid for it. Government reports show the biggest corn crop on record 77,000,000 bushels more oats than a year ago, and so on. Wheat, though short this year, is above last year, and $2 a bushel is the price.

The farmers have the money and they should invest their profits in these Liberty Bonds. The government has been lenient with them in granting exemptions from military service pending the harvesting of crops, and the least the farmer can do is to reciprocate by upholding the government. The way to do that is to buy bonds. The investment is the best in the world; better than any other the farmer can find for his surplus funds.

The responsibility is upon the farmer and he will not shirk it. When the campaign for this loan has been completed it will be found that the farmer has done his share.

NAVAL BATTLE CERTAIN

Though there seems to be no pressing desire on the part of the high command, either British or American, to go in to Kiel or any other German naval base and "dig the rats out," as Winston Churchill once phrased it, no one need worry lest the war end without a sensational naval engagement. The German fleet, built up through all these years at so much cost, will not be permitted to rest tied up at the docks without given a trial in battle. Just as Cervera was compelled to make his fateful dash out of Santiago harbor to his certain destruction in our war with Spain, so Von Tirpitz or some other Teutonic sea lord will be compelled to take his ships out of Wilhelmshaven and try titles with the English and the Americans. The latter races have been bred to the sea; the German sailor is a manufactured product. In addition to their natural advantages, the Allied fleets will have the superior weight of metal; and the result cannot be doubtful. How large a part the American ships will take in the great sea fight whenever it does take place no man can foretell. It may be that by reason of our distance the brunt of the battle will be taken by the English, and that, when the event is over, the United States will have the most powerful fleet afloat.

BEST OF SECURITY

For the benefit of those who have not invested in a Liberty Bond the United States government, through the treasury department, has issued a statement showing how these bonds meet all the essentials of a good investment:

1. Security of principal—the wealth of the whole nation is behind them.

2. Security of income—The interest is a part of the government's expense; should the government fail not even gold and silver would be of value.

3. Fair income return—4 per cent is a fair return on such security bonds are also convertible into others of higher rate, if issued.

4. Marketability—United States bonds are very active in open market.

5. Value as collateral—greatest of any security, having the credit of the United States back of them.

6. Tax exemption—exempt from all taxes up to $5,000, except estate or inheritance taxes.

7. Freedom from care—registered in the name of the holder and the government will send interest direct semi-annually.

8. Acceptable duration—Period of loan is considered an advantage—payable within lifetime of young person, and to heirs of an older person.

9. Acceptable denomination—issued in $50, $100, $500, $1,000 and multiples of $1,000.

10. Potential appreciation—in the past U. S. war bonds have increased in value after the end of the war, and there is every reason to believe these bonds will do likewise.

On the Flanders front the British evidently have the German "going."

CHARLEVOIX H. S. NOTES

A little nonsense now and then,
Is relished by the best of men.

During the prevailing quiet of Commercial Correspondence class a loud report was heard, and on looking around it was perceived that "Valley" Harsha had dropped her vanity case, containing those articles of feminine delicacy plus three cents. Miss Lombard aptly quoted: "Vanity, vanity, all is vanity."

In American History: "Who was Daniel Boone?"

Madge Kibbe: "A man who explored Virginia."

Mrs. Clapper: "Where are carbohydrates digested?"

Freshie: "In the diet."

Friday morning Dr. A. M. Wilkinson (Lieut. Wilkinson) talked to C. H. S. students on military training. He explained his work and the rigid discipline of army life. He also taught us the flag salute. Everyone enjoyed it, and was sorry when he finished.

A course in chemistry Nellie would take,
But now she is no more,
For what she thought was H2O,
Was H2SO4.

Mr. Catton talked to the C. H. S. twice on Monday and again Tuesday morning on "Causes of the Great World War." The lectures were very fine and we wish Mr. Catton could talk to us oftener. A good many of the townspeople also came to hear him.

The English IV class are making a very thorough study of Shakespeare's "Macbeth."

The Sophomores have shown wonderful talent along editorial lines. They are to have charge of this week's edition of the Sentinel and we are sure that the paper will be hailed with unusual enthusiasm. Next to the Seniors, we think the Sophs come first.

Fat Supernaw (after Boyne City game): "Say, Harold, am I a little pale?"

Harold Cartier: "No, you're a great big tub."

Sophs held a class meeting for the express purpose of learning how to carry motions.

At last after four years of waiting we have been rewarded with new seats in the Latin and German room. Miss Horst still waiting for a new desk. We hope she will have better luck than we did while waiting for seats. Pickles and Jack enjoy them very much.

C. H. S. has decided to do their bit and buy a $50 Liberty Bond. A committee has been appointed to receive the funds and every student is requested to bring his twenty-five cents immediately.

C. H. S. meets Petoskey High on our grounds next Saturday. Everyone come.

There will be a dance at the Bank Hall at 8:00 p. m., Saturday night, after the game with Petoskey.

Ger. II have finished the study of "Immensee."

The "Eternal Triangle" of the American History class look suspicious in their reserve front seats, as they are so far ahead of the rest of the class. Miss Kibbe, Mr. Butler and Mr. Weed form this triangle.

Do Your Share

And buy a Liberty Bond. It's the least you can do to help out your country in this hour of peril. You loan your money at 4 per cent interest and backed by the best security in the world.

RED CROSS

Knitters are needed. Women who can make socks and wristlets for our soldiers. We furnish the yarn and needles. Cannot you give a little of your time at home to help win this war. Rooms open Mondays, Wednesdays and Fridays in the afternoon.

Children, do your bit. Ask mother, the neighbors or anyone, for left over balls of yarn, any color, the brighter the better. Knit these into nine inch squares for convalescent lap robes. We will help you get these squares together and forward them to the sick soldiers who have fought for us. Form clubs and see how much you can accomplish. We also have the address of a nurse who will distribute letters written by school children, to men at the front who are in the hospitals and never get a word from anyone. Help someone, it will help you.

Gave Instructive Talk

G. R. Catton, president of the Benzonia academy, gave a very interesting and instructive talk to the students in the high school Monday morning, and again in the afternoon, on the subject of "Why we are at War." He also described a good many of the German traits, gave a history of their ancestors, etc.

Fine Samples of Apples

The Courier believes that M. J. Staley of Eveline township is entitled to brief mention concerning some of the fine apples he has produced on his farm this season. At the Otsego County Fair he received $12.50 in prizes on his exhibition, and he has many as fine sample as has ever been produced in the county.

PERFECT FITTING MUNSING WEAR UNION SUITS

FIT—perfect fit—do you know what it means in underwear—especially union suits?

We believe that Munsingwear union suits will give you a new idea of underwear fit.

The way they cover the form—without gaping at the seat—the manner in which they give and take with every twist of the body and every contraction of the muscles—without binding at the crotch—has been a surprise and delight to millions.

Munsingwear fit is one of the distinct features that explain the annual sales of over 10,000,000 Munsingwear garments—and the ever increasing demands from millions of satisfied users.

And the beauty of the Munsingwear fit is that it doesn't wash out.

The comfort of Munsingwear fit is further increased by softness of the elastic Munsingwear yarns, the smooth seams, the perfect crotch and perfectly balanced gore in the seat.

The prices of Munsingwear garments are very moderate—much less, perhaps, than you imagine for such fine quality. The range of fabrics, styles and weights is very wide. They are made for men, women and children.

There is a correct fitting Munsingwear garment for you in any style, weight or fabric desired. Ask us to show you.

A FEW WORDS FROM WILHELM

MAN WANTS BUT "LEEDLE" HERE BELOW

Subsequent Happenings Prove That "Leedle" Embraces tha Entire World and Then Same

Tha following was published by Wallace Irwin, July 7, 1905, and is now reproduced by Collier's, twelva years later. It is entitled, "A Few Words from Wilhelm."

Man vants put leedle hler palow
Und vants dot leedle Dutch—
Der viches vitch I vish, I know
Are nicht so ferry much:
Chust Europe, Asia, Africa,
Der Vestren Hemisphere
Und a coaling station in Japan—
Dot vill pe all dis year.
Hi-lee-hi-lo der vinds dey plow
Chust like Dia Wacht am Rhein;
Und what iss mein pelongs to me,
Und vot is yours iss mein!

Jah, also vhen I vloat aroundt
Mitln mein royal yacht
I see so much vot is not Dutch
Dot—ach du lieber, Gott!—
It gif me such a shtrange distress
I gannot understand
How folks gan lif in habbiness
Mit oudt no Vaterland.
Hi-lee-hi-lo der vinds dey plow
As I sail roundt apout,
To gif der nations goot advice
Und sausages und kraut.

Each hour I change mein uniform
Put I neifer shange mein mindt,
Und efrey day I make ein spooch
To penefit mankind.
Race susanclde, der nations pride
Divoree und Public Sins—
I talk so much like Roosenveldt
I dink ve must pe tvins.
Hi-lee-hi-lo, der vinds dey plow
Dex maxim, rule or bust—
You gannot wreck our syndicate
Ven Gott iss in der Trust.

Being in kvitt Noodral Power,
I know mein chob, you bet,
I bray for peace, und hope for war
Und keep mein powder vet
Put vcn I've nodding else to do
Put sthand aroundt und chat
Den dar Right Divine talks nonsense through Mein military hadt.
Hi-le-hi-lo, der vinds dey plow
Und softly visper dis:
Der Kaiser, he iss more as yet
Und all is right vat iss.

ALL MICHIGAN FOOD PLANTS IN DANGER

State Insurance Cammissioner Says Fire Bugs Are at Work

Owing to several recent fires in elevators and warehouses where foodstuffs are stored of apparent incendiary origin, Frank H. Ellsworth, state insurance commissioner and stato fire marshal sent to all fire chiefs in Michigan the following telegraphic warning:

"Every manufacturing industry and food storage plant in Michigan is in jeopardy from incendiary fire or explosion. The situation is critical. Warn local officials and property owners at once. Warn dealers in dynamite, gasoline or explosives to use extreme care in selling. The government holds me responsible for Michigan. I must have your full cooperation. Stay on the job night and day and thoroughly investigate every report and rumor."

It can be said with authority that at least one Michigan fire of recent date was caused by an incendiary bomb. The place is not made public due to investigations being conducted and arrests may follow.

"SAVE YOUR SEED CORN" IS WARNING

Should Not Be Allnwed Tn Stand in Field Says Secretary

More attention must be given to seed corn this fall if Michignn is to be assured of an adequate supply for planting next spring, according to Secretary A. M. Brown of the Michigan Agricultural college and the state board of agriculture.

"Many farmers don't appear to bo aware of the gravity of the seed corn situation," declared Mr. Brown, "but it is nevertheless true that as far as Michigan is concerned the condition is serious. Every ear with grain fit for planting must ba saved.

"The corn intended for seed should not be allowed to stand out in the field. Such practices may do in ordinary years, but this season every desirable ear should be plucked at onca and dried artificially if necessary. Tha sead corn supply should be cerefully conserved.

"This is especially important in the light of the fact that only Michigan corn will do well in Michigan. If seed is brought in from outside states it is more than likely to result in disappointment for tha purchaser."

The method recommended by M. A. C. agronomists for the drying of seed corn is this:

"Tha ears should be placed where they will receive frea ventilation. No two ears should be allowed to touch. The ears should ba strung on binder twine and hung from a rafter, or where large amounts of seed are to ba handled, special drying houses ara desirabla with numerous panels or windows which will give free circulation of air, or a stove to furnish artificial heat to hasten drying and prevent freezing."

CORRESPONDENCE

ANTRIM CITY

G. Stoel and family took Sunday dinner with Mr. and Mrs. W. Montgomary.

Friday morning there was quite a sheet of ice on the ponds and horse troughs. Makes us think of winter.

The squirrels are busy filling their storehouses with beach nuts. There are lots of them this year. That is a sign of a hard winter, so old folks say.

Children sometimes sing "Look out the way for old Dan Tucker," but now we say "Look out the way for Harry Elzinga and his 'tin Lizzie.'"

A number of young people enjoyed a taffy pull at G. Stoel's last week. All seemed to have a fine time especially one young gent who had the misfortune to set in same, which was very amusing for the rest. Of course nobody laughed.

ROCK ELM

Mr. and Mrs. Jensen and Miss Julia were Sunday callers at the Metz home.

Mr. Hollinshead and family are digging their potatoes on Mr. Porter's farm and report a good yield.

The farmers about here are hurrying their potato and bean harvest as fast as weather conditions will permit.

Three large flocks of geese flew over this neighborhood Monday and Tuesday of this week reminding people that winter is on the way.

One evening last week as Mr. Flagg was returning from East Jordan, his wagon was struck by a car that was running without lights. He was thrown from the wagon and badly shaken up, but not seriously hurt. The horse also escaped without serious injury, but the wagon was badly broken.

Henry Robinson died at his home at 5:00 p. m., October 16. He had been in poor health for some time, yet his death came as a shock to the community, as but a few had realized that his condition was critical. The funeral services were held at his late residence, the large number of neighbors and friends who attended bearing witness to the esteem in which he was held. The pastor of the M. E. church of East Jordan officiated. He leaves a wife and one son to mourn their loss.

Good canvass gloves at practically the old price. A big stock, all sizes, and they will give you good service. See them at Benj. Brown's. 40tf.

ATWOOD

How about that "Liberty Bond?" Don't put off procuring it until too late. Buy it now!

Miss Maggie Petter has been home a few days from Grand Rapids. She left again Tuesday of this week.

Rollie Baumbach has been baling hay around here with his new power baler, operating it with his tractor.

Mr. and Mrs. A. B. Sneller and family and Miss Jennie Zylstra visited with relatives in Boyne City last week.

Herman Pol, E. VandeStreek and Harry Bos went to Norwood last Friday to get their colts from the Nash pasture.

Graddus Petter quit working for C. Sprik last week and is employed by M. Richardson and W. Hofman at present.

Miss Maggie VanHouten left for Grand Rapids Tuesday, where she is employed by the Globe Knitting Works.

Mr. and Mrs. H. Klooster, with two children, motored to Charlevoix Sunday and had dinner with Mr. and Mrs. Ed. Klooster of that place.

Egbert Wynsma was the last victim of a buggy accident. He tipped over in a ditch Sunday evening, damaging his buggy, but did not get hurt himself.

John Faber is busy digging his potatoes. He has Louis Marcus working for him at present and is hoping the government defers the call he is expecting until he has his crops harvested.

Mr. and Mrs. Louis Marcus have moved from Mapleville to the home of Jake VanUnen, where they will remain until the house is vacated on the place which they bought of H. Klooster.

The young folks gave a party last Friday evening in honor of the boys who expect to be called for service soon. Needless to say a good time was enjoyed by all and all who were present are wishing for some more to be drafted.

Good canvass gloves at practically the old price. A big stock, all sizes, and they will give you good service. See them at Benj. Brown's. 40tf.

ESSEX

John Henaip killed a hog and beef last Thursday.

Mrs. Curtis called on Mrs. Tillotson last Monday.

Misses Ada and Helen Cooper drove to Charlevoix on a shopping trip Tuesday.

Mr. Dekkenga filled his silo this week. His was the last one to fill around here.

Mr. and Mrs. VanBeek and son, Gerrit, went to Charlevoix on business last Tuesday.

Beans are most all pulled now and several persons were hauling potatoes tha past week.

Georga Drentb has been unable to do much the past week on account of a large boil on his neck.

Mr. and Mrs. Peter Wielsnd and Emily and Beatrice spent Sunday visiting Joseph Wielsnd and family at East Jordan.

Ben DeVries took his family and the Dennis family to visit Mr. and Mrs. Robert Amberga at a camp east of Ellsworth Sunday.

Veal calves are worth almost as much as their mothers these days. Mr. Tillotson sold one last week that was five weeks old and weigbed 150 pounds for $27.00.

Mrs. George Dekkenga went to Petoskey Wednesday to have glasses fitted. Mr. Struik of Ellsworth took her in his new Overland car. It is sure nice to have friends with automobiles.

Miss Elizabeth Strehl of Mancelona spent Friday at Wieland's and called at the Tillotson home in the afternoon. She spent a few days of her potato digging vacation visiting friends at Ellsworth and returned to her home Saturday as her school starts Monday.

PHELPS

Frank Louiselle started to work for Frank Peebles last week.

School has closed for a two weeks bean and potato harvesting vacation.

Art Bradford of Eveline township, was a caller at the Francisco home Thursday.

Roy Mascho, of Jackson, is visiting his parents, P. A. Mascbo and family for a few days.

Mrs. Spear of Ithaca, Michigan, was a caller in this neighborhood a few days last week.

George Sutphin of Jackson, was a guest over Sunday at the home of H. L. Francisco and family.

Preaching services every Sunday evening at the church. Everyone is extended the hand of welcome.

Levi, the small son of H. L. Francisco, who has been seriously ill the past few weeks, is improving under the care of Dr. R. B. Armstrong.

The revival at the Phelps church closed last Sunday, night. Evangelists, Rev. P. F. Elliott and Struik will go to Ellsworth for a few days, leaving there Friday morning for another field.

The new warehouse under construction by Ralph Davis at Phelps is nearing completion, and from all appearances probably at least doubles the capacity of the former warehouse. The added floor space and storage facilities will enable Mr. Davis to handle practically all of the potato and bean acreage in this vicinity.

COMMUNICATIONS

Joliet, Ill., Oct. 18, 1917.

To my friends in Charlevoix County in general, and the supervisors in particular:

"I left Charlevoix the beautiful Saturday afternoon, October 13th. I made the run to Traverse City in three hours—the roads were exceedingly rough in many places. I spent the evening talking concrete roads with Mr. Frank Hamilton, vice-president of the Dixie Highway and with other members of the Association of Commerce.

"Everyone with whom I talked agreed that gravel roads were the poorest roads that we could possibly build because of the large amount of money it cost to keep them in repair. I could almost imagine I heard my own voice when one man said, 'every piece of road that we have built last year had to be repaired this year, and that the only thing for the Dixie Highway and West Michigan Pike was to build a concrete road 16 feet wide.'

"This trip has more than ever convinced me that we can not afford to build any more nine foot gravel roads at any price, because as I will state further on we can build concrete the same width for $8000 a mile. Our soil in many places where there are a half dozen or less farmers can almost all be kept in good order with very trifling expense, particularly if we drain them as they should be.

"Sunday morning we left Traverse City and drove to Ludington for dinner and in the afternoon left for Holland, where I met Mr. Austin Harrington, one of the road commissioners of Ottawa county. He had just finished two miles of concrete 16 foot wide at a cost of $12,000 per mile, and two miles of 9 foot concrete at $8,000 per mile. Surely this ought to set at rest all of the 'old women's' accounts of the roads costing $240,000, and I think it also ought to satisfy any man who wants a 9 foot road, that concrete at $8,000 per mile is the most economical road for us to build. Of course, I haven't my figures yet to tell exactly what our nine foot roads have cost us, but no matter what they cost we know that they have cost us so much more than they ought to have cost that the concrete ought to appeal to every one of us. Certainly it will set the tax payers thinking and Mr. Herrington has promised that he will come and verify this statement at a few of our meeting before the election.

"We have all learned a great deal this summer at our meetings by exchanging ideas. If we build concrete roads on all of our main roads it is going to give us a national reputation, and will induce many tourists to come to our county and spend a good long time with us, and it will also have the effect of inflating the value of not only our land, but of our city property also.

"Monday morning we left Holland and arrived at Joliet in time for supper. We had many miserable detours and I think probably it was the hardest days work that I ever put in in an automobile. This day's drive was also 200 miles. We must pay more attention in our county to directing people on detours. My experience warrants me in saying that a commissioner who fails to properly direct tourists where a detour is to be made, ought to be fined.

"Wednesday I went to Chicago to attend the meeting of the Association of Commerce. The first thing I did on my arrival was to run down an automobile. It knocked me silly and carried me about 40 feet, and when the policeman asked me if I was hurt I said 'no, how is the automobile?' He said it was alright and had gone on its way, but he had taken the number so that he could reach the owner at any time. I asked him 'why did you take his number?' He said to get him later on if we needed him. I said, 'nothing doing, I'm from Michigan.'

"My friends at the Association seemed pleased to meet me. Our old friend Bill Moss, the chairman, presided with his usual ability and good form. He wished to be remembered to all inquiring friends and I can assure you he is a booster for Charlevoix county, and told the people present that the drive around Pine Lake was one of the most beautiful drives that he had ever taken, and that the Belvedere hotel was one of the nicest places he ever stopped at. I hope that Mr. Foley will take off his hat when he reads this.

"I suppose all of you people up there are discussing the bonding question. The great trouble in this discussion is that it must be necessarily short, because when a county can get as much money for nothing as we will get, there really is nothing to be said against it.

"I hope to return to Charlevoix in about three weeks and to bring Mr. Harrington with me, who will tell us more about the West Michigan Development Bureau and concrete roads in Ottawa County.

Yours truly,
VAN PELT.

$523,355 SPENT BY WAR BOARD

MANY DEPENDENTS ARE SEEKING STATE CASH

Five Hundred Claims Are Made—Fewer Expected in Next Six Months

Since the declaration of war the state of Michigan has expended for military purposes through the war preparedness board a total of $523,355.43. While it is not likely that the expenditure during the next six months will equal this amount it is conservatively estimated that Michigan will be called upon to spend at least $1,000,000 per year and possibly more as the dependency claims continue to pile up.

When the war preparedness board decided that dependents of men taken in the draft army were eligible to state aid a flood of applications poured into the war office. During the last two weeks nearly 500 claims have been received. Although the amount paid for dependents relief to October 15 totaled only $16,724.25, it is apparent that more than twice this sum will be paid out each month in the future if all the claims now before the board receive favorable consideration.

The items of expense include: War preparedness board, $12,890.94; food preparedness committee, $40,720.37; state constabulary and permanent force state troops, $197,368.79; state naval brigade, $4,896.05; Michigan National Guard, $75, 219.64; military reservation at Grayling, $63,643.74; Michigan Home Guard division, $11,362.03; dependents' relief, $16,724.25; registration and draft boards, $4,843.52; Selfridge aviation camp road, $75,181.49; woman's war preparedness committee, $1,487.16; Camp Custer roads, $18,905.45; Camp Custer health division, $500: The state eventually will be reimbursed by the federal government for some of the expenditures.

MESSAGE THAT ALL SHOULD HEAR

RURAL PASTOR OF NATION-WIDE REPUTATION

First Quarterly Conference of Norwood Change to be Interesting Session—Noted Speakers

On Thursday, October 25, at 10 a. m., the first quarterly conference of the Norwood charge will be held at Norwood church, the Rev. R. E. Meader, D. D., of Traverse City, presiding. Everybody welcome.

We are ambitious not only to have the largest attendance ever at a session of the quarterly conference, but also to have every official member present from Norwood, Atwood and Barnard, and that full reports be given.

At noon, under the direction of the Norwood ladies, a picnic dinner will be served at the town hall. Everybody bring baskets, but remember that America calls for economy even in our public dinners.

In the afternoon a great program will be given. Rev. R. E. Meader, D. D., the Rev. W. F. Stewart, D. D., our district missionary, and Rev. Quinton Walker of Charlevoix, will speak, and the Rev. W. W. Diehl, D. D., rural superintendent of the Detroit area, is expected to be present.

Thursday evening at 7:30, Dr. Diehl will speak at the Barnard church. As a rural pastor of nation wide reputation he brings an inspiring message that all should hear. At 10 o'clock Friday morning, Dr. Meader and Dr. Stewart will speak. At noon a picnic dinner will be served in the basement of the Barnard church. At 1:30 p. m. a special program of music and recitations will given and Dr. Diehl will speak again.

At 7:30 p. m., Dr. Diehl will close his series of addresses on the rural church. Come all and break bread with us and share our good cheer. The doors of the church are wide open to welcome all the people. A feast is spread for the body and for the soul. It is the King's business. Come.—Contributed.

FIRE BURNS FARM HOUSE

M. C. WOODGATE SUSTAINS HEAVY LOSS

Two Small Children Save Trunk and Few Other Articles—Father Away

At about 10:30 Friday as F. A. Butler and wife were passing on the upper Ironton road about two miles south of the city, from which they could see the farm residence of M. C. Woodgate, they noticed smoke issuing from the vicinity of the house, which at first they thought to be caused by burning leaves, but which, upon closer inspection, proved to be the house itself, and as it sets about a half mile from the road, by the time they could reach it, it was a mass of flames.

Mrs. Woodgate and two small children were occupying the house at the time, Mr. Woodgate being at present with the Michigan constabulary, stationed at Battle Creek. Mrs. Woodgate was out in the field pulling beans when the fire started, and the two small children had succeeded in getting out a trunk and a few other articles but for the most part the building and contents were a total loss. Mrs. Woodgate thinks there was a small insurance carried on the furniture. The fire, it is thought, started from the stove in the kitchen.

DIED AT HOWELL

Miss Violet Allerdice Victim of Dread White Plague

The funeral of Miss Violet Allerdice, better known as Violet Huggard of Detroit, who died Sunday, October 21, at the sanitarium at Howell where she had been a patient for the past two years, occurred Tuesday afternoon at 3:30 at the residence of her cousin O. D. Hammond, the Rev. C. E. Taggart officiating.

Miss Huggard's age was 18 years, six months and one day. She leaves besides her adopted mother, one brother, a sister, her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Hammond, of Eveline, and her cousin, O .D. Hammond, at whose home the funeral occurred. Interment was in Brookside cemetery.

Boost For Uncle Sam

NO MATTER what were your sentiments before we entered the war, now that we are into it, let each one of us do our bit, and if every American citizen, without slacking, will manfully do his fair share, your Uncle Sam will make a showing in this world war that will make you mighty proud you are an American, and still more so to have that satisfied feeling that you did your full share, besides everlastingly impressing it upon the whole world that American men, women, and children must not be ruthlessly murdered under any pretense whatever in this or any other country.

Just Now Your Uncle Sam NEEDS MONEY

¶ He wants every dollar that is tucked away in a sock, hid on the pantry shelf, or laid away for future use. He wants YOU to buy a Liberty Bond. No matter how small the amount that you can spare, get it out and help YOUR country win this war. Our cause is just, our aims explicit, and no suspicion of selfishness can be laid at our door. Any man who is not FOR America fully and freely at this time is AGAINST AMERICA.

There is No Safer Investment in This World

¶ Each Bond is backed and absolutely guaranteed by the strongest government that the world has ever known. You would like ten or fifteen one hundred dollar bills; wouldn't you like them better if they would draw 4 per cent interest? These bonds are not only backed by the same government and draw 4 per cent interest, but they represent an actual mortgage on the entire resources of the nation. The only possible excuse for you, or any other American citizen with any available cash reserve, to hesitate on buying these Liberty Bonds is the Question of Convertability

¶ Perhaps you have fifty, or one hundred, or two hundred dollars saved up against a rainy day, or an unexpected sickness. You reason, "Suppose I put this money into Liberty Bonds and later find that I need it to help me through the winter. How can I get my money?"

The Bond is Better than the Money

¶ You can not eat the money, neither will it keep you warm. The most that you can do with it is to take it to a reliable dealer and trade it for food, clothing, or the equivalent at one hundred cents on the dollar.

The Bond is worth $52.50

¶ Buy a Liberty Bond now, and if you feel the need of using that money, you can have $52.50 in trade from us for each $50 Liberty Bond. Save this advertisement as your guaranty or come in and get a written agreement.

Nobody Questions the Value of these Bonds

¶ Personally we believe that Uncle Sam will put the deciding blows into this war within twelve months, and the Liberty Bonds will be worth MORE THAN PAR IN CASH. He surely WILL do it if we all do our part.

For Those of You Who Trade at Our Stores

¶ This advertisement should settle the question of convertibility. To our customers, at least, a Liberty Bond is worth more than cash. Buy several bonds, buy them in $50 denominations and if you need to use them, trade $52.50 against each one of them.

We Owe it to Our Country

¶ We would like to see every customer buy some Liberty Bonds, and PARTICULARLY THE FARMERS. It will take every dollar that every business man, farmer, and laborer in America can spare to make this loan an unqualified success, and it MUST NOT BE LESS. We owe it to our country, the greatest and most blessed country to be found on God's green earth.

Charlevoix County "Soldier Boys" Should Not Want

¶ No true American is willing to send our millions of boys into this world war without the proper backing. Shall Charlevoix County's Boys Want for Food or Clothing, or Ammunition? We are Slackers if they do! BUY YOUR LIBERTY BOND TODAY from any Charlevoix Bank.

ALL RETAIL PRICES SHOULD SHOW DECLINE

Food Administrator Hoover Declares tha Corner Has Been Turnad in Higb Prices of Foods

Food Administrator Hoover announced on Thursday of last week, that subject to co-operation Yrum the farmers and retailers, the corner has now been turned in higb prices for foods. Hs said retail prices had not come down to conform to wholesale reductions and that was a matter for public sentiment to correct.

Ths administrator's statement follows:

"The food administration considers that subject to co-operation from the farmers and relatives, the corner now has been turned in high prices, and that most of the essential commodities should, one after another contlnus to show reduction between now and the end of the year.

Flour Avarage Too High

"The current prices at which flour ls being sold at the mill door in jute bags vary somewhat with the locality and freight charges on wheat. Toledo showing the lowest prices at $10 for first patent, und $9.70 second patent, the highest being Buffnlo at $10.70 for first patent and $10.70 for second patent; Minneapolis being $10.60 for first patent and $10.46 for second patent. This shows a large reduction under August price.

"The average retail price on first patents in 796 cities on October 13, was $13.77, or from $1.50 to $2 per barrel higher than is warranted by the price being made by the millers. In other words the retail price has not wholly responded to the reductions made by the millers.

"The bean harvest this year is estimated by the department of agriculture at approximately 7,000,000 bushels in excess of last year, or nearly double last year. Grower's associations ln promjnent bean prudncing states are holding beans for from 13 1-2 to 15 eents per pound as against and averuge price rsalized by the grower last year nf 8 cents per pound. There has been 100 per cent increase in the Manchurian bean crop and lt ls now estimated at 2,000,000 tons. Owlng to shipping shortage, practieally the only outlet is to the United States and these beans will flow into the American market from December on much below the prices now being demanded for American beans.

"The corn harvest this year is 600,000,000 to 700,000,000 bushels more than last year, and generally will be available about the end of November. The price of corn rose to $2.30 per bushel in July and now stands at $1.90 per bushel in Chicago. New corn is quoted in Chicago at $1.13' per bushel for December and indicates nearly a 40 per cent drop in theprice of corn meal when the new crop is generally availabls.

"The very large corn supplies from the new harvest, together with the larger supplies of barley, velvet beans, cotton seed, peanut and soy bean meal, hog and poultry feed, and will enable the production of beef, pork, poultry and duiry products at much lower levels of cost to the farmer than today, and his earnings can be maintained with lower priecs of products. The packing, cold storage and other manufacturing and wholesale distributors in these trades are in course of regulation.

"Beef already shows some tendency toward reduction in wholesale prices, but these have not been so far reflected in the prices noted by the retailer. The price of beef at the paekers' door is 14 1-2 cents per pound as compared with 16 cents in July, while the average retail prices of round steak in 796 cities is 31 cents per pound against 27 cents per pound in July, thus showing that retail prices hnve increased.

Potatoes Should Drop

"We have a potato harvest of 59 per cent in excess of the crop of last year. The price at loading points varies from $1.50 to $2.80 per 100 pounds. The priee, which is somewhat higher thnn at this period last year, is due to a tendency on the part of the producer to hold the potatoes for higher prices than last year, and to temporary inability of railroads to furnish proper equipment. The average price of potatoes delivered in the markets has closely followed the price which the producer has received plus the cost of distribution of the market.

"The larger supply of cars nnd the large harvest warrant lower prices later in the fall.

"Beet sugar prices nre being controlled by the manufacturers upon a basis that should reach the retailer from 8 to 8 1-2 cents per pound depending upon the locality. Sugar to confectioners from beet factories now is being restricted and a temporary shortage in the northeastern states gives no warranty for tbe advances by retailers tn over 9 cents per pound.

"In nrder to provide equally good substitute for lard cooking fatts, the food administration ls arranging for the import of large supplies of cocoanut palms, nut and soy beans olls. This should also affect the prices of soap.

"Since ths food administration came lntn existence August 10, a great deal of exertion has bsea required to remedy food sltuations growing out of ths over-export and short supplies of the 1916 harvest.

"There were no reserve stocks ln practically all of the main staples and in fact, ln some of the principal staples the exports had proceeded to such lengths that there was an absolute under supply of our owa necessities during the past two months.

"Vurlous faetors have interfered with the earlier arrival of the new harvest. The farmer, in preparing for a 30 per cent lncrease of winter wheat acreage in the face of the shortage ln agricultural labor, haa prevented the free marketing of many commodities, and tbere exists owing to the large coal and munition shipments, a considersbls car shortage.

"Resulting from these causes there has been periodic shortage of one commodity after another in one locality in the United States after another, and a large part of the energies of the food administration has been nbsorbed in securing a distribution and a re-distribution of existing supplies in such a manner as to keep the country generally supplied with foodstuffs, and but for the cooperation of the railroads wa would have had local famines in a great many sections.

"Furthermore the authority of the food administration does not extend over combinations of growers and producers, nor does it extend over the great majority of retailers. Ths distribution claim lying between that is, the wurehousc, wholesalers, commission men and manufacturers of the prime commodities, has required a great deal of study and development for its proper regulation, and these regulations nre now coming into force."

HAVE YOU BEEN SICK?

Then you realize the utter weakness that robs ambition, destroys appetite, and makes work a burden.

To restore that strength and stamina that is so essential, nothing has ever equaled or compared with Scott's Emulsion, because its strength-sustaining nourishment invigorates the blood to distribute energy throughout the body while its tonic value sharpens the appetite and restores health in a natural, permanent way.

EAT LESS AND TAKE SALTS FOR KIDNEYS

Take a glass of Salts before breakfast if your Back hurts or Bladder bothers you.

The American men aad women must guard constantly against Kidney trouble, because we eat too much and all our food is rich. Our blood is filled with uric acid which the kidneys striva to filter out, they weaken from overwork, become sluggish; the eliminative tissues clog and the result is kidney trouble, bladder weakaess nnd a general decline in bealth.

When your kidneys feel like lumps of lead; your back burts or the urine is cloudy, full of sediment or you are obliged to seek relief two or three times during the night; if you suffer with sick headache or dizzy, nervous spells, acid stomach, or you hava rheumatism wben the weatber is bad, get from your pbarmacist about four ounces of Jad Salts; take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast for a few days and your kidneys will then act fine. This famous salts is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and bas been used for generations to flush and stimulate clogged kidneys; to neutralize the acids in the urine so it no longer is a source of irritation, thus ending bladder disorders.

Jad Salts is inexpensive; cannot injure, makes a delightful effervescent lithia-water beverage, and belongs in every bome, becauss nobody can make a mistake by having a good kidney flushing any time.

SIGNS OF DANGER

That Should Ba Heeded by Charlevoix People

There's serious danger in neglecting any weakness of the kidneys. The warning that Nature gives should not be overlooked. If troubled by too frequent passage of the kidney secretions; burning or scalding; if the secretions are highly colored and cuntain sediment when left standing—if you have backache, too, with frequent headaches und dizziness, make up your mind that your kidneys are affected and begin using some reliable kidney remedy. Deaths from kidney disease have increased in the United States alone, 72 per cent in the last 20 years. The risk is great—you can't afford to delay. Charlevoix people recommend Doan's Kidney Pills. Can you ask for better proof of merit than the statement of this Charlevoix resident?

Mrs. Jennie Smith, 1206 Bridge St., Charlevoix, says: "My back got so lame I could bardly get about my housswork. Finally I had to take to bed, where I remained several days absolutely helpless. I couldn't even turn over. My kidneys were weak and irregular in action. I felt miserable and was in a terrible condition when I began taking Doan's Kidney Pills. They brought relief from the first and continusd uss cured me."

Price 60c, at all dealers. Don't simply ask for a kidney remedy—get Doan's Kidney Pills—the same that cured Mrs. Smith. Foster-Milburn Co., Propa., Buffalo, N. Y.

SCHOOL COMMISSIONERS NOTES

Two schools in South Arm visited during the past week, three in Wilson and all but one of the remaining schools in both townships having potato digging vacations. Three schools in Evelins visited, all but one of the remaining having potato vacations. The remaining schools of these townships will be visited later and followed immediately by a teachers' meating.

One school in Norwood visited. We understood that the rest are in session and may be visited at any time now.

The Knop school of Wilson township opened this week as also Garden Island school of St. Jamse township.

Pattengill writes that Cheboygan county is publishing the names of teachers and schools who refused to comply with the governor's request that Patriotic Day be observed by every school in the state. Does Cheboygan county think that these schools or that these teachers are pro-German.

On Patriotic day many schools had very artistic decorations and one or two of the most notable that have come to the commissioner's notice are Hayes No. 4, which school house contained the flags of the allies and our colors throughout, and Marion No. 6 with bunting drapes and with shields drawn on the black boards. Many of the teachers were among the first to apply for bonds.

East Jordan High school teachers at their teachers' meeting agreed every one to buy a bond. They think Pattengill should know this and we shall see to it that he does.

Wilson No. 6 and Marion No. 4 are both buying large orders of library books from the preferred list of books as is prescribed by law. They have also both applied for the circulating libraries now at hand in Lansing. The supply is limited and more of these can not be obtained this year for permanent ownership.

Bay No. 2 and Bay No. 3 both bought ventilating systems of the approved floor warmer type last week. Bay No. 2 is working to become the first Standard school in Bay township.

Hayes No. 2 reports more sets of the recommended texts.

The directories and outlines of study are now in the printers hands.

The Michigan state teachers' association will be held in Grand Rapids November 1-3, the commissioners' and county normal section on the 31 of October just preceeding the Association meeting.

The food conservation campaign will open the week the Liberty Loan campaign closes. All officers and teachers are asked to co-operate.

Eveline No. 5 has converted its schoolhouse into a school plant.

How to Buy a Liberty Bond

Ask any bank.

Ask any member of any Liberty Loan committee in your township, town or county.

Any of them will gladly explain the easy-payment plans which have been approved.

You can buy a bond by making a small payment down—2 per cent.

You can pay 18 per cent of the remainder on November 15th, 40 per cent on December 15th and 40 per cent on January 15th, 1918, OR—

Many banks will accept regular weekly payments of small amounts.

No commission nor fee of any kind is charged by any sales agency.

Don't hesitate. Get your bond today. YOUR COUNTRY NEEDS THE MONEY!

The Kaiser started this—we can finish it. Buy a Bond!

THE BADGE OF HONOR

The government has arranged to give one of these badges to every purchaser of a Liberty Bond of the second issue.

ARE YOU WEARING ONE?

Clear is the CALL!

Listen to it and then ACT.

American Soldiers are now at the front.

Buy a Bond and go bail for Liberty!

This is OUR fight—YOUR fight—and God Almighty knows it is a fight for YOUR CHILDREN and YOUR CHILDREN'S CHILDREN.

Nothing else counts just now.

You MUST buy Liberty Bonds!

The "security" makes no difference—because if these bonds are not "good," nothing you own in all America is worth a fig.

The "interest" makes no difference—because these bonds are the thing which will buy and pay for your chance to earn your "interest" in other directions.

But the reason why YOU buy these bonds is because without their sale "THERE WILL BE NO UNITED STATES OF AMERICA TOMORROW!"

COUNTY GOES "OVER THE TOP"

LIBERTY BOND SALES $2,000 OVER ALLOTMENT

Final Shortage of Some $25,000 Subscribed by Local Men at Close of Big Drive

Charlevoix county "went over the top" in the Liberty Loan bond drive last week with a larger total amount of sales than the most optimistic member of the committee anticipated. The county's total subscription, according to figures submitted by Chairman R. W. Kane, is $290,850.

Charlevoix county's maximum quota was placed at $285,850 by the Michigan committee at Lansing, and the committee was asked to get this amount. Every committeeman and every worker was urged to make every effort to exceed this amount, and made good.

Charlevoix has just cause to feel proud of the work done in this drive, and for the second time this city has raised the amount of its allotment in the Liberty Loan.

Total Loan Over $6,000,000,000

Washington reports the last day of the Liberty Loan campaign brought in more than $1,000,000,000, raising the total subscriptions to above the $5,000,000,000 maximum, and according to the belief of the loan officials, the final returns will show a total of $6,000,000,000.

The official figures will not be in the hands of the treasury department until late this week. The last hour rush Saturday night was so heavy that clerks and salesmen had all they could do to take subscriptions without making records at the time. Secretary McAdoo said before the campaign that he hoped that 10,000,000 patrons would take bonds to show the unanimity of spirit in America. It was announced that 13,500,000 Liberty Loan buttons were requisitioned for subscribers and all bond holders did not get buttons.

Local Men Shoulder Load

At eight o'clock Saturday night, after returns from the entire county had been received, it was found that the county's quota was still short some $24,000, Boyne City, East Jordan and Boyne Falls having raised practically their share of the entire quota. Steps were immediately taken by local men to raise this shortage, with the result that the entire amount was subscribed within a short time by public spirited citizens as follows:

State Savings Bank	$10,000
H. L. Oldham	5,000
A. A. Swinton	1,000
J. L. Crane	1,000
A. D. Crimmins	1,000
R. F. Sloan	1,000
R. C. Hammett	1,000
F. M. Glassford	1,000
R. W. Kane	1,000
Judge F. W. Mayne	1,000
T. G. Finucan	1,000

These amounts do not include previous smaller purchases made by the men, but were taken late Saturday evening at the close of the week's drive, that Charlevoix county might not fall short in the amount expected of her.

Other subscriptions were made in the city to the amount of $1,000 or more, but these were taken before the final figures were received and the need of the above amount known to the local chairman and co-workers. It might be well to state at this time that these true spirited and loyal American citizens deserve a vote of thanks for their action, which alone saved the county from running behind in the amount of Liberty Bond sales expected of her.

Chairman Kane Issues Statement

Chairman R. W. Kane issued the following statement, expressing his thanks to those who assisted him in his work:

"The Liberty Loan Campaign in Charlevoix county was wholly successful. The quota assigned to the county, based upon a loan of five billion was $288,850. This was oversubscribed by $2,000. Based upon a loan of three billions the quota would

JUMPED BOARD BILL

Paul VanDerhoff Picked Up in Grand Rapids Wednesday

Sheriff Novak left last Thursday morning for Grand Rapids with a warrant for the arrest of Paul VanDerhoff for jumping a board bill. Mr. Novak returned with his man Friday night and landed him in jail where he remained until Monday morning, when he was arraigned before Justice Cooper, plead guilty, and was given a sentence of 30 days in the county jail. VanDerhoff has been in the employ of the telephone company the past few months.

Gave Farewell Party

A farewell surprise party was given Monday evening, October 29, at the home of Barney Harrington, on Garfield avenue, in honor of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Dickie. The evening was very pleasantly spent with music and games. Mr. and Mrs. Dickie were the recipients of many beautiful gifts.

WILL RESIDE IN PETOSKEY

WELL KNOWN YOUNG PEOPLE MARRY SATURDAY

Preston-Emery Wedding Took Place At Hines' Home in Muskegon —On Honeymoon

The home of Mr. and Mrs. Galo Hines of Muskegon, was the scene of a very pretty wedding, Saturday, October 27, when their cousin, Miss Lillian Emrey of this city, was united in marriage to Earl Roy Preston, of Petoskey.

The ceremony was performed at four o'clock, p. m., by the Rev. Walter Runke, of St. Paul's Episcopal church. Only members of the immediate family were present. The bride wore a traveling gown of niger brown satin, with a corsage boquet of violets and brides roses.

Mr. and Mrs. Preston left at 7 o'clock for Chicago, and from there will go to Hancock, Michigan, where they will be the guests of Mrs. Preston's sister, Mrs. William J. Donahue for two weeks, before returning to their future home in Petoskey. They will be "at home" after December 1.

Miss Emrey is a well known Charlevoix girl and has held the position of clerk in the register of deeds office for a number of years. Her many friends here wish her a long life of happiness and heartily congratulate the groom, who is a rising young man of Petoskey.

DEALERS SELL CARS DESPITE ALL CONDITIONS

People Willing to Take Chance Regardless of H. C. L.

Cold, wet weather, impending losses in crops from the recent freeze-up, and inability of some to harvest their crops seem to have little to do with the sale of cars this fall. Automobiles sell regardless of conditions and all seem to carry the idea that we live but a short time and are dead—well, we at least will go to a place where no joy riding is available. The Benj. Brown agency are selling cars right along despite conditions. Sales the past week are to Edward Klooster, Charlevoix; Frank Hamlin, Eveline; W. H. Henley, Eveline; Guy Pearl, Charlevoix; Harvey Carson, Boyne City and Chas. Helse, Charlevoix.

RISING SUN IS A TOTAL WRECK

GOES ON ROCKS NEAR GLEN ARBOR MONDAY NIGHT

Thirty-Five Passengers Have Narrow Escape From Drowning— No Loss of Life Reported

Thirty-five passengers nearly lost their lives Monday when the steamer Rising Sun, of the House of David colony, Benton Harbor, went on the rocks on Lake Michigan, between Port Oneida and Glen Arbor. It had tried to make Frankfort, but could not hold in the storm. Life boats carried the passengers to safety.

One boat tipped over and a woman passenger nearly drowned. Although life savers from Sleeping Bear Point seven miles distant were notified, they were called off before reaching the scene, the captain alone responding. He found one man aboard. The Rising Sun is fast going to pieces. It was used to transport provisions between Benton Harbor and High Island and was on her way from High Island to Frankfort when caught in Monday's fierce storm.

"LIZZIE" FAMILY IS ON THE INCREASE

Local Agent Disposes of Twenty-two Since August 28

"Lizzies" will be more numerous than English sparrows in and around Charlevoix if local agent J. C. Ekstrom of the Northern Auto Co. keeps up the pace he has set since August 28. Seems as if the farmers simply cannot get along without them, in fact, we are told one man rides in his Henry when he goes after the cows at milking time. They'll go down the back lane just about as easy as over a "concrete" road, jump a ditch or dodge a stump without retarding their speed in the least.

Below are the names of people acquiring Fords through the local agency since August 28:

MAYOR SAYS TO LET LIGHTS BURN

Wants City Well Lighted as Long as Juice is Furnished

Mayor Rose has issued a request that all persons having porch lights allow them to burn until all lights are put out by the city at midnight. Mr. Rose explains that the reason for allowing these porch lights at the city's expense is for the purpose of helping to light the city, and thinks that people should appreciate the courtesy to the extent of allowing them to burn.

Care should be exercised, however, to have them extinguished the first thing in the morning.

Justice Cooper Ties Knots

Justice Cooper was quite busy last week assisting Cupid. On Wednesday, October 24, he performed the ceremony which made Doe Cramer and Ada Spraw, both of Boyne Falls, man and wife, and on Friday, October 26, he joined Glenn M. Smith and Lela Lohr, both of East Jordan, in the holy bonds of matrimony. Both the happy couples left at once for their respective homes.

WEBER MALE QUARTET NOV. 6

IS IN EVERY SENSE A HIGH CLASS ORGANIZATION

Each Man a Musician as Well as a Singer—Seat Sale Opens November 5

The Weber Male Quartette which will appear here on the Lyceum course at the Opera House, November 6, comes especially well accredited and the evening's entertainment to be given by them promises to be most enjoyable.

"The Weber Male Quartette," says the Redpath Bureau through which this company comes here, "is in every sense a high class organization, composed of four of the well known concert and church soloists of New York City. An association of several years in successful concert and phonograph work has resulted in the beautiful blending, the clearness of enunciation and the artistic distinction which are the essentials of a really satisfactory quartet. The Weber Male Quartet is progressive in adding to its repertory and by its versatility and genial bearing has been unfailingly successful wherever it has appeared."

"The Weber Male Quartet," says the Meriden (Conn.) Journal, "proved themselves one of the finest aggregations of singers that Meriden has heard in some time. The program was such as to allow their vocal abilities a wide scope and they were equally pleasing in the delightful old-English ballad, 'Drink to Me Only' and Chaffin's difficult 'Shores of Sighing,' as in Bullard's rollicking 'Winter Song.' Their rendering of Van de Water's beautiful 'Sunset' was particularly fine."

The personnel of the Weber Quartet is said to be unique in that each man is a musician as well as a singer. The quartet is thus sufficient in itself for the presentation of an entire entertainment.

R. L. LEWIS HOME FROM FORT SHERIDAN

Reports That Other Charlevoix Boys Are Making Good

Mr. and Mrs. Rollie Lewis returned Friday night from Fort Sheridan, where Mr. Lewis has been in training for the past two months. Mr. Lewis has received an honorable discharge for physical disability and also for business reasons, and will remain in Charlevoix.

He reports that Fred V. Tyler and Dan Mather, who left with him for Fort Sheridan, are getting along fine and are in the best of health and spirits. He also says that people having friends in the army who are private soldiers need have no fear but that they will have the best of care and protection possible, because in the officers' training, the first thought is for the private soldier, the officer always coming last.

WANTED FOR EMBEZZLEMENT

Sheriff Novak Returns from Milwaukee With His Man

Sheriff Novak left Sunday night for Milwaukee with a warrant for the arrest of Lloyd A. Barnhisle, who of late has resided in Eveline township, wanted in East Jordan on a charge of obtaining money under false pretenses. Mr. Novak returned with his prisoner Wednesday morning, and left immediately with him for East Jordan.

It is claimed that Barnhisle embezzled funds from the People's Savings Bank of that place.

The Congregational Junior C. E. society will present a program entitled "Under Three Flags," at the church, next Sunday evening at 7 o'clock, in place of the usual evening service. The offering will be used for the work of the society. All are invited.

THANK COUNTY LOAN WORKERS

TELEGRAMS RECEIVED FROM HEADQUARTERS

Federal Reserve Bank and Governor Sleeper Send Congratulations To R. W. Kane

The following telegrams have been received by R. W. Kane, chairman of the Charlevoix county Liberty Loan committee:

R. W. Kane, chairman Liberty Loan Committee, Charlevoix, Mich.:

The Liberty Loan campaign just closed will stand alone as the most convincing demonstration of patriotism in the history of the nation. We take this occasion to extend to you and through you to your co-workers our sincere appreciation for the part you have taken in this great work.

Federal Reserve Bank of Chicago.
Fiscal Agent for U. S. Gov't.
G. B. McDougall, Governor.

R. W. Kane,
Charlevoix, Mich.

Governor Sleeper and the state committee extend heartiest congratulations on the magnificient showing in your county. Your oversubscription is splendid evidence of the patriotic spirit of yourself, your co-workers, and your people.

Mark T. McKee, Secretary.

GOVERNMENT SETS PRICE ON BEANS

Notify Local Dealers of Price to be Paid

Chatterton & Son and the Argo Milling Co. have been notified by government officials that the prevailing price on beans to be paid by the government will run from $6 to $6.50 per bushel according to quality.

This means that if the government wants to take over beans owned by either of the above firms, or any other dealer in the country, they will pay this price and no more. If more is paid the producer for beans, the company who does so stands a good chance to loose a nice sum, if the government asks for a portion or all they should at any time have in stock.

To small dealers, the government set price amounts to little, as they will at no time have enough in stock for a government shipment.

MAKE RECORD IN THE DIVISION

HEADQUARTERS CO. TAKE $22,500 IN LIBERTY BONDS

An Average of $116 Per Man— 125th Regiment Divided Into Different Platoons

(By Herold W. Usher)

Camp MacArthur, Waco, Texas, October 21.—Old Company I as it left East Jordan over a year ago is now a thing of the past, also the old 33rd. regiment that made such a good record during their period of Mexican border service last winter.

"There were men in the regiment who shed tears when the old 33rd buttons and insignias, taken away from them and one of the most famous regiments of the National Guard passed out of existence forever. It is now the 125th regiment of infantry in the new department of the U. S. army called the U. S. national guard and is a member of the 63rd brigade of the 'Iron Jaw Division.'

"There are now three distinct departments in the U. S. army, the old regular army, the old state national guard which form the new U. S. national guard and the national army which is made up of drafted men. In order to take the national guard out of the United States it was necessary to draft the whole thing as a unit into the new department which they now form and the periods of enlistment was changed from three years to the duration of the war.

"The work of our new company is much different and far more interesting than before. We are now divided into different platoons, each having a different duty to perform. There is a platoon of riflemen, called the 'Pioneer Platoon' which contains 50 men and is in charge of Lt. Cummings. The second platoon is made up of signal men and is in charge of Lt. Welling of Petoskey. There is also a platoon of machine gun men and one pound rapid fire riflemen, which is in charge of Lt. Spring. All the mounted men are taken from the old headquarters company.

"The work of headquarters company when at the front is very dangerous and these companies have been christened the 'Death Platoons' by Maj. Gen. Pershing. Captain Winters, under this new organization, is the leading captain in the regiment.

"Much excitement has been aroused the last few days over the Liberty Loan Bond subscription. At the last count the 125th Regiment was leading the division by a large margin and our company has subscribed over $6,000 dollars more than any other company in the division. We bought over $22,500 dollars worth of bonds in this company alone which is an average of $116 per man. Has the city of Charlevoix reached that mark yet? It is strange that as a rule the men in the army, who are giving their lives for their country, are subscribing more according to their numbers than the people in civil life that are doing nothing at all.

THURSDAY DESIGNATED FOOD CONSERVATION DAY

Mayor Rose Wants Every One to Help Farmers Harvest Crops

Mayor S. M. Rose wants all business and professional men, to close their places of business on Thursday of this week, and in company with students of the school and factory employes, assist all farmers in need of help to harvest their crops.

Hundreds of farmers are in need of help, and if it is not given them, their crops will be a total loss. The date was originally set for Monday, but on account of inclement weather, was changed to Thursday. Present indications are that the weather Thursday will be unsuitable for any extensive work, but many will venture forth to accomplish what they can.

In the meantime, farmers in need of help are requested to notify Mayor Rose, who will do all in his power to assist them.

CORRESPONDENCE

SOUTH EVELINE

Silo filling is in progress.

Jim Peters has removed with his family to Boyne City.

Lots of green beans, and are being cured mostly in stacks.

Master Fred Harnden won in the spelling contest this montb.

The farmers are reporting lots of potatoes frozen in the ground.

There are a lot of absentees from school on account of so much work.

Joseph Pittinger died at the home of John Knudsen, Thursday, October 25.

The threshing machine is at Mr. Spidel's. Had to quit on account of rain.

Communion services at Walker school house November 4, at 2:30. Everybody come.

The East Jordan men undertook Friday to go out and help the "rubes" dig out the spuds, but unfortunstely, or fortunately, as the case may be, it rained, and I guess those barbers thought they were not pulling whiskers when they were yanking those potatoes out of June grass sod. Anyway, our city was not represented very well out in Eveline, but we were glad there were some who had nerve to square themselves beside the husky farmer. Hope they will come again, and next time have Mr. Cross order no rain.

Mr. and Mrs. A. L. Darby invited their friends and neighbors on Wednesday evening last, to observe the day and talk over the great war question. Mr. Darby made a brief speech, placing emphasis on our personal responsibility to our country, and that each should do something. If we could not buy a bond, try and be economical. Well, he really told us to cut out pie, but we got the start of him there for we cut out pie long ago, not because we wanted to, but because we had to. The company had a real nice time. Lots of apples passed around which looks good this year. Hope Mr. Darby will have us come again.

NOWLAND SCHOOL NOTES

Thomas Cunningham has been sick for several days.

Miss Agnes Cellner left Thursday to go to Belding.

Alvin Cunningham drove to East Jordan Friday afternoon.

Miss Marion Worth spent the week end at the Woolley home.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Pierce spent Sunday at the home of Jay Adams.

Mr. Wheaton of Charlevoix, has been visiting his grandson, Albert Dennis, the past week.

Mr. and Mrs. Matthew Saunders with Dorothy and Wallace, spent last Sunday and Monday in Boyne City.

Clayton Saunders was absent from school a couple of days last week helping with bean pulling and potato digging.

Two hard frosts the past week did some damage to crops which were not harvested. Ice was seen almost all over the surface of Adams and Nowland lake.

Miss Marie Mitchell, who has been attending high school in East Jordan spent Ssturday and Sunday at the home of E. Cunningham.

CLARION

O. V. Holly was in town a few days last week.

Raymond Young returned home from Mackinaw City Thursday.

Miss Vera Stoops left Thursday for Battle Creek, where she expects to spend the winter.

Mrs. John Ketechum, of Petoskey, is visiting at the home of Mr. and Mrs. L. H. Herrington.

Lawrence Thomas returned Wednesday from Big Rapids, where he has been attending Ferris Institute.

Lawrence Weaver, S. P. C., left Saturday night to work on the mail trains between Owosso and Detroit.

The funeral of Mrs. Anna Gartrell, of Chicago, will be held here Sunday morning at the M. E. church.

A patriotic meeting was held at the K. O. T. M. hall Thursday evening. A large crowd attended the meeting. A free will offering was taken, the net profits being about $45, which was given for the Red Cross. Hon. W. J. Pearson, Mrs. Robinson, Mrs. Baker, Mrs. Wenzell and Mrs. Hooper were the speakers of the evening.

Charles Johnson, who was hurt last week by a wheel of the road scraper hitting him, is reported as slightly better.

Mrs. Silas Young and children, of Elmira, who have been visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. S. Younce, returned home today.

Mrs. J. A. Dodgson and Miss Maggie Donivan expect to leave Tuesday to visit friends in Kalamazoo and southern Michigan.

HEAD STUFFED FROM CATARRH OR A COLD

Hays Cream Applied In Nostrils Opens Air Passages Right Up.

Instant relief—no waiting. Your clogged nostrils open right up; the air passages of your head clear and you can breathe freely. No more hawking, snuffling, blowing, headache, dryness. No struggling for breath at night; your cold or catarrh disappears.

Get a small bottle of Ely's Cream Balm from your druggist now. Apply little of this fragrant, antiseptic, ailing cream in your nostrils. It penetrates through every air passage of the head, soothes the inflamed or swollen mucous membrane and relief comes instantly.

It's just fine. Don't stay stuffed-up with a cold or nasty catarrh.

SUFFERING FROM COLD

If you shiver in frosty weather, if you have cold hands and feet, if colds are stubborn and frequent, then your blood may be thin and impoverished.

SCOTT'S EMULSION

has been correcting this condition for nearly fifty years. It possesses rare powers for creating natural body warmth, for charging summer blood with winter richness and strengthening both throat and lungs.

The Norwegian cod liver oil in Scott's Emulsion is now refined in our own, American laboratories which makes it pure and palatable.

WILSON

Wedding bells will ring in the "Bohemian Settlement" soon.

The recent drive in the interest of the Liberty Loan was quite successful in Wilson township.

There will be a dance at the Wilson Grange hall on Saturday evening, November 3.

The hard freeze of the 23rd and 24th caught many potatoes not dug and will shorten the crop considerably.

George Stenke's new "Lizzie" has a provoking habit of getting stalled on the hills near home. George keeps his team handy.

A. R. Nowland has lost several head of cattle from a disease that is new to this part and will have his whole herd inoculated with a preventative.

Friday, October 26, was declared a local holiday in East Jordan and all business places were closed while the business men, their clerks, and others, helped the farmers harvest their crops of beans and potatoes. The rain that came about noon was a relief, but lame backs and sore muscles resulted just the same. Thanks are due them for their efforts.

HAYES

Dee Sneathen went to Boyne City last Friday.

Everybody is busy harvesting potatoes and beans.

Mrs. Lane and daughter, Florence left on the noon train Tuesday for their home in Detroit.

David Smith fell and hurt his back last week and was not able to do any work. Have not heard the particulars.

Mrs. Yeamans went to the home of Mrs. Hair last Sunday to spend a few days before returning to Charlevoix.

There are lots of potatoes not dug and lots of beans in the fields. Farmers are feeling blue enough—no help to be had as yet.

Several ladies surprised Mrs. Yeamans last Wednesday at the home of Mrs. Frank Kane. A good time and a bonteous dinner is reported. Mrs. Kane had prepared the chickens.

Word comes from Whitney, Indiana, that Mrs. Sarah Tyndall, a former resident of Hayes township, is in St. Margaret hospital at Hammond, Indiana, suffering from a severe attack of rheumatism. Her condition is reported as quite serious, but her friends here are all hoping for her speedy recovery.

NORWOOD

Mr. and Mrs. H. Carman spent Saturday evening at the Will Lucia home.

Mrs. P. O'Morrow from Wisconsin, has been spending a few days with her sister-in-law, Mrs. H. Wederburn.

Everybody enjoyed the speaking Thursday afternoon at the M. E. church, especially the singing by Mr. and Mrs. Tony Clark.

MOUNTAIN DISTRICT

This week is report week and credit cards will also be given out.

New books are now on their way and we will soon be enjoying them.

The Red Cross meets with Mrs. G. Jardine on Wednesday of this week.

Miss Blanche Flora of Boyne City visited in the neighborhood last week.

Miss Leora Sanford has gone to East Jordan, where she has employment.

The Misses Beryl and Dorothy McDonald spent the week end at their home.

Many of the farmers have not yet finished pulling beans nor digging potatoes.

Blanche Flora spent Thursday with us at school and we enjoyed her visit very much.

Mr. and Mrs. Scott and Mrs. Pettinger attended church at Charlevoix on Sunday last.

The school room is now decorated with brownies, witches, pumpkins and moons. By this we know that Hallowe'en is nigh.

"Little King Davie" is the name of the book which is now being read to the school children.

Mr. Hemingway of Oak Park was a visitor in the neighborhood during the latter part of last week.

There were a great many absent marks last week, for the children were obliged to help with the farm work.

The primary grades all did so well in their good manners contest that each one received a prize of a nice new ruler.

The little son of Mrs. I. Dean passed away at its home near Boyne City. Funeral services were held on Monday from their home.

Much sympathy was expressed over the death of J. Pettinger on Thursday last. He passed away at the home of J. Knudsen and the funeral services were held Saturday p. m.

Mrs. Jardine, James Wilson, Richard Guerrin and Jack Jardine enjoyed an auto trip to the LaLonde home near East Jordan on Sunday. Miss LaLonde accompanied them on their return.

Mrs. I. Newville and son Lyle, have returned home from Greenville, where they have been for the last two weeks. While there Lyle had his tonsils and adenoids removed and will soon begin school again.

MARION CENTER

A. Pontius has sold his farm to Austin Newman.

Agnes Celner left Thursday for Belding, Michigan.

NORMAL NOTES

Most of the class are planning rural school observation during the state teacher's Institnte vacation, this week.

The class heard the splendid lectures given in high school assembly room by Professor Catton.

Miss Cram will substitute in the junior high school Thursday and Friday of this week.

Miss MacNeal is substituting in the kindergarten in Miss Zipp's place for a few days.

The Normal reading class is very interesting as the students are presenting rhymes to the clase as if they were kindergartners, and much fun is obtained from the work.

The Misses Bates and Huntoon entertained the grade teachers, commissioner Stewart, and normalites, with a hallowe'en party in the normal room Friday evening. The evening was passed very pleasantly by all and a good time reported.

EVELINE

Rain, rain, rain.

William Tumouth has gone to Detroit for the winter.

The Fred Christensen sale wasn't very well attended but the stock and seed that wae billed was all sold.

Bert King haa purchased a pea and bean thresher. Its a new Huber and Bert can thresh beans this fall the way they should be.

Farmers find that from 20 to 25 per cent of their potato crop is ruined by the two heavy frosts of laat week. Green beans were damaged as well.

Joseph Pittinger died at the bome of John Knudsen last Thursday noon. Ilis illness had been of long duration but his death came quickly. Funeral services were held from the Knudsen home Saturday at 1 o'clock p. m. The neighbors extend a hand in sympathy to the bereaved.

You need a good warm Mackinaw right now, and moreso during the winter. Our line waa never better. Benj. Brown.—Adv. 40 tf.

NORTHERN MICHIGAN IS INVADED

BY P. M. RAILROAD INSPECTION COMMITTEE

Inspectors Pleased With Many Improvements Which Have Been Made During Past Year

Northern Michigan was peacefully invaded by the Pore Marquette railway inspection committee on Wednesday of last week on their third annual inspection tour of the system which will take ten working days to complete.

President Frank H. Alfred and his official entourage are traveling by special train, having left Grand Rapids Wednesday morning, after having completed the inspection of the line from Detroit to Porter, together with the three branch lines running south. The party covered the Petoskey line on Wednesday, together with the branches and returned to Manistee in the night in order to cover the Ludington-Saginaw lines the following day.

Included in the party with President Alfred were the following general officers from Detroit: Messrs. C. M. Booth, general freight agent; A. L. Grandy, assistant general manager; J. L. Hayes, general superintendent; H. O. Halstead, general superintendent of transportation; J. Tuthill, chief engineer; C. S. Sheldon, engineer bridges and buildings; H. A. Cassils, engineer of maintenance of way; George W. Trout, signal engineer; L. E. Mueller, supervisor of mail and express; R. J. Williams, superintendent of motive power and others.

Among the divisional officers were Supt. J. J. Corcoran and division engineer W. J. Long, of Detroit; Supt. E. E. Cain and division engineer William Madden, Grand Rapids; Supt. A. R. Morrick and division engineer C. J. Rist of the Toledo-Ludington division, Saginaw; Supt. J. A. Anderson and division engineer A. R. Dewees of the Port Huron-Grand Rapids division, Saginaw.

Seven different committees are busy marking the results of their findings, so that the various competition awards may be made. The inspectors have had reason to be gratified with the improvements that have been made this summer on the maintenance of tracks, in particular, even under the serious difficulties of securing labor.

INTERNATIONAL GO-TO-SUNDAY SCHOOL DAY

Idea Originated in Kentucky During Year of 1914

The idea of Go-To-Sunday school day originated in Kentucky in 1914, and its annual observance haa increased nearly three fold the average annual increase in membership of the Sunday schools of Kentucky.

This year all the Sunday schools of North America are asked to observe the day.

The Sunday school is for persons of all ages and all the people of this community are urged next Sunday to attend the school of their choice.

The Congregational school aims to have one hundred seventy-five present and parents are particularly invited.

RED CROSS

A call from headquarters this last week was responded to by sending a box of knitted goods as follows:

25 pair socks.
22 pairs wristlets.
15 sweaters.
18 mufflers and a helmet.

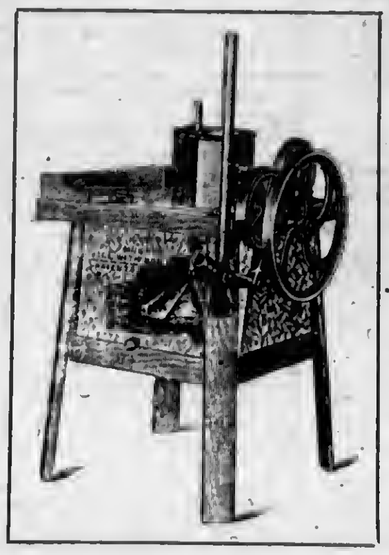
Another box will go soon, so any one knitting for Red Cross will please get the articles in as soon as possible. Winter is coming.

Our allotment of 30 bathrobes will be sent this week.

This auxiliary is furnishing sixty-five $2.00 Christmas packets, our share of the county number for our boys in France. A postcard with personal greetings from Charlevoix will be enclosed in each packet. A little later Chrslevoix will remember the Charlevoix boys in this country with Xmas boxes. Lets let them know we are with them.

Children don't forget to knit the bright squares 6 x 6 and make robes one yard square. Form groups . It will be lots of fun.

J. M. Saunders has a bargain for the right person. Four cylinder Buick, first class condition, reasonable terms, and the right price for a reliable buyer. Telephone 165.



Something New in Hand Power Washing Machines

Have you seen the big 3 Hand Power Vacuum Washers. They are the most simple and efficient Washing Machines made. Quickest—because the quick action of the agitator drives the hot suds through the clothes so forcibly that the dirt responds at once. Easiest—because it works on the Vacuum principle and requires only power enough to handle the water—not the clothes. This means no wear whatever on the clothes. Easiest on the Clothes. Easiest to operate. Cleanest—because it takes all the dirt out, instead of rubbing part of it into the clothes.

WHEN THE BOYS ARRIVE

It is a pity that those in authority in Washington are so reluctant to allow the publication of the safe arrival of this or that unit of troops in France. The policy of "no news is good news" is far from being satisfactory to parents and friends. There are obvious reasons why the departure of troops for the other side should be guarded with all possible secrecy, but when a regiment or a brigade or a division has once reached there the situation may well be viewed in another light. There is not the remotest likelihood that Berlin is in the slightest doubt as to the number and disposition of our troops in France, or that any policy of news suppression that Washington can enforce in this country will deceive or confuse Berlin in that matter.

It may be possible to keep German spies in this country from sending information to Berlin, and in that hope lies the justification of all possibla secrecy surrounding the sailing of transports, but once our troops are in France, you may be sure that Berlin knowa all about it almost as soon as Paris or London does. Why, then, the Washington policy of the suppression of what is only the routine news of the war, the news that comes close to the homes and the hearts of the people who are called on to support the war with unending energy and enthusiasm? Nobody seems to know. It is one of the Washington mysteries and there are many of them these days. No such policy has prevailed in Canada or in the British colonies. There the safe arrival of troops at their European destination has promptly been made public.

The Washington censorship, and especially the Creel publicity bureau, deserve all the ridicule that has been heaped upon them, but the thing gets beyond ridicule when a few families are allowed to get cablegrams from their boys who are in a certain unit and when hundreds of the other families that have boys in that same unit are left in harrowing uncertainty as to the safe arrival of the boys in France.

STOPPING THE SPIES

Through the President's recent proclamation placing in effect the trading with the enemy act, the United States at last seems about to take the final neceessary step toward shutting off from the Central Powers all information regarding American activities. Acoording to press reports from Washington a atrict censorship on all mails leaving this country will soon be undertaken under the authority granted by this law.

While at present, as before our declaration of war, Great Britain exercises stringent oensorship aver all mail going direct inta Germany, there yet remala ather channela through which information has been obtalaabla to tha Berlin spy system. Soma of these channels will remain open until the United States censors all foreign mail. There is nothing to prevent German spies in this country from writing to co-workers in neutral South American countries or in the West Indies any information they may obtain in this country. Thereafter the fruits of their apying may be forwarded via Spain ta the Central Powers. There also are other circuitous routea open to them so long as American mail remains uncensored exeept as it is halted in tbe Atlantic by British cenaors.

Tha mail censorship ruling will be supplemental to the recent embargo on shipments to neutrals. We are making every endeavor to place the strongest fighting forea poasible against the Germana. We should not hesitate to take whatever meaaurea are necessary elther to safeguard our armies or to weaken the enemy.

WHY HIGHER POSTAGE NECESSARY

When we had three-cent postage before wa had also a three-cent cain, of nickel, aften paased upon the unwary for a dime. We had also a twa-cent coin, which was useful when two-cent postage arrived. Both coins are gone now; but three-cent poatsge is back again with us. How long it will stay, none can tell. It is made necessary by the war, we are told by way of consolation. It is also made necessary in part by the absurd tnxation policies of a Democratic congress, which refuses to make use of the tariff to raiso revenue for the government.

CUT OUT LUXURY

If the American people are to subscribe and pay for bonds to the amount of $3,000,000,000 and be ready to subscribe for a similar amount before these bonds are issued they must do so by curtailing luxuries. Every day's labor expended upon either artieles of luxury or luxurious service is so much labor tuken away from the production of necesaities.

Bread rations in Germany have again been reduced 10 per cent. Evidently the government there is determined to find out just how much its civil population will stand.

Germany has offered to feed Sweden. Some of the Germans at home, when they discover this, will wonder why the government doesn't feed them a little more first.

If the kaiser really wants to know how much of a war zone the American shore line is, all he has to do is to send over a few ships to try it out.

Henry Ford bought $5,000,000 worth of Liberty bonds. Henry has the right idea; he doesn't let his pacifism interfere with his patriotism.

Rain held up the British drive so it wouldn't be surprising to have the Kaiser announce that God is again fighting on his side.

Don't let your Liberty Bonds represent your easy money. Pile them up until they dig into your hard earned cash.

And a year ago you were fussing over the high cost of living; now you as so numbed that you never think about it.

Accidents to hunters are quite numerous these days, but are overshadowed by reports of war casualties.

Don't forget that reminder from the government to start Christmas presents for soldiers before Nov. 15.

The Kaiser not only has to be knocked down, but we've got to make sure that he'll never get up again.

One can't help thinking what a swell high society burglar von Bernstorff would have made.

Time to think about taking down the screen and putting on the storm windows and doors.

Sacrifice your bank account for Liberty Bonds. This is Uncle Sam's rainy season.

What this country needs right now is a controller of the crop of foolish suggestions.

Buy a Liberty bond. They will be your certificates of character.

HOW

To Give Tone and Character to a Room

THAT your home, whether it be in a four room flat or a tweaty room maasion, shall be artistic is a laudable ambition, but it is well to reiaember that art is defiaed aa tho skill of handicraft and that aothing is skilful that is inappropriate.

Tha first and perhaps most importsnt rule in furnishing a house is the following: Don't put big features into s amall room.

To begiu with the parlor, that apartment in the average home of today is aot aufficieutly capacious to accommodate massive apholstered furniture without conveying tho impression of being stuffy and overcrowded, and yet maay women refuse to elimiaate what they have been educated to regard as esseatial.

Such a parlor is most often eatirely without character. It falls to strike the mean hetweca luxuriousaess and utility, which its circumscribed dimeasioas demand. Harmony aad simplicity could effect wouderful reforms in maay drawing rooms. One large masterpieco by Corot, beautiful as it is in itself, could wreck beyond repair the gentility of aay 12 by 12 drawing room in which it might be hung.

The fault of overcrowding aad an incongruous mixture of styles is not so geaeral in dining rooms as in parlors, but character is frequeatly lost through overornamentation of mautels aad sideboard.

Tho dialag room, if it is a dialag room aud aot compelled, as, of course, many are, to fill tho double function of refectory and sitting room, should have its purpose mado attractively apparent, not only by its chief central feature, the table, but by chairs of amplitudo aad comfortable solidity. It is a mistako to install cheap dialng room chairs; far better, if necessary, to ecouomize in somo other direction. Let the chairs typify inexhaustible hospitality rather than be merely "seats at table."

The excellence of a library is naturally judged by the choice number of its books. But he your books what they may, if you would really boast a library in your house, have the room arranged so that reading appears to be its primary purpose. Do aot imagine that a amall central chaadelier, which would serve the purpose in your front hall, can fill a like mission in your library.

WHEN YOU WAKE UP DRINK GLASS OF HOT WATER

Wash the poisons and toxins from system before putting more food into stomach.

Says inside-bathing makes any one look and feel clean, sweet and refreshed.

Wash yonrself on the inside befor breakfast like you do on the outside. This is vastly more important becau the skin pores dn not absorb impuities into the blood, causing illnes while the bowel pores do.

For every ounce of food and drink taken into the stomach, nearly a ounce of waste material must be carried out of the body. If this waste material is not elliminated day by day it quickly fermenta and generates poisons, gases and toxins which are absorbed or sucked into the blood stream, through the lymph ducts which should auck only nourishment to sustain the body.

A splendid health measure is to drink, before breakfast each day, a glass of real hot water with a teaspoonful of limestone phosphate in it, which is a harmless way to wash these poisons, gases and toxins from the stomach, liver, kidnays and bowels; thus cleansing, sweetening and freshening the entire alimentary canal before putting more food into the stomach.

A quarter pound of limestone phosphate costs but very little at the drug store but is sufficient to make anyone an enthusiast on inside-bathing. Men and women who are accustomed to wake up with a dull, aching head or have furred tongue, bad taste, nasty breath, sallow complexion, others who have billious attacks, acid stomach or constipation are assured of pronounced improvement in both health and appearance shortly.

WINNERS AT PLOWING MATCH

THOSE WHO CARRIED OFF THE PRIZE MONEY

Hundreds of People in Attendance During Dinner—Chicken Dinner Appreciated by All

Despite the cold, disagreeable weather, h undreds of paople from all parts of the county attended the plowing match held at Ironton, October 11. The program was carried out as advertised with the exception of a few of minor importance.

During the noon hour the rush in the dining hall was terrific and many of the more timid ones were compelled to wait some time before they could obtain their portion of the good things offered.

In the plowing contests some fifteen teams were entered and the work accomplished demonstrated that Charlevoix county agriculturists had not entirely forgotten how to handle the plow in the county wide desire to be experts at the steering wheel of the "Lizzy." Below are listed the events and winners:

Sod Class
1st prize .....Peter Anderson
2nd prize .....Emil Nasson
3rd prize ..Clarence Meggison

General Purpose
1st prize .....Datus Dean
2nd prize ....Byron Meggison

The farmers won in the tug of war with the business men and were also winners of the ball game. The dance in the evening was well attended, giving the final windup of a most successful event.

SCHOOL COMMISSIONERS NOTES

The Charlevoix County State Teachers' Institute has been appointed by State Superintendent Fred L. Keeler to be held at Boyne City, during the days of Jan. 28-29 of 1918. Prof. S. S. Stockwell, of Marquette Normal has been appointed conductor. Instructors are Miss Lucy A. Sloan of Mount Pleasant for the 28th and Hon. O. T. Corson, Columbus, Ohio, for the 29th.

Men in charge of the Food Conservation Campaign request that the following be printed or written on some blackboard in each school of the county: "KNOW THE GRIM TRUTH." All the blood, all the heroism, all the money, all the munitions in the world will not win this war unless our Allies and the people behind them are fed.

They will not be fed and our sacrifice of blood and money will be in vain and a great cause sustain a great injury unless each one in his own home each day stands guard over the nation's supply of WHEAT, MEAT, FATS, AND SUGAR.

The teachers of Chandler township who failed to have a light in the schoolhouse window on the night of October 15, wish to explain as follows to the speakers who so patriotically braved the elements in coming out to their districts in behalf of the Liberty Loan:

Miss Irene Gregory of the Blain school says that she did not understand that a speaker would be sent to her school that night or that one had been assigned to her school.

Miss Arle Hawkins of the Gill school recived her card too late to make preparations.

Miss Ruth White of the Springvale school thought that speakers would not be assigned unless the return card was mailed.

Miss Albina Stanchina did not receive any card or telegram from the Governor. She knew that other teachers received notice but did not think this meant every school.

Miss Anna Metcalf was in Charlevoix at home during a harvest vacation and the circulars were held up nwuiting her in Boyne Falls.

Aside from these five schools, arrangements miscarried in one school in Hudson, one in Boyne Valley, and one in South Arm. At the time these notes go to press, no explanations have been received from these three schools. The remaining schools of the 66 schools notified cooperated in the fullest degree.

Three new ventilating systems are to arrive in the county ready to solve the winter foul air problem. They have been ordered in Horton Bay, East Bay and Forrest Hill.

Miss Palmer of the Hoffman school writes that her "home" is much improved since the potato vacation. Later on we shall see what the improvements are.

Evangeline township is to have a spelling contest between No. 4 and No. 5 on the third Friday in January of 1918. There will be a box social and patriotic rally in connection with it.

The Tainter school has a new dictionary and expects to have chart of perception cards.

The Wildwood school has a record of 11 out of 15 not absent or tardy since school began. They have a new flag pole, new curtains, new dictionary, new maps ordered, new Palmer Method text books. This schools lacks only three small points of being a Standard school. A recitation seat is needed, the window panes need to be frosted as directed by state, and library books for small children should be obtained. It could become Standard over night.

The school buildings of Chandler No. 4 were found to be all freshly painted and looking bran new. For so small a district and so small a school, this is a big, and marvelous improvement in one year.

Chandler No. 6 had the banner record on improvement for this year. In the eurly part of September it wns noted in this column that this school had plnced a bank of windows on the west and that the school was newly painted. A recent visit found that the woodwork was freshly painted inside as well as outside, that the room had been plastered, new maps had heen ordered, new hangers bought for the clonkroom, new curtains approved kind being ordered, new grammar books and new physiologies adopted. The teacher declared that now she would not think of asking for busy work because she wanted to help and so she was going to give a social to buy what she needed. This week the district added to that list by ordering a ventiluting system and their modern equipment is complete. This is the biggest record for improvement made in any one year by any one small school in the county.

Chandler No. 5 has new cement steps on the schoolhouse and other plans have been indefinitely postponed.

The teachers' meeting for Chandled township was held at the schoolhouse of Chandler No. 6, the Forrest Hill school, commonly called 23, on the afternoon of Wednesday, October 24th. The teachers voted to hold a township spelling for Chandler township in tha Major schoolhouse, on the night of December 14. They will use the state 1,000 word list and will provide a patriotic program, one part of which is given by each school.

The Undine school director, Mr. E. E. Stroud, reported by long distance Saturday, the 27th, that his district schoolhouse now had the windows on one side, as per state recommendations, and that the carpenters were nearly through with their work. He asks what next? We had noted before that seating arrangements were apleadid, ventilating system had been in operation for some time, and library had been voted during the summer. Surely the school has been rapidly approaching the best state standard.

The Barnard school has improved the ventilating system in connection with the basement furnace of the building, and the seats had been replaced to allow all of one size to sit in one row, with the smallest nearest the windows on the left. This is a very good improvement which the commissioner had failed to note on a former visit.

The commissioner enjoyed an evening and part of an afternoon at the community gathering at Barnard, Thursday the 25th and Friday the 26th. Topics concerning the home, the church, the school, and our country were studied. The movement is well worth our boosting, both for progress and good times.

News comes through three channels this week that Melrose No. 3 has purchased two indoor chemical toilets and the school notes from that action indicate that they should be standard soon.

Miss Lela Genett who has been teaching a splendid school in the Undine district has been forced to resign because of ill health. The district regrets this necessity to change teachers and repeat that the school is here any time she is ready to return next year. Miss Horatio Iddings of Charlevoix, has consented to complete the term for her.

Due to the state meeting of Commissioners and county normal section and state Teachers' Association in Grand Rapids this week, the commissioner will be out of the county after Tuesday. No notice next week.

The American Red Cross is issuing pamphlets on Junior Red Cross work now which is for schools and school work. All teachers wishing to co-operate with the government in their school work may secure information from the commissioner's office.

Directions for making ration haaters will be published in one of the following issues of this paper.

SAGE TEA DARKENS HAIR TO ANY SHADE

Don't stay Gray! Here's an Old-time Recipe that Anybody can Apply.

The use of Sage and Sulphur for restoring faded, gray hair to its natural color dates back to grandmother's time. She used it to keep her hair beautifully dark, glossy and attractive. Whenever her hair took on that dull, faded or streaked appearance, this simple mixture was applied with wonderful effect.

But brewing at home is mussy and out-of-date. Nowsdays, by asking at any drug store for a 50 cent bottle of "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound," you will get this famous old preparation, improved by the addition of other ingredients, which can be depended upon to restore natural color and beauty to the hair.

A well-known downtown druggist says it darkens the hair so naturally and evenly that nobody can tell it has been applied. You simply dampen a sponge or soft brush with it and draw this through your hair, taking one strand at a time. By morning the gray hair disappears, and after another application or two, it becomes beautifully dark and glossy.

Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound is a delightful toilet requisite for those who desire a more youthful appearance. It is not intended for the cure, mitigation or prevention of disease.

Pneumonia Takes Joseph Pettinger After Short Illness

Joseph Pettinger died Thursday afternoon at the home of his niece, Mrs. John Knudsen, in Eveline township, of pneumonia. Mr. Pettinger was 47 years of age, and leaves a wife and two small children to mourn their loss. He also leaves a sister, Mrs. William Hunter of Eveline, and two sisters and a brother in the west.

The funeral occurred Saturday afternoon at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. John Knudsen, at whose home died, Rev. Quinton Walker officiating. Interment was in Brookside cemetery.

GAME DEPUTIES TO NORTH WOODS

PREPARING FOR THE HUNTING SEASON

Game Department Will Extend Aid to Injured and Saa Law Is Enforced

Plans have been made and deputies statianed in the upper peninsula by Fish and Game Commissioner John Baird for the hunting season, Chief Clerk Charles Hoyt stated Monday.

They are instructed to visit camps, to assist tha hunters, who may be lost or injured and to stop as many violations as possible. At the present time the only game being sought legally is partridges, ducks and rabbits. Not many hunters are out as the birds are scarce owing to the poor chances for propagation in the last few years.

"Many of the very best sportsmen would be ashamed to shoot a bird this year," said Mr. Hoyt.

The partridge season closes November 9 and the deer season opens November 10. This is the first year in Michigan when the two seasons have not over-lapped. The change was made because some bird dogs chase and worry deer. It is considered a good measure by some real huntsmen.

Another new feature which will interest hunters this year, is that six persons may form a deer camp and one deer may be killed and used for camp purposes. A special permit must be secured before this can be done legally. These permits are issued at the office of the fish, game and forest fire commissioner in the Oakland building, Lansing. It does not do away with securing the license from county clerk as in former years. This, too, must be done, if the hunters want to remain within the law. County clerks will furnish applications for the permits.

SKIDDING AUTOS.

Why Cars Skid and How to Overcome This Danger.

This is the time of the year skidding is prevalent, much more so than at other seasons. This is due to the fact that rain and ice keep the pavements wet or icy, according to the temperature. There is another element entering into the situation, however. Because of the cold and discomforts of motoring most folks who travel at this time of the year desire to get there and so travel faster. The very fact that they are uncomfortable causes them to pay less attention to driving with care. The result is they run up close behind some other vehicle which stops quickly. Then they jam on the brakes hard and skid. Or a car comes out of a side street suddenly, making it necessary to swerve quickly to one side or stop, and the result is a skid in either case.

Probably the greatest cause of skidding is turning a corner at too high a rate of speed. This often causes a skidding of the front wheels as well as the rear wheels—that is, the car is going so fast that the front wheels do not get traction enough to change the direction, and when they attempt to make the turn they skid and the car goes for the curb. Applying the brake will usually overcome this skid.

In a rear wheel skid the worst thing one can do is to apply the brake. It is best to let the car coast, turning the front wheels in the direction in which the rear end of the car is skidding. If it is trying to go to the left, turn the front wheels that way. If there is something in the way, so that it is necessary to stop, the brake may be applied a little as the wheels take hold, leaving the clutch engaged, which prevents locking the wheels, as the engine is pulling against the brake and there is not so much likelihood of locking the wheels. It keeps the wheels revolving slowly, so that you get a better traction for stopping.

It takes a greater pressure applied laterally to start the wheel sliding than to keep it skidding once it is started, and you can bring the car to a standstill much quicker if you can keep the wheels from sliding. A little practice will teach the driver just how much he can apply the brakes without causing the wheels to skid.

UNSHAKEN TESTIMONY

Time is the test of truth. And Doan's Kidney Pills have stood the test in Charlevoix. No Charlevoix resident who suffers backache, or annoying urinary ills can remain unconvinced by this twice-told testimony.

Mrs. John Hull, 102 W. Lincoln Ave., Charlevoix, says: "I gladly recommend Doan's Kidney Pills for they have done me worlds of good. I suffered from an attack of lumbago. I tried various remedies but got no relief until I used Doan's Kidney Pills. In a short time they entirely removed the trouble. A short time ago my back and kidneys troubled me again but Doan's Kidney Pills brought me relief promptly." (Statement given October 26, 1911.)

On October 5, 1916 Mrs. Hull said: "I can speak just as highly of Doan's Kidney Pills as I did when I recommended them before. I use this medicine occasionally as a tonic and it keeps my back and kidneys in good condition."

Price 60c, at all dealers. Don't simply ask for a kidney remedy—get Doan's Kidney Pills—the same that Mrs. Hull has twice publicly recommended. Foster-Milburn Co., Props., Buffalo, N. Y.

THE CITY OF QUEENSTOWN.

It Is a Seaport, a Watering Place and a British Naval Station.

Queenstown, numbering slightly more than 8,000 souls, has a threefold distinction—as a seaport, a watering place and a British naval station. It is a well built and attractive place, with a mild climate, and, being built upon an island, its streets rise in terraces one above the other and offer a superb outlook over the neighboring waters.

Within fifty years the place was only a small fishing village and was known as the Cove of Cork. Its present name was received in 1840 by reason of its having been the first spot in Ireland upon which Queen Victoria set foot. It still serves as the port of the city of Cork, from which it is twelve miles distant. Cork itself is located at the point of entry of the river Lee into the bay.

The harbor of Queenstown is splendidly defended by two forts—Carlisle and Camden—at its entrance and by Fort Westmoreland, which is situated upon Spike island, one of the group of three isles which make up the government dockyard and constitute the fine natural breakwater of the harbor, wherein a large fleet can find safe anchorage.

Two years before the queen's visit to the town Spike island was made a convict depot upon the abolishment of the transportation scheme of punishment which had been in vogue, and the convicts sent there were employed upon the fortifications. The island ceased to be a prison in 1885, at which time it was handed over to the military authorities.—National Geographic Society Bulletin.

Positive Jurors.

A prospective juror, being qualified for a murder trial in Illinois, when asked the customary question, "Have you formed or expressed an opinion as to the guilt or innocence of the accused?" rejoined promptly: "Sure. He's as guilty as all get out!" Which resulted in a $10 fine by the outraged court and, of course, the disqualification of that talesman.

There was a murder case that ended right in the middle when counsel, wheedling gently at the jury, remarked, "Of course none of you gentlemen has made up his mind yet as to the guilt or innocence of this defendant." Taking advantage of a rhetorical pause, a lanky juror arose and replied positively: "Well, I have, for one. He ought to be hung!"—Kansas City Star.

Where We Get Nux Vomica.

With the exception of Ceylon, which exports a limited quantity of nux vomica, British India is said to supply the world. Nux vomica seeds and pickings are obtained from the plumlike fruits of the tree. The fruit is collected and the seeds washed out and dried in the sun. In the forests of Nellore, where the tree is common, the seeds are washed out by a forest tribe, the Yanadis, and a good price is obtained for them. Cochin nux vomica is collected in the dry deciduous forests at the foot of the Travancore hills and is sold at a low figure to small native dealers, who send it to the merchants.

EARTH ROAD MAINTENANCE.

A Never Ending Job and Has to Be Done Over and Over.

Earth road maintenance now is and will continue for some years to be the real road problem of Kansas, since it is not likely that more than a very small per cent of the highways will be paved in this generation, asserts W. S. Gearhart, professor of highway engineering in the Kansas State Agricultural college and state highway engineer.

"Practically all the work done on an earth road, except reduction of grades, correction of horizontal alignment, building of drainage structures and elimination of railway grade crossings, is temporary and should properly be considered 'maintenance,'" said Mr. Gearhart.

"Doing permanent work is a comparatively easy matter, for when once it is done correctly it will last for a number of years. The maintenance of an earth road, however, is a never ending job. It is like milking the cows and doing other chores, for the builder knows that the work of maintenance will have to be done over and over again and can never feel that it is in any sense permanent.

"For this reason the earth road has a bad reputation. The trouble is not so much with the material of which the road is composed as with our system or lack of system of management. Other types of roads, when treated as we treat the earth roads, are much more expensive and serve the traveling public little, if any, better. The vast improvement that can be made on our present earth roads by intelligent direction in their construction and maintenance is little realized by the public, and the serviceability of a properly maintained earth road is not appreciated when compared with other types of roads as to cost of construction.

AN EARTH ROAD.

"Successful construction and maintenance of any kind of a road depend upon the recognition by the public and the builders of a few fixed and fundamental requirements.

HOW WARS START.

An Ocean Cable Would Have Averted Our Conflict of 1812.

Had there been an ocean telegraph in 1812 there might not have been a war with England at that time. Five days after President Madison signed the declaration of war England recalled the orders in council which had provoked it. The purpose to recall the orders was unknown in America, while in England nothing was known of the war declaration when the orders were revoked. This war's most important battle, that of New Orleans, was fought fifteen days after the treaty of peace had been signed at Ghent. It was this battle which made Jackson a popular idol and gave him the presidency.

The first step in the Crimean war was Russia's invasion of Moldavia, months before diplomatic rupture with England and France.

The firing on Fort Sumter, which started the war between the states, is a familiar story.

The first shot of the Franco-Prussian war was by a French soldier on guard at Strasburg bridge a day or two before Napoleon III. formally took the field.

The attempt on Bismarck's life as he was walking down the Unter den Linden on May 7, 1866, rallied public sentiment to him and his policy and from a dramatic standpoint may be said to have been the first shot in the Austro-Prussian war.

The blowing up of the Maine was the first blow in the Spanish-American war, which ended Spanish possessions in the new world.—Charlton Bates Strayer in Leslie's.

You need a good warm Mackinaw right now, and moreso during the winter. Our line was never better. Benj. Brown.—Adv. 40 tf.

On Guard at the Reading Gate

It a fine thing to guard our homes against alien soldiers of whose purposes we are all aware. But it is also very important to guard them against other insidious foes that creep in under the disguise of friendly entertainers to plunder and destroy the cherished ideals the lofty standards the clear views that have given the home its character.

If you will familiarize your young people with the best reading they will not be likely to crave what is inferior and demoralizing. The Youth's Companion is a powerful influence in awakening a taste for what is best in reading. It is on guard at the reading gate! Nothing cheap, mean or hateful passes its challenge. But neither does the crabbed and dull and austere Cherry Ideal-ism is The Companion's countersign. Put it on guard at your reading gate.

The Companion is $2 a year. If you do not know it, by all means send for sample copies giving a forecast of what the next volume will bring. By adding 25 cents you can also get McCall's Magazine, the best fashion authority for women and girls—both publications for $2.25.

Our two at one price offer includes:

1. The Youth's Companion—52 issues of 1918.
2. All the remaining issues of 1917.
3. The Companion Home Calendar for 1918.
4. McCall's Magazine—12 fashion numbers of 1918.

Don't put on the roof until you investigate

It is poor economy to save money by substituting something inferior but wouldn't you like to save on cost if you could get something better? You can get a better roof for less money if you put on

Certain-teed
Roofing

Before its merits were recognized, roll roofing was regarded as a more or less temporary roof—but now CERTAIN-TEED has demonstrated that it is not only a most durable roof, but also the most efficient roof.

It is economical to buy, inexpensive to lay and costs practically nothing to maintain. It is light weight, clean, sanitary, fire-retardant and weather-tight.

It is now used as the preferable type of roof for office buildings, factories, hotels, stores, warehouses, garages, farm buildings etc., where durability is demanded. CERTAIN-TEED is guaranteed for 5, 10 or 15 years, according to thickness (1, 2 or 3 ply).

There are many roll roofings on the market, but only one CERTAIN-TEED. It pays to get the best. It costs no more to lay a CERTAIN-TEED roof than it does to lay a poor roof, but there is a vast difference in the wear. You can't tell the quality of a roofing by looks or feel. Your only safety is the label. Be sure that it is CERTAIN-TEED—then you are certain of quality and guaranteed satisfaction.

Certain-teed* Slate-Surfaced Asphalt Shingles
are supplanting wood and slate shingles for residences. They cost less, are just as good looking, wear better, won't fall off, buckle or split. They are fire-retardant, and do not have to be painted or stained.

Certain-teed* Paints and Varnishes

are the best quality paint materials, ground and mixed with mechanical accuracy. Made for all uses and in all colors. With paint, as with roofing, the name CERTAIN-TEED is a guarantee of quality and satisfaction.

HAD FEAST OF GOOD THINGS

MANY ATTEND SPECIAL SERVICES AT BARNARD

Messages of Leading Speakers Were Thoroughly Enjoyed—Chicken Dinners Served

The people of the Norwood charge were given a feast of good things last week in the messages of the Rev. Wentworth F. Stewart, D. D., and in the messages also of the Rev. R. E. Meader, D. D., and of Miss May L. Stewart, our county commissioner. Dr. Diehl did not arrive early enough to take any part on the program. We are expecting him some time later. When he comes, be ready for great things. To say that the inspiration of Dr. W. F. Stewart's message made us forget our disappointment in the failure of Dr. Diehl to arrive, is only to say the truth. And the best may yet be ours. We are hoping to be able to have Dr. Stewart with us for a series of evangelistic meetings some time this year.

The chicken dinners at Norwood and at Barnard were the best ever. Moreover, we were obedient to Hoover, for we left our cakes at home. The musical numbers of Miss Alta Perry, of Mr. and Mrs. A. B. Clark and the male quartette and the ladies quartet at Barnard were greatly appreciated. The school at Barnard under the direction of Mrs. Thomas Scroggie furnished an attractive program. The closing lecture by Dr. Stewart "The New Patriotism—What Our Country Must Do to be Saved" was a message of gripping power.

Next Sunday, November 4, is the international go to Sunday school Sunday. Go to Sunday school and take some one with you. Barnard aims to have 125 present. Norwood and Atwood want a record attendance.—Contributed.

TUBERS CAN BE SAFELY STOREO FOR WINTER USE

Best Methods for Protecting Potatoes From Demage

The extensive purchasing of potatoes this fall for storage through the winter by farsighted housewives has led the department of horticulture of the Michigan Agricultural college to offer a few suggestions which may better insure the safekeeping of those stocks.

"In storing potatoes in small quantities for winter use," the department states, "they may be put away under varying conditions of temperature and moisture, but they should not be allowed to freeze. Nor should the temperature be so high that they will dry out and become wilted. An ordinery house cellar, or even a room in the house, may be used for storing potatoes if the frost is kept out.

"Potatoes should also be protected from the light. If the room or cellar can not be darkened, the potatoes should be covered. Exposure to light causes them to turn green and become more or less unsuitable for table use.

"The ideal conditions for storage are those under which a temperature of from 33 to 40 degrees is maintained, and where the atmosphere is quite moist. Under such conditions potatoes will keep in a sound and firm condition for a long time."

BUSY ON FOOD CONSERVATION WORK

Local Chairman Enlists Aid of School Teachers

G. C. Townsend is busy this week distributing pledge cards for the conservation of food. He has been appointed chairman of Banks township by the federal board and in order to reach the greatest number of homes in a limited time is enlisting the aid of school teachers, the intention being that one child from each family shall take home one of the cards and it is urgently requested that the parent shall not only sign the card, but shall endeavor to conserve food to the best of their ability and circumstances.

The saving of foodstuffs at this time not only benefits yourselves by a reduction of living expenses but is a patriotic duty which should be cheerfully undertaken.

ELLSWORTH IS GREAT MARKET FOR TUBERS

Over Sixteen Thousand Bushels Already Handled by Dealers

To date over sixteen thousand bushels of potatoes have been purchased by the local buyers, the Ellsworth Produce Co. being in the lead by a good margin. This firm bought several loads last week which were raised within one and one-half miles of the East Jordan city limits.

This may seem strange, but when we stop to realize the market price here has been at least ten cents per bushel above the price quoted at any other town in this locality, it can be more easily understood.

DEATH OF FORMER WELL-KNOWN RESIDENT

Failed to Recover From Lingering Illness and Operation

Mrs Donald Patterson received the sad news last week of the death at Mayo Bros. hospital at Rochester, Minn., of her neice, Mrs. Walter Flye.

Mrs. Flye who was formerly Miss Cora Dunlap, had been in poor health for some time. She visited relatives here last spring and immediately on her return to her home at Munising became so bad that it was then thought advisable to operate, which was done by Mayo Bros. at their hospital in Rochester, Minnesota.

The operation at first seemed successful, but lately she began to fail and died Tuesday evening, October 23. The body being taken to her former home at Winnipeg, Canada.

Mrs. Flye had lived in and around Ellsworth a number of years and numbers as friends all whom she knew. Her bereeved husband and other relatives have the deepest sympathy of all.

Germany may keep on annoying the Russian people until they get mad enough to fight again.

FRUIT ROLLS.—Two cupfuls of flour, two teaspoonfuls of baking powder, one-half teaspoonful of salt, two tablespoonfuls of butter, two-thirds af a cupful of milk, one-third of a cupful of stoned raisins, chopped fine; two tablespoonfuls of citron, chopped fine; two tablespoonfuls of sugar, one-third af a spoonful of cinnamon. Mix the flour, baking powder and salt; sift twice; work in the butter with the tips of the fingers. Add gradually the liquid, mixing with a knife to the consistency of soft dough. Toss on a floured board, roll to one-quarter inch in thickness. Brush over with melted butter, sprinkle with the fruit, sugar and cinnemon and roll up like jelly roll. Cut into slices three-quarters of an inch in thickness and bake in a quick oven fifteen minutes.

Graham Puffs.—For one dozen puffs use three eggs, one pint of milk, one pint of graham flour, one teaspoonful of sugar, one-half teaspoonful of salt. Mix the graham flour, sugar and salt, heat the eggs till very light, add the milk, then pour it upon the dry ingredients and beat well for three minutes. Turn the batter into hot greased muffin pans and bake in a rather hot oven one-half hour.

Bran Gems. — One egg, two tablespoonfuls of sugar, a little salt, one cupful of sweet milk or sour milk, one tablespoonful of melted butter, one cupful of bran, one cupful of entire wheat flour. If sweet milk is used add one heaping teaspoonful of baking powder; if sour milk one level teaspoonful of soda. Bake in hot iron gem pans.

Jam Puffs.—Put one cupful of hot water in a saucepan and add two tablespoonfuls of butter, one tablespoonful of sugar and one-eighth of a teaspoonful of salt. When boiling add one and one-half of a cupful af sifted pastry flour and cook and stir until the mixture leaves the sides of the pan. Cool a little; add, one at a time, four unbeaten eggs and beat thoroughly. Drop on buttered baking sheets, flatten the tops, brush with beaten egg diluted with one tablespoonful of milk and bake in a moderate oven. When cold make an incision in the side of each and fill with one-half pint of heavy cream, beaten until stiff and mixed with one-half cupful of raspberry jam. Frost the tops with plain icing.

PHELPS

Mrs. W. Louiselle was a Saturday visitor at Ellsworth.

School again Monday morning, after a two weeks vacntion.

Looks like winter these days. Not a very good bean and potato weather.

Mr. Heneley is on the list of those driving automobiles, he having lately purchased a Ford.

Miss Lillian Skow and Neil Bradford of Ellsworth, were Sunday visitors of Estelle Everetts.

Mrs. Harry Dixon will return to Detroit this week after a four weeks visit here and nt Boyne Falls, with relatives and friends.

Henry Dixon and two children, of Charlevoix, have been digging potatoes and pulling beans in this vicinity the last two weeks.

We want to correct an error in the items of last week. Instead of preaching at Phelps church every Sunday evening, it is every other Sunday evening. Sunday school at one o'clock and preaching at 2 p. m. every Sunday afternoon. Everyone invited.

ATWOOD

Born, to Mr. and Mrs. J. D. Pickart, a baby daughter, last Monday morning.

A great many farmers have beans out yet; potatoes in the ground, and silos to fill yet.

Conrad Klooster has been helping A. Bos & Son in his spare time the last few weeks.

Mr. Albert Klooster from Reeman, Mich., is a visitor at the H. Klooster home at this writing.

A. Bos & Son have nearly finished installing the stalls and cement floor in their stables.

Mrs. K. Kiupers from Grand Rapids is visiting her daughter, Mrs. J. D. Pickart at present.

Wm. Walldruff and family, and Guy Empey motored to Ironton Sunday to the home of Oscar Ward.

This is the weather we have been dreading would come and it's here and only the 29th of October.

Messrs. VanHouten, H. VanderSlik and M. VanderHeide, put in a cement cistern at the parsonage of the Christian Reformed church last week.

Ed. Boss of the W. A. Boss hardware at Ellsworth was in Atwood last week looking up and inquiring after the auto belt attachments they sold this fall. They appear to be giving good satisfaction.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Bos return to Chicago this week Friday. They will be accompanied by Mrs. Hans DeYoung and little girl, who go to visit friends in Chicago. Mr. Bos has accepted a position for a year on a farm in Wisconsin and will go there from Chicago.

ANTRIM CITY

Mr. Montgomery filled his silo Friday.

Mr. and Mrs. Montgomery were nt Barnard Thursday evening last.

Mr. and Mrs. J. Simon called at the homes of Mr. Brant and Mr. Elzinga Sunday.

Mr. Elzinga expected a thousand bushels of potatoes from one bill last spring. Now that digging time has come we wonder if his expectations will be fulfilled.

AROUND THE DAIRY.

Fear, cold, nay kind of discomfort, is expensive in a dairy berd. Comfort always means profit. It is up to you if your cows do not turn you n profit.

Never mix warm and cold cream or sweet and slightly tainted cream.

Wooden pails should not be used for milking, as they easily become sour and cannot be thoroughly cleansed.

No loud talking should be permitted in the stable, and it is best that the cows be milked by the same persons in the same order at each milking.

Regularity in milking aids in developing a tendency to prolong the period of lactation.

APPLES MUST BE PACKED

AS SPECIFIED UNDER NEW STATE LAW

All Michigan Containers Have Been Standardized and Fruits Graded By Statute

Fruit grown and packed in Michigan this season will under two new state laws which have just become effective be required to sell under its own colors and be all that its label proclaims it to be. Still other provisions of the measure fix standard barrel dimensions and specify the various grades of apples, according to the department of horticulture of the Michigan Agricultural college. Fruit growers, the department says, will save themselves trouble if they will familiarize themselves with the laws, enforcement of which has been delegated to the state dairy and pure food commission, from which copies of the measure can be obtained.

The laws were drawn up and passed to protect the honest fruit grower from unscrupulous competitors who have in the past not been over particular as to whether or not their products were as good as their labels announced them to be, and to give Michigan grown fruit a better standing in the markets.

Standard Barrel

A few of the details of the act as compiled by John H. Carmody, extension agent in horticulture for M. A. C. are given below:

"In the case of apples, the Dalgneau bill provides among other things for the proper dimensions of the barrel. The standard barrel for apples, when measured without distention of its parts, must be as follows: Length of staves twenty-eight and one-half inches; diameter of heads, seventeen one-eighth in.; distance between heads, twenty-six inches; circumference of bulge, sixty-four inches; outside measurement and the thickness of staves not greater than four-tenths of an inch. Any barrel of a different form having a capacity of seven thousand fifty-six cubic inches shall be a standard barrel.

"The Hopkins Act, in addition to providing for a standard container for fruits also provides standard grades of apples that are to be packed in the barrels or other enclosed packages. Section 1 specifies first, that 'Michigan Standard Fancy, shall consist of hand-picked, properly packed apples of one variety, which are well grown specimens, normal in shape, uniform in size, of good color for the variety, and which are free from dirt, insect injury, fungous disease, bruises and other defects, except such as are necessarily caused in the operation of packing.

Uniform Size

'Uniform size' shall be construed to mean that apples contained in any one package shall not vary in size more than one-half inch in diameter; second 'Michigan Standard A' shall consist of hand-picked, properly packed apples of one variety, which are well grown specimens, normal in shape, of not less than fifty percentum of good color for the variety and which are practically free from dirt, insect injury, fungous disease, bruises and other defects, except such as are necessarily caused in the operation of packing; third, 'Michigan Standard B' shall consist of hand-picked, properly packed apples of one variety, which are well grown and practically free from injury and fungous disease. Provided the apples having healed-over insect punctures, small scab or blotch infections, fruit spots, or other defects which take singly or collectively, do not materially deform or discolor the fruit or injure its keeping quality, shall be admitted to this grade; fourth 'Michigan unclassified' shall consist of apples which do not conform to the foregoing specifications of grade, or which though conforming are not branded in accordance therewith.

"Tolerance" Specifications

"Section 2 states that in the interpretation of this act of tolerance of six percentum below the standard shall be allowed in the Standard Fancy grade, ten per centum in the Standard A grade, and fifteen per centum in the Standard B grade. Such tolerances shall apply to size, color and other grade specifications and shall be computed by counting or weighing the specimens which are judged to be below the standard for the grade in any respect and those which are found to be smaller than the minimum size marked on the package.

"The minimum size of the fruit in all grades according to Section 6, shall be determined by taking the transverse diameter of the smallest fruit in the package. Minimum sizes shall be stated in variations of one-quarter of an inch, as two inches, two and one-quarter inches, two and one-half inches, two and three-quarter, three inches, three and one-quarter inches, and so on, in accordance with facts. Minimum sizes may be designated by either figures or words and the word minimum may be designated by the use of the abbreviation 'min.'

Way to Label

"Every enclosed package containing apples must be plainly labeled on the outside and must show the grade of apples contained in the barrel, the minimum size, the correct name of the variety and the name and address of the grower. The following heading being used by some Michigan growers gives an idea of the proper way of labeling a barrel head:

Michigan Standard "A"
Minimum Size 2 3-4 inches
Baldwins
Grown and packed by John Jones
Charlevoix, Michigan

"These laws will not work any hardship on the honest grower who has always put on a good grade of fruit. They should in fact, be of distinct advantage, for they will prevent the unscrupulous grower henceforth from placing on the markets fruit incorrectly labeled, as was so often done in the past."

COUNTY LOSES ANOTHER PIONEER RESIDENT

Mrs. J. C. Healy Came Here 45 Years Ago

Funeral services were held Friday, October 26, for Mrs. J. C. Healey, one of the early pioneers of this county, whose death occurred Wednesday morning, at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Jesse Wright, of Eveline township.

Although blind for the past thirty years, and in later years, feeble on account of advanced age, Mrs. Healey was exceptionally cheerful, and until the last month, had been able to be about the house and grounds, but since that time she has failed rapidly, until death came Wednesday morning.

Mrs. Healey was one of the earliest settlers in this county, having moved here over 45 years ago, when all was wilderness in this vicinity, and had kept pace with all the wonderful changes which took place, although unable to see the greater part of them.

She leaves to mourn their loss, two sons and three daughters, Charles, who resides on the farm in Eveline township, Frank, of Boyne City, Mrs. Charles Dresser of Lansing, Mrs. Ed. Looze of Flint, and Mrs. Jesse Wright, of Eveline, at whose home she died.

UNCLE ASH HERRON DEAD

Pioneer Resident of Boyne City Died Last Week

A. F. Herron, known to most people in this county as "Uncle Ash," died at the home of his son, C. J. Herron, in Boyne City, Friday, October 26.

Mr. Herron was seventy five years of age and was one of the most respected citizens of Boyne City. He was the founder in 1897 of the Herron & Son Hardware store; and was a member of the Presbyterian church and of the masonic fraternity.

DRUGS EXCITE YOUR KIDNEYS, USE SALTS

If your Back is aching or Bladder bothers, drink lots of water and eat less meat.

When your kidneys hurt and your back feels sore, don't get scared and proceed to load your stomach with a lot of drugs that excite the kidneys and irritate the entire urinary tract. Keep your kidneys clean like you keep your bowels clean, by flushing them with a mild, harmless salts which removes the body's urinous waste and stimulates them to their normal activity. The function of the kidneys is to filter the blood. In 24 hours they strain from it 500 grains of acid and waste, so we can readily understand the vital importance of keeping the kidneys active.

Drink lots of water—you can't drink too much; also get from any pharmacist about four ounces of Jad Salts; take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast each morning for a few days and your kidneys will act fine. This famous salts is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and has been used for generations to clean and stimulate clogged kidneys; also to neutralize the acids in urine so it no longer is a source of irritation, thus ending bladder weakness.

Jad Salts is inexpensive; cannot injure; makes a delightful effervescent lithia-water drink which everyone should take now and then to keep their kidneys clean and active. Try this, also keep up the water drinking, and no doubt you will wonder what became of your kidney trouble and backache.

DRIVE TO SAVE FOOD FOR ARMY

NATION WIDE MOVEMENT BEGAN MONDAY

Over Four Hundred Pledges Signed and Returned to Date—Committees at Work

The American soldiers are in the first line of trenches in France and their first shot to redeem the world from kaiserism and make it safe for democracy was fired Saturday morning.

These American soldiers who are offering their lives for sacrifice that we might enjoy the freedom of the world and live in happiness and contentment in our homes in Charlevoix—safe from the iron heel of despotism, must be fed and c lothed. Tho brave men from Canada, France, England, Australia, who are fighting at their side, also must be fed and clothed.

What is known as "Food Pledge Week" commenced Monday morning. During the week committees of patriotic women will visit every housewife in every city and county, nnd ask them to sign pledges to save food for our soldiers who aro now fighting in France.

Save Food for Our Boys

The plea is no longer to save food for the soldiers of our allies in this world war, but for our own soldiers, who have gone to France. THE PLEA IS NOW TO SAVE FOOD FOR OUR OWN BOYS WHO ARE FIGHTING IN FRANCE.

A. A. Swinton of the Argo Milling Co. has been named as county chairman, and will bo ably assisted by J. L. Crane and H. A. Craig in the local work. Pledge cnrds have been sent to every home in the city, by students of the schools or other sources, and so far over 400 have been signed up. The ladies of the Dickens and Shakespeare clubs have pledged themselves to give the movement all aid possible.

In East Jordan the work will be in charge of Mrs. Wm. Palmeter, who is carrying on a campaign of education preparatory to the pledge eard canvas.

Supt. A. G. Stead of Boyne City, has the local work in that vicinity in charge. He is also being assisted by the Federation of Women's Clubs, and the entire community.

The work in Boyne Falls is in charge of Superintendent of Schools, A. R. Tate and workers of the various churches are furthering the movement.

County School Commissioner, May L. Stewart is making a vigorous campaign in connection with her school work, and visiting trips througbout the county.

Local organizations aro wanted in the rural districts, where some one is willing to take charge and see that the pledge cards are circulated, signed and returned.

Observe These Days

Along with the saving of all kinds of food, remember that,

Tuesday is Meatless Day.
Wednesday is Wheatless Day.

If you have not been observing these days, commence next week. Go without meat Tuesday and go without wheat next Wednesday, and then every Tuesday and Wednesday thereafter until the war is won.

FOOD CONSERVATION PLEDGE

Men are being drafted for war, money taxed, materials commandeered, but there is no compulsion in food saving as yet.

Any one who aigns is a volunteer in "the army behind the army."

Food saving is a branch of the service in which every one of us—no matter how old or how young, or high or low we are, can be volunteers. Or it is possible we may be drafted in, if our government comes to that.

It is a matter of conscience, your conscience. If you honestly want to help you will have your wheatless, meatless days each week, and half rations in sugar seven days in the week. No one is appointed to watch you but your conscience.

And you will devise other means of saving if you want the war fought in Europe and not here at home.

There is more to the Food pledge than food saving—it means self discipline—opening eyes that have been blinded for years by one line of thought—selfishness and self indulgence.

All right for some one else to do the denying and social service work, but not for you. Why?

The Food Pledge is simple but it may mean much to us if we give thought to our soldiers, my soldiers, by denying ourselves.

To the United States Food Administration,
Washington, D. C.

I am glad to join you in the service of food conservation for our nation and I hereby accept membership in the United States Food Administration, pledging myself to carry out the directions and advice of the food administration in my home insofar as my circumstances permit.

POTATO AND BEAN CROP IN DANGER

DRIVE STARTED FOR HELP TO COMPLETE HARVEST

State Farm Agent Kilborn Asks that Stores and Factories Be Closed

The following communication from State Farm Agent George Kilborn asks that a drive be started to save the potato and bean crop in Charlevoix county:

According to figures just received there is still forty per cent of the Charlevoix county potato crop in the ground, and also a large percentage of the bean crop still to be harvested. Unless this crop is saved it will be as serious to the consumer as to the producer. It will take the food conservation committee now working in Charlevoix county ten years to save as much as will be lost and wasted right now unless something is done, and that at once.

Therefore I appeal to every man, woman and child to close their business places, the schools, the factories, for three days, beginning the first day the weather will permit, and volunteer your services.

All who will go and help send me your name, the number of persons you will bring me, and I will arrange to take all that volunteer to the farms needing help. All farmers desiring help notify me at once of the location and number of helpers wanted so that there may be no confusion. Owners of automobiles are also asked to volunteer their services to carry the laborers to the places desired.

GEO. A. KILBORN,
State Agricultural Agent.

FINNAN HADDIE A LA TOKYO.—One pound of finnan haddie cut in dice, two teaspoonfuls of butter, one teaspoonful of flour, one and one-half cupfuls of thick cream, one-half red pepper cut Julienne. Scald the fish in boiling water, then place in pan with cream and peppers. Boil five minutes. Soften the butter with the flour and add to thicken the sauce. Cook for two minutes, adding salt and paprika to taste. A dash of sherry wine enhances the flavor, and a hard boiled egg, chopped fine, may be added if desired. The dish is now ready to serve, but it is vastly improved if sprinkled with a mixture of breadcrumbs and grated cheese and baked in a hot oven to a golden brown.

Fresh Crab Flakes.—One green pepper, one red pepper, six fresh white musbrooms, one pint of heavy cream, a pound of fresh crab flakes, two cups of masbed potatoes. Cut the peppers and musbrooms Julienne. Stew in butter until cooked tender; add the cream and boil five minutes; then add the crab meat. Season to taste with salt, paprika and fresh butter. Remove and put in a baking dish. Garnish with potato border and place in the oven to brown.

Lobster a la Quincy.—A cooked lobster, butter size of an egg, one large onion, two teaspoonfuls of beef broth, one carrot, one small glass of sherry, one small glass of brandy. Cut the lobster in dice shape, melt the butter and when hot put in the lobster; keep covered. Chop the carrot and onion together, add to the lobster and season with salt. Cook for a few minutes, then add the sherry. Cooking must go on incessantly over a hot fire. When cooked remove from the fire and add glace de viands, stirring well. Mix the tomale from a boiled lobster with butter and add to the hot lobster. Sprinkle with chopped parsley and serve.

Wait for the New Overland Car

To be Sold Less Than Five Hundred Dollars

The new car is to be a competitor in the class of the Ford and will sell for less than $500.00. It will have one-man top, complete electric equipment.

Weight Around 1550 Pounds

Electric Light and Starter

The new spring suspension makes it ride as well as a heavy car of 130-inch wheelbase. The engine is 3 1-2 x 4 inches. The new model will take the Overland into the strictly low-priced field and will be a better car for about the same price as the Ford.

We expect to have this car at our garage about the first of the year, or as soon thereafter as they are placed on the market. If you are in the market for a low-priced car with all attachments and equipment of a high priced machine, postpone your purchase until you see the New Overland.

DEVIL ABDICATES THRONE OF HADES

TURNS KEYS OVER TO KAISER WILHELM

Iowan's Scathing Satira Wins Him Speedy Fame—Hands Kaiser Stiff Jolt

Devil abdicates throne of Hades, turning keys over to Kaiser Wilhelm.

His Satanic Majesty bas abdicated the throne of Hades, naming Kaiser Wilhelm as his successor, and confessing himself a novice and a back number in infamy and evil deeds, according to a bitter and scathing satirical missive addressed to tha German ruler and signed by "Lucifer II. Satan" through which Louis Syberkrop of Creston, Ia., has within the lsst few weeks won fame for himself and roquests for copies from Colonel Roosevelt, Secretary Daniels of the navy department, Joseph Tumulty, the President's secretary, and many others prominent in public life.

Syberkrop's satirie epistle dated "Tho Infernal Region, Juna 28, 1917," and adressed "To Wllhelm von Hohenzollern, King of Prussia, Emperor of all Germany and Envoy Extraordinary of Almighty God," reads:

Always Close to You

"My dear Wilhelm:

"I can call you by that familiar name for I have always been very close to you, much closer than you could ever know.

"From the time that you were yet an undeveloped being in your mother'a womb I have shsped yoar destiny for my own purpose.

"In the days of Rome I created a roughneck known in history as Nero; he was a vulgar character and suited my purpose at that particular time. In these modern dnys a classic demon and efficient super-criminal was needed nnd as I know the Hohenzollern blood I picked you as my special instrument to plaec on earth an annex of hell. I gave you abnormal ambition, likewiso an over supply of egotism that you might not discover your own failings; I twisted your mind to that of a mad man with certain normal tendencies to carry you by, a most dangerous character placed in power; I gave you the power of a hypnotist and a certain magnetic force that you might sway your people. I am responsible for the deformed arm that hangs helpless on your left, for your crippled condition embitters your life and destroys all noble impulses thnt might otherwise cause me anxiety, but your strong sword arm is driven by your ambitloa that squelches all sentiment and pity; I placed in your soul a deep hatred for all things English, for of all nations on earth I hate England most: wherever England plants her flag aho brings order out of chaos and the hated Cross follows the Union Jack; under her rule wild tribes bcome tillers of the soil and in duo timc practical citizens; she is the grest civilizer of the globe and I HATE HER. I planted in your soul a cruel hstred for your mother bceause SHE was English and left my good friend Bismark to fan the flame I had kindled. Rcent history proves how well our work was done. It broke your royal mother'a heart, but I gainod my purpose.

Ruler of Germany

"The inherited diseaso of the Hobenzollerns killed your father, just as it will kill you, and you becsme tha ruler of Germany and a tool of mine sooner than I expected.

"To assist you and farther hasten my work I sent you three evil spirits, Nietzche, Treitschke and later Bernhardi, whose teachings inflnmed the youths of Germsny who in good time would be willing and loyal subjects and eagor to spill their blood and pull your chestnuts, yours and mine; the spell has been perfect—you cast your ambitious eyes towsrd the Mediterranean, Egypt, India and the Dardanelles and you began your great railway to Bagdsd, but the ambitious archduks and his more ambitious wife stood in your way. It was then that I sowed the seed in your heart thst blossomed into the assassination of the Duko and his wife, and all hell smiled when it saw how cleverly you saddled the crime on to Serbis. I saw you set sail for the fjords of Norway and I knew you would prove an alibi. How cleverly it was done, so much like yonr noble grandfather who also secured an assassin to remove old King Frederick of Denmark, and later robbed that country of two provinces that gave Germany an apportunity to bocome a naval power. Murder is dirty work but it takes a Hohenzollern to maka away and get by.

Bells of Hell Are Ringing

"Your opportunity was at hand; you set tha world on fire and bells of hell were ringing; your rape on Belgium caused much joy; it was tbe beginning, the foundation of a perfect hell on eartb, tbe destruction of noble cathedrals and other infinlta works of art was hailed with joy in the infernal regions. You mada war on friends and foe alike and tho murder of civilians showed my teschings had borns frult. Your treachery toward neutral nations hastened a univsrsal upheaval, the thing I most desired. Your undersea warfara is a master stroke, from the smallest mackerel pot to the great Lusitanla you show no favorites; as a war Lord you stand supreme; for you have no mercy; you hava no consideration for tha baby clinging to its mother's breasts as they both go down into the dcep together, only to bo torn apart and leisurely devourod by sharks down among the corals.

"I have strolled over the battlefields of Belgium and France. I havs seen you hand of destruction everywhere; it's all your work, super-fiend that I made you. I have seen the

TWO P. M. TRAINS ARE TAKEN OFF

Morning Passenger Run to Traverse City and Forenoon Train

The coal famine has hit the Pero Marquette railroad and two of the four trains to Charlevoix were discontinued last Thursday morning. "This is but a temporary arrangement," said Agent Alexander, "and the trains will be placed back in the service again as soon as coal for tha locomotives is seenred."

Train No. 12 leaving Charlevoix at 7:35 n. m. and train No. 11 arriving at 9:10 were cut off Thursday morning, notice being receeived shortly before 6 o'clock Wednesday evening.

The Pere Marquette as well as other roads nrs sending a large nnmber of open gondola cars to tha conl mines to be ussd for hauling coal wanted by the railroads.

Had Enjoyable Evening

Mrs. James McGeagh entertained 14 young ladies at her homo Wednesday evening with a hallowe'en party in honor of the 14th birthday annlversary of her daughter, Gladys. The house and table were most appropristely decoratad for the occasion with witches, pumpkins, etc., and the evening was very pleasantly spent in genuine hallowe'en fun and frolic.

HUNTERS OFF TO NORTH WOODS

ANNUAL HUNT HAILED WITH GREAT DELIGHT

Ready for Anything From a Deer or Wolf to a Skulking German

If Uncle Sam could turn the big army of hunters now lnvading tha north woods, loose on Belgium or French soil, there would be no question regarding the finish of at least an equal number of German barbarians.

The north rush began early in the week and as tha opening day approaches, every train is loaded with men seeking a few dnys outing. Charlevoix will have its usual representation this season, and by tbe lattor part of next week the results of their skill with the rifle will be arriving in the city.

A party consisting of Dar Meech and Frank Aekert of Charlevoix and E. R. Harris, L. R. VanSkiver, E. H. Boss and Herb Peebles of Ellsworth, will occupy their camp on tho Tahquamenon river, sbout 30 mlles north east of Newberry. The bunch left Monday afternoon.

Another party, Dr. J. A. Auld, L. E. Benton, Harold Bedford, A. L. Fitch, Roy Babcock, Eri Babcock and A. J. Usher, will camp at Lyonton, two miles west of Eckerman. They leave Thursday afternoon.

Willard Olney, Ben Lenore, Gunnison Dixon and Tim Shores will camp near Wellsburg, leaving Thursdny.

County Clerk Richard Lewis, C. E. See, A. J. Hamilton, Hubert Aekert, Art Alcock, O. D. Hammond, George Stafford, of Charlevoix and Thos. Shepard, J. M. Warden and A. R. Nowland, of near East Jordan, will camp at Antlers, 25 miles north of Marquette.

Other parties are being formed who will apend a part or tba entire season at some place in the upper peninsula.

CITIZENS HELP FARMERS TO HARVEST CROPS

Business Houses Closed Entire Day on Tuesday

More than one hundred men and boys from Charlevoix went to farms near the city Tuesday morning to help the farmers harvest their crops.

The bunch met on Bridge street enrly in the morning and were assigned to plaees where help wns most needed. Load after load left within the hour, and Bridge street was almost deserted the entire day.

Practically from every direction words of praise for the work accomplished are being expressed by those receiving help, although many in dire need of assistance could not be reached.

Hundreds of farmers are still in need of help, and steps may be taken to set aside another day for the purpose, and all will be given as much assistance as possible.

"Somewhere Over There"

Alone, on the Texns desert
With my battered old canteen,
Thoughts of future generations
Wonderful visions I havo seon;
I've seen a battlo for democracy
In a far away land so bare,
I've seen men die by the thousands
Somewhere Over There.

I've seen the Sphinx, the unafraid,
Who's known of generations that have gone,
To a higher plans of intelligence
In that beautiful land far beyond;
The Sphinx of thought, knowledge and truth
Whispered to me this silent prayer—
America is fighting for God
Somawbere Over Thers.

CHILDREN LACK PROPER CLOTHING

UNABLE TO ATTEND SCHOOL OWING TO NAKEDNESS

Superintendent of Schools Craig Calls Attention of Citizens to Unusual Condition

Right on top of the uausual activity occasioned by the demand of tha United States government in raising tha amount called for by the Second Liberty Bond loan, the conservation of food, urging people to sign pledges to be more economical, etc., comes the startling informatinn that we hava right here in our midst a number of children unable to attend tha public schools due to the lack of proper clothing.

It is hard to make one believe that this information is true, but nevertheless it is a fact. We hava been informed of tha circumstances of several families, whose little ones ara in dire need of immediate assistance. In some instances it bas baen a hard struggle for the parents to provide sufficient edibles for the hearty, fast growing youngsters.

Below is reproduced a letter from the chairman of the Benevolence Committee of the Charlevoix Woman's Club, who makes an appeal to all to lend a hand in providing auch necessities as are needed. Do your bit and help provide all that is neaded for those in distress:

"Mr. Craig, Superintendent of schools, has informed the Charlevoix Woman's club that many children are unable to attend school on account of not having suitable clothing.

"The women of the Charlevoix school district are urgently requested to maka donations of outgrown clothing, stockings, shoes nnd wearing apparel of all kinds for either boys or girls.

"Contributions will be receivel nt the various school houses and the teachers will distribute the clothing to those most in need of aid."

MARY DUNHAM SHANAHAN,
Chairman Benevolence Com., Charlevoix Woman's Club.

NEW THREE CENT STAMP IS PURPLE IN COLOR

Letters for City or Rural Routes are Not Increased in Mailing Cost

People of Charlevoix may as well get used to the looks of a three cent stamp. All first class mail will be taxed to assist in the upkeep of the war, and letters that have always gone for two cents will cost three cents for each ounce or fraction thereof.

A three cent stamp is of a purplish color. The Franklin head is engraved on the face of the stamp. A quantity, which is described at the postoffice as "not very large" has arrived and these will be sold as long as the supply lasts. If the supply is exhausted before a new consignment arrives the postal clerks will sell a one and a two cent stamp to persons who have a letter to mail.

No longer is the stamped envelope of the government sufficient to send a letter. A one cent adhesive stamp must be added to get the letter to its destination. This is also true of government postal cards. Each one cent card must hava an additional penny stamp attached in order to secure service.

Letters not having sufficient stamps will be subjected to even more delay than is usual at tho local postoffice. If the return address of the sender is on the letter the sender will be notified and the letter held until sufficient postage has been given.

Letters mailed at the local postoffice nnd adressed to parties living in Charlevoix or on rural routes ont of here aro not taxable, but will go as before for two cents postage.

W. C. T. U. MEET

Hold Regular Session at Harringtoo Home Friday Afternoon

The regular meeting of the Woman's Christian Temperance Union will be held at tho homa of Mrs. B. L. Harrington, 107 Wood street, on Friday, November 9, at 2:30 o'clock.

Devotional will be conducted by Mrs. G. C. Geiken. A program of music and readings, in chargo of Mrs. Saunders and Mrs. Shores, will follow tha business session.

A full attendance of members is reqnested and visitors are invited.

Married November 1

On Thursday, November 1, at the Methodist parsonage, Rev. Quinton Walker united in marriage, John Myers and Miss Nellis Coblentz, both of this city. Mr. and Mrs. Myers both have many friends here who wish them happiness and prosperity. They left immediately after the ceremony for Detroit where they will maka their future home.

Opening Number Good

If the opening number of the lecturo course is any criterion to go by, Charlevoix is to be congratulated on the coming winter's entertainment. The members of the Weber Male Quartet are certainly artists in their line, and afforded the audience an evening of high class music, interspersed with good, clean, wholesome fun.

Pomona Granga

Pomona Grange will meet with Peninsula Grange on November 22, in regular session.

Election of officers and a live program is planned for the day. Important business will be transacted at this meeting. All grangers try to attend.

CHICAGO CLUB SWANS KILLED

BIRDS WERE VALUED AT FIFTY DOLLARS EACH

Sheriff Novak Now in East Jordan Working on Case—Guilty Ones Should Get the Limit

Word reaches the city Saturday that the five beautiful white swans owned by Mrs. Douglas of the Chicago Club, had been shot and killed near East Jordan.

Patsy Flanaghan and Sheriff Novak investigated the killing Monday, but owing to the lateness of the hour when they arrived at East Jordan, failed to get all the details of the killing. From what could be learned, however, all five of the swans were killed sometime Friday by two men (?) who it is stated, thonght they were wild geese. It is also reported that they sold two of the slain birds to a local restaurant in that city, but when the investigation started, the restaurant keeper returned the birds to the parties who killed them.

Sheriff Novak is in East Jordan today (Wednesday) making further investigations, which will probably result in the arrest of the guilty parties.

Tha two older swans were brought here two years ago, and last spring the flock was increased to five. The birds were benutiful specimens and were valued at more than $50 a pair. It is hoped the guilty parties will be given the limit of prosecution, and we would suggest thnt it would be a mighty good plan to place the offenders under surveillance as mental incompetents.

AUTOMOBILES COLLIDE; MAXWELL IS WORSTED

Peculiar Accident Sunday Night Just at Dusk

One of those accidents which seem unavoidable, with apparently no one to blame, happened at about 4:30 Sunday afternoon at the corner of Bridge and Belvedere avenue.

Charles Carey and family were driving their car west on Belvedere avenue, and at the same time Miss Lorna Bush approached the corner from the north on Bridge street. Mr. Carey turned south on Bridge street at the same time that Miss Bush turned east on Belvedere avenue, and in the dusk, each driver was unable to see the other until too late to stop, with the result that the Maxwell sustained a badly smashed front wheel, bent fender and broken headlight, while the only damage to the Michigan was a broken lens in one headlight and a punctured radiator. No one was injured.

ROOKIES LOOK STRAIGHT AHEAD

EARLY IMPRESSION OF A CHARLEVOIX BOY

Of the Life of a Soldier—Officers Insist That Men Be Neat in Personal Appearance

According to Ned Durance, a member of Charlevoix's selective draft, everyday life at Camp Custer, Battle Creek, is growing more strenuous every day, and the "rookie" who is careless in the care of his accoutrements stands a good chance of having some disagreeable penalty wished upon him.

Ned has written a series of letters, under different date, telling of camp life and his impression of it. They are quite interesting, and we reproduce them below for the benefit of Courier readers, who are always interested in the boys from the home town in the various training camps:

September 30.—"We had inspection by the major this morning. Everyone had to be shaved, hair neatly cut, buttons sewed on shirts and buttoned up, hats on just right, leggings fastened on right and shoes polished. Had to look soldierfied in every respect. Erect, heads up, heels together, look straight ahead, not move, not even if a fly or a bee lights on your face. We must stand at the foot of our cot which must be neatly made, with blanket folded right, extra shoes in their right place.

October 7.—"Our company, along with several others, marched before high officials today. Each company tried to do its best and make no mistakes. Of course, our company was the best but they did not like to make the others sore, so kept it quiet.

October 20—"Today found us in a chilly atmosphere, the weather having changed just a little. Last night it was warm and raining, but this morning it was cold, believe me. It was snowing and our company stood facing the breeze for half an hour. We had to walk about three-quarters of a mile to the drilling grounds. After drilling a while we returned to the barracks and a lieutenant gave us a lecture taken from a paper relating the experiences of the American soldiers with the English and French. He told us what to do and some things not to say, and it proved very interesting. After the lecture the company was ordered to 'fall in' with rifles and bayonets, and to the parade grounds we hiked for the second time that morning. We had the manual of arms and some marching, and then returned right on time for dinner. When time came to fall in for afternoon drill, the guard for Saturday night was told to stay in the barracks to learn special orders. I was one of the lucky ones detailed for barracks duty. There were 21 from our company, and we had two hours on and four hours off until morning.

Sunday, October 21.—"Last night I was on guard from 10 to 12 o'clock. It turned warm and rained all the time. At 12 o'clock I was relieved but could not undress, as at 4 a. m. had to go on duty again until six. By that time it had stopped raining and was a trifle colder. My shoulders ached from carrying my rifle. Guess I am not broken in enough as yet. I ate breakfast and then slept until noon. After supper tonight the fellows made a couple of dummies and put one of them on an empty cot and the other in a cot whose owner would not be back until midnight. The fellows expected some fun, as the lieutenant makes his nightly inspection at 11 o'clock and finds out who is in and who is not. Lights go out at nine and it is dark, so he uses a flashlight. If a cot is empty, all he does is to look at the name tacked at the foot of the bed, which gives the name of the absent member.

Thursday, October 25.—"Wednesday was a holiday. There was racing, hiking, marching, wall scaling, foot ball, and most everything a fellow could think of. There were six fellows in the kitchen and we got permission to attend the foot ball game between the officers of the camp and a bunch from Kalamazoo. Officers outplayed them. The score was 14 to nothing in favor of the officers in the first fifteen minutes of the game. We then had to hurry back to the barracks so as not to be late, for if we were they would put us back in the kitchen again the next day. Today

SOLDIERS WANT MINCE PIE

"Like Mother Used to Make"

Along the lines of the military encampments, mince pie proves to be prime favorite with the boys in khaki—from the noble little private straight up to the commanding officer all affirm it "great eats." They want the kind they used to get at home.

And as one piece of mince pie goes a long way toward a meal, the efficient American housewife is not slow to appreciate that she can turn this to advantage in her own home.

NONE SUCH MINCE MEAT is made just as the best housewife makes the best mince meat in her own kitchen. The package recipes are good for pies, cakes, puddings, and cookies.

Bake a NONE SUCH War Pie—no top crust. Saves flour, shortening, labor, money—half the crust. Good, too. In this way you help the U. S. Food Administration.

For economy NONE SUCH is the leader, for it comes in a paraffin-lined package which prevents waste, and is cheaper than bulk mince meat bought by the pound. The package weight increases three times its weight when the necessary moisture is added. It costs only a few cents—is absolutely clean and keeps like fruit cake.

Albert Dennis received some long scratches on the face and a much swollen lip when he fell forward onto a pitch fork last Friday.

Mr. and Mrs. Ben Nowland and son, Frank, with Mr. and Mrs. John Zeitier and small son, John Jr., spent last Sunday at the home of M. Saunders.

BARNARD

A hallowe'en party was given at the church. A jolly crowd attended and report a good time. Otherwise that particular evening passed off very quietly at Barnard.

Mr. and Mrs. William Ives of Charlevoix, and Miss Margaret Kleber, a teacher in a Petoskey school, Arlo Thompson and his sisters, Myrtie, Lydia and Ruby Thompson, also of Petoskey, spent Sunday at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Thompson. In the evening they motored to Charlevoix and attended the Majestic theatre.

The early and unexpected snow storm of last week did considerable damage to the bean crop and delayed the harvesting of buckwheat and potatoes. Hundreds of bushels of potatoes were lost through the recent frosts. The weather the past month has been very discouraging to the farmers.

Mrs. W. M. Lewis left last week Thursday for a two weeks trip to Grand Rapids and Detroit. Mr. Lewis' father, who has been living with them this summer, also went away on Thursday, going as far as Grand Rapids with Mrs. Lewis where he will visit for a couple of weeks and then go on to Miami, Florida, where he will spend the winter.

The Cooper boys have been absent from school on account of Walter being sick.

Gilbert Ferris and wife of Charlevoix visited Wilbur Spidel and family Monday last.

Frank Greenman has rented the Orvis farm and has recently taken up his abode there.

The Walker school was closed this week so the children might assist in the work at home and there hasn't been a day fit to work outdoors. Oh, my! what does the weather man mean?

Why don't some of the ladies get busy in experimental work with the dark flour such as graham, rye and buckwheat flour, and tell us what can be done along these lines. It is necessary to save the wheat and conserve the food. Get busy and if yon make something good, pass it along.

We don't think folks will have many automobiles with beans at $6 or $6.50 a bushel and still under the snow. We don't think the government has been raising beans this year. With the present outlook they are worth much more to raise than the government estimates. A great many farmers are really discouraged on account of high prices for seed and only half a crop. Not even sure of that as beans are in poor condition generally.

We will save you money on Men's Mackinaws, Pants, Underwear, Shirts, Socks and Gloves. Benj. Brown 45tf

IRONTON

(Too late for last week)

Mr. and Mrs. Dawson of Charlevoix visited Mr. and Mrs. Sanderson last week.

Mrs. Oscar Ward's father and two sisters from Atwood spent Sunday with her.

All who attended our church Sunday enjoyed the sermon by our former postor, Rev. Mr. Putnum.

The Red Cross meeting was held Wednesday at the home of Mrs. Wm. Johnson and had a successful meeting.

Mr. and Mrs. Price and their daughter, Abby, started Thursday in their car for their home in Lima, Ohio.

George R. Hemmingway of Oak Park, Ill., made a business trip to his farm, staying a few days with Geo. McMulkin.

O. F. Johnson and family, of Boyne City and E. L. Johnson and wife of Charlevoix, visiting Wm. Johnson Sunday.

Mrs. Huggart and Pansy Hammond spent a few days with Mr and Mrs. Henry Hammond and returned to Detroit Wednesday.

Sam Woodworth and his mother left Thursday for Wisconsin to attend the funeral of his uncle. They may spend the winter there.

The Charlevoix County Federation of Gleaners met at Ironton Saturday. The arbors represented there were Quality, Springvale, East Jordan and Ironton.

MARION CENTER SCHOOL

Mrs. William Straw is on the sick list.

Miss Mabel Dunlop spent Sunday in Charlevoix visiting friends.

School was closed Tuesday so that all would have a chance to aid in the potato fields.

Clyde Ecker and Hazel Greiner were absent from school last week on account of bad weather.

Mr. and Mrs. Theodore Ecker announce the birth of a baby daughter. The boys are rejoicing over their new sister.

The first snow storm of the season visited us last week. Sleighs and sleigh bells could be heard often. Going some for October, isn't it!

The drinking fountain which has been out of commission for some time is now repaired and we are all rejoicing now over its use.

We are glad to note the arrival of the yarn at Red Cross headquarters and hope Marion Center auxiliary will soon be busy knitting.

There was a party at Eli Hapner's Monday evening to celebrate Mrs. Hapner's 80th birthday. A delightful evening was enjoyed by all present.

Neda Hawkins, Beulah Launderville, Joe Pesech and Edward Greiner were absent from school Monday. Busy helping save the beans and potatoes.

Mr. and Mrs. Rollie Williams are rejoicing over the arrival of a 7-pound baby girl, October 29, named Darleen. Both mother and daughter are doing finely.

OUR LATEST ALLY

Mexico, after hating and fighting us for years, seems on the point of changing into a warm friend and ally.

The new Mexico minister to Italy celebrated his arrival in Rome, a few days ago, by issuing a statement in praise of the United States. "The nightmare of imperialism has vanished since the United States entered the war," he said. "Our relations with our great northern neighbor, after our crisis, have now catered a period of cordiality. The United States, in entering the world conflagration for the liberty of peoples and respect for the rights of small nations, has formulated a principle which completes the Monroe Doctrine. This establishes forever the position of Latin-American countries with regards to the United States."

This may be taken as an authoritative expression of present Mexican policy. It is supported by the action of the Mexican congress, which is undertaking to commit the government to a declaration of benevolent neutrality toward the United States. A resolution in the senate announces that "Mexico, doing honor to her history, her ideals of progress, must be with the nations that fight for justice, for civilization, for liberty, which is Mexico's own cause." There is a similar measure pending in the chamber of deputies. There is said to be a strong desire in both houses to go as far as a complete break with Germany.

Gen. Obregon, formerly known as the ablest of Carranza's subordinates now retired in private life, corroborated this view in New York tha other day. He asserted that the Mexican people are "friendly toward the United States."

HELD HALLOWE'EN PARTY

Members of Pot Luck Club Enjoy Delightful Evening

The Pot Luck Club held a Hallowe'en party Wednesday evening, beginning with supper at Pfister's restaurant, which was appropriately decorated for the occasion with lanterns, apples, hob-goblins, etc., after which they gathered at the home of F. V. Alexander for a good, old-fashioned evening of hallowe'en jokes, pranks and fun.

Those present were Mr. and Mrs. G. E. Dutton, Mr. and Mrs. Fred A. Butler, Mr. and Mrs. H. P. Hansen, Mr. and Mrs. Jean Crandall, Mr. and Mrs. Ed Smith and Mr. and Mrs. F. V. Alexander.

S. M. Rose left Tuesday for Northport on a few days business trip.

Closing out on Boys Mackinaws, Pants and Sweaters. Benj. Brown.

fields of Poland; now a wilderness fit for prowling beasts only; no merry children in poland now; they all succumbed to frost and starvation—I drifted down into Galicia where formerly Jews and Gentiles lived happily together; I found but ruins and ashes; felt a curious pride in my pupil for it was all above my expectation. I was in Belgium when you drove the peaceful population before you like cattle into slavery; you separated man and wife, forced them to hard labor in trenches. I have seen the most fiendish rape committed on young women and those who were forced into maternity were cursing the father of their offspring and I began to doubt if my own inferno was really up to date.

Usurped and Starved

"You have taken millions of dollars from innocent victims and called it indemnity; you have lived fat on the land you usurped and sent the real owners away to starvation. You have strayed away from all legalized war methods and introduced a code of your own. You have killed and robbed the people of friendly nations and destroyed their property. You are a liar, a hypocrite and a bluffer of the highest magnitude. You are a partner of mine and yet you pose as a personal friend of God. Ah, Wilhelm, you are a wonder. You wantonly destroy all things in your path and leave nothing for coming generations.

"I was amazed when I saw you form a partnership with the impossible Turk, the chronic killer of Christians, and you a devout warshiper in the Lutheran church. I confess, Wilhelm, you are a puzzle at times. A Mohammedan army, commanded by German officers, assisting one another in massacreing Christians in a new line of warfare. When a Prussian officer can witness a nude woman being disemboweled by a swarthy Turk, committing a double rape with one cut of his sabre, and calmly stand by and see a houseful of innocent Armenians locked up, the house saturated with oil and fired, then my teachings did not stop with you, but have been extended to the whole German nation. I confess my Satanic soul grew sick and there and then I knew the pupil had become the master. I am u back number, and my dear Wilhelm, I abdicate in your favor. The great key of hell will be turned over to you. The gavel that has struck the doom of dammned souls since time begnn is yours. I am satisfied with what I have done; that my abdication in your favor is for the very best interests of hell—in the future I am at your majesty's service.

"Affectionately and sincerely yours,

"LUCIFER H. SATAN."

Submitted by Mrs. R. I. MacArthur, Flint, Michigan.

Taken to Lockwood Hospital

Colon McKenzie, who has been suffering from cellutitis of the tissues of the neck and face for the past three weeks, was taken to Lockwood hospital Saturday, and it was decided to lance the swollen parts. His condition, although extremely painful, is not considered serious, and it is thought that he will have fully recovered in a short time. In the meantime, through the kindness of the high school students, his 9 acres of beans and sugar beets have been taken care of.

A cable appeal for the immediate shipments of supplies to France recently reached the American Red Cross from Major Grayson Murphy, head of the Red Cross commission in France. Major Murphy cabled: "Begin shipping at once, one and one-half million each, knitted sweaters, helmets, socks and wristlets. They are desperately needed before cold weather. I urge you on in behalf of our soldiers who will suffer in the frozen trenches."

More knitters are needed to help the Charlevoix Red Cross chapter furnish its quota of knitted garments for our soldiers in France. All women who possibly can help are urged to do so. A new supply of yarn has arrived at the Red Cross rooms and will be given out from there. Those who have work completed will kindly hand it in at once so it can be shipped when called for.

The donors this week are the Sunday school classes of Mrs. Brown and Mrs. Peter Vandermade.

Those who have not already joined the Red Cross society are urged to do so. They need you.

LIBRARY NOTES

Food conservation and war preparedness are the leading topics for today. Bulletins on food values, eliminating waste of bread, reference on milk, cheese, meat, vegetables, etc., may be found on the reading table. Also many recipes to assist in observing meatless and wheatless days. You are requested by the Michigan state library and the U. S. Food Administrator to read these bulletins and do your bit towards making a good showing for Michigan. Clubs, Societies, and churches are asked to co-operate in every way possible.

Economical recipes are much in demand, please bring these to the library.

ELLSWORTH SCHOOL NOTES

Teacher: "What dld the colonles say about C. B. Taxation?"

M. B.: "Taxation without resperation is tyranny."

The attendance at school has not been very regular of late because of the pulling of beans and digging of potatoes.

Boyd Slack has left the Ellsworth school and is attending the Mills schools which is nearer his home.

School has re-opened after two weeks of vacation and every one is ready and anxious to get back to work. For the first day practically every one was there.

Alida and John Beuker, two members of the high school, who have been away to Grand Rapids visiting their father, are back in school.

A new scholar was added to the rolls of the 7th grade, Ida Ramsma.

Iola Johnston, one of the members of the high school will not be able to return to school for the rest of the year, because of sickness.

W. M. (in Grsm.) "What is "that" (Just then a Ford went by)

Fred: (whispering) "Tbat" is a Ford.

Jamea Paterson has left school and will go to school at Lakewood. His parents are moving to that place.

A number of scholars are out of school again because of potato digging.

WELL-KNOWN COUPLE HAVE PUBLIC WEDDING

About One Hundred and Fifty People Attend Event

John Jansen and Miss Helen Cooper, both residents of this vicinity were married at the Blue Hall at Ellsworth last Thursday evening at eight o'clock.

The ceremony was performed by the Rev. Pickart of Atwood, before about one hundred and fifty guests and was followed by a supper, the merry-making lasting until the small hours of the morning.

Both contracting parties are well and favorably known around here, and have the best wishes of their many friends. They will make their home for the present at the home of the groom's brother on his farm west of town.

FARMERS SHOULD SAVE ALL FROSTED BEANS

Such is Advice of State Director of Markets, McBride

James N. McBride, state director of markets is recommending to growers of beans that they save all of their crop which may have been frosted. It is probable, he said, that an outlet for them will be found abroad.

"Where there is a considerable amount of frost damage to beans," the statement from the markets office declares, "it will still pay to save and cure well before threshing. It is hoped to establish a special grade of frosted stock that will eliminate the expense of picking and realize their food value at the same time.

"It is probable that an outlet for this grade will be found abroad. Small samples may be sent to this office for the securing of estimates of grade and values."

DEATH OF MRS. WILLIAMS

Well Known Walloon Lake Lady Dies From Heart Failure

Mrs. Nellie Williams, wife of Jacob Williams, Walloon Lake farmer and daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Harvey of Petoskey, died at her farm bome at 8:30 o'clock Thursday evening from heart failure, following an illness of but a few days.

Mrs. Williams was well and favorably known in Mackinaw City where she lived for many years, at Harbor Springs near where her parents resided for some time, in Petoskey and at Walloon Lake. She was married twenty-two years ago to Mr. Williams and for several years they have resided on the Harry Jordan farm at Walloon Lake. She was thirty-nine years old.

Besides her husband she leaves four children, her parents and several brothers and sisters.

CORRESPONDENCE

FAIRVIEW-BANKS

Roads are bad.

Nice sunny weather at this writing.

Farmers are very busy now getting out potatoes.

H. DaGroot lost his favorite mare Saturday morning.

M. Scholten bought a horse of Gerrit Rubingh last week.

H. J. Timmer is working for W. A. Boss at Ellsworth at present.

Henry Wassenaar of Mapleville, called on Bert DeGroot Saturday.

Oscar and Harvey DeGroot went to Frank Boss' Saturday to help him dig potatoes.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Boss of Wright District, visited with Mr. and Mrs. H. DeGroot Sunday.

M. A. Postmus attended the Classes of the Christian Reformed church at Muskegon last week.

Mrs. H. J. Timmer left for a two weeks visit with her relatives and friends in Zeeland, Michigan.

Rev. H. Keegstra of Fremont will occupy the pulpit of the Christian Reformed church next Sunday.

Most of our young folks attended the Jansen-Cooper wedding last week Thursday evening and report a good time.

John Timmer and Patrick Tjapkes left for Detroit Saturday morning, where they expect to work this winter.

M. J. Scholten bought the vacant house of H. J. Timmer and is moving the same to his farm he bought of A. A. White.

RANNEY DISTRICT

Miss Doris Nica spent over Sunday at home from her school duties.

S. E. Rogers was looking for beef cattle in this vicinity the first of the week.

Miss Bernice Isaman came from Marquette on Friday and is visiting friends around here.

The big snow storm caught farmers with their crops unharvested and many fields of buckwheat unthrashed.

Young folks had too stormy a night to play any pranks on hallowe'en. Did not even soap the windows.

See our line of Men's Mackinaws, Pants, Shirts, Underwear, Socks and Mittens. Benj. Brown. 45tf.

ATWOOD

Miss Dena VanderHeide is working for Mrs. J. D. Pickart at present.

Herman Telgenhof and family visited with relatives in Atwood Sunday.

Ben VanderHeide purchased a horse of Frank Supernaw a short time ago.

Peter Visser from Grand Rapids is spending a short time here buying some produce.

Howard Watts, who has been working for J. H. Smith for a short time, quit last week.

The farmers are on the job again, digging potatoes, filling silos and hauling in beans.

Miss Gertruda VanHouten has been working for Mrs. Albert Sneller the past week.

Abel Newland butchered some pork last week and delivered one hog to the village store.

Bert Weiten and family moved last week from the farm now owned by Louis Marcus to the house belonging to J. W. Smith, north of Atwood.

Albert Sneller has purchased a team of ponies to do his hauling this winter. Wonder if they will take him over the road as fast as his Ford.

M. VanderHeide spent a few days in Muskegon last week. He was a delegate from here to the meeting of "Classes Muskegon" held at Muskegon.

Ethan Joliffe spent a little time in the village last week tuning pianos. He has taken the job of letting contracts for 400 acres of radish seed for the Leonard Seed Co., of Chicago. The price is almost double what it was last year.

Elzinga Bros. have been taking advantage of the bad weather the past week by doing some necessary carpentering jobs about the place. They finished the chicken coop started last summer and shingled their large cistern at the barn.

Mr. and Mrs. Jake VanUnen are spending a short vacation at different places in southern Michigan. Mr. VanUnen was a delegate to the meeting at Muskegon of "Classes Muskegon" of the Christian Reformed church, held there last week.

Sam VanHouten has been rather unlucky this fall. He had three head of cattle in the Nash pasture at Norwood and spent three days searching for them, but has not found them. He is the only one in this vicinity who has not been able to find his stock in that pasture.

ESSEX

Mr. Wieland killed a beef last Monday.

Del Bowman has gone to Canada on a hunting trip.

We had a very quiet Halloween in this neighborhood this year.

Peter Wieland went to East Jordan with wheat for flour last Thursday.

Ada and Bertha Cooper called on Mrs. Tillotson Friday afternoon.

Mr. and Mrs. Nelson and daughter, Dee, of Ellsworth, spent Sunday at the Wieland home.

The German army is getting short of macaroni by the way they are trying to invade Italy.

Ray Bowman is improving nicely. He is now able to sit up in bed a little and we hope to see him up and around again soon.

Mr. and Mrs. John Henry and the Dekkenga family attended the wedding of Miss Helen Cooper and John Jenson last Thursday night at Ellsworth.

Most of the beans and potatoes are in the fields yet. Some beans not pulled and potatoes not dug. Last week's snow made things look bad, but here's hoping for a few nice days.

PHELPS

Mrs. William Louisell is ill at this writing.

Floyd Everetts has gone to Detroit for the winter.

We are glad to hear that Levi Francisco will be able to be up in a few days.

Mr. and Mrs. Barnhisle were Saturday and Sunday guests of H. L. Francisco and family.

Roy Mascho returned to Jackson Monday last, after a two weeks vacation spent with his parents.

The snow is nearly gone. Looked for a while rather blue for those that had beans and potatoes still in the field.

Miss Flossie Balch was at home a few days last week. She is employed at the Breezy Point farm at Ironton.

George Brown, and son, Roy, of Traverse City were guests of his daughter, Mrs. Chris Drost the latter part of last week, he having come to attend the Christensen sale, purchasing a cow at the same.

George Hanes, who has been in poor health for the past year, started to the store Saturday alone, and was found near Mr. Mascho's place in a critical condition. He was taken home by a passerby but how he is at present has not been learned.

The largest yield of potatoes in this vicinity were those raised by Albert Balch on his farm. He got 1200 bushel from 3 acres but some were frozen that were undug during the cold spell week before last.

WILDWOOD

Herschel Fales bought a cow from Mr. VanTil this week.

Reid Genett is buzzing wood in the neighborhood this week.

The Stevens family are moving to their new home in Central Lake.

Mrs. Cross is up from Central Lake again for a few days stay with relatives here.

Reid Genett and Henry Patterson have rented the Mohrman farm and will move their families to it this week.

Mr. and Mrs. Duncan Crawford are spending the week end with Mrs. Crawford's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Stewart of East Jordan.

CHANGE IN POSTAL LAWS

Government Tax on Parcels Where Postage Is Over 25 Cents

Postmaster T. G. Finucan is in receipt of a copy of the following amendment to the postal laws, effective December 1, 1917, which reads as follows: "Upon every parcel or package transported from one point in the United States to another by parcel post on which the postage amount is 25 cents or more, there shall be paid a tax of one cent for each 25 cents or fractional part thereof charged for each transportation, to be paid by the consignor. No such parcel or package shall be transported until a stamp or stamps representing the tax due shall have been affixed." "The tax on fourth class matter referred to in the preceeding paragraph is not applicable to parcels on which the postage amounts to less than 25 cents. Special internal revenue stamps shall be used to pay the tax."

War Tax on Railroads

Starting November 1 a war tax of thirty-one cents was tacked on to the fare to Grand Rapids over both the G. R. & I. and the Pere Marquette by the new government war tax. Forty-six cents was added to the fare to Detroit and seventy-five cents to Chicago.

SHERIFF A BUSY MAN

Criminal Work Seemingly on the Increase

Sheriff Novak is a busy man these days. Saturday he left for Kalamazoo with a warrant for the arrest of Frank Heath of East Jordan, charged with the theft of fifty dollars worth of brass from the East Jordan Lumber Co. Mr. Novak returned with his man Sunday and landed him in the county jail where he remained over night. Monday morning the sheriff took him to East Jordan for hearing.

Lloyd A. Barnhisle, whom Sheriff Novak apprehended in Milwaukee last week and brought back to East Jordan to answer to a charge of embezzlement, Monday waived examination and was bound over to the circuit court for trial. Bonds were fixed at $500 which Barnhisle obtained.

CREAM FOR CATARRH OPENS UP NOSTRILS

Tells How To Get Quick Relief from Head-Colds. It's Splendid!

In one minute your clogged nostrils will open, the air passages of your head will clear and you can breathe freely. No more hawking, snuffling, blowing, headache, dryness. No struggling for breath at night; your cold or catarrh will be gone.

Get a small bottle of Ely's Cream Balm from your druggist now. Apply a little of this fragrant, antiseptic, healing cream in your nostrils. It penetrates through every air passage of the head, soothes the inflamed or swollen mucous membrane and relief comes instantly.

It's just fine. Don't stay stuffed-up with a cold or nasty catarrh—Relief comes so quickly.

Nip That Cold Now!

Its neglect may cause serious complications. Don't take chances with a cold. You cannot figure on the outcome of a cold if it is permitted to run its course. But you can count on prompt results if you use our Guaranteed Cold Tablets when a cold starts.

This remedy will promptly eliminate the cold from your system.

A package of this valuable cold cure should have a place in every home. Its prompt use may save you from lung congestion or other serious complications that commonly result from neglected colds. It is pleasant to take and equally good for children and adults.

Good News for Our Community

Dr. Irving E. Sanders
Bay City, Mich.

THAT WILL INTEREST
The Sick and Suffering
COMING BACK FOR ONE DAY ONLY
Returning Once a Month
DR. IRVING E. SANDERS

Will again visit Charlevoix, Mich., and will be at Hotel Charlevoix on Wednesday, the 21 of November, for one day only. Hours 9 a. m. to 8 p. m. holding a Dispensary Clinic for all his patients having appointments and others who may want to see him. Dr. Sanders is too well known to most people in this locality to need any introduction except to newcomers. Having practiced medicine in most of its branches for more than forty-five years in Michigan, he is known from one end of the state to the other as a great Medical Expert in the Diagnosis and Treatment of Chronic Diseases of MEN, WOMEN and CHILDREN.

The hundreds of chronic sufferers cured give testimony of the truth of this assertion. Come and see some and talk to others you will meet, and be convinced.

No matter how long you are ailing, or what the nature of your ailments are, how many doctors you have seen, or what has been done for you. Go and see Dr. Sanders. Your visit will cost you nothing, and at last you will meet a man, grown old in the service of humanity, honest, up-right, sincere, qualified, well recommended and able. He will examine you thoroughly and scientifically, thus diagnosing your case and tell you just where the trouble is and what to do to get rid of it.

Dr. Sanders treats MEN, WOMEN and CHILDREN afflicted with Chronic Diseases only, that is to say, diseases of long standing. If you are now in the care of your family physician, and he is doing good work, do not come and take up his valuable time, as in that case he will not see you. If he can help you, he will tell you so, and give you such treatment remedies and advice as will restore you to perfect health. If your case is not curable, he will give you such advice as will relieve and may prolong your life.

CONSULTATION and EXAMINATION at this visit is FREE. YOU will be charged only with the actual cost of the treatment required to affect your cure, which at all times will be reasonably moderate. Under no circumstances will he take a case for treatment than can not be cured.

This is not a scheme to trick you out of your money, not a C. O. D. snare or anything that is not strictly ethical and according to law. Come and be convinced, and find at last that you are not hopelessly doomed to suffer for lack of expert medical skill and knowledge and that you may obtain perfect health for less money than you spend on patent medicine.

NOTE: If you have pain in the back bring a two-ounce bottle of urine for chemical and microscopical examination and analysis. Minors without parents or guardians not admitted to examination rooms. Calls to private homes $10.00. Consultations with physicians by appointment only. Remember the date. Hours 9 a. m. to 8 p. m. 45t2

Royal Baking Powder
saves eggs in baking

In many recipes only half as many eggs are required, in some none at all, if an additional quantity of Royal Baking Powder is used, about a teaspoon, in place of each egg omitted.

Try the following recipes which also conserve white flour as urged by the government.

Corn Meal Griddle Cakes

1½ cups corn meal
1½ cups boiling water
½ cup milk
1 tablespoon shortening
1 tablespoon molasses
½ cup flour
1 teaspoon salt
4 teaspoons Royal Baking Powder
NO EGGS

Scald corn meal in bowl with boiling water; add milk, melted shortening and molasses; add flour, salt and baking powder which have been sifted together; mix well. Bake on hot greased griddle until brown.

(The Old Method called for 2 eggs)

Eggless, Milkless, Butterless Cake

1 cup brown sugar
1¼ cups water
1 cup seeded raisins
2 ounces citron, cut fine
½ cup shortening
½ teaspoon salt
1 teaspoon nutmeg
1 teaspoon cinnamon
1 cup flour
1 cup rye flour
5 teaspoons Royal Baking Powder

Boil sugar, water, fruit, shortening, salt and spices together in saucepan 3 minutes. When cool, add flour and baking powder which have been sifted together. Mix well; bake in loaf pan in moderate oven about 45 minutes.

(The Old Method [Fruit Cake] called for 2 eggs)

Send for our new booklet "55 Ways to Save Eggs." Mailed free on request. Address Royal Baking Powder Co., Dept. H., 135 William Street, New York is certainly fine. Our company started right off the bat going to a field for exercises and drilling; to the barracks, got our rifles and back to the field again for more drilling. After dinner we took our rifles and bayonets for bayonet practice. In every direction but a short distance away were companies drilling. A band of thirty pieces played every time we rested, which sure was great.

At three p. m. we started with our rifles on a hike. We went along a road mostly sand and mud. Every time we passed another company we spruced up and acted as though we had just started. We were about four miles from our barracks when the lieutenant thought we had better turn back as we would no more than reach the barracks in time for supper. Before starting back we climbed a hill and got a dandy view of the camp. It is shaped like a horseshoe. Have never been to the other end and expect I never will be.

Saturday, October 27.—"Our rifles are the hardest to clean. We put two solid hours on them before inspection. We go over them carefully, and believe me, we would be unable to find dust or dirt with a magnifying glass, but when the lieutenant comes and examines them, he is usually able to find carloads of dirt. This morning there were about 15 fellows who failed to pass inspection. For this offense they are made to scrub and clean every window in the barracks.

Monday, October 29.—"Had a lesson in wrestling today. The lieutenant showed us different holds for throwing a person. We did not try them as we had no mat, but have been informed that at a later date we will have both mat and boxing gloves. He also showed us a couple of holds to take a rifle away from a soldier when in close quarters. The rifles are breakable so we used brooms. I tried it with two fellows. Got the broom all right, along with a bang in the cheek and on the shoulder, but that is nothing, for they say we are in the army now."

HOPYARD

Mrs. Henry Howe accompanied Mr. and Mrs. John Struthers to Petoskey to visit their son, Merwin Struthers, who is sick in the Petoskey hospital. We are glad to hear that Merwin is improving.

The "Spirits of Hallowe'en" visited the Hopyard school and the teacher had to pull down some ladders and rearrange things on the steps before she could enter the schoolhouse Thursday morning.

Edith Struthers spelled the school down last Friday afternoon. The words used were selected from the thousand words published in a pamphlet by the state. We hope to be well represented in the spelling contest at Bay Shore in the near future.

The box social at Hopyard was well attended and everyone had a good time. The pledges for the United States Food Administration were passed around and every mother present signed one. We are glad that we have so many patriotic mothers.

A NEW ELEVATOR FOR CHARLEVOIX

THE BIG WAREHOUSE IS RAPIDLY NEARING COMPLETION

Chatterton & Son Expect to Begin Operations This Week—Local Man In Charge

Northern Michigan is famous as the home of the big potato and the navy bean, and especially is this true of the fertile territory contiguous to Charlevoix.

In this region it is not uncommon for farmers to harvest potatoes averaging from 200 to 450 bushels to the acre while the average harvest of beans will frequently reach as high as 30 bushels to the acre. And because of the enormous crops of these commodities raised in this region Charlevoix is to become the seat of one of the largest and most completely equipped bean elevators and warehouses in Michigan.

Chatterton & Son, wealthy and extensive bean and produce buyers of Mt. Pleasant, and who also operate similar plants in other parts of the state, are just completing the erection of a mammoth building here, located at the extreme east end of Belvedere avenue, east of the Belvedere resort property, just across the Pere Marquette tracks from the sugar beet factory.

F. J. Renzer, an experienced and practical millwright, and also connected with the company at Mt. Pleasant, is here superintending the finishing of the construction work, and it is the intention of the company to begin operations within a week.

The building and its appointments are of such magnitude that a complete description is difficult. It is of concrete block construction, the elevator proper being three stories in height, and the entire building is warmed by a heating plant in the basement. Automatic devices control the warmth in the potato storage room which is equipped with specially constructed air circulators, and the bins have a capacity something in excess of 35,000 bushels of spuds.

The storage room for beans is on the first floor, just above the potato storage, and is completely equipped with fanning mills, blowers and other machinery of a labor saving nature. This department of the institution is especially arranged for the rapid handling of beans, the capacity being practically unlimited.

On the floor above is the picking room, finished in snow-white and brilliantly lighted with electricity where half a hundred picking machines have been installed and are ready for operation. Here the perfect quality will be separated from the inferior product and made ready for the market. Each machine will give employment to one person.

The Chatterton Co. is not new to the Charlevoix trade, having been engaged in a small way here for several years past, with headquarters in the D. M. Ferry seed house. George Brown, a local man well and favorably known for his business integrity and fairness in dealings, will be in charge of the institution as local manager.

The location of such a concern in Charlevoix means much more than appears on the surface. Thousands of dollars will be annually paid to the farmers which in turn will be turned over to the merchants of this city in return for material and supplies, and the selection of Charlevoix as the home of such an institution is ocular evidence that the Chatterton Co. know a good thing when they see it and are not afraid to push it along.

FAVORS RED-HEADS

Enthusiastic Resident Warns the Kaiser in Verse

A contributor sends in the following little doggerel in rhyme and says he was prompted to write it when he read, recently that a red-headed gunner from the U. S. A. had been honored by being allowed to fire the first big American gun into the ranks of the Germans. And there is more truth than poetry in the words. He says:

"A red-haired soldier of the U. S. A., touched off a big cannon In France, t'other day. 'Twas the first of many that will make a big noise, and tell the soldier our and tell the kaiser our soldier boys are on the warpath over there to lift any colored German hair. The red-haired fellows have red blood as well, and they sure will give the kaiser hell in all the colors and all the shades, with shot and shell and gas and blades, until he asks mercy from the red-haired men, and swears to never fight again. When a red-haired chap he comes across he will holler loud for his old white "hoss," so he can through the country flee to the thickest woods in Ger-man-ee."

Meet With Mrs. Harsha

The Woman's Missionary Society of the Congregational church will meet Friday afternoon at the home of Mrs. H. S. Harsha and a large attendance is desired. The topic will be: "Dr. Grenfell's Work in Alaska." Mrs. Herschel Miller will be the leader.

AUTO TRUCK MAY BE LOCATED HERE

CONCERN IS LOOKING FOR HOME IN THIS REGION

Other Nearby Cities Will Also Try to Land the Auto Factory

Through the efforts of the Charlevoix Commercial Association, a possibility exists that an automobile concern manufacturing trucks may be induced to locate here.

Very little of a definite nature can be made known as yet, owing to business reasons, suffice it is to say, however, that the chances for securing the industry are good.

The concern is one already established and manufacturing a product for which the demand is great. They are now located in Buffalo, N. Y., but for some time past have been looking for a desirable location in northwestern Michigan—and it may truthfully be said that, so far as location is concerned, Charlevoix is the logical place for such an enterprise.

Members of the automobile concern are personally known to many in Charlevoix, and if they can be induced to place their factory here, the mercantile as well as realty interests of this city would be given an impetus that would be gratifying to all concerned.

The matter is yet in its infancy, and present plans may possibly fail to materialize. Be that as it may, however, the officers of the Commercial Club will leave no stone unturned in an effort to secure the enterprise, and something of a more definite nature may be announced in the very near future.

Here's hoping.

NEW CHURCH BUILDING IS NEARING COMPLETION

Dedication is Expected to Occur Early in December

Among the building improvements in Charlevoix at this time, and one which deserves special note, is the new church edifice just nearing completion for the Church of God denomination.

The new building is located on Hurlburt avenue just west of the State street intersection, the elevated position affording an unobstructed view of the city and the waters of both Pine Lake and Lake Michigan. It is built entirely of cobblestone, the rustic effect being especially pleasing. It is 30 x 40 feet on the interior and the large basement will contain the heating plant. A dome or tower has been constructed over the main entrance and this will be extended upward several feet next year before the installation of the bell. The interior furnishings will be in keeping with the prevailing styles, and, from an architectural viewpoint, the new building is a credit to the city.

Rev. A. G. Pentius is the local pastor and he states that unless inclement weather retards construction work the dedicatory services will occur early in December. He expects to conduct a fall revival following the dedication, with special meetings during the Yuletide period.

"When We Get Over to Europe"

(Air—"Marching Through Georgia")

We're the boys from Michigan, we'll fight for Uncle Sam,
For Kaiser Bill and all his gang we do not give a d——(clam)
Down their tricky wind-pipes soon our bayonets we will jam,
When we get over to Europe.

CHORUS—

Hurrah! Hurrah! we'll sound the jubilee!
Hurrah! Hurrah! we'll set brave Belgium free!
And we'll make the Kaiser beg upon his bended knee—
When we get over to Europe.

Democracy must be upheld, the People have their say,
Murderers and cut-throats, all be brought to bay—
The Kaiser and his cohorts, they all will have to pay—
When we get over to Europe.

CHORUS—

America is slow to fight, we never pick a fuss—
But when we once get started, just keep your eye on us!
Those Germans all will surely say "that Sammy is a cuss!"
When we get over to Europe.

CHORUS—

The starry flag must be upheld, brave France must have our aid,
The debt we owe to Lafayette, has never yet been paid,
But it will soon be cancelled, by deeds that will not fade,
When we get over to Europe.

CHORUS—

We are going to fight for peace, to last throughout all time,
We want no more barbarity, and bloody German crime—
And so we say in closing—"The Kaiser's got to climb!"
When we get over to Europe.

CIRCUIT COURT IN DECEMBER

PROSECUTOR IS BUSY ARRANGING TO CLEAR DOCKET

Many Cases of a Criminal Nature Will Be Heard at This Term—List of Jurors

The next regular term of circuit court is scheduled to convene on the first Monday in December with Judge Mayne on the bench, and rumor has it that some of the criminal cases of a sensational variety are to come up for hearing at that time. Prosecutor R. L. Lewis is making an effort to clean up the docket in order to begin the new year with a clean slate, so to speak.

Following is the list of those who will serve as petit jurors for the December term:

James C. McDonough, Peaine; W. J. Gallagher, St. James; Robert Reed, South Arm; Aaron Ensign, Wilson; Frank Thompson, Boyne City, 1st W; Sampson Sudman, Boyne City, 2nd W.; George M. Kerry, Boyne City 3rd W.; William Alcott, Boyne City 4th W.; John Curtis, Charlevoix 1st W.; Oluf Nordrum, Charlevoix 2nd W.; Rueben Geer, Charlevoix 3rd W.; Earl Blair, East Jordan 1st W.; Allie Bloswick, East Jordan 2nd W.; Charles Coykendall, East Jordan 3rd W.; Hestor Dyer, Bay; J. M. Denell, Boyne Valley; Jesse Peters, Chandler John Martin, Charlevoix; Dell Davis, Evangeline, William C. Howe, Eveline; George Howe, Hayes; Robert Russell, Hudson; Robert Gregory, Marion; Samuel Wager, Melrose.

FOG CAUSES ACCIDENT ON THE PETOSKEY ROAD

Horse Shies and a Buggy Goes in the Ditch

Considering the dense fog which suddenly settled over everything last Friday, and again on Saturday, causing the most ordinary objects to appear wierd and ghostly, it is really remarkable that there were not more accidents. To date the only one reported is that of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Howe, who live about two miles beyond Greensky hill on the Petoskey road. As they were driving along towards home, Saturday night, their horse became frightened at some object real or fancied, and shied to the side of the road, overturning the buggy into the ditch. Mr. Howe was unhurt, but Mrs. Howe sustained a badly sprained shoulder. At last reports she is recovering nicely.

New Quarters

Mrs. Sarah Emrey has purchased beautiful new fixtures, and will move the clothing store conducted by Joe Lemieux to the new store building recently erected by Earl Young. This building is modern in every respect. Mrs. Emrey expects to move the stock sometime between December 1 and 15.

Y. M. C. A. IS TO RAISE $35,000,000

QUOTA FOR CHARLEVOIX IS PLACED AT $1,050

Week of November 11 to 19 Has Been Set for Big Drive to Secure Funds

At least $35,000,000 will be raised during the week of Nov. 11 to 19, to carry on the war work of the Young Men's Christian Association. When asked why this great sum needed, John R. Mott, General Secretary of the Y. M. C. A. said, "this sum is needed because of the vast number of men to be served. Before next July the American Army and Navy will in all probability include 2,500,000 men. When we remember that in no previous war have more than 2,000,000 men opposed each other and that the total number of allied troops is twelve times that number to whom we have a mission, the colossal magnitude of the undertaking is apparent."

Plans have already been formulated at the International headquarters of the Association for the raising of this sum. Every town and village in the country will be reached, so that no one will be overlooked. All during the war the Y. M. C. A. has had men at the front in an effort to give the soldiers some of the comforts of home. It is the unanimous verdict of the soldiers everywhere that the Y. M. C. A. men are not quitters. No secretary subject to draft is allowed to serve, unless his name is far enough down the list to warrant his not being called for a long time, and as soon as he is called he shoulders his rifle and marches with the men whom he has been serving.

In this great drive, the object of which is to give aid and assistance to our gallant soldier boys who are or soon will be at the front, Charlevoix's apportionment has been placed at $1,050 and R. F. Sloan named as local chairman. He and the committee which is to assist him met Wednesday evening to formulate plans for the local drive, which begins tomorrow (Thursday), and which will be thorough in its scope. It is the hope of the committee that the amount of $1,050 will be far oversubscribed as was the case at Boyne Falls. That city's apportionment was $350 and their committee has already reached the $500 mark—an over-subscription of $150. Charlevoix must do even better, and every man, woman and child in the city should contribute freely, for the cause is a meritorious one—one which will assist in alleviating the sufferings of men who are slashed and torn by German trench knives and shrapnel shells, as well as those who suffer from disease and homesickness.

East Jordan's apportionment is $1,050, and the same amount will be raised in Boyne City. It must not be said that Charlevoix was tried and found wanting when the comfort and health of our soldier boys were at stake.

Some idea of the work of the Association may be had from the following letters from men at the front. One soldier writes home, "It rains a lot. Say, the Y. M. C. A. hut is a Godsend! You find it everywhere you go." Another writes, "Why the first question a fellow asks when he goes into a town is, 'Where is the Y?' They send us hot soup up the line. I tell you its good when you have been standing in one place for two hours, chilled to the bone. Then you say, 'Thank God for the Y. M. C. A.!'"

Will Pay Penalty

Sheriff Chas. FISH TUG "ANNA" GOES ON ROCKS

FOG CAUSES CREW TO LOSE THEIR DIRECTIONS

Life Savers Help to Lighter Vessel—Damage is Very Small

Last Friday evening about 8:15 o'clock during the terrible fog which prevailed over Lake Michigan in this vicinity, the fishing tug Anna, belonging to the Lake Superior Fish Co., of Chicago, and operating out of Charlevoix, became lost in the fog and went onto the shoals a short distance west of this city.

The Anna together with some six or eight other craft which make this port their headquarters during the fishing season, was returning from the fishing grounds with some 4,900 pounds of the finny tribe aboard. Some of the other boats were in close proximity to her and all were making good time when they suddenly entered the dense fog bank. Speed was immediately decreased, but in some way the crew lost their bearings and the boat went onto the reef with a jar that shook her from stem to stern. The momentum carried the tug over the bar and into deep water near the shore but escape was impossible because of the fact that she was surrounded on three sides by shoals while the shore line blocked the passage on the other.

Distress signals were sent out and the crew from the life saving station together with others from the local fishing fleet went to the Anna's assistance. She was lightered and floated into the regular channel, thence taken to her dock in Pine Lake.

Examination revealed an injured propeller shaft and a badly broken propeller but the hull was not injured in any way.

William Byers' truck was sent to Cheboygan for the new parts, Saturday, and now the Anna is kicking up her heels, so to speak, although lake men say she had a most narrow escape from complete destruction.

At the time of the accident the boat was in charge of Capt. Ebert with Engineer Frank Hoppy at the throttle. Both are thoroughly experienced and capable men and no blame can in any way be attached to them.

We have the price that will sell Men's Mackinaws, Sweaters, Pants, Shirts, Underwear, Socks and Gloves. Benj. Brown. 45tf.

GRAND RAPIDS CO. BUYS ROCK PRODUCTS PLANT

Deal May Prove of Benefit to Charlevoix

On good authority it may be stated at this time that the property and belongings of the Rock Products Co. of this city have been sold to the Newago Portland Cement Co., whose offices and headquarters are in Grand Rapids. Just what the new owners will do with their Charlevoix acquisition is not definitely known, but it is to be hoped and, indeed, it is a probability, that they will continue to operate the plant, and on a much larger scale than heretofore.

Full particulars are not obtainable at this time but will be made public upon the consummation of the deal.

BAYONET DRILL IS BIG FEATURE

CAMP MACARTHUR BOYS ARE HARD AT WORK

Will Receive Regular Training in Modern Methods of Warfare

(By Harold W. Usher.)

At last everything is organized and the course of training that is prescribed for us is going full blast. We daily receive about eight hours drill, and Wednesday and Saturdays are reserved as athletic days. The drill consists of all the modern methods of European warfare, with much bayonet and close order drilling connected with it. Much time is also devoted to various games which are very strenuous but serve to develop and harden the muscles and to steady the nerves to prepare them for the shock which follows duty in the trenches.

The company has now reached full war strength, having its full quota of 296 men. It has become too large to be handled by one man and is now divided into four platoons, each in charge of a sergeant and the whole unit in charge of the first sergeant. The work so far has been very hard but at the same time it is interesting and we all enjoy it much better than anything we have ever had before.

The climate here is much different to that of the El Paso district. Here it is more like Michigan, and there is much less danger from pneumonia. It is real cold some nights but the days as a rule are very warm. There is generally a strong wind blowing and the air is filled with flying dust, and at times it makes drill impossible. It has rained once since we have been here but that was a week ago and there has been no sign of any since. One must wear goggles here in order to see half the time.

The annual Cotton Exposition opened in Waco yesterday and the 32nd Division marched in a parade last night in honor of the event. Capt. Winters rode his horse in the parade, and as a result is sitting on a pillow today and doing very little walking. Sergeant Griffin also attended the Exposition and returned to camp with his face all skinned up. I guess "Griff" must have been trying to flirt with a Waco street car. I was much surprised today to meet an old Charlevoix man, Mr. Beattie, who was visiting the camp and looked me up. It certainly seemed good to meet and talk to some old friend from home again. There are some very interesting points about Waco, one being the scene where the moving picture play, "Birth of a Nation" was taken. The "Lovers Leap" is a very impressing sight as it is over 200 feet high and the cliff is straight up and down.

Will try and find some more interesting places to tell you about next week.

THOMAS & THOMAS ARE OCCUPYING NEW QUARTERS

Offices Are Established in Old Ferguson Hotel Building

Workmen are busy on the interior of the old Ferguson hotel which is being remodeled into a garage for Thomas & Thomas, local distributors for the Nash line of cars.

The salesroom of the new garage will occupy the front portion on Bridge street, formerly used as an office for the hotel, and the workshop will be in the rear, where a large addition will soon be erected.

The room which was the dining hall in the days when the hotel was in operation have been fitted up as a private office for the firm, and they are already established there.

For the winter, at least the second floor will be used as living rooms for the family and workmen are now remodeling and re-decorating that part of the building. As soon as the work will permit Mr. Thomas expects to move his family there—probably in the next two or three weeks.

Early in the spring Thomas & Thomas expect to make some other alterations of a more extensive nature.

Customers Interim Certificates held by the Charlevoix County Bank have been forwarded to the Federal Reserve Bank in Chicago, and the four per cent bonds in exchange for them should be in the hands of the bank in a few days. 46tf

CORRESPONDENCE

IRONTON

Mr. and Mrs. Webb spent two days last week in Boyne City with their son.

BEANS AND SPUDS EXCEED LAST YEAR

MICHIGAN WAS LOYAL TO THE CRY FOR FOOD

Crop Report Shows Yield of 1917 Almost Doubles Thet of Last Year

Early last spring the farmers of Michigan were urged to do their "bit" by planting a larger acreage of grain and food producing products, and how faithfully they have carried out their part is evidenced by the largely increased yield over that of last year, notwithstanding the fact that October contained more cloudy cold weather and extreme features than any month in the past forty years.

The following report shows that the farmers of Michigan as well as those of every other state in the Union produced an average yield double that of last year, while 40 per cent of the potato and 30 per cent of the bean crop had not yet been harvested on November 1, and which will add very materially to the total number of available bushels.

Following is the report on potatoes and beans as furnished by the U. S. Department of Agriculture which is authentic plus the 40 per cent of potatoes and 30 per cent of beans which had not been harvested as above stated:

Potatoes—In Michigan

	Bushels
1917 production	35,900,000
Last year's Production ..	15,360,000
Gain in 1917	20,540,000
In the United States
This year	440,000,000
Last year	285,437,000
Gain in 1917	154,563,000
Beans—In Michigan
1917 Production	4,000,000
Last Year's Production .	3,102,000
Gnin In 1917	898,000
In the United States
This Yenr	16,000,000
Last year	8,846,000
Gain in 1917	7,154,000

If Kaiser Bill could only know how loyally the farmers have worked to produce foodstuffs this year he would undoubtedly begin to realize that the "Sammies" would at least have plenty of beans and spuds while they are in the trenches.

A Frost-Proof Warehouse

Ralph Davis, of Phelps, who recently constructed a lnrge warehouse there for the storage of potatoes and beans, has been compelled to greatly enlarge his buildings in order to care for the coming crop. He is now erecting a large addition to his warehouse, and when it is completed he will be the owner of one of the best institutions of that kind in this territory. His building is modernly equipped, contnins a heating plant, and is said to be nbsolutely frost proof.

LOCAL MAN MAKES A HIT WITH ARMY MARCHING SONG

Soldiers and Their Friends Ask For Extra Copies

Marching songs and verses galore have been written during the past six months as an inspiration to Uncle Sam's boys in khaki, but it has remained for a Charlevoix man in the person of W. E. Hampton to arrnnge n lyrie thnt wns really worth while and which hns met with state-wide popularity, both with the boys at Camp Custer and the public in general.

Mr. Hampton is Grand Keeper of Records and Senls for the Knights of Pythias, which order has many men in the army, his son is also serving ns n soldier, and his patriotism prompted him to dedicnte n marching song to the boys of Michigan. Several hundred copies were printed but the supply was inadequate to meet the demand. The inspiring words had caught the popular chord and requests for extra copies cnme on overy mail, making it necessary for a second edition to be printed for circulatlon.

The words of the ballad nre printed on the first page of this week's "Conrier" and are aung to the tune of that old masterpiece, "Marching Through Georgin" the endenring strains of which cause even the old-timers to square their atooping shoulders and assume the martial attitude of the days of long ngo.

A community get together meeting will he held at Barnard Friday evening, November 16, to which the general public is cordially invited. Rev. R. E. Meader of Traverse City, will be there and all should hear him. Pot luck supper will also be served.

CLEAN THE PLATE

There is an old saying that "he who would save should begin with his mouth." While this sentiment has much hearing on the campaign being undertaken for food conservation, it is not the purpose of the food administrator to affect a result by depriving people of necessary food. On the other hand, it is aimed through the system of pledges to awaken every household to go as far as possible by saving much that has heretofore found it way into the garbage can.

Already the average housholder is following a different program today than a year ago. This change has come about through a desire for economy. Increased prices caused a falling off in purchases of many things at one time or another counted as necessities in the table fare. Then again, the prudent housewife, knowing the necessity of conserving food for the benefit of humanity in general, has not been slow to amend her menu in such a fashion as to conform largely to the program laid down by the national food administrator. But in thousands of homes and in many restaurants and hotels there has been no marked changes in the courses offered. In spite of high prices and the shortage in foodstuffs the old American spirit of leaving the plates uncleaned and heaped high with unnecessary portions has in too many cases remained unchecked. It is not possible to correct such abuses except by reasonable appeal. Nevertheless the present week should serve to emphasize as never before in this country the demand for universal cooperation as applied to food conservation.

Something New in Hand Power Washing Machines

Have you seen the big 3 Hand Power Vacuum Washers. They are the most simple and efficient Washing Machines made. Quickest—because the quick action of the agitator drives the hot suds through the clothes so forcibly that the dirt responds at once. Easiest—because it works on the Vacuum principle and requires only power enough to handle the water—not the clothes. This means no wear whatever on the clothes. Easiest on the Clothes. Easiest to operate. Cleanest—because it takes all the dirt out, instead of rubbing part of it into the clothes.

Very Pleasant Affair

A very pleasant gathering occurred at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Alexander Bush on Park avenue, Thursday last, the occasion being the birthday anniversary of Mr. Bush. The event was an especially happy one, as Mr. Bush recently recovered from a very serious illness. All of his children were in attendance: Stanley A. and C. G. Bush and wife, Mrs. Charles A. Hudson of East Jordan, Mrs. Allan J. Malone of Rome City, Indiana, and Mrs. Thomas Morrison of Outlook, Montana, sister of Mrs. S. A. Bush. After supper was over, little Miss Susannah Metcalf presented Mr. Bush with a beautiful boquet of flowers, having conceived and executed the idea entirely by herself.

Returning to Charlevoix

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Shawley, former residents of this city, but who have been living in Petoskey for several years past, decided to return to Charlevoix and have purchased the Martha Fairchild residence on east Upright avenue, where they will take up their abode in the near future. They conducted a five and ten cent store here some six or seven years ago and have a host of friends who will be glad to know they are returning.

Is Gunning For Dogs

Sheriff Novak is carrying four automatics and two machine guns in his pistol pocket these days, and when he sees a dog on which the taxes have not been paid there is a gleam of battle in his eyes. It'a a safe bet to inform your poodle that "the sheriff will get him if he don't watch out," or, better still, dig up the coin for the tax and let the canine live.

There will be a Harvest Feast Friday night at Marion Center Grange. Pot luck supper will be served. Everybody is invited to attend.

Miss Reba Cooper, who has been spending a two weeks vacation in the city with her parents and friends, returned to Kalamazoo Monday.

Mrs. A. D. Cruikshank and daughter, Mrs. P. E. Vandermade and children left Wednesday (today) for Oklahoma City, where they will spend the winter with Mr. Vandermade, where he has employment.

Mrs. J. J. Howe returned Saturday from Chicago where she visited her children, Mr. and Mrs. C. Blanchard and Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Riemon for three weeks. She was the guest of honor at a number of delightful affairs and had the honor of naming the club to which her daughter and grand-daughter belong.

A large retaining wall has recently been erected on the Charlevoix Lumber Co.'s property on Bridge street and they are making preparations to build a large lumber shed in the very near future.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank A. Hull returned Friday from Grand Rapids and Muskegon. At the latter place they visited at the homes of C. L. Gonser and wife, and J. A. Timmer and wife, both former residents of Charlevoix.

A surprise miscellaneous shower will be given Wednesday (this evening) for Mrs. Bert Taylor, at her home on Antrim street. A pot luck supper will be served. About 20 are expected to be present. We predict a jolly good time.

The big ore barge "Cico" touched at this port Monday and passed up Pine Lake to Boyne City, in order to secure coal with which to operate her hoilers. She was enroute to Milwaukee with a cargo of ore and from that point will proceed to the coast to go into the service of the government.

Mrs. Ed. Klooster entertained eight little guests last Wednesday afternoon in honor of the ninth birthday anniversary of her daughter, Thelma. Refreshments were served and the afternoon very pleasantly spent with games and music. Miss Thelma was the recipient of many beautiful gifts.

Those obtaining deer hunting licenses within the week are: Stewart Stevenson, C. J. Pratt, Allen Ulrich, Richard Lewis, Albert Staley and Joseph Jackson, of Charlevoix, and James L. Tumath of Ironton. Mr. Stevenson and Mr. Pratt left Tuesday for the upper peninsula to make use of their licenses.

The government is planning to teach a salutary lesson to some of the coal barons who are charged with profiteering in defiance of the fuel boards regulations. And the public, which long has suffered at the hands of these same coal profiteers, will hope the government withh make a thorough job of it.

SOCIAL-BANQUET

Sunday School Workers Enjoy "Eats" at the Church

Monday evening was the occasion of a very pleasant social function at the parlors of the Congregational church, the affair being in the nature of a get-together meeting and banquet for the workers in the Sunday school, which included officers, teachers, and others prominently identified with the work. The banquet was in charge of Mrs. Saltonstall and was furnished by the ladies of the denomination, covers being placed to accommodate twenty-eight.

Following the banquet A. F. Bridge officiated as toastmaster. He spoke on the subject of "The Worth While Sunday School Teacher," and responses were made as follows:

Mrs. E. A. Burnett, "Why We Have a Sunday School;" Judge Correll, "How I Prepare My Sunday School Lesson;" Mrs. Saltonstall, "The Forward Look of the Sunday School, or Things that Might be Accomplished."

Rev. R. E. Meader, B. D., of Traverse City, will preach Sunday morning at the Atwood Methodist church and in the evening at Barnard.

Rummage Sale

The ladies of the Baptist church will hold a rummage sale of both new and old goods in the store recently vacated by Martin Block on Bridge street, beginning next Friday morning and continuing through Saturday and Saturday evening. The ladies will have new and old furniture on sale, also farm produce. Saturday afternoon they will hold a baked goods sale and serve lunches in connection with the regular sale. 46t1.

Hengy-Carpenter

Wednesday, November 7, at the Methodist parsonage, Rev. Quinton Walker performed the ceremony uniting Frank E. Hengy and Miss Katherine Carpenter in marriage. They were attended by Miss Rena Alstrom and Harry Hager, and the beautiful ring service of the Methodist Episcopal church was used. The happy couple will reside in East Jordan.

Good Grub at Custer

Turkeys and cranberry sauce together with all the "trimmings" that go with a good old-fashioned American meal will be given the soldier boys at Camp Custer for their Thanksgiving dinner. Quartermaster M. M. Garrett has placed an order for 40,000 pounds of turkey for that meal, which means that each man in camp will receive about 19 ounces of bird meat for his allotment.

ELLSWORTH LOCAL NEWS

A timely little poem has been received for publication in these columns, but lack of space forbids, this week. It will appear in nsxt week's paper.

Born, to Mr. and Mrs. Harry Taylor of Ellsworth, November 7, a daughter, name, Rhoda.

Chas. Graham and H. A. Cramer of Detroit, were in Ellsworth on business the first of the week.

Mrs. M. Struik is spending a few days visiting relatives at Grand Rapids.

George Liherty finished housemoving for Rollie Baumbach, Saturday of last week.

D. E. Clow, C. C. Townsend, M. R. Nelson and Frank Peebles were Traverse City visitors Sunday.

Joe Blakeley of Central Lake, built a chimney on the telephone office the first of the week.

Mrs. W. A. Boss and daughter, Blanche spent Friday and Saturday of last week at Petoskey.

Don't forget the Carnival at the Blue hall Friday evening of this week.

Potato digging was in full swing in this vicinity last week and owing to the good weather the majority of them were taken out of the ground.

Come to the Blue hall November 16 and help the boys raise money to equip the new school gymnasium. Ladies bring lunch for two.

Mrs. Wm. Patterson has been very ill at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. D. Patterson, but is slowly recovering.

Mrs. Ed. Klooster and daughter Thelma, of Charlevoix, visited a few days last week at the home of B. J. Beuker.

Henry Patterson and Reid Cenett have rented the Mohrmnn farm near Central Lake and will take possession of same at once.

Pete Vischer left for his home at Grand Rapids on Monday of this week, after a two week's visit with friends near Atwood.

Floyd Turk, who has been working at the livery barn the past month, attended the funeral of his grandfather at Petoskey on Tuesday.

Gerritt Hoffman left for Grand Rapids Friday of last week, where he will remain for the winter, or until he is called to report at Camp Custer.

Mrs. M. R. Nelson went to Lansing on Tuesday of last week, returning Thursday and bringing her little grandson to visit her for a few weeks.

We are informed by the local potato buyers that from now on all quotations on potatoes will be made by the hundred weight. This is to conform with the new government regulations.

F. O. Gillett and Calvin Supernaw are building a reservoir at the spring on the hill back of the Cillett home on Park street, which when completed, will be used to supply water for the new school house.

Miss Maude Strulk has severed connections with the Copemish Bean and Grain Co., where she has been employed the past four years, and has taken a position with the Lewellyn Bean Co., at Portland, Mich., where she began work early last week.

SECOND THRESHING WILL YIELD A GOOD PROFIT

Twice Over is Recommended for the Bean Crop

During these days of high prices and a general scarcity of food products, it will prove a very paying investment for the farmer to put his beans through the thresher the second time, and if the vines are damp and tough a third time through the machine will yield a good profit.

The Agricultural and Industrial department of the Grand Rapids & Indiana railway company favors this practice and says:

"Last week when we threshed at the Demonstration Farm, a fraction over nine acres of beans yielded 59 bushels on the first run through the machine; the straw was put in again, producing an additional 13 1-2 bushel or 23 per cent of the first run. The beans were sold the next day at $6.90 n bushel; thus the direct increased earning was $93.15 gross; less $5 for re-threshing, $88.15 net."

This saving of hitherto waste would serve 4320 plates of baked beans on the basis of 3 oz. per plate. Or, for a family of five it would provide 864 meals.

Ellsworth Grange, No. 1198

Meets every two weeks on Tuesday evening.

Attendance of visiting members requested.

A Soldier's Strength

Every enlisted man would stand up stronger during the first year's service if he could have the benefits of

because it fortifies the lungs and throat, creates strength to avoid grippe and pneumonia and makes rich blood to avert rheumatic tendencies.

Send a bottle of SCOTT'S to a relative or friend in the service.

The Norwegian cod liver oil in Scott's Emulsion is now refined in our own American laboratories which makes it pure and palatable.

THE Y. M. C. A. WANTS $35,000 000

QUOTA FOR BANKS TOWNSHIP LISTED AT $200

Citizens Are Asked to Subscribe Liberally for This Great Work

The great nation-wide movement is abroad this week to raise $35,000,000 for Y. M. C. A.'s throughout this country for the urgent need of the soldiers, sailors, the armies of our allies and the prisoners of war. The need is very urgent.

Many will ask why the Y. M. C. A. is so necessary. In the first place the boys who are willing to give up their lives for the sake of the people back home and to save our country from Prussianism have more to contend with than any one of us can realize—they get homesick for the dear ones they left behind and any of you who have had such a feeling know what it is.

In the second place a person who works hard all day drilling, or one that comes back from the front where he has been under a great nerve strain, will seek some recreation to forget everything. Being among strangers who don't care for him, away from everything familiar, he will be lead to do things he shouldn't do, which destroy his moral character.

Here is where the Y. M. C. A. comes in. It is a place where our fighting men can go in their spare time, where they will be in a place that takes the place of home for them They will find men there who are interested in them and are friends to them; they can play games and read the best of literature, which keeps the men's minds occupied all the time and not allow them to do things that will destroy their moral character; and when they come back they will be just as good citizens as when they left.

Will you help, citizens? All can't fight, but all can help. The quota for Michigan is $1,250,00—for Banks township, $200. Is that too much?

When a person approaches you for a little amount to help our boys don't slam the door in their faces or something else as discourteous for they aren't collecting for themselves. They are giving their time and their money, also, for a cause they think is worth while.

ELLSWORTH SCHOOL NOTES

Work on the new school building is progressing very rapidly now since the material has arrived, and it will soon be ready for occupancy. The teachers have been laboring under great difficulties and are looking forward to the new building with eagerness.

The upper classes of the Ellsworth schools are studying the President's message.

A teachers' meeting occurred last Friday afternoon, and matters of importance were discussed.

Ethel Alward has started to school in the Ninth grade.

The broken windows in the church have been replaced with new ones, and the two rooms that are at present stationed there feel a little more comfortable.

WAR FAMINE IS ON IN THE UNITED STATES

Not a Famine for Foodstuffs, but a Famine for Pennies

At last it has struck us—the first hint of famine in America. But it isn't a food famine. There is no scarcity of wheat or pork or sugar or anything else in this country anywhere serious enough to be denominated a "famine." It's a famine in pennies.

Charlevoix hasn't exactly felt the pinch as yet but it very likely will come. The New York sub-treasury reports a scarcity of the coppers and the same condition has been found in nearly all the big centers of population. It is rapidly sweeping through the country to the smaller communities, and before the winter is over the coin hitherto held of least importance, the coin that the humblest American regarded with contempt will have leaped into dignity and importance. Everybody, all at once wants pennies.

They are needed especially now to pay the innumerable petty war taxes that have just gone into effect. They are also wanted because of our new spirit of economy. People are paying more attention to the prices of small commodities. They are demanding that prifits be held down to a reasonable percentage basis on articles that cost only a few cents. They show an unwonted eagerness to pay for things in odd cents, instead of nickles, dimes, etc. And the dealers are yielding to the demand.

THE TEST OF MERIT

Charlevoix People Are Given Convincing Proof

No better test of any article can be made than the test of time and this is particularly true of a kidney medicine. Doan's Kidney Pills have stood this test and stood it well. What better proof of the merits of this remedy could you demand, than the statement of a Charlevoix resident who used it successfully and tells of lasting results.

Read the following:

Mrs. R. M. Mekeel, 214 Mason St., Charlevoix, says: "I suffered for several months with kidney trouble. My kidneys gave me a great deal of annoyance. I was bloated quite badly and was subject to weak and lame back. Doan's Kidney Pills, procured from Metcalf's Drug Store, brought me relief." (Statement given October 26, 1911.)

On October 4, 1916, Mrs. Mekeel said: "All that I have said in praise of Doan's Kidney Pills holds good today. Doan's Kidney Pills completely cured me of kidney trouble and the cure has lasted."

Price 60c, at all dealers. Don't simply ask for a kidney remedy—get Doan's Kidney Pills—the same that Mrs. Mekeel has twice publicly recommended. Foster-Milburn Co., Props., Buffalo, N. Y.

CORRESPONDENCE

BREEZY SIDE OF BANKS

Tom Klooster visited his uncle, M. Wynsma, and wife, Sunday evening.

Tom Wynsma and Andrew Essenberg expect to leave Thursday for Grand Rapids where they will work.

Misses Tina and Nellie Marcus left last week for Grand Rapids where they have employment.

Miss Minnie Wynsma and friend, Andrew Essenberg, took supper at John Hennik's Sunday evening.

Misses Hilda Carlisle and Merila Gill spent Saturday and Sunday with Hilda's grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. H. Carlisle.

Our Christian Endeavor meetings Sunday evenings are fine. Our leader for November 18, is Lilly Wassiner.

Several from here attended the party at Atwood Friday evening. Ask Percy and Jake if there was not a large crowd.

OPEN NOSTRILS! END A COLD OR CATARRH

How To Get Relief When Head and Nose are Stuffed Up.

Count fifty! Your cold in head or catarrh disappears. Your clogged nostrils will open, the air passages of your head will clear and you can breathe freely. No more snuffling, hawking, mucous discharge, dryness or headache; no struggling for breath at night.

Get a small bottle of Ely's Cream Balm from your druggist and apply a little of this fragrant antiseptic cream in your nostrils. It penetrates through every air passage of the head, soothing and healing the swollen or inflamed mucous membrane, giving you instant relief. Head colds and catarrh yield like magic. Don't stay stuffed-up and miserable. Relief is sure.

E. Yaungedike attended church at Barnard Sunday and visited L. Aardena's in the afternoon. Little Reuben returned with him to visit for a few days.

The young folks spent a very pleasant evening last week Wednesday, when the girls gave a party in the school house. The evening was spent in playing games. Light refreshments were served. About 45 were present. All departed at an early hour saying it was the best party they had attended in a long time.

WILDWOOD

Jim Wilson threshed 175 1-2 bushels of buckwheat from 6 1-4 acres of ground, last week.

Men from East Jordan are threshing the Seed Co.'s radish crop on the Wilson farm this week.

Mr. and Mrs. Duncan Crawford went to East Jordan on Saturday, returning Monday morning.

A fine new baby girl arrived at the Harry Taylor home last week Friday. Her name is Rhoda Anna.

Mr. Foote, the well man of Central Lake, has just completed a 200 foot well for Frank Davy, on his farm here.

Harry Davy has bought the old Shay property on the shore of Six Mile lake.

Mrs. Hale, Mrs. Shearer and Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Withers and son Stanley, of Charlevoix, were visitors at the Cornwell home one day last week.

ANTRIM CITY

Mrs. V. Jones dug his potatoes he had on the big hill Saturday.

Mr. Baumback and family called at Mr. Brant's Sunday evening. Come again.

Mr. Brant and Inez were at Mr. Stoel's Sunday. Mrs. Simon called in the afternoon.

Mr. Elzinga has moved to Central Lake for the winter. The men are back digging potatoes.

We are all very sorry to learn that Mr. Prentice af Central Lake, who also preached at Eastport, has gone away.

We have all heard of Indian summer but I guess the season has changed to winter. Perhaps we will get our summer in November. Am sure all the farmers who like to do fall plowing hope so.

ATWOOD

Craddus Petter has been employed by A. Bos & Son the past week.

Paul DeVries butchered a beef in A. Bos & Son's slaughter house last Friday.

Mrs. Albert Klooster from Reeman, Mich., is visiting relatives and friends here at present.

Miss Rose Groenink spent Saturday and Sunday at the home of her sister, Mrs. Maurice Henry.

A great many farmers hauled their oil meal, purchased from the Ellsworth Creamery Co., last Friday.

We have heard a rumor that a bean threshing outfit from near Keewadin figures on coming to Atwood.

Rev. R. E. Meader, B. D., of Traverse City, will preach Sunday morning at the Atwood Methodist church and in the evening at Barnard.

John Essenberg is spending a short time here visiting his parents and relatives. He came especially to see his father, who has been ill for some time.

A great many beans will not reach a market this year. Those that were out during the frost do not keep in the barns. They heat and become mouldy.

The Messrs. Gerrit, John and Andrew Essenberg went to Central Lake the latter part of last week to help their uncle, Herman Telgenhoff, dig his potatoes.

Everybody is invited to attend the chicken pie social to be given by the Ladies Aid of the M. E. church in the town hall next Thursday evening, November 15.

Ty Koeling who formerly lived here, called on friends and relatives last week. He is on his way to the north woods where he will spend a few months trapping.

A crowd of young people from this neighborhood attended a party at the Albert VanBeek home near Ellsworth last Friday evening. They report a very fine time.

Another of those parties was staged at the town hall last Friday evening. It was not a very decided success on account of the largest part of the crowd leaving and going for an auto ride.

The ladies aid society of the Christian Reformed church met at the home of Mrs. J. VanHouten last Thursday afternoon. Practically all of the members were present and a number of visitors also attended.

Mrs. Mary Pairman arrived at the home of her sister, Mrs. J. T. Odbert last week. She will stay an indefinite period, having come from California to see her sister and mother, who reside at the J. T. Odbert home.

A community get together meeting will be held at Barnard Friday evening, November 16, to which the general public is cordially invited. Rev. R. E. Meader of Traverse City, will be there and all should hear him. Pot luck supper will also be served.

PHELPS

Jim Peters of Boyne City called on his brother Sam this week.

People have been making good use of the good weather these days.

Clarence Dewey and Ernest Falting were Petoskey visitors Sunday.

Frank Louiselle was home from his work at Mr. Peebles' on Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Marion Jackson were Bellaire visitors from Wednesday to Friday.

Mr. O'Brien of near Charlevoix, brought the first beans of the season to Phelps Saturday.

We are glad to hear that Orson Evert was successful in his examination as mail clerk and hope he will soon have a position.

See our line of Men's Mackinaws, Pants, Shirts, Underwear, Socks and Mittens. Benj. Brown. 45tf.

Mrs. Wilfred Louiselle of Bellaire, visited with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Jab Jackson from Monday to Tuesday of last week, taking her little daughter back with her.

ESSEX

Many potatoes are frozen around here.

Miss Schimmerhorn spent the week end with friends in Charlevoix.

Mr. and Mrs. Peter Wieland called at Tillotsan's Sunday afternoon.

Nick Dekkenga had the misfortune to lose a four day old calf last week.

Richard Dennis, Jr., and John Wieland spent Sunday with Edward Tillotson, Jr.

Quite a few young people around here attended the party at VanBeek's Friday night.

Some beans that were hauled too wet are beginning to heat in the stacks and barns.

Ray Dennis is moving feed and produce to a camp east af Ellsworth, where he will work this winter.

PRICE OF BEANS TO BE RAISED

IS EXPRESSED BELIEF OF DIRECTOR McBRIDE

Price of $6.00 Will be Re-Considered at Once—Gives Westerns Proper Rating

The price on Michigan beans fixed by the government recently at a price which would net the farmer but $6 a bushel is almost certain to be reconsidered and fixed so that the beans will net the farmer $8. This is the announcement of State Market Director McBride, who is in Washington for a conference with Director Hoover and the bean experts of the government. He confidently expects to have the price raised. In fact advices indicate that the price will be revised upward, but how far is not known.

Good As Fixed

"You can say that I am almost sure the farmer will get $8 for the beans," says Mr. McBride, "from what I have heard in the last 48 hours this price looks almost fixed."

According to Mr. McBride, W. J. Orr of Saginaw and William Biles of the same city, both elevator men, have been slowly convincing the government experts that the last price fixed by the army as good enough price for Michigan beans was too low. That they have almost succeeded is borne out by Mr. McBride's trip to Washington and his significant remarks before he started.

"I go to represent the bean growers," said Mr. McBride. "Messrs Orr and Biles have been representatives of the elevator men and the government wants to hear the growers' side of it. Some farmers and some agricultural periodicals in the state have been claiming that these two gentlemen have not been really trying to get the price raised. That is incorrect. I knew they have tried hard and I think they have succeeded."

Michigan Beans Best

The price as fixed was by the army and merely meant that the contract price for the army would be just what was announced. Mr. Hoover has not yet fixed a price and Mr. McBride thinks the kick against placing the $8 price on Michigan beans in this state would fix an exhorbitant price on Colorado and California beans. The Michigan beans grade much higher than the western ones and with an $8 price fixed for this state the proper grading would drop the western beans to the price at which they belong.

What Is Your Salary?

The new income tax law will round up a great new army of taxpayers, with all unmarried men assessed when their incomes are over $1,000 and all married men with incomes over $2,000. Unmarried men working for about $25 a week probably never thought the law would be brought down to hit them. But now, like the big bankers and manufacturers, they too must struggle with the intricacies of an income tax blank. For $25 a week, however, the tax will be but five dollars. It is an insignificant sacrifice compared with the soldiers. And these unmarried men would spend that amount any time on a blow-out with the boys.

The roof is the last to go on your building; but the selection of an efficient and economical roof is of first importance. If you will use on your building you will get the most efficient roof, and will cut down the cost of the roof materially.

CERTAIN-TEED Roofing is economical to buy, inexpensive to lay, and it costs practically nothing to maintain. It is weathertight, fire retardant, clean, sanitary, and gives the utmost roofing service over a period of years. CERTAIN-TEED is guaranteed for 5, 10 or 15 years, according to thickness (1, 2 or 3 ply).

The quality and merit of CERTAIN-TEED have made it the preferable type of roofing for office buildings, hotels, factories, stores, warehouses, garages, farm buildings, etc. If you are building it will be to your interest to investigate CERTAIN-TEED.

There are many roll roofings, but only one CERTAIN-TEED. As it costs no more to lay a CERTAIN-TEED Roof than it does to lay a poor roof, it will pay to get the best, and save on renewals and upkeep. You can't tell the quality of roll roofing by its appearance, or by feeling of it; your only safety is in the label. Be sure it is CERTAIN-TEED.

Certain-teed* Slate-Surfaced Asphalt Shingles

are supplanting wood and slate shingles for residences. They cost less, are just as good looking, wear better, won't fall off, buckle or split. They are fire retardant, and do not have to be painted or stained.

Certain-teed* Paints and Varnishes

are made of the best quality materials and mixed by modern machinery to insure uniformity. Made for all uses and in all colors and sizes. Any dealer can get them for you. With paint and varnish, as with roofing, the name CERTAIN-TEED is a guarantee of quality and satisfaction.

DR. IRVING E. SANDERS

Dr. Irving E. Sanders Bay City, Mich.

Will again visit Charlevoix, Mich., and will be at Hotel Charlevoix on Wednesday, the 21 of November, for one day only. Hours 9 a. m. to 8 p. m. holding a Dispensary Clinic for all his patients having appointments and others who may want to see him. Dr. Sanders is too well known to most people in this locality to need any introduction except to newcomers. Having practiced medicine in most of its branches for more than forty-five years in Michigan, he is known from one end of the state to the other as a great Medical Expert in the Diagnosis and Treatment of Chronic Diseases of MEN, WOMEN and CHILDREN.

The hundreds of chronic sufferers cured give testimony of the truth of this assertion. Come and see some and talk to others you will meet, and be convinced.

No matter how long you are ailing, or what the nature of your ailments are, how many doctors you have seen, or what has been done for you. Go and see Dr. Sanders. Your visit will cost you nothing, and at last you will meet a man, grown old in the service of humanity, honest, up-right, sincere, qualified, well recommended and able. He will examine you thoroughly and scientifically, thus diagnosing your case and tell you just where the trouble is and what to do to get rid of it.

Dr. Sanders treats MEN, WOMEN and CHILDREN afflicted with Chronic Diseases only, that is to say, diseases of long standing. If you are now in the care of your family physician, and he is doing good work, do not come and take up his valuable time, as in that case he will not see you. If he can help you, he will tell you so, and give you such treatment remedies and advice as will restore you to perfect health. If your case is not curable, he will give you such advice as will relieve and may prolong your life.

CONSULTATION and EXAMINATION at this visit is FREE. YOU will be charged only with the actual cost of the treatment required to affect your cure, which at all times will be reasonably moderate. Under no circumstances will he take a case for treatment than can not be cured.

This is not a scheme to trick you out of your money, not a C. O. D. snare or anything that is not strictly ethical and according to law. Come and be convinced, and find at last that you are not hopelessly doomed to suffer for lack of expert medical skill and knowledge and that you may obtain perfect health for less money than you spend on patent medicine.

—NOTE: If you have pain in the back bring a two-ounce bottle of urine for chemical and microscopical examination and analysis. Minors without parents or guardians not admitted to examination rooms. Calls to private homes $10.00. Consultations with physicians by appointment only. Remember the date. Hours 9 a. m. to 8 p. m. 45t2

CHARLEVOIX LOSES SCALP TO TRAVERSE CITY TEAM

Spectacular Foot Ball Game on Local Gridiron

Friday afternoon was one of intense interest to foot ball fans in this section, the occasion being a game between the team representing the high school of Traverse City and the local high school squad.

Early in the day people began to arrive from Traverse City, and by noon the streets were fsily alive with automobiles, bicycles, baby csbs snd wheelbarrows, the hotels and restaurants having all they could do to feed the hungry horde.

The game was called at 3 o'clock and was one of the most interesting that has been played during the present season. Traverse City has n record as a strong bunch, and Charlevoix claims the distinction of being able to travel in fnst company, hence the fans expected some speetncular plays—and their most sanguine expectations were fully realized. Trnverse City went into the game with the idea of a walkaway but as soon as the scrimmage was fairly well under way they realized they were up against the real thing. The Charlevoix bunch were everywhere at the same time and the way they fought for the game would have made an Apache Indian turn green with envy and take to the tall uneut In fear and trembling.

But theodds were against them and at the close of the struggle the score read 20 to 6 in favor of tho visitors.

Members of the Traverse City team were loud in their praise of tbo local bunch, and freely stated that this was the aupreme struggle of the season so far as they were eoncerned, and that the Charlavoix boys played the gama clean—liko old timers.

Charlevoix was again defeated by Boyne City last Saturday by a scoro of 14-20. This defeat waa due to the same thing as the first; C. H. S. was unable to atop Boyae's plunges. Boyne won the toss and chose to receive at the west goal. After the first down they fumbled and the ball went over. C. H. S. then carried the ball to the 20-yard line on plunges and end runs, when Paraons caught a pass and scored the first touchdown. The second touchdown was made by Hampton in the second quarter. Tbe game was very slow, the field being muddy and partly envered with anow.

C. H. S. line-up: Krulik, LE; Coblentz, L T; Hallet, LG; Butler, C; Supernaw, RG; Newson, RT; Drigget, RE; Cartier, Q; Hampton, RH; Parsons, LH; Finucan, FB; Powers, Harbor Springs, referee; Bush, Charlevoix, Umpire; Craig, Charlevoix, Head linesman. Time of quarters—15 minutes.

—o—

On Friday, November 1, in the coldness of the morning air, stood boldly outlined on the city receiptiola (water tower) the glowing insignia, C. H. S. '18, showing that the imps of Hallowe'en had been at their pranks tha night before and had left the marks of the Senior class. The following night a "daring" member of last yesr's class scaled the weather beaten edifice to tha top of the tower and changed the '18 to '17. It was very good, but we would like to have '17 think up some original ideas.

—o—

In American History class, Miss Wells gave us a puzzle to figure out. It was an address which had been written on a letter just to sea what would become of it. This was the address:

WOOD

MASS.

Tha answer to the puzzle is: Mark Underwood, Andover, Mass. The letter reached its propar destination.

—o—

In one of the cleanest and best games of the season the "Red and White" were beaten by unquestionably the best team in Northern Michigan, Traverse City high school, who has beaten Ludington, Muskegon and Cadillac by worse scorca than ours.

In the opening Charlevoix, true to predictions, scored a touchdown, but the referee refused to allow it saying that a C. H. S. man had been "holding."

Such a loss took nway some of our team's pep with the result that Trsverse City scored twice, making the score 13-0. In the third quarter, C. H. S. scnred a touchdown, by excellent line smashes. The scora then stood 13-6.

In the last quarter Traverse again scored, by end runs after they had taken the ball from C. H. S. by intercepting a forward pass. From then on no one scored and the end of the game found the score 19-6.

Trsverse City won themselves a place in the minds of Charlevoix fans by lustily cheering members who had in some way become injured on either team. For Trnverse City Bensley was the big star—For Charlevoix Cartier, Hampton and Drigget starred. Krulik, a new man at center proved himself the right man at the right place.

Pickles, in Am. Hist., discussing President Wilson's war message: "The Germans have ruthlessly killed the lives of our citizens."

RED CROSS

A quantity of bright colored yarn has been donated to the Red Cross. This is to be knitted into blocks 9 by 6 inches. These blocks are sewed together making warm coverings for the convalescent soldiers. The children esn do this plain knitting and may get the yarn by calling at the Red Cross room.

All those who have finished knitted articles such as scarfs, sweaters, wristlets or socks are requested to return them nt once to the Red Cross rooms so they can be shipped when called for.

More knitters are needed and the women are urged to help in this great work.

The class in surgical dressings will be resumed. A call has been sent in for ten million surgical dressings. This will call for hard and earnest work from a number of women. It is to be hoped the Charlevoix women will respond to this urgent call.

The doners this week are, Mrs. Sarah Emrey, Mrs. Brown and Mrs. John C. Miller.

VOLUME 25. NUMBER 47. EIGHT PAGES CHARLEVOIX, MICHIGAN WEDNESDAY, NOVEMBER 21, 1917 PRICE $1.50 PER YEAR

SOLDIER BOYS GO TO CUSTER

TWENTY ONE MEN ARE INCLUDED IN THIS CALL

Entire Town and Country-Side Give Boys a Rousing Send-Off in Auto Parade.

Government regulations covering the movement of the third contingent of Michigan drafted men was received in this city last Saturday, and called for twenty-one men to go to Camp Custer, whore they are to become skilled in the art of modern warfare. At some time in the not far distant future these men, with their comrades, will become a cog in the wheel of the American forces who are to enter the world's war to protect the women and children of the United States from rapine and murder at the hands of an uncivilized horde, to whom no outrage is too horrible if it only gratifies their desires.

Following are the names of the boys who went from here:

Clinton Raymond, East Jordan.
George Chard, East Jordan.
Howard C. Middleton, Boyne City.
Irvin Flanders, East Jordan.
Emmet Dickerhoof, Bay Shore.
Leo. Holmberg, Walloon Lake.
George Dickerhoof, Bay Shore.
William Murphy, East Jordan.
Emriel LeCroix, Boyne City.
Fred Friend, Boyne City.
Harry Potter, Charlevoix.
Lester Davison, Boyne City.
Roy Winegerden, Boyne City.
Russell Barnett, East Jordan.
Tracey LeCroix, Boyne City.
Earl Sneethen, Charlevoix.
Andries Klooster, Charlevoix.
Clyde Cadwell, Boyne City.
Omer Charles Jones, Boyne City.
Edward Potter, Charlevoix.
Lawrence C. Weaver, Clarion.

Chas. Henry Bender of Boyne City was not examined by the local board but was ordered to Camp Custer by J. S. Bersey, Adjt. Gen'l. of Michigan.

Upon leaving Charlevoix each of the boys was presented with a housewife by the ladies of the Women's Relief Corps, sheriff Novak making the presentation. The ladies of the local Red Cross gave them each a "comfort kit," while the city and the entire country-side gave them a rousing send-off at the depot. More than 200 automobiles formed in processional order on Bridge street and escorted the "soldier boys" to the train, being one of the most imposing spectacles that has ever transpired here.

This contingent left Charlevoix on the regular Pere Marquette train at 12:45, and a large crowd of patriotic residents followed them to the depot to wish them "God speed." Their train also picked up twenty-six men from Antrim county at Bellaire, as well as others enroute. The men were given supper at Baldwin and were well provided with luncheon all along the line. They will reach Camp Custer late Wednesday night or early Thursday morning.

Emmet Over G. R. & I.

Emmet county's quota calls for thirty men, and they left Petoskey this (Wednesday) morning on the regular G. R. & I. train to Grand Rapids. They were served a lunch at Cadillac, and supper enroute. From Grand Rapids they will go by special train to Camp Custer.

Upper Peninsula Men

From the upper peninsula the contingents from Ontonagon, Dickinson, Schoolcraft, Delta, Iron, Menominee and Gogebic counties go by special train by way of Chicago. The men from Keweenaw, Houghton, Baraga, Marquette, Alger, Luce, Chippewa, and Mackinac counties go by a special train out of Houghton Thursday, November 22, to Mackinaw City and over the Michigan Central to Saginaw, then to Camp Custer. This train will leave St. Ignace at 7:30 p. m. The men from the first four counties will be given dinner at Marquette and the entire train load will be given box lunch suppers enroute.

The Cheboygan and Eastern Michigan contingents also go by this train, making the trips by regular trains from their home stations to the nearest station on the Michigan Central road. This train leaves Cheboygan at 8:45 p. m.

The total number of men to go to camp on each of the five days beginning Nov 19 are: Nov. 19, 3,121 men; Nov. 20, 2,254 men; Nov. 21, 2,672 men; Nov 22, 1,699 men; Nov. 23, 558 men.

SHERIFF AWAITS ORDERS

Man Who Wouldn't Register Sorry That He Spoke

Lewis Huff, a former resident of Montmorency county but later of Boyne Falls, has quite an exalted opinion of himself and has firmly believed that he was just as good a man as Uncle Sam any old day. For this reason he has steadfastly refused to register and defied conscription.

But all that has changed, now, the gentleman having experienced a most sudden change of heart, Monday, when sheriff Novak reached out with the strong right arm of the law and proceeded to tuck the offender under his protecting wing, placing him in the county bastile for a brief period of recuperation.

The sheriff is awaiting orders from the United States marshal in regard to his prisoner, who is now loud in his desire to do anything that may be required of him.

It pays not to ruffle the feathers of your Uncle Samuel.

SWAN KILLERS TO PAY FOR BIRDS

MEN MAY SETTLE CASE OUT OF COURT

Say They Thought the Swans Were Wild Geese and Blazed Away In a Hurry

Mark Carney and Frank Detliff, both of the South Arm neighborhood, are two nimrods who will not be quite so quick on the trigger in the future, and will look twice into the muzzles of their guns before killing any more "geese."

They were arrested last Wednesday afternoon by sheriff Novak on a charge of killing the five beautiful tame swans belonging to local parties, and were given a hearing Thursday before Judge Cooper. The parties waived examination and were bound over to circuit court for trial.

From the story told by the men, they were ignorant as to the kind and value of the birds. According to their story the men supposed they had stumbled onto a flock of wild geese, and the fact that they afterwards freely exhibited the birds and also a picture of their prizes, would seem to substantiate their story.

It is very probable that the case will be settled out of court.

MANY PRESENTS GO TO THE BOYS IN THE ARMY

Packages of Christmas Cheer Go Through Postoffice

As an evidence that Charlevoix people remember the soldier boys at the front and in the trenches "somewhere in France," it may be stated that something in excess of fifty Christmas packages were mailed to soldiers through the local postoffice.

Every day we are told, many packages go through addressed to "Soldiers Anywhere," which goes to show that Charlevoix people are loyal and have a kind regard for the boys who are to fight the battles of the nation.

Promoted to Captaincy

Word has been received here from Fort Sill, Oklahoma, that Dr. A. M. Wilkinson of this city, and who is serving in the gas defense department of the army with headquarters as above, has been promoted to a captaincy.

Has was first commissioned as a lieutenant, and the promotion is a reward for competency. His many friends here will be pleased to hear of his good fortune.

Met With Painful Accident

Mrs. John Wells, who lives about four miles out of the city on the Norwood road, met with a painful accident Friday, November 16, when the team of colts she was driving ran away, throwing her out and breaking her right leg just above the ankle. At last reports she is resting comfortably.

BOOSTERS TALK CONCRETE ROADS

ROUSING RECEPTION IS GIVEN BONDING PROPOSITION

Entire County Seems Almost Unanimously to Favor the Concrete Road Idea

Friday evening of last week, at the court house in this city, occurred one of the most interesting and at the same time one of the most enthusiastic good roads meetings that has ever transpired in Charlevoix county.

Austin Harrington, a coal dealer of Holland and who is highway commissioner of Ottawa county, this state, was announced to talk on the question of road building, and when he ended his remarks he had convinced practically everyone in the room that concrete roads are by far the most durable and at the same time most economical in a district such as composes Charlevoix county, where automobile and team traffic are so heavy. Mr. Harrington talked strictly as a business man—from an unbiased standpoint. He is not in the road building business for a monetary consideration, but had conceived his ideas from practical experience, and because of that fact his remarks were more convincing than would have been the case as coming from the paid representative of some concern, whose sole object was to induce the sale of some particular commodity.

He stated that as a business and money-saving proposition he could not understand how a community with a future so promising as that of Charlevoix county, could afford to build anything else than the standard concrete road of 16 foot width. Few speakers on that much-talked topic have been so convincing as was Mr. Harrington. He made it absolutely clear that when cost of maintenance upkeep, and durability are taken into consideration, no other material will equal that of concrete.

Many questions were propounded to the speaker during the evening, and his answers in every case were clear and concise—based on sound business judgment and as the result of actual experience.

Henry Nicholls, of this city, also spoke on the subject, and he, too, talked from an unbiased viewpoint, being firmly convinced from study and observation, that concrete is the most durable material for the construction of good country roads and thoroughfares. He looked upon the matter as a business proposition—as any business man would look after his individual interests, and expressed his views as being desirous of securing the best and the most durable thoroughfares for the very least expenditure.

Geo. H. Van Pelt of "good roads" fame, came all the way from Joliet, Ill., to be in attendance at the meeting, and took a very active interest in all that transpired. He has been a great booster for the good roads proposition for a long time, and within the last six or eight years has become an ardent convert of the concrete idea, one of his greatest ambitions being to see a concrete ribbon 16 feet wide, stretched from Mackinaw to the Gulf of Mexico; but his greatest concern just at the present time is to see the construction of concrete roads in Charlevoix county, and for that reason alone he is exceedingly anxious that the bond issue be carried at the special election, which occurs next month. Mr. Van Pelt was asked to express his views regarding the proposed bonding for concrete roads, and has submitted the following:

"I would not be guilty of insulting the intelligence of the people of Charlevoix county by telling them why they should vote to bond the county or giving them any reason, for so doing, to build concrete roads, for they would never forgive me.

"It is so simple and plain that there is nothing else to be done, no man would refuse to accept so great a gift as the United States government offers you in this case. Just think of it, fifty per cent of the cost of the road and then the state gives you fifteen per cent additional and all that we have to pay is thirty-five per cent. This sum we receive from the sale of the bonds, and we, who are here today will not have to pay a single dollar of it, for at the end of twenty years, if the people who may be here at that time wish to pay it, they can do so, and if not, they

LESTER TAGGART IS IN FRANCE

WRITES AN INTERESTING LETTER TO PARENTS HERE

Is Learning to Speak French Language—Sees Very Few American Newspapers There

Mission Anglo-Americaine de la Societe des Amis, 53, Rue de Rivoli, Paris, le 20 Octobre, 1917.

"I am using this stationery in order that you may see the thing we are just now. The double red and black star is the sign of this mission, it's trade mark as it were. We wear this mark on our left sleeve and on a button on our hats. Our uniforms are grey, quite heavy and warm, and are made after the style of the English officer's uniform. It is a new uniform for Paris, it would appear, for as we pass, everyone whispers, 'Qu' est ce que sa?' and then the answer comes 'Russe,' or "Portugaise' or some other out of the way tribe; sometimes 'Anglaise,' still less often, 'Americaine.' We do not have the shoulder straps on these uniforms, but we have a small blue patch with the letters 'A. R. C.' (American Red Cross) embroidered on it in red.

"I rather doubt if I see Cecil Burns over here, or any of the boys, for even if they happened to be in Paris, Paris is quite a sizeable town and I am living a long ways away from the ambulance and army headquarters. I am registered at the Army and Navy Y. M. C. A., and if they happened to find my name there or if I happened to find theirs, we might meet.

"I am not very much pleased with the idea of staying in Paris all the time I am over here. However it may be only for the winter, and I shall have a better chance to see Paris than any of the others will have. Just at present I am quite satisfied that I am doing more here than I could in the field, or in the U. S., both for France and for the cause for which the whole world is fighting. For one thing, we are running great farming operations and some one here has said that every acre sowed is an answer to a German gun. We have 1,000 acres to sow and many more acres to help in sowing, so I guess we are doing our share. I should very much like to get out into the field work, but it seems I am worth more to the cause by staying here in Paris, so here I shall be, for a while at least.

I go to church every Sunday in the Cathedral de Notre Dame. It is quite different from the Charlevoix church. I have visited every place of interest almost. Must go to the Pantheon yet, to see the tomb of Victor Hugo, Rousseau and many other French celebrities.

"Am learning to talk French a little bit, but am still rather bashful about it, when they come up and

GOES TO HIS REWARD AT AGE OF 99 YEARS

Funeral Services Were Beautiful and Most Impressive

George Hughes, the oldest man in northern Michigan and one of the oldest in the entire country, who has resided in Charlevoix for many years, passed in the Great Beyond Friday morning of last week at the advanced age of 99 years and five months, death resulting from natural causes attributable to his extreme old age.

Mr. Hughes was born in Montrose, Scotland, May 18, 1818, and passed away at the home of Mr. and Mrs. H. C. Cooper in this city, where he had made his home for the past 20 years. Previous to that time he had lived with the family of Richard Cooper for about 25 years.

In his youth Mr. Hughes was a salt water sailor and had visited many foreign countries. His tales of his experiences on the seas in foreign climes were very interesting, and at the beginning of the German war he was anxious to have the papers read to him, recognizing many of the places mentioned as having been visited by him during his sea-faring days.

The funeral services were conducted at the residence of H. C. Cooper, Saturday afternoon at three o'clock, by Rev. C. E. Taggart, who used the Episcopal burial service, and read from the chapters he found marked in Mr. Hughes' old bible. Interment was at Brookside cemetery, the casket being lowered into the grave just at the setting of the sun, a fitting tribute and a most appropriate closing for the life of this grand old man.

WILL SERVE COUNTRY

Charlevoix Teacher Responds to Call of the Nation

H. Beecher, Science teacher in the local high school, and whose home is at Addison, Lenawee county, severed his connection with the Charlevoix institution last Friday, and will become a soldier in the new national army at Camp Custer.

He was registered in his home county and the third draft called his number. He will be among the number who reach the cantonment this week, having left here immediately upon receipt of his call.

Mr. Beecher has made many friends during his stay in Charlevoix, who regret to see him leave, but are proud to know he has responded to the nation's call for men.

R. W. Craig is temporarily filling the position made vacant by Mr. Beecher's resignation.

Receives Appointment

Orson Everts of the local postoffice force as carrier on route four, has recently received notice of his appointment to a position in the railway mail service. He will act as a substitute during the holiday rush in December and will later be given a regular run. The young man is well and favorably known in this section and his many friends will be pleased to learn of his appointment.

CHARLEVOIX IS SHIPPING POINT

FISHING INDUSTRY SENDS FOOD TO CITY MARKETS

Express and Freight Companies Carry Heavy Consignments From This Station

Not only is the region contiguous to Charlevoix known as the home of the big potato and the navy bean, but the waters of Lake Michigan in this immediate vicinity are also factors in producing a supply of food for the nation in the nature of edible fish, and thousands of pounds of the finy tribe have been caught and shipped from this port during the past few weeks.

The high prices demanded for beef and pork together with the admonitions for meatless days has given an impetus to the fishing industry that has not been equaled in years and the fact that unequaled fishing grounds abound in the vicinity of Charlevoix, has caused an exodus of fishermen to this port, with the result that a dozen fishing tugs from other and less favorable localities, together with their crews, are making this city their headquarters, not to mention those who claim Charlevoix as their home.

And not only does the country look to Charlevoix for its supply of edible fish, but the hatcheries of the United States, located in different sections of the country, also depend to a very great extent upon the Charlevoix industry for their supply of lake trout eggs for the population of streams. Something in excess of 5,000,000 eggs were shipped to New York state last Friday evening, and several more truck loads of the boxes were shipped to the hatchery at Duluth, Minn. The boxes are fitted with trays on which the eggs are placed, and are kept cool by being packed in ice. The consignments are handled by express.

During the past month the fishing industry has been an exceptionally busy one, the figures being almost beyond belief. Car load after car load have been shipped to the city markets to aid in relieving the food and meat shortage which is becoming so pronounced.

In the past 30 days ten car loads, averaging 24,000 pounds to the car, have been shipped from Charlevoix, while the express companies have practically all they can handle, having received consignments aggregating 455,244 pounds. With these figures at hand it is easy to calculate that a grand total of 785,293 pounds of fish have been shipped from Charlevoix in a period of 30 days.

LIEUT. WILKINSON LIKES THE WORK

WRITES INTERESTINGLY OF MEDICAL LIFE IN ARMY

Is a Member of the Gas Defense Department—Believes War Will Last Three Years

School of Arms, Fort Sill, Okla., Gas Defense Department,
November 14, 1917.

"My Dear 'Courier:'

"In fulfillment of a promise made to many friends that I would write a letter to the 'Courier' giving some of my experiences as an army medical officer, I am taking advantage of the first real let-up from active work to keep that promise.

"Our present inactivity is due to a delay in our orders reaching us from Washington. We are expecting them momentarily, however.

"I am a member of one of three groups of medical officers sent here by the Surgeon General's special orders, to take the course in gas defense preparatory to being assigned as instructors at the various camps and cantonments of the new national army and national guard. In other words, we will probably be divisional gas officers. As a division consists of more than 27,000 men, you can readily see that we have our work cut out for us in good liberal amounts. We ought not to complain, I suppose, at a few days respite from the strenuous weeks of training we have just completed nor the arduous campaign ahead of us.

"The doctors with whom I am associated have been taking the regular training at Fort Oglethorpe, Ga., Fort Riley, Kansas, and Fort Benjamin Harrison, Ind., in what are known as the M. O. T. C.'s or Medical Officers' Training Camps. They are all men who have left their private practices to rally to the call of their country, and, of course, come from Maine to California. Many of them stand high in the profession—specialists of great renown, prominent surgeons, and more of us of commoner clay. It is surely a privilege to be associated with such a splendid body of men.

"A word about the gas course: As everybody knows Germany has introduced all the nameless horrors of war in her mad endeavor to rule the world, and nothing is too frightful for her to make use of as a means of furthering her evil designs. Probably the worst of all has been the introduction of poisonous gases, and since the 22nd of April, 1915, the date of its first use, it has cost the allies hundreds of thousands of casualities. These gases are used in two forms—as a cloud, and in shells. Their effect is to asphyxiate the unprotected, to paralyze or produce intense lachrymation (fill the eyes with tears.) These gases are put under pressure sufficient to liquefy them in heavy metal tanks provided with stop cocks. When the wind is favorable they open these cocks, and the gas, being several times heavier than air, is rolled along the ground and completely fills the trenches and dugouts, killing everything it touches—even the grass and shrubs. This deadly wave of destruction is carried back eight to ten miles before it diffuses with the air, when used in cloud form.

"It is up to the medical department of the army to devise and enforce protective measures against these attacks. Suffice it is to say that the allies are coping with this weapon very successfully. I am forbidden to go into details about our means of gas defense, as this would be confidential official information. The subject is one of intense interest, and we must keep up to the minute, as new gases and mixtures are being used constantly.

"I am well under way, now, with my fourth month in the army, and as I am giving my impressions, I will mention briefly a few of the many things that have impressed me as an active participant in the preparations our country is making to do her share in this world war for democracy.

"The things borne in on me most, possibly, is the immensity of our war machine and the immeasurable cost in treasure, to say nothing of the priceless lives, which must be forfeited. Even here in Fort Sill, which I had never even heard of before we entered the war, the thousands of acres of land are completely covered by tents, barracks, horses, wagons,

The bean crop is a grand failure in this locality, many farmers not realizing enough to pay for the harveating and threshing. It seems too bad as the food is sorely needed for the starving people in the warring countries.

We have been told by reliable parties that two of our summer people in fact they are year around folks as they both own farms of no little importance, and expect to erect an up to date creamery and cheese factory in the center of milk and cream production near Pine lake. A meeting will be held at the Ironton grange hall conducted by our friend, Mr. Waldron from M. A. C., who is a specialist in dairying. The purpose of this meeting will be to have the farmers express their willingness to deliver milk and cream and other matters of importance will be talked over. Mr. Farmer, you know what a creamery and cheese factory will mean to us, so when the date of the meeting is announced be on hand.

WHAT PIE FOR THANKSGIVING?

Who ever heard of a real Thanksgiving dinner without mince pie?

It can't be done.

There may be cakes and cookies and puddings and all kinds of sweet things but unless there is mince pie there just isn't any real Thanksgiving dinner.

And since it takes mince pie to top off the least dinners, wouldn't it be a good idea to have mince pie to top off many of the other good meals? Wouldn't it just make the meal on many occasions?

As you probably know, NONE SUCH MINCE MEAT comes in an up-to-date package form—secure from handling; is moderate in price and becomes three times the package weight when you add the necessary moisture.

It is the economical way to buy mince meat because it prevents waste.

The package recipes are good for pies, cakes, puddings, and cookies.

Try a NONE SUCH WAR PIE—no top crust. Saves flour, shortening, labor, money—half the crust. Helps the U. S. Food Administration.

The pie that is good enough for Thanksgiving dinner is good enough for all other meals—breakfasts, lunches, suppers, and in the dinner pail. Try it with NONE SUCH MINCE MEAT.

DARKEN GRAY HAIR, LOOK YOUNG, PRETTY

Sage Tea and Sulphur Darkens So Naturally that Nobody can tell.

Hair that loses its color and lustre, or when it fades, turns gray, dull and lifeless, is caused by a lack of sulphur in the hair. Our grandmother made up a mixture of Sage Tea and Sulphur to keep her locks dark and beautiful, and thousands of women and men who value that even color, that beautiful dark shade of hair which is so attractive, use only this old-time recipe.

Nowadays we get this famous mixture improved by the addition of other ingredients by asking at any drug store for a 50-cent bottle of "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound," which darkens the hair so naturally, so evenly, that nobody can possibly tell it has been applied. You just dampen a sponge or soft brush with it and draw this through your hair, taking one small strand at a time. By morning the gray hair disappears; but what delights the ladies with Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound, is that, besides beautifully darkening the hair after a few applications, it also brings back the gloss and lustre and gives it an appearance of abundance.

Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound is a delightful toilet requisite to impart color and a youthful appearance to the hair. It is not intended for the cure, mitigation or prevention of disease.

Farmers are all glad to welcome the threshers once again.

Mr. and Mrs. Elijah O'Brien called on Mr. and Mrs. Herrington Monday evening.

The ladies of Marion center will soon be busy. A Red Cross Society has been organized.

The Box social given Saturday evening was a great success. The proceeds were $20.25.

WILDWOOD

Mrs. Cross is in Central Lake for a short stay again.

Mr. and Mrs. Sherer of Lakeview, were Sunday visitors at the Crawford home.

The Stevens family have moved and are settled in their newly purchased home in Central Lake.

Mr. Cawood is having a new chimney built on his kitchen, this week, Jim Wilson is doing the work.

Ford

THE UNIVERSAL CAR

The Ford Coupelet is a most practical two-passenger car—with room enough for three. It is really two cars in the one—an enclosed car of pleasing appearance for inclement weather, summer—and winter, while the large sliding plate glass windows, with removable pillar, make it possible to transform it into a most delightful open car. Top is permanent, saving trouble of raising and lowering. Comfortable deep upholstering—a car of class and comfort. Price $560 f. o. b. Detroit.

rattle off a string of unintelligible stuff and I do not get a word of it, and when I ask them to go slower they go faster and faster. It is great sport though. When you ask a Frenchman the direction to any place, he carefully explains—very rapidly—then explains again, then waves his hands and explains again, then get excited, raises his voice, motiona with arms and hands in a windmill fashion and explains again. When he is done, you have the general impression that it is 'par la, a droit,' or a gaucbe,' but you don't know how far to go, nor which way to turn or how to know the place when you get there.

"In the morning I work at No. 4 Place de la Concorde, and in the afternoon at 53, Ruo do Rivoli. The Place de la Concorde is very celebrated in connection witb the French Revolution. There the guillotine was eet up and the ground was sonked with the blood of many of France's best and noblest.

"We get absolutely no American newspapers over here. The French papers tell very little newe. But the people philosophically fall back on 'C'eat la guerre' and shrug their shoulders and let it go at that. The Saturday Evening Post is on sale here every week for five cents—twenty-five centimes—and I always buy a copy.

"Have sent cards to every one I can think of who would care for one. As ever, with love, LESTER."

COMMUNICATIONS

What the State of Michigan Will Do

The state will pay $6,800 (double reward) for any national road built in the state of concrete, 10 feet wide, according to state specifications, and built under state supervision.

This applies to the Mackinaw Trail and the road from Boyne Falls to Walloon Lake, via Boyne City, leaving the county to pay, $8,000 per mile for this road, although according to Mr. Austin Harrington's statement, who is the chairman of the county road commissioners of Ottawa county, said at his talks in the three cities last Saturday, and will say the same thing Thureday evening of this week at Pomona Grange meeting, on Thursday, November 22, that he has just completed the building of two miles of 16 foot concrete road, for $12,000 per mile, and two miles of concrete road 9 foot wide, for $8,000 per mile.

Furthermore, the state will pay $3,400 per mile for any concrete road made under state specifications, 16 feet wide, and $2,000 per mile for the same made 9 feet wide.

The life of concrete roads is in a measure guess work, but 50 years is considered a safe estimate, and many claim that it will last much longer. We have an object lesson both in Charlevoix and East Jordan, where streets made from concrete have stood up for eight years without a dollar of expense having been spent on the upkeep, and are as good today as when first made.

Compare this cost with every gravel road that was well built in our county, and you will find that the gravel roads are much more expensive than the concrete, not only in the long run, but in the near future as well, for as we all know, every road, after it has been used one year, requires constant repairing, and in four or five years has to be rebuilt entirely.

MEETINGS FOR ATWOOD BARNARD AND NORWOOD

Able Leaders in Charge—Church Funds Over-Subscribed

Rev. R. W. Merrill of Boyne City, will begin a series of meetings in the interest of a better community life, Monday evening, November 26, at the Norwood Methodist church. Tuesday evening, the 27th, he will speak at Atwood. On Wednesday, Thursday and Friday evenings he will speak at the Barnard church, and on Sunday, December 2, at the regular hours of service, he will preach at Atwood, Barnard, and Norwood. The meetings will continue the following week, Dec. 3 to 9th inclusive, under the leadership of Rev. Wentworth F. Stewart, D. D., of Boston. All who have heard Dr. Stewart know that his coming will be a great inspiration to our people. All are cordially invited to hear him.

The canvas to secure weekly subscriptions with which to finance the Atwood and Barnard Methodist churches was a signal success. Under Dr. Meader's able leadership and with the faithful work of our canvassers and the response of our people, the finances of these churches have been placed on a solid basis for the ensuing year. A beginning that spells success has also been made at Norwood. The Barnard budget of $14 and the Atwood budget of $7 per week were both over-subscribed.

hangars and other equipment. Scores of new barracks (two stories) constantly being finished, and new troops coming to fill them even before the carpenters get through. There is a 2,000 bed hospital here, and already nearly half full of juet the ordinary run of sick and accident casea.

"The aviation field is a wonderful sight of itself. The long rows of great hangars, each holding four planes. In daytime the sky is fairly dotted with aeroplanes scooting thru the air like great hawks looking for prey. The first week I was here I saw a man killed by an aeroplane. That took most of my ambition away to take a trial trip.

"When one stops to think this is only one of the emallest mobilizing points for our great army, it is really bewildering. One other towering fact in the United States army today is that prohibition absolutely prohibits. Have not seen a drop of liquor nor smelled a sniff of it in a tent since I entered the service. This, coupled with the influence which the army Y. M. C. A. has for good on the soldier, makes the army safer for the morals and health of the young men than the fast majority of them would be at home..

"The present condition of Russia, brought about by German finesse in the art of intrigue, together with the Hun invasion of Italy, makes me feel that our job is liable to take about three years. That will make a big hole in the lifetime of those who live to return—but it will be worth while, because we are going to win.

"May God hasten the day, and guard those we have left behind.

"Sincerely yours,

"A. M. WILKINSON."

Get the Habit of Drinking Hot Water Before Breakfast

Says we can't look or feel right with the system full of poisons.

Millions of folks batho internal'y now instead of loading their system with drugs. "What's an inside bath?" you say. Well, it is guaranteed to perform miracles if you could believe these hot water enthusiasts.

There are vast numbers of men and women who, immediately upon arising in the morning, drink a glass of real hot water with a teaspoonful of limestone phosphate in it. This is a very excellent health measure. It is intended to flush the stomach, liver, kidneys and the thirty feet of intestines of the previous day's waste, sour bile and indigestible material left over in the body which if not eliminated every day, become food for the millions of bacteria which infest the bowels, the quick result is poisons and toxins which are then absorbed into the blood causing headache, bilious attacks, foul breath, bad taste, colds, stomach trouble, kidney misery, sleeplessness, impure blood and all sorts of ailments.

People who feel good one day and badly the next, but who simply can not get feeling right are urged to obtain a quarter pound of limestone phosphate at the drug store. This will cost very little but is sufficient to make anyone a real crank on the subject of internal sanitation.

Just as soap and hot water act on the skin, cleanslog, sweetening and freshening, so limestone phosphate and hot water act on the stomach, liver, kidneys and bowels. It is vastly more important to bathe on the inside than on the outside, because the skin pores do not absorb impurities into the blood, while the bowel pores do.

WORTH WHILE

In the issue of the "Courier" dated November 7, appeared an article under the caption "Devil Abdicates Throne of Hades," which has excited considerable comment in the outside world. A Detroit manufacturer, a man high in the financial world and who is a subscriber to the "Courier," writes:

"Send me as many copies of the Charlevoix Courier as you can containing the articie. I have shown it to a few of my friends here and we all agree it is the best thing we have ever seen in print. We congratulate you on printing same."

Which goes to substantiate the fact that when you see it in the "Courier" it is really worth while.

Pleasant Social Function

Miss Florence Greeley of Norwood entertained about 40 guests at her home last Monday evening in honor of Esther and Harry Parsons, who have moved to Atwood. Cames and dancing were the chief features of the evening's entertainment . Light refreshments were served, and the guests departed in the small hours of the morning after having spent a most enjoyable evening.

RED CROSS

A telegram sent by the war council to all division managers of the Red Crose reads: "It is imperative that all of the sweaters, socks, wristlets, that possibly can be made by the women of the country, should be turned in at the supply department at the earliest possible moment. With the cold weather coming on, the demand for sweaters especially, has been beyond the capacity of all our resources to supply." A eupply of heavy sweater yarn has arrived at the Red Cross rooms and all women who possibly can are urged to help with the knitting. For the last month the women of Charlevoix have responded splendidly in this great work, but there is still a great amount of knitting to be completed. Again it is urged that all who have completed knitted articles, return them at once to the Red Cross rooms, as the box of knitted garments will be prepared for shipping on November 23, Friday. The boye that left here on Wednesday for the training camps were each supplied with a comfort kit by the local Red Cross. The sewing and knitting classes are held in the Red Cross rooms on Monday and Wednesday and the class in surgical dressings on Friday. All women are urged to do their bit in this national work.

—o—

We are pleased to learn of a Red Cross society being etarted at Marlon Center as auxiliary to the Charlevoix chapter. A number of earnest women have taken up this work and intend making it a great success. The following are the officers: President, Mrs. Elmer Ingalis; secretary, Mrs. Walter Black; treasurer, Mrs. D. E. Ingalls. The first meeting was held at the home of Mrs. VanZant Tuesday evening.

CHARLEVOIX H. S. NOTES

Thursday afternoon Dr. Frank H. Wilkinson gave a talk to the high school explaining the work of the Y. M. C. A. Charlevoix high school again proved its worth by subscribing $156.25 for the cause, accompanied by the greatest enthusiasm among the students.

German II is to study "Hoher als die Kirche."

—o—

Last Friday the etudents of the high school were entertained by Mrs. Nichols, who gave a very interesting and instructive talk on the Red Cross work, dealing with the origin of the movement up to our own local Chapter. A number of articles knitted by the Red Cross workers were exhibited, and all were impressed by their workmanship and practicability. A "make a square" campaign was planned by Miss Lombard, in which all high school girls were enlisted in this plan of making squares for quilts. To raise money for this cause, committees have been appointed and are preparing a program and dance which will be given December 7.

NORMAL NOTES

Everyone is back at work again after the short vacation.

Miss Lanway has discontinued work at the Normal being unable to remain the full year.

Miss Elleen Gunsolus, from nenr East Jordan, has enrolled as a student at the normal.

Miss Allen, the traveling state librarian, visited the normal room three days last week, giving the class very interesting, as well as most instructive talks on "Libraries of Rural Schools." Also other miscellaneous ideas regarding books and libraries.

The normal class has been observing the spelling classes in the critic room this week.

LIBRARY NOTES

"The Book of History," composed of 15 volumes, with over 8,000 illustrations, a history of all nations from the earliest times to the present, has recently been placed in the library.

Call and look over our list seven, Xmas and gift books, recommended for children.

"The Junior Red Cross," by Henry Noble MacCracken, with its pledge as signed by the school children of Chicago, may be found in the December Delineator.

Some Turnip

In the window of the Charlevoix county bank is a monster turnip weighing close to ten pounds. It was grown by Will Ager, living some three or four miles southeast of town, and is conclusive evidence that this section, the home of the big potato and the navy bean, is adapted for the growing of other crops as well.

Word has been received here of the death at Ann Arbor of the one year old daughter, Roberta Lee, of Lee Smith of this city. On Friday, November 9, Mrs. Smith took the baby to Ann Arbor for treatment and as she seemed to be doing weel, returned to her home the followlng Thursday, leaving little Roberta there. Monday Mr. Smith received a telegram from the hospital that the baby had died of pneumonia, and left immediately to bring the body home. He arrived here this (Wednesday) evening, and the funeral will occur Thureday morning at 10:30 o'clock. Services at the residence.

Potter-Stizema

At the Methodist parsonage in this city last Wednesday afternoon, Rev. Quinton Walker spoke the words which made Harry Potter and Mise Winnie Stizema man and wife.

The young people are well and favorably known, and their host of friends will unite with the "Courier" in wishing them a long and happy life.

WOULD CONNECT CHICAGO WTH NEW YORK

The Type Used in One Year to Publish Endorsements of Doan's Kidney Pills

Of the many kidney remedies on the market today, none other is recommended like Doan's Kidney Pills. Fifty thousand benefited people gladly testify in the newspapers of their own towns. Forty-five hundred American newspapers publish this home proof of Doan's merit. The type used in one year to tell this wonderful story would make a solid column of metal twice as high as the world's highest mountain. Placed end to end the lines of type would reach from New York to Chicago. These miles of good words told by 50,000 tonguee sould glad tidings to any Charlevoix sufferer who wants relief from kidney and bladder ills. Here's a Charlevoix case. Don't experiment. Use the remedy endorsed by people you know.

Barney Herrington, cement contractor, 108 W. Carfield Ave., says: "About eight years ago my back gave out on me. It became so lame and sore I could hardly bend over and when I did, sharp, knife-like pains caught me in my back and I could hardly straighten up. My kidneys were not acting regularly. Ae I had often read about Doan's Kidney Pills I tried them and three boxes cured me and fixed me up in good shape. Since then when I have had to use a kidney medicine, Doan's Kidney Pills have always done good work."

Price 60c, at all dealers. Don't simply ask for a kidney remedy—get Doan's Kidney Pills—the same that Mr. Herington had. Foster-Milburn Co., Props., Buffalo, N. Y.

PETOSKEY WATER CAUSES RIPPLE OF EXCITEMENT

No Truth in Raport that Water Was Unfit for Use

Residents of Petoskey recently experienced all the borrors of German warfare when the report was circulated that the city's water supply had been poisoned by emissaries of the kaiser. As soon as the report gained circulation atsid citizens, who had never haen known to resort to either an emetic or a cathartic, rushed frantically to the drug stores with their hands clasped tightiy in the region of their bresd-haskets, and demanded everything from epicac to croton oil in an endeavor to eradicate tho poison supposed to hava been contracted from freely imhibing of ths contaminated water.

But their fright was uncalled for and of short duration.

Swift upon ths heals of tho first report came the word from the hygenic laboratory of the University of Michigan that a sample of ths water sent there for examination, should not be considered dangerous, whereupon Dame Rumor lapsed into a state of inocuous solitude, so to speak, and peace and quiet once more reigns supreme within the confines of tha "only one."

City Manager Tripp, however, has caused the following statement to be issued:

"The examination of samples of water submitted hy the city to tha University of Mlchigan, hygienic laboratory for analysis show all the samples to be suspicious. We ara advised, however, by the professor in charge that this might be due entirely to improper sampling and shipping, and is probably due in part to one or both of these factors. More samples will be sent in accordance with instructions from the hygenic laboratory.

"All consumers aro requested to boil water used for drinking purposes until further notice."

Congress promptly granted a pension of $45 a month to the dependent mother of the first American soldier killed in the war in Europe.

ELLSWORTH SCHOOL NOTES

The high school is planning to have a Thanksgiving party either Tuesday or Wednesday night for themselves. The other two rooms aro arranging programs for the day before Thanksgiving.

There will be a great patriotic war meeting in the Blue Hall this coming Friday. Every one is cordially invited to come . There will be some fine speakers also a very enjoyable program given by different people and the school children.

Friday evening a carnival was held in the Blue Hall to obtain money for finishing the gymnasium of the new echool. A sum of $42 was received which will help greatly to complete the gym. One thing the boys appreciate very much is the faet thnt Mrs. Pickard of Ellsworth, who is now at Milwaukee, aent a gift to the boys, to aid them in their work.

ATHLETIC ASSOCIATION CARNIVAL WAS GRAND SUCCESS

"Gym" Fund Is Increased $43 by the Social Function

The athletic association realized about $43 at their carnival, held last Friday night at the Blue hall, and in return gave every one present one of the best times of their lives.

The money will be used for the equipment of the gymnasium of the new school, and although considerable more will be needed, tha amount earned at the carnival will go a long way toward the purpose for which it was intended.

The members of the association wish to thank all who attended and especially the ladies.

The main feature of the affair was a box social and it was owing to the care and labor expended on tha boxes that the financial success was so great. An amount of money was received from Mrs. A. E. Pickart, living at Milwaukee, Wis., and this was doubly appreciated as it shows that she has not forgotten her old town.

The boys are already planning on some other entertainment to be given in the near future and we predict that no matter in what form it appears, it will be well attended, as the money secured will be used for a good purpose.

SELL YOUR OLD JUNK AND HELP TO BUILD BIG GUNS

Country Needs Iron and Steel and the Price is Good

Mr. Farmer: Did you know that one way in which you can help to win the war is by picking up and marketing your old iron and steel scrap?

Our country is facing a decided shortage in iron and steel necessary to a successful prosecution of tha war, due in a large part to the shortage of coal and the scarcity of labor.

By getting the old stuff on the market, the coal necessary to separate the iron from the ore will ba saved.

The government has fixed a price on all grades of iron and steel. These prices are not as high as they were some time ago, but they are still high enough to more than repay you for the time and labor expended in gathering and marketing your waste material.

Sell to your junk dealer and in so doing make money for yourself and perform a patriotic duty for your country.

BUTTER-MAKER WILL TALK

Creamery Men of State Will Hear Interesting Lecture

F. W. Bouska, recognized among creamery men as one of the nation's foremost authorities in the field of buttermaking, will give daily talks to the buttermakers who will assemble at Lansing, from December 17 to 22 for a week's special schooling. The Bouska lectures, it has been announced by Prof. A. C. Anderson of the Michigan Agricultural college, will deal with most important problems that within the year have presented themselves in the creamery industry.

Inasmuch as the week's course will be advanced in character, it will be open only to experienced buttermakers and creamery managers. In a general way it will be patterned after that conducted a year ago. No fees will be asked of those enrolling. An invitation is extended by the college and the state dairy and pure food department to all buttermakers to attend.

Be Careful

The following poem by Jack Noahson was clipped from a Naw York paper by ono of our Courier readers and handed in with the request that it be printed:

Tbere's a littie busy bookkeeper
swsy up in the sky
Who keeps accounts of all of us
all the years before we die,
Wha keepe a record of our doings,
be they good or bad—
Be they mischevious or ill-intended be they sad or glad.
All our good deeds—namo exalting, go upon the human staga;
And upon the page reserved for liabilities and such
Go the awful misdemeanors, for which we get the holy Dutch.
So be careful, Mister Human, of what you say or do—
For everytbing you've ever done will be brought back to you.

My name's in this ledger, and the name of Sunny Jim,
And there's your name and her name and the name of Sappy Slim,
And the name of Spud O'Reilly, and Pasquale and Abie, toa,
And ther's Anderson and Henderson and the name of Wong Song Lu.
The Japanesa and Irish, the Chinese and tha black.
The Itallan and the Jewish—not a nation is held back.
They all have pages in this ledger, every single man has two—
So be careful, Mieter Human of what you say or do.

The President has got his pages—
I'll tell you everyone,
His asset page is almost full—there's nothing on the other one!
Kaiser Wilhelm has a different bill, a different tale to tell
His precious liabilities would make a page from here to hell.
His asset page is void of writ—I suppose you all know that;
His bill will be a corker, he'll hock his helmet for a hat!
There's a little bill that growing for every trouble that you brew,
So be careful, Mister Human, of what you say or do.

JACK NOAHSON.

Eat Plenty of Potatoes

"Now that the country's bumper potato crop is flowing into markets in an ever-increasing stream the wise housewife will take advantage of this cheap source of starchy food and will give the tubers a very important place on the dinner table," say home-economics specialists of the United States Department of Agriculture.

It is well known that potatoes are a nutritious and healthful food, of which one may eat freely without ill effects. As a matter of fact, say the department specialists, there is something more which can be said for the potato, for the liberal consumption of them helps to supply the body with alkaline salts which it needs for normal health. Eat more potatoes for breakfast; lunch, dinner or supper, therefore, while they are abundant, say the specialists, to the advantage of your health and your pocketbook.

SCOTT'S EMULSION

Its rich, uniform cod liver oil gets into their blood and gives them vim, snap and zest. It creates strength to resist school sicknesses, overcome pinched faces, sallow complexions and dull eyes.

High authorities have established again and again that cod liver oil promotes growth and energizes the body and brain.

The imported Norwegian cod liver oil always used in Scott's Emulsion is now refined in our own American laboratories which guarantees it free from impurities.

COMING BACK

UNITED DOCTORS SPECIALIST WILL AGAIN BE AT CHARLEVOIX, MICHIGAN CHARLEVOIX HOTEL THURSDAY, DECEMBER 6, 1917 ONE DAY ONLY

Hours 9 a. m. to 6 p. m.

Remarkable Success of Talented Physician in the Treatment of Chronic Diseases

Offer Services Free of Charge

The United Doctors Specialist, licensed by the State of Michigan for the treatment of all diseases, including deformities, nervous and chronic diseases of men, women and children, offer to all who call on this trip, consultation, examination, advice free, making no charge whatever, except the actual cost of treotment. All that is esked in return for these valueble services is that every person treated will stste the result obtained to their friends and thus prove to the sick end afflicted in every city and locality, that at last treatments have been discovered that are reasonably sure and certain in their effect.

The United Doctors are experts in the treatment of chronic diseases and so great and wonderful have been their results that in many cases it is bard to find the dividing line between skill end miracle.

Diseases of the stomach, intestines, liver, blood, skin, nerves, heart spleen,, rheumatism, sciatice, tapeworm, leg ulcers, weak lungs and those afflicted with long-standing, deep seated, chronic disctses, that have baffled the skill of the family physician, should not fail to call. Deafness often has been cured in sixty deys.

According to their system no moro operation for appenticitis, gall stones, tumors, goiter, piles, etc., as all cases aecepted will be treated without operation or hypodermic injection, as they were among the first in America to earn the name of "Bloodless Surgeons," by doing away with the knife with blood and with all pain in the successful treatment of these dengerous diseases.

No matter what your ailment may be, no mattsrwhat others may have told you, no matter what experience you may havo had with other physicians, it will bo to your advantage to see thsm nt once. Have it forever settled in your mind. If your case is incurable they will give you such advlee as may relieve and stay ths disease. Do not put off this duty you owe yourself or friends, or relatives who are suffering because of your sickness, as a visit at this time may help you.

Worn-out and run-down men or women, no matter what your ailment may be, call, it costs you nothing.

Remember, this free offer is for this visit only.

Married ladies come with their husbands and minors with their parents. Laboratories, Milwaukee, Wisconsin.

The New Draft Law

All men of drsft nge in the country will soon know the order of their liability to service. President Wilson has ordered the reorganization of the draft machinery on lines which will maks nearly 10,000,000 men subject to war duty if not in France, at least in the fields and factories. The regulations will govern every consideration in the division into five classes, subject to successive call, of the reclassification. The period of classifiestion began Dec. 15, and will be completed in 60 days.

WAR WORKERS ARE WANTED

UNITED STATES BADLY IN NEED OF SKILLED MECHANICS.

Blacksmiths and Machinists Are Especially Needed to Aid Boat and Gun Building

Nearly 55,000 appointments were mede to the forces of mechanics, helpers, snd laborers at navy yards and other navel establishments during the fiscal year ended June 30, 1917, and since that date appointments have been mads in increased proportion.

An appropriation of $7,500,000 is now being expended in the enlargement of the great naval gun factory st Washington, which, when completed, will furnish employment for 4,000 or more skilled mechanics, in addition to the 8,000 already at work in tho plant. In this mammoth factory, one of ths best equipped snd most interesting in the world, are built the great guns for our war vessels, which carry to every country the message of America's ability to protect herself and to safeguard the rights of her citizens wherever they may be.

The new naval aircraft factory at Philadelpbia, which will be completed this month, will also employ about 3,000 men.

The workers who man such plants sro of a superior class, and they feel a personal pride in turning out products that will stand the test of confliet with the arms of other nations. A considerable part of the building of war vessels is also done in government yards.

The United States Civil Service Commission, which is charged with the task of recruiting the ranks of this great civilian army, through its widespread organization is furnishing the men as they are needed. In certain trades, particularly those connected with shipbuilding, there is usually a shortage. Sailmakers, coppersmiths, shipfitters, anglesmiths, blecksmiths, and machinists are especially needed. Women to operate power sowing machines are also in great demand. The reprcsentatives of the Civil Service Commission et the post offices in all cities are the official recruiting agents for this as well as other branches of the civil service. The commission urges competent mechanics to offer their services to the government at this time of great nced.

FEDERATION OF LABOR TO ENTER POLITICS

By Overwhelming Majority Votes to Abandon Former Attitude

By vote of 215 to 21 the American Federation of Labor has determined to abandon their life-long non-partisan attitude end actively enter American politics next year.

This action took the form of a resolution to change the fsderation constitution to provide for an annual convsntion in June each year, a few months prior to elections, instead of in late November after elections.

It is said by labor leadsrs to change the sntire complexion of the organized labor movement in the country, amounting virtuelly to organization of a third party in opposition to both old line democratic and republican parties.

The vote assures a strong labor tinge to congressional elections next fall.

NEW PLANS ARE ADOPTED BY AGRICULTURAL BOARD

Two-Day Schools Will Replace the Farmers' Institutes

Gradual abolishment of farmers' institutes and replacement of tbem with two-day schools is proposed by the state bonrd of agriculture, which recently ineugurated its reform program by discontinuing the office of superintendent of farmers' institutes at the Michigan Agricultural college. Though such a step has long bsen in the minds of those directing the extension efforts of M. A. C. the action was hastened by recommsndations from efficient organization of work among the farmers.

"In the future," an official statement announcing the change declares, "all extension work in the various counties of the state will be under the control of the county agent, and where institutes are conducted in those counties having agents, they will be arranged for under the direction of the agsnt.

"Where possible, two-days schools will be provided to take the place of the institutes. However, neither sufficient funds nor men are available for schsduling these schools in all communities where they are needsd. Accordingly where the schools can not be put in, the institutes will be continusd for two or three years."

The substitution of schools for the institutes is announced as an effort towards complete modernization of all agencies for carrying information and instruction to the agricultural communities of the state. With the institutes, while originally they served the purpose for which they had been established, it was found that in many parts of Michigan they were falling behind the time, and in some instances were suffering from the misguidance of incompetent men. The renovation of the system will eliminate individuals of this type, though such Institute leaders and speakers as have proved their worth will be retained and advanced.

Will Print Proceedings

At the last meeting of the Charlevoix county board of supervisors, that body designeted the "Courier" as the official county paper, and accordingly the full proceedings of the board will be printed in this paper, appearing in the issue of November 28.

Some Difference

The bunch of congressmen who propose to visit the battle front in Europe should be careful. The fireworks over there are entirely different from the variety they have been familiar with in Washington.

SALTS IF KIDNEYS OR BLADDER BOTHER

Harmless to flush Kidneys and neutral ize irritating acids—Splendid for system.

Kidney and Bladder weakness result from uric acid, says a noted authority. The kidneys filter this acid from the blood and pass it on to the bladder, where it often remains to irritate and inflame, causing a burning, scalding sensation, or setting up an irritation at the neck of the bladder, obliging you to seek relief two or three times during the night. The sufferer is in constant dread, the water passes sometimes with a scalding sensation and is very profuse; again, thers is difficulty in avoiding it.

Bladder weakness, most folks call it, because they can't control urination. While it is extremely annoying and sometimes very painful, this is really one of the most simple ailments to overcome. Get about four ounces of Jad Salts from your pharmacist and take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast, continue this for two or three days. This will neutralize the acids in the urine so it no longer is a source of irritation to the bladder and urinary organs which then act normally again.

Jad Salts is inexpensive, harmless, and is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and is used by thousands of folks who are subject to urinary disorders caused by uric acid irritation. Jad Salts is splendid for kidneys and causes no bad effects whatever.

Here you have a pleasant, effervescent lithia-water drink, which quickly relieves bladder trouble.

TWO BOYNE FALLS WOMEN INJURED

FREIGHT TRAIN BACKS INTO CARRIAGE

Mrs. Mavens Has Foot Crushed and Mrs. Newsom Injured in Hip—Former in Patoskey Hospital

Mrs. Elizabeth Mavens, who resides on a farm a mile and a half north of Boyne Falls, is in Petoskey hospital suffering from injuries received Sunday night near Boyne Falls whenthe buggy in which shs was riding was run into by a G. R. & I. freight troin. Mrs. Mavens' left foot was erushed so badly that nearly half of it was emputated at the hospital in Petoskey.

Mrs. Mavens and Mrs. Bessie Newson, who also resides near Boyne Falls, were driving near that village and when crossing the tracks not far from the station their rig was bumped into by an extra freight train doing ewitching there.

Mrs. Newsom hed one hip injured and was brulsed considerably about the body. She was not taken to the hospital.

STARS PREDICT FALL OF KAISER AND HIS EMPIRE

War Will Be Over in Seven Months —Prophecy of Arthur Logan

In seven months from now Kaiser Bill will step down and out, with him will go twelve men high in the German Empire today, and the wor will be a thing of the past.

This in brief is the prophecy of Arthur Logan, a farmer-astronomer and all araund genius who lives near the village of Bird, New York state. Logan has been propheeying for a number of years and he has quite a number of followers in and neer this village. It is claimed that he predicted the Italian disaster long before it happened.

The system that he uses is very simple. "In the last sseven nights," ha says, "I have watched the sky and I have seen 13 stars fall earthward. These 13 stars are the military men of Germany. Eaeh night represents a month of time. One by one the stars of Germany will fall. The first will be tho premier and then the military idols. The last will be the bright star in the East, which represents the Kelser himself."

Farmers near here are interested in tbe prophecy and they claim that ths stars have been acting very strangely in the past week.

Returns From Canada

Dr. R. B. Armstrong of this elty, returned Seturday from quite a protracted moose hunt in ths wilds of Canada. He was the guest of Robert Stewart, who is a summer resident here, at his private hunting lodge on Catchekum Lake, Ontario, and from the experiences he relates, the Doctor seemingly enjoyed himself. Hs did not suceed in bringing down a moose nor did any other members of the party, but a total of 16 deer were killed, of which three were the victims of tbe Doctor's rifle.

Painful Accident

Mrs. E. Lewis of Central Lake, who is visiting her neiee, Mrs. Seeley and her nephew, Mr. Babcock, of the Western Union, at thsir home on State etreet, met with a painful aecident Wednesdey (todey) at about 3 a. m., when she fell down the stairs to the first landing end broko both bones in her wrist. Mrs. Seeley arose, and mistaking the landing of the starway for the bathroom, walked off with the result os stated above. Dr. Armstrong was called to reduce the fracture.

BOOSTERS TALK CONCRETE ROADS

need not do it, because the security which is now twelve millions of dollars will bs wortb twenty-five, and the holders of the bonds will be only too glad to renew them and ths road being built by the state under contract and by United State's inspection will be just as good tben es whsn first built.

"What is the use of paying for things now thet future generations are going to benefit by? When if pavement or a water main or a sewer is laid by your houee how many times do you pay for it all on the spot? You simply don't do it. You take seven or ten years, or the man does who buys the house and pays for it as you get the benefit. Meke the fellow or fellows who follow you bear the burden of the things that are done for his benefit, then you arn't giving away something for nothing, and struggling to meke both ends meet when somebody has run off with the middle.

"Special assessments are not taxatione and ars not regarded es taxes in law. They aro for betterments and not for general maintenanee. They actuelly benefit tho property and are e direct charge against it. Good roads benefit property and they should bs pald for by special assessments, tbat is, bonds. If you own a government or municipel or road bond, you don't have to dodge the tax collector, he don't have to tax you on them.

"So why should I say anything about bonds for Charlevoix county? These days I em talking a Sixty Million Dollar bond issus in Illinois and forty-eight hundred milea of conerete and brlek roads. This is business boys, and I like it. It is just as easy to do big things es it is to do little things. It is also just ae easy to do good things os the opposite and a d——sigh more sotisfactory."

Red Cross Stamps

Buy a Monarch Range

And You Will Never Have An Occasion To Regret It

If you have looked around at different kinds of ranges you have probably noticed that every one, cheap and high-priced alike, is said to be, "A fuel saver and a perfect baker." Every salesman knows that these are two things a woman demands and therefore makes these claims for the range he sells, even though he can't show you wherein his range is esentially different from others.

Now, if you have had experience in the use of different kinds of ranges you know that this is not true of all of them. Either you have owned or had a friend who owned a kitchen stove that was just the opposite of a "fuel saver" or one that was far from a satisfactory baker.

It is an easy matter to protect yourself against future troubles of this kind by investigating the merits of the "Monarch" range. They are built tight and will stay tight.

Free Storage On Your Automobile

With the Repairing and Painting

Have your car overhauled and placed in good running order this fall and winter, so you may thoroughly enjoy the first day's wheeling in the spring. After a long season of usefulness your car really needs a certain amount of overhauling work. It is the most effective means for lengthening the life of the machine and for protecting the lives of those who ride. It is a notable fact that automobiles which are occasionally given a thorough overhauling seldom go wrong, and remain in service for years.

Our workmanship is of the best and the price low, according to the amount of work done. We will do it by the hour or by the job.

EXEMPT MEN TO BE RE-EXAMINED

NEW SERVICE REGULATIONS CANCEL ALL EXEMPTIONS

Men Restored to His Original Status at Time of Registration Under New Ruling

All men in Charlevoix county, called before exemption boards for examination, and exempted from military eervice for any reason whatsoever, must be examined again as to their fitness for service. The preliminary of this examination will be the questionaire which will be sent to all men exempted, as well as all registered meo who have not been called beforo the boards for examination. In ather wards, the new regulations give exempted men their farmer status, and they are now in the position of having never been examined.

Thie important detail is made clear in the new regulatioas that have beent sent to all exemption boards.

Certain of the regulations went inta effect on Nov. 20, while otbers, notably those which govern the process of seleetion and classification, will not go into effect until Dec. 15.

Repeals All Preceeding Regulations

The new regulations not only repeal all preceeding regulations, but eancel all exemptions and discharges which have been granted by loeal boards under the present system. This will restore every man to his original status, and the loeal boards will send a questionaire to every man not ln the service.

The eompletion by the registrant of this document is the first great stage of the new eystem, and the diffieulties which will attend it are fully reeognized by the Provost Marshall General who has begun the mobllization of the legal talent of the country to enable everyone who seeks it, to receive aid in the preparation of his questionaire.

System of Distribution

Under the new regulations the local boards will send out 5 per eent of their questionnaires each day for a period covering 20 days. This method of distribution will allow the local boards with the aid of their legal advisory boards and other volunteers, to instruct, complete and file each day's questionnaire without the confusion and congestion which would attend the effort to require a larger number.

The new regulations also contain a complete set of the forms to be used by the loeal boards, every form being printed in full, and many are completed to serve as models.

A local board will actually use 19 of the proposed forms. Examination shows that most of these are postaleard forms, and require but a word or two to complete them, thus simplifying to a large degree the work of the present system, which requires approximately 180 complieated forms.

The completion of the questionnaire by the registrant will not require as mueh work is did the simple elaim for dependency under the old system. In it the registrant must make a full statement of all the faets upon which he will rely to secure deferred classification and upon which the loeal board will be expected to fix his elass.

If the registrant is a farmer or skilled in any enterprise which is necessary to the public interest, he must state the faets in minute detail; but so skillfully has the questionnaire been designed that every answer is anticipated and requires only in rare instances more than two or three words.

The new regulations as so arranged that lnformation may be found almost at a glance. A eompiete table of contents ia provided, an exhaustive index has been inserted, and each paragraph is brought out in bold faee type making it most aeeessibla to tha seeker for information.

One of the noteworthy features of the new regulations is the appointment of an officer of the Reserve Corps of the United States Army as an assistant to the adjutant general of each state. This officer will also be the disbursing officer, and the final affairs of the aelective aervice system will thus be brought into intimate touch with the Provoat Marshal General's offiee in Washington. Among hia other duties will be thet of keeping all aeeoants closed in order that the department at Washington may have at any time a statement of the

FORD CAR GOES INTO THE DITCH

LIZZIE TURNS TURTLE AND INJURES OCCUPANTS

Driver Asks Occupant of Car to Relieve Him While He Warms His Hands

An aecident which might easily have resulted in several easualties, happened Saturdav afternoon at about one o'clock when the Ford car in which were Wlliam Hansen, and a man by the name of Waod with his wife and two children went into the ditch about three miles north of Bay Shore on the Petoskey road.

All of the occupants of the ear were from Boyne City, and Mr. Hansen, who had been driving until his bands were numbed with cold, requested Mr. Wood to take tha wheel for a short time.

Mr. Wood was inexperieneed in driving a car and lost control of it at once, with the result as etated above. Owing to the cold, the side curtains were up and the occupants of the car, with the exception of one child, imprisoned under it with the engine running full blast and a dense cloud of smoke arising from it.

A few seconds later a party of ladies from Charlevoix, consisting of Mrs. George W. Weaver and daughter Marjorie, Mrs. T. G. Finucan, Mrs. Ray Faulkner and Mrs. John Aekert passed the wreck, and immediately backed up and offered aseistanee.

Shortly after this a truck containing some yonng men came along, and the party were rescued from the wrecked automobile and transferred to the truck. Mrs. Wood seemed to be the only one seriously injured, she having a large gash in her head just over the temple. She was conveyed to the Petoskey hospital.

BUILDING OF PERMANENT ROADS IS IMPORTANT

May in Many Ways Help Win World War

The building of permanent roads today is as important as the building of the army or navy. In fact, they all go together and will with a large inerease of our shipbuilding, result in our winning the war. The sooner all are pushed forward, the sooner the war will end.

The United States Government has the power to rush all army work and some day we may expect an exercise of this great power ao too have we the power to build our ronds of such material and in such manner as to make them smooth and durablo.

It is absolutely against eommon senae to build gravel roads beeause we know that they will hava to be rebuilt next year and ao on every year thereafter. Remember temporizing leads towards disaster. It is time we used a atrong firm hand in dealing with what all careful observers moat recognize as a grave and eerious situation.

WILL NOT INCREASE TAX RATE

PROPOSED BOND ISSUE WILL NOT RAISE THEM

People of County Asked to Aid In Movament for Good, Permanent Roads

Tbe bonds for $350,000, lf issued immediately, wonld draw interest at five per centum per annum and would cost the caunty $17,500 per year. Tha present tax rate for good roads at $3.25 per one thousand dollars assessed valuation will raise $39,744.76 and tha assessad valuation for Charlevoix county increased this year $467,666 aver last year, which percentaga of increass will, in fifteen years, make our county's valnation over $21,000,000, at which time a tax of $3.25 per ona thousand dollars would raisa over $68,000. So that during the entira fifteen years the county without increasing its tax rate for good roads wauld have over $22,000 after having paid the bond interest, to build new roads under our present system. However, tho county would hardly expend the entire $350,000 in one year so that the bonds would not all be issued and sold at once. Of the $100,000 for federal aided roads the first year not to exeeed $25,000 would be needed and no doubt not to exceed $75,000 af the $250,000 bond issue would be needed so that the first year the interest charge would not be aver $5,000 leaving to bo expended, from the regulsr good roads tax fund, on building other roads over $35,000.

The bonding af the county does not mean that when the $350,000 has been used there will be no more roads built, but it does mean that we secure our roads at onee, making it possible to serve every part of the county, and also making it possible to build better roads in those communities of tho county that today feel that they are not receiving any returns for the money they are paying for better roads.

Without bonding, there are communitiee where people will pay for better roads for a long term of years and receive no benefit, may never receive any benefit during their life time, but under the proposed system they have the opportunity of receiving better and permanent roads withing a very few years. Therefore, wo find that our taxes will not be increased and that we will receive the benefit of permanent roads immediately. Why not vote "yes" on both propositions.

MEETING WAS WELL ATTENDED

POMONA GRANGE OFFICERS ELECTED FOR YEAR

Next Session to be Held With Wilson Grange in February—Roads Discussed

Pomona Grange held its regular meeting with Peninsular Grange, Thursday, November 22, Worthy Master E. E. Stroud, presiding. Roll esll showed nearly a full set of officers present.

During the afternoon and evoning session over 75 members wera present. The afternoon was taken up with committee work, election of officers and installation ceremonies.

George H. Van Pelt of Joliet, Illinois, and Austin Herrington of Ottawa county were present and gave excellent talks to grange members on the coming road bonding proposition and good roads in general.

Officers for the coming year were re-elected with but few exceptions, as follows:

Master, E. E. Stroud.
Overseer, John Knudsen.
Leeturer, Mrs. James McNeal.
Steward, Frank Hammond.
Asst. Steward, Frank Bird.
Treasurer, Nathan Liscum.
Seeretary, Mrs. Frank Bird.
G. K., Platt Webster.
L. A. S., Mrs. Frank Hammond.

The offieers were installed by Past Master, J. E. Chew. The debt on the "rest room" at the county fair grounds was paid up, thanks to the efforts of Worthy Treasurer Nathan Liscum.

It was also decided that the next Pomona meeting be held at Wilson grange, Thursday, nearest the full of the moon, in February.

Worthy Master Stroud and wife were eleeted delegates to the state grange. Pine Lake Grange was declared the banner grange for the past quarter.

Leeturer's hour was taken up in reeitations, songs and discussions. The ladiee of Peninsular grange still maintain their reputation for serving fine dinners. There were a number of enthusiastie grangers present which demonstrated that the grange camp fire is still brightly burning.

SOLDIER'S WIFE IS SAFEGUARDED

NEW INSURANCE LAW IS IN OPERATION

Chairman Charles Novak of Local Draft Board Says Dependents Are Naw Cared For

Chairman Charles Novak of tbo Charlevoix county draft board, haa recently rocoived inatructiona ralative to the allowances for families nf U. S. soldiers in the new National army, and also rules and regulationa under which compensation will be paid, and insuranee sold by the govornment.

Bath tha soldiers and thair relatives are urged to familiariza tbamselves regarding these provisiona. The financial provisions for the man, his family and his relatives ara sufficiently generous to relieve all anxioty which might otherwise havo arisen through misfortune bafore or during the campaign.

Every enlisted man with a wife is compelled ta allot at least half hia pay to her, whether she is dependent or not. To this amount, which is never lower than $15, tha govarnment will add $15 for the wife, $25 for a wife and child, and $32.50 for a wife and two children. An allowance of $5 each will be made for other children.

Under proper proof of dopendency, the government also assists enlisted men to support other relativee. Tha soldier must contribute an additional allowance af at least one-seventb of his pay and a minimum of $5 a month in such case. The government will add $10 for each dependent paront where tbe soldier makes the allotment prescribed.

Pensions Replaced

Compensation is another phase of tha new law which is not understood by dependents. It applies equally to enlisted men and commissioned officers, a brigadier general getting no more than a private under its provisions. Compeneations will take the place of pensions and will be paid in monthly installments. In case of death, the government will pay $25 a month to the widow of the dead soldier, $35 a month to a widow and one child, $47.50 for a widow and two children and $57.50 for a widow and four children. A widowed mother who is classed as a dependent will receive $20 a month. Allowances for a wife cease when they reach tha age of eighteen years. Mental delinquents, however, continue to draw support.

In the event of total dieability, tha government will pay the soldior without dependents $30 a month. If he is married, but without children, it will pay him $45 a month. A wife and child will eall for $55 monthly and a wife and three or more children for a monthly payment of $75. Pnyments for completo disability continue until death.

All Can Afford It

Insurance ls voluntary, although the war department and the commanding officers urge that every enlisted man purehase the maximum amount of $10,000. Practically every officer at division headquarters has subscribed for the full amount and the same is true in the headquarters of the various regiments. This insaranee wae provided by the govarnment at a low rate for the benefit of the enlisted men. It costs him far less than lnsurance would cost him in peaco time, and it providea excellent protection. At twenty-one years of age, tho insurance costs but 65 cents per tbousand in montbly paymonts. At twenty-five years of age, the premium is 66 cents; at tbirty years it is 69 cents.

Every privato in tha National army can afford to both assign a part af hls salary to his family or other dependents and pay for the maximum amount of insuraneo also. The lowest pay ln the servico is $30 a month. No maa can spend this amount on himself each month without wasting money. Practically the only neeessitiea which he must purebase are tollat accossories. Clothing, food, qnarters, entertainment, all are free to him and there are many casea la whieh an enlisted man can, under the family allowanee regulationa, aupply bis family with more monoy eacb month than ha aver aucceeded in doing before joining the army.

There will bo no school Thursday and Friday. Miss Dunlop will spend her Thanksgiving vacation at her home near Ironton.

Kenneth Hawkins was run over by a wagon last Thursday evening. His collar bone wae broken, but he fortunately escaped any more serious injuries. At present he is doing nicely and is able to be about the house. We all hope to see him back in school before long.

WEAK KIDNEYS MAKE WEAK BODIES

Kidney Diseases Cause Many Aches And Ills of Charlevoix People

As one weak link weakens e chain, so may weak kidneys weaken the whole body and hasten the final breaking-down.

Overwork, strains, colds and other causes injure the kidneys, and generally when their activity is lessened the whole body suffers.

Aches and pains and languor and urinary ills frequently come, and there is an ever-increasing tendency towards dropsy, gravel or fatnl Bright's disease. When tho kidneys fail there is no real help for the sufferer except kidney help.

Doan's Kidney Pills act directly on the kidneys. Charlevoix testimony ia proof of their effectiveness.

Mrs. Jennie Smith, 1206 Bridge St., Charlevoix, says: "My kidneys acted irregularly and my back got so lame I could hardly get about my housework. Finelly I had to take to my bed, where I remained several days, absolutely helpless. I couldn't even turn over. I felt miserable and was in a terrible condition when I began taking Doan's Kidney Pills. They broaght relief from the first and continued use cured me."

Price 60c, at all dealers. Doa't simply ask for a kidney remedy—get Doan's Kidney Pills—the same that Mrs. Smith had. Foster-Milburn Co., Props., Buffalo, N. Y.

BARNARD

Mrs. Annie E. Bowdish of Charlevoix spent Sunday at the home of her daaghter, Mrs. C. H. Beattle.

Mrs. Joanna Trimble left Charlevoix recently to apend the winter with her sons, who live in the northwest.

Miss Effie Fine finished her work ln the home of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Matchett and returned to her home near Ellsworth Friday.

Sims Baker left last Thursday for Florida, where he will spend the winter. Mrs. Baker went to Harbor Springs Saturday. She will visit for a month with her son, Joha Holiday and family. Later she expects to go to Pontiac where abe will visit a daughter.

Quietly stealing a march on their many friends, Louis Shepton and Miss Dorothy Beattie went to Petoskey last Tuesday morning and were married hy the Methodist minister of that city. They were accompaaled by the bride's cousins, John and Hazel Beattie. After a wedding dinner at the home of his parents, the happy pair left in the afternoon for Muskegon, where the groom han secured employment. They made the trip by automobile. Heartiest congratulations and best wishes are extended.

Mrs. Frank Matchett's Sunday school class of girls, gavo a supper at the home of George Dougherty last Monday evening, proceeds of which went toward paying for the church piano.

The Royal Oaks Sunday school class spent a very enjoyable evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Jacobs in Charlevoix last Tuesday. The next regular meeting will be at the home of Rev. and Mrs. R. C. Parshall, at Norwood, Tuesday, November 27.

A jolly crowd of young peoplo gathered at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Swartout last Thursday evening, in honor of the three Holiday boys, who leavo with their parents this week for Harbor Springs, where their father has a lumber job, and where they expect to live this winter.

A get-together community meeting was held at the church Friday evening. In the course of the evening there was special music by the ladies quartette, and a talk by District Superintendent Meader. Lastly, but not least, everybody enjoyed the good pot luck supper furnished by the ladies.

The Wells and Genett bean threshers have been operating in this and neighboring vicinities. Beans are turning out an exceedingly poor average crop, in many cases being wet, or sometimes even mushy. Some have been badly frosted and others have commenced to heat and rot, while the average number of bushels ranges from three up to eight to the acre. The above along with the poor unripe corn and frozen potatoes are all the farmers have for their hard labor this summer.

TO THE PUBLIC!

There will be no more Ford cars manufactured for an indefinite period, as the Ford plants have been turned over to the U. S. Government to manufacture munitions of war.

But We Have a Few Left from our last shipment and if you intend to buy, get busy right now, as after these are sold, there is no telling when you will be able to get a car, as no more will be made this fall or during the coming spring.

This shortage of cars, however, will in no way conflict with our plans for building and taking care of your repair work for the coming season.

obligations and estimates of future expenses for each state.

Reasons for Classification

Under part 4, which deals with classification rules and principles, there are clearly laid down the various rules which will govern district and local boards in the classification of registrants, while the reasons for and effect of classification are clearly set out as follows:

"The military needs of the nation require that there be provided in every community a list of names of men who shall be ready to be called into service at any time. The economic needs of the nation, while deferring to the paramount military necessity, require that men whose removal would interfere with the civic, family, industrial, and agricultural institutions of the nation shall be taken in the order in which they best can be spared. For this reason the names of all men liable to selection shall be arranged in five classes in the inverse order of their importance to the economic interests of the nation, which include the maintenance of necessary industry and agriculture and the support of dependents.

Classified by Units

"The group of registrants within the jurisdiction of each local board is taken as the unit to be classified. Within each class the order of liability is determined by the drawing, which has hitherto assigned to every man an order of availability for military service relative to all men not permanently or temporarily exempted or discharged. The effect of classification in class 1 is to render every man so classified presently liable to military service in the order determined by the national drawing. The effect of classification in class 2 is to grant a temporary discharge from draft effective until class 1 in the jurisdiction of the same local board is exhausted. The effect of classification in class 3 is to grant a temporary discharge from draft, effective until classes 1 and 2, in the jurisdiction of the same local board, are exhausted; and, similarly, class 4 becomes liable only when classes 1, 2 and 3 are exhausted. The effect of classification in class 5 is to grant exemption or discharge from draft. The term 'deferred classification' as used in these regulations, is equivalent to the term temporary discharge.

The volume of new regulations contains within its two covers every possible source of information which local and district boards should have readily accessible. The master list of the drawing is published in full as well as all statutes relating to the selective service law, together with the insurance law, so that local boards, in passing upon questions of dependency may take into consideration all rights, duties, and obligations of the registrants.

CHARLEVOIX H. S. NOTES

The English IV class are now nearing the completion of Shakespeare's "Macbeth," and have found the microscopic study of the play of great interest and benefit.

We learn from this dramatist of the seventeenth century that it is entirely permissable (if one desires a term of endearment) to address one as "dearest chuck" or "cuz," while if our anger suddenly rises to towering dimensions, we may rightfully call one a "shag-eared villian," a "cream faced loon," or an "egg."

—o—

A new blackboard map now adorns the wall of the History department, the first drawing on which was an elaborate sketch of the land included in the Louisiana Purchase, by Dolly Bartlett.

—o—

The Caesar class have completed the first book of the "Commentaries" and are looking forward with eager anticipation to "Caesar's Wars with Ariovistus."

—o—

Thud! Thud! gr-r-r. "What is that?" cries startled Irene. "Only Peg Saunders in her new Lizzie," sighs youthful Leo.

Actor's note: To be effective the last statement should be given with an air of indifference.

A deep and tranquil forest; the interminable silence broken only by the sighing of the trees as they swayed and creaked under the chilling blast of old Superior, or the occasional howl of the timber wolf.

Crash! through the forest springs a bounding deer, ears laid back and with an expression of terror in his fathomless eyes.

And what animate thing would'nt be if pursued by such a gallant woodsman as Herr Supernaw, and the climax of it is that this noble monarch of the forest was downed by one shot from the rifle of our hero. Romantic, isn't it? But Jack says "'tis true" and we are forced to believe it.

—o—

All is well on the history front with the exception of a slight change in position toward the center of the left flank. Except for this the triangle (eternal?) remains the same. Radical changes are, however, being contemplated by Generalissimo Wells. A counter-attack is anticipated.

In the knitting world.

To knit or not to knit. That is the question.

Miss Benona Bartlett formally announces that knitting instructions will be cheerfully given each night after school, on all evenings with the exceptions of Monday, Tuesday, Wednesday, Thursday, Friday and Saturday evenings, which evening she has reserved for Bob. Could we get in Thursday night after prayer meeting Bun?

Forty-five blocks have been knit to date for the C. H. S. quilt for the Red Cross. The girls are responding loyally to this call—some however, are responding during school hours which caused the announcement from the desk of "no more knitting during school hours."

RED CROSS

At the first meeting of the Marion Center Red Cross society, Mrs. Harry Nicholls gave an inspiring and earnest talk on the work of the Red Cross societies of the country, and showed samples of the work being done at the Charlevoix chapter.

The Friday class in surgical dressings at the Red Cross rooms was well attended, but there is still room for many more workers. Let all the women of Charlevoix show their patriotism by giving some of their time to this great national work.

Let the good work in knitting keep on. There is now a large supply of yarn at the Red Cross rooms ready to be given out to those who can assist in the knitting of socks, wristlets and sweaters.

The doners this week are Mrs. Sarah Emrey, sweaters, a number of comfort pillows from Charlevoix women. One hundred trench candles made by the school children.

Mrs. Ed. Burnett has started a melting pot for the benefit of the Red Cross society. All persons having any jewelry, thimbles, spectacle rims, or anything of the sort, may send them to Mrs. Burnett, who will have them melted and give the proceeds to the Red Cross.

No Car Shortage Here

Despite all reports as to car shortage and manufacturers turning their plants over to Uncle Sam to produce war material, one local agent, at least, is keeping up his reputation as a salesman and disposing of his cars. During the last week Benj. Brown, local Overland representative, sold two cars, a County Club roadster to George LaBlanc and a model 90 to Charles Hull, both of this city.

PUT CREAM IN NOSE AND STOP CATARRH

Tells How To Open Clogged Nostrils and End Head-Colds.

You feel fine in a few moments. Your cold in head or catarrh will be gone. Your clogged nostrils will open. The air passages of your head will clear and you can breathe freely. No more dullness, headache; no hawking, snuffling, mucous discharges or dryness; no struggling for breath at night.

Tell your druggist you want a small bottle of Ely's Cream Balm. Apply a little of this fragrant, antiseptic cream in your nostrils, let it penetrate through every air passage of the head, soothe and heal the swollen, inflamed mucous membrane, and relief comes instantly.

It is just what every cold and catarrh sufferer needs. Don't stay stuffed-up and miserable.

BAKERS COMPLY WITH NEW RULE

GOVERNMENT LICENSE AFTER DECEMBER 10

Will Reduce Amount of Shortening and Sugar and Make Altogether Different Bread

"The bakers of this district will comply readily with the new regulations under government 'license,'" says L. N. Overholt, of Petoskey, recently appointed leader of section 67 of the war emergency organization of the baking industry.

In an interview with L. J. McCann of this city, Mr. McCann pointed out that the new regulation, announced by Food Administrator Hoover, will entail many readjustments in the baker's business, and he was particularly desirous that the public should understand this fact, and appreciate the difficulties and sacrifices involved. "On account of the high cost of all materials, labor, etc., we will be compelled to place all sales upon a cash basis," says Mr. McCann. "Under the new regulations and high prices, what little profits we made are about wiped out, and customers paying cash is our only hope of continuing in business. When the new regulations go into effect, we will also go on a strictly cash basis, as it is the only manner in which we can meet expenses."

It is hoped that the people of Charlevoix will readily comply with Mr. McCann's request and have their nickles and dimes ready when they purchase their daily supply of baked goods. Otherwise, credit will be refused. Speaking of the new regulations, he continued:

"The reduction and limitation of extra ingredients (sugar, milk and shortening) will make it necessary to study new processes in mixing, fermentation, molding and baking, in order to produce satisfactory results; and the food administration has not told how to do this—at least not yet. It is all up to the baker, and some bakers are likely to feel that they are being asked to make "bricks without straws." But it can be done, and I've no doubt will be by the great majority of our craft—I mean good bread will be baked which will be less rich, but perhaps even better bread on that account.

"So if the housewife and her family discover a difference in the appearance and flavor of baker's bread after December 10, when the new regulations go into effect, they must adjust their palates to the new flavor and think of Uncle Sam and Liberty.

"You will notice that the regulations just announced contain nothing about mixing other cereal or vegetable products with the wheat flour, but that is coming, you may be sure. If the food administration will refuse to permit mixing at the mill except under internal revenue regulations as at present, we ought to be satisfied to use whatever wholesome substitute they recommend in the interest of wheat conservation.

"This much is certain, that with any given batch of ingredients, the trained baker of the community is in a better position to turn out a satisfactory loaf than is the housewife. Moreover, the housewife should recognize that the principal reason for all this regulation is to bring about a saving in the total amount of wheat used. The loss of a few ounces of flour in every household where bread is baked, multiplied by the millions of homes in the country, produces a waste which is almost entirely eliminated by the commercial baking of bread. The smaller the batch, the larger the percentage of waste in baking.

"Bakers accept the new regulation in the spirit in which they are laid down, that is, of service to the country. The government prescribed bread will be wholesome and nutritious. It is not exactly the type of bread to which you have been accustomed, but neither are the conditions under which we are living, the same as in normal times. The bakers are hoping for the cordial co-operation of the housewife in the conduct of their business under the new arrangement."

Yuletide with the Kaiser

Well the Kaiser still is active
As a dog with sixty fleas,
As he keeps his armies hustling,
Like a swarm of angry bees.
And he seems to be afflicted
With a daily brain attack,
Caused by overstocked ambition,
At the world to get a whack.
What a sunny proposition,
For Yuletide in Europe's land,
And also for Kaiser William
With their blood upon his hands
And no doubt that he'll be Talking confidential with the Lord.
As he has a crazy notion
That they are of one accord.
But he'll have another notion,
When they clear up Europe's dust,
And Bill will find he over-estimated
Organizing warring Trusts.
Uncle Sam is badly ruffled,
And he's got a mighty punch,
Bill now sees in big handwriting
That he's started far too much.

II

Now that Yuletide is approaching,
Get your bathroom up in line,
Put radiation in the kitchen,
In the hall and where you dine.
Get the Sanitary Engineering Company
On the phone at 208,
You will get the kind of service,
That won't fill you up with hate,
And you'll eat your Xmas turkey
And be feeling blythe and gay,
Because you got the kind of service
That will keep your cares away.

A VICTORY OF LIES

It is now clear that the big Austro-German success against Italy was a victory less of arms than of lies. It was an unparalleled campaign of falsehood and treachery that broke the Italian front and opened northern Italy to the invaders.

On the eve of the German offensive the Teutons managed to circulate among the Italian troops forged edition of well known Italian newspapers such as the Gionale d'Italia and the Corriere della Sera. These editions contained false stories of tumult and revolt in southern Italy, of uprisings in Tuscany, of English soldiers firing upon Italian women and children, of French cavalry riding over the dead bodies of Italian citizens.

The effect on the Italian army may be imagined. And to this sort of sportsmanship the Germans added the following masterpieces of Prussian strategy:

They had placed opposite the sector where they meant to open their drive, Austrian Socialist troops, and had encouraged these troops in fraternizing with the enemy. Large numbers of Italians were taken in by that trick. They believed that the Teutons were sincere when they asked why fellow-Socialists, eager for peace, should keep on killing each other. Perhaps the Teuton Socialists really were sincere, and were tricked themselves by their superiors. At any rate, after the peace poison had been distributed, the German command withdrew its decoy Socialists and replaced them with "shock troops." Then it was "Onward with God!" and the drive started.

And in the actual fighting treachery still played its part. Clever Bulgarians and Croats, speaking Italian and dressed in Italian uniforms, had succeeded in penetrating the Italian lines before the attack, and had associated themselves with the Italian troops. They succeeded in getting hold of field telephones and 'phoning orders for the abandonment of important positions, thus adding greatly to the confusion and demoralization of the Italians.

This is a fine example of the sort of tactics that every nation assailed by Germany has to expect, on the battlefield, in diplomacy, in commerce and in private life. It is another warning to Americans to have no faith in any professions made by Germany or on Germany's behalf until German's military power is broken and the Hohenzollern rule of lies and blasphemy and brutality is ended.

UNITED IN STRENGTH

The announcement that our leading European allies had determined at last to centralize their military authority was received in this country with satisfaction and relief. American observers had long seen that such a move was inevitable if the allies were to succeed. There must be one war, with unity of direction, instead of many wars bearing little relation to each other.

But the "suprema war council" announced by Lloyd George has proved disappointing. It is seen to be only a step in the right direction and a short step at that. The New York World fairly describes it as being neither "supreme" nor a "war council."

It is merely advisory to the various governments. These governments retain their power of independent action. They will act with more completa information as to the status of the war on the various fronts and the requirements of their allies, and that is about all. The great war for the preservation of democracy continues as a group of separate campaigns which may or may not work effectively to a common end, according to circumstances.

Military decisions remain in the hands of civilian rulers affected by political considerations. And Germany's war for the conquest of the world remains in the hands of a strong, central military authority.

It is being recalled in this country that the United States never made any real headway in the Civil war until President Lincoln put the entire direction of the northern armies in the hands of Gen. Grant, and let him use his own judgment. What is needed by the allies, apparently is a central military council, the smaller the better—with the United States represented on it—which shall make war as Grant did.

Such extreme concentration and simplicity of plan and action are of course impossible of full realization in this complex war. But the closer we approximate them, the sooner will victory come.

David Harum said: "There's as much human nature in some folks as there are in others, if not more." One of the peculiar streaks of human nature is found in the man who will only stop for the night at fire-proof hotels, and yet will go to bed at home leaving a red-hot fire burning in a stove, with the pipe running into a flue full of cracks, and sleep all night with a feeling of perfect security.

Just to celebrate Russia's withdrawal from the war the British troops on the western front smashed the Hindenberg line all to smithereens. And that is merely an advance notice to the Kaiser of what is to follow.

The doctors have advised the Kaiser, that he is traveling too much and must take a rest. The doctors forget that there is no rest for the wicked.

Must be that our old friend, Villa, is running short of ready cash. He has emerged from obscurity and resumed his raiding operations.

In a few weeks more congress again will be "on the job," which at least will furnish a variety in the war news.

One can't help wishing the Russians had fought the Germans as valiantly as they fight themselves.

This year we can be thankful that our Flag is the emblem of humanity.

The fuel and money are soon parted.

EVOLUTION

1880

A man went forth with a two-dollar bill
And never a doleful thought.
He gave the dealers a list to fill
And this is what he bought:

3 porterhouse steaks
1 bushel potatoes.
4 pounds butter.
1 ham.
5 pounds lard.
20 pounds sugar.
1 sack flour.
3 pounds sausage.
12 bars soap.
2 dozen eggs.

1900

A man went forth with a five-dollar bill—
Five dollars was quite a lot.
He gave the dealers a list to fill
And this is what he got:

1 peck potatoes.
1 pound butter.
2 pounds ham.
1 pound lard.
10 pounds sugar.
25 pounds of flour.
1 pound sausage.
6 bars soap.
1 dozen eggs.
1 porterhouse steak.

1917

A man went forth with a ten-dollar bill
And worry, it filled his dome.
He gave the dealers a list to fill
And this is what he lugged home:

1 pound potatoes.
1 ounce butter.
1-2 pound ham.
1 pinch of sugar.
1 tenspoonful of lard.
1 pound of flour.
1 sausage link.
2 eggs.
1 pound round steak.

CHILDREN REAP BUMPER HARVEST

DEMONSTRATE THEIR ABILITY AS BEAN GROWERS

Produce Beans on 22 Square Rods of Ground Amounting to $24.92 —Some Farmers

Nathan and Naomi Carpenter, son and daughter respectively of Mr. and Mrs. D. E. Carpenter, farmers living about three and one-half miles north west of Ellsworth, have demonstrated their ability as bean growers this year and have made a record which will be hard to equal, even by aged and experienced farmers.

On June 9, these children planted a plot of ground containing twenty-two square rods, to white pea beans and have recently harvested and sold their crop, which consisted of 242 pounds, an average of twenty-nine bushels and ten pounds per acre.

They received in payment from the Ellsworth Produce Co., a check for $24.92, or at the rate of $181.24 per acre. The beans were not hand picked, but were a very good sample for this year. The father of these children is conceded to be one of the best and most up-to-date farmers in Banks township and has evidently transmitted some of his ability in this line to his offspring.

If you know of any one, old or young, who has done as well or better this year, we would be glad to hear from them.

DIED AT BELLAIRE

COMMUNICATIONS

The Dixie Highway and West Michigan Pike road in Charlevoix County is almost impassable today and will have to be rebuilt sometims in the near future with money which Charlevoix County (the whole of Charlevoix County) will have to pay, and the time to do it is NOW. Why now? Because if we build it now the U. S. Government has already set aside 50 per cent, or one half, and the state 15 per cent, leaving us only 35 per cent for Charlevoix county to pay, which will be approximately Five Thousand Dollars, or in other words, this concrete road, 16 foot wide will cost us just about the same as a good gravel road 9 feet wide. If we bond for this now, the road can be built right away quick, and if we do not build it now, or if we do not bond for it now, we will not get the money from the government as it is a road laid out by the government, and if we do not take the money now a dozen other counties stand ready to grab it, and will be only too glad to get it.

Let's get it while we have the chance, as no other appropriation for roads will be made until five years from now. The last appropriation made by the government was Seventy Five Millions, and the share of this alloted to the State of Michigan was Two Million, Two Hundred Thousand.

You can make (as you plainly can see by the above) a big saving in your tax by taking this great gift from our government. Don't be misled by false statements. Use your own good common sense.

Yours in truth,

Charlevoix County Road Improvement Association.

If anyone having baled hay for sale will notify the Ellsworth Produce Co. they will come and see it and make an attractive price. 48t1

LADIES! LOOK YOUNG, DARKEN GRAY HAIR

Use the Old-time Sage Tea and Sulphur and Nobody will Know.

Gray hair, however handsome, denotes advancing age. We all know the advantages of a youthful appearance. Your hair is your charm. It makes or mars the face. When it fades, turns gray and looks streaked, just a few applications of Sage Tea and Sulphur enhances its appearance a hundred-fold.

Don't stay gray! Look young! Either prepare the recipe at home or get from any drug store a 50-cent bottle of "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound," which is merely the old-time recipe improved by the addition of other ingredients. Thousands of folks recommend this ready-to-use preparation, because it darkens the hair beautifully, besides no one can possibly tell, as it darkens so naturally and evenly. You moisten a sponge or soft brush with it, drawing this through the hair, taking one small strand at a time. By morning the gray hair disappears; after another application or two, its natural color is restored and it becomes thick, glossy and lustrous, and you appear years younger.

Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound is a delightful toilet requisite. It is not intended for the cure, mitigation or prevention of disease.

CORRESPONDENCE

ESSEX

John Tillotson is on the sick list at the present writing.

Mr. and Mrs. Wieland called on Mr. and Mrs. John Hennip Friday evening.

Nick Dekkenga went to Charlevoix last Tuesday and got some siding for his house.

Mr. Baumback of Antrim City has been bailng hay for Mr. Drenth on the Mack place.

Beatrice Wieland was out of school a couple of days last week on acconnt of sickness.

Mr. and Mrs. Wieland went to Bellaire with Mr. and Mrs. D. Carpenter Wednesday and attended the Pomona Grange held there.

About twenty persons attended the party given by the Bowman girls last Tuesday evening. They reported a good time and venison sandwiches for lunch.

Thanksgiving is here and we should all be thankful for the snow staying off so long this fall, if nothing else, and I guess most of us have more than that to be thankful for.

There will be no school here this week, as Miss Schimmerhorn received word Saturday that her father was quite ill at her home in Alba. She went home for the week to be with her father.

ANTRIM CITY

A number of cattle have died here lately.

Wonder if this cold weather will bring sleighing by Christmas?

Mr. Stoel and family and Mr. Rowe were at the Brant home Sunday.

Threshing beans seems to be the thing people are most interested in just now.

H. Elzinga has lost two thoroughbred Durham cows, F. Mason lost a good cow and Mr. Brant lost a fine heifer.

Mr. Knight and family had their Thanksgiving Sunday a little early, but it is better to be early once in a while.

There has been quite a bit of trouble with the thresher. The shaft broke and had to be sent to East Jordan for repairs.

ROCK ELM

Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Teboe are the proud possessors of a twelve pound son.

Mr. Metz and family visited at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Jos. Whitfield on Sunday of last week.

All the tax paying women of the district who could do so, visited the town clerk Saturday and registered, so as to be ready to vote on the bonding issue in December.

The Rock Elm Grangers and their families recently spent a very pleasant evening together at their hall. After a short literary program consisting of patriotic songs and recitations, refreshments were served. True to the spirit of the times, pastries of all kinds were omitted from the bill of fare.

FAIRVIEW-BANKS

Looks like winter.

Tony Kuiper has left for Detroit to work this winter.

Miss Maggie Postmus left for Grand Rapids last Friday.

H. J. Timmer bought a new milch cow of Harm Sietsma Monday.

The Misses Jessie VanderArk and Margie Timmer left for Zeeland, Friday.

Mr. and Mrs. Walter DeGroot of Wright District, called on H. DeGroot and family Sunday.

Rev. E. Van Korlaar of West Branch occupied the pulpit of the Christian Reformed church last Sunday.

A road bee was held one day last week and a winter road for the U. S. mail was made in the S. W. 1-4 of Sec. 27.

COMING BACK

UNITED DOCTORS SPECIALIST WILL AGAIN BE AT CHARLEVOIX, MICHIGAN CHARLEVOIX HOTEL

THURSDAY, DECEMBER 6, 1917 ONE DAY ONLY

Hours 9 a. m. to 6 p. m.

Remarkable Success of Talented Physician in the Treatment of Chronic Diseases

Offer Services Free of Charge

The United Doctors Specialist, licensed by the State of Michigan for the treatment of all diseases, including deformities, nervous and chronic diseases of men, women and children, offer to all who call on this trip, consultation, examination, advice free, making no charge whatever, except the actual cost of treatment. All that is asked in return for these valuable services is that every person treated will state the result obtained to their friends and thus prove to the sick and afflicted in every city and locality, that at last treatments have been discovered that are reasonably sure and certain in their effect.

The United Doctors are experts in the treatment of chronic diseases and so great and wonderful have been their results that in many cases it is hard to find the dividing line between skill and miracle.

Diseases of the stomach, intestines, liver, blood, skin, nerves, heart spleen,, rheumatism, sciatica, tapeworm, leg ulcers, weak lungs and those afflicted with long-standing, deep seated, chronic diseases, that have baffled the skill of the family physician, should not fail to call. Deafness often has been cured in sixty days.

According to their system no more operation for appenticitis, gall stones, tumors, goiter, piles, etc., as all cases accepted will be treated without operation or hypodermic injection, as they were among the first in America to earn the name of "Bloodless Surgeons," by doing away with the knife with blood and with all pain in the successful treatment of these dangerous diseases.

No matter what your ailment may be, no matterwhat others may have told you, no matter what experience you may have had with other physicians, it will be to your advantage to see them at once. Have it forever settled in your mind. If your case is incurable they will give you such advice as may relieve and stay the disease. Do not put off this duty you owe yourself or friends or relatives who are suffering because of your sickness, as a visit at this time may help you.

Worn-out and run-down men or women, no matter what your ailment may be, call, it costs you nothing.

Remember, this free offer is for this visit only.

Married ladies come with their husbands and minors with their parents. Laboratories, Milwaukee, Wisconsin.

MARRIED AT FORT WAYNE

Miss Sadie Mack Becomes Wife of Fred Bohnke

A quiet wedding took place Thursday evening at 8:30 o'clock at the Jefferson street Church of Christ, Fort Wayne, Indiana, when Rev. E. O. Tomes united in marriage Miss Sadie Mack, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Mack, of Charlevoix, and Fred Bohnke, of Fort Wayne. The bride and groom were attended by Miss Gertrude Woods of Charlevoix, and Arthur Buck of Fort Wayne.

The bride looked charming in a gown of white georgette over white satin, wearing a large picture hat of white and carrying a boquet of bride's roses. Her bridesmaid, Miss Woods, was very becomingly gowned in pink georgette over satin, and wore a hat of the same color. Her flowers were pink roses.

Mr. and Mrs. Bohnke will be at home at 224 Washington Boulevard, West, Fort Wayne.

Wilson Grange No. 719

Wilson Grange met in regular session, Saturday, November 24, with W. M. Shepard somewhere in the wilds of the northern peninsula and Worthy Overseer, L. A. Brintnall in the chair. A short discussion was had on the heating and lighting question.

The matter of the employment of a county agent was discussed and it was the unanimous opinion that in case such an agent was secured that the members of the grange as a whole, try to get all the benefit possible from his services.

After the lecturers program, the members adjourned to the dining hall to partake of a bountiful spread prepared by the ladies after which young and old gathered around the organ and spent an enjoyable and social hour in singing and music.

NOTED SPEAKER WILL SPEAK AT BARNARD

Boston Divine to Hold Series of Evening Meetings

Next Sunday, December 2, the Rev. R. W. Merrill of Boyne City will preach at Atwood, Barnard and Norwood at the regular hours of service. The week following that is from December 3, until December 9, inclusive, the Rev. Wentworth F. Stewart, D. D., of Boston, will be at the Barnard church conducting a series of evening meetings.

A lecturer and preacher of national reputation, Dr. Stewart deserves a wide hearing. He speaks in the interest of a better community life. Go from near and far to hear him.

WOULD END WAR BY SHOWERING POTATO BUGS ON GERMANY

The war will soon be over. An Ohio man will end it. He has suggested to U. S. Marine Corps officials that they direct their aviators to drop potato bugs over Germany. He declares there are no potato bugs in the kaiser's realm, and since the "spud" is absolutely essential to Germany's economic welfare, the dropping of "Murphy destroyers" over the Rhine country would quickly terminate hostilities." Simple, isn't it. Marine Corps officials think so.

COUNTY AGENTS IN 51 COUNTIES

EXPERTS NOW EMPLOYED IN ALL BUT 32 COUNTIES

Only Half a Dozen Districts Flatly Refuse to Employ Worker to Assist Farmers

The county agent plan for assisting farmers and carrying on agricultural projects of a public nature has won a distinct victory in the state, a report from the office of the director of extension for the Michigan Agricultural college indicates. Fifty-one of Michigan's 83 counties, the state leader of county agents has been informed, now employ permanent agents; a score of others are considering such a move, and only a half dozen have refused flatly to line up with the rest of the state. The first agent taken on in Michigan was engaged in Alpena county five years ago. The growth of the county agent plan since is said to be more phenomenal than has ever characterized any other public service effort.

"Of the 51 counties employing agents," the report sets forth, "32 were provided with men before the war broke out. The others have 'come in' as a result largely of what they saw during the summer of the work of the temporary field man employed to help cope with problems arising in the food campaign. The terms of these temporary agents ended on November 1, whereupon 19 counties voted at once in favor of keeping their man on the job permanently. This leaves 32 counties still without county agriculturists, though assurance has been received at M. A. C. that most of these will make the necessary appropriations before the present year ends.

"Not more than six or eight counties have flatly refused agents, and where this has occurred it has been found that the fault can be laid not to the county agent idea but to either the men who acted as agent, or to the dampening efforts of occasional reactionaries.

"When it is recalled that most of the men who acted as emergency agents were of a necessity appointed in a hurry, without adequate opportunity being given to thoroughly try them out, the misfits among them were few. Where there are such they are gradually being replaced.

"But that such difficulties have been rare has been borne out by the reports submitted. These show 51 counties definitely committed this year to the county agent plan, where five years ago Alpena stood alone.

"With Alpena now are Iron, Kent, Kalamazoo, Allegan, St. Clair, Branch, Saginaw, Houghton, Newaygo, Gogebic Wexford, St. Joseph, Marquette, Dickinson, Lenawee, Ontonagon, Cheboygan, Ottawa, Mason, Muskegon, VanBuren, Berrien, Manistee, Menominee, Schoolcraft, Missankee, Presque Isle, Delta, Wayne, Chippewa, Tuscola, Alger, Luce, Emmet, Charlevoix, Antrim, Grand Traverse, Kalkaska, Osceola, Clare, Oceana, Bay, Clinton, Shiawassee, Genesee, Oakland, Calhoun, Jackson, Washtenaw and Case."

REFUSED TO OBEY ORDERS

DRAFTED MAN DEFIES ORDERS TO APPEAR

Claims to be an Alien and Not Subject to Commands of U. S. Government

Bert Veenstra, one of the young men cited to appear and go to Camp Custer last Monday, failed to obey his notice, however, he replied by letter and claimed, as an alien, that he would not obey the commands made by this government.

Young Veenstra is about twenty-two years of age and has been in this country fourteen or fifteen years and like some others probably considers that he is qualified to act as judge on governmental affairs.

Sheriff Kittle, Tuesday made a trip to the Veenstra home and informed young Veenstra that proper officials would pass upon his claim for exemption but in the meantime he could consider himself as a deserter and as such to make hasty preparations to accompany the sheriff to Bellaire which the young man reluctantly did.

Veenstra was taken into custody and confined in the county jail until Wednesday afternoon, when the sheriff started for Camp Custer, with the young man in custody, where he will be delivered to the proper authorities for further action.

Some few aliens in the same locality are pronouncedly pro-German and have freely expressed their views relative to present war conditions, which if persisted in will probably necessitate some stringent action in the near future, by persons authorized to act in cases of this nature.—Bellaire Independent.

In commenting on the above, the Courier correspondent from Atwood makes the following statement:

"We are sorry that the first Banks township slacker was of this neighborhood. That he was influenced by others is very apparent, as he had made the trip to Bellaire as a substitute once before this call.

"A great many Hollanders in this neighborhood are German sympathizers and do not hesitate to express opinions contrary to the laws of this or any other country at war.

"This is a deplorable state for the parties concerned to be in as they do not seem to realize by so doing they make themselves traitors. The case of the young man above referred to is to be the solution of the problem, however, in that the authorities have received tips as to the worst ones who will be taken care of if they cannot keep their own counsel. Merely keeping their mouths shut will not make them any less traitors, but will keep the law from touching them.

"If these pro-Germans could have the chance to voice their sentiments in the country they appear to champion against anything done there, they would be shot without ceremony."

ANTRIM COUNTY LOSES ONE OF OLDEST CITIZENS

Mrs. Polly Pearl Dies at Advanced Age of 91 Years

Wednesday evening, November 21, marked the passing away of one of Antrim County's oldest settlers, Mrs. Polly Pearl, who died at the home of her daughter, Mrs. J. T. Odbert, at the age of 91 years, 10 months and 9 days.

She was born in Ellenburg, Clinton Co., N. Y., January 12, 1826. Married to Edric Pearl, December 31, 1844, and lived in Ellenburg, N. Y., until 1858, when they moved to Michigan. They lived on North Manitou Island two years then moved to Northport, where they resided five years. In 1862 they moved to Antrim and were one of twelve families living there at that time. From there they moved to Elk Rapids where they conducted a hotel for several years.

Twelve children were born to them of which only three are left. From Elk Rapids, Mr. and Mrs. Pearl moved to Wyandotte, Arkansas, where, after a few years, Mr. Pearl died and Mrs. Pearl came back to Banks township and lived with her brothers Nelson and Justins Moore. The last twenty years of her life were spent with her daughter, Mrs. J. T. Odbert.

Three daughters, twelve grandchildren and eight great grandchildren are left to mourn her departure.

Mrs. John Essenburg's father and her youngest sister, with a little boy from Oakland, Michigan, are visiting here at present.

George Zudema from Arlene, Michigan spent a few days visiting his brother, John, who is employed by Elzinga Bros. at present.

Dr. Armstrong called to see J. Essenberg last week. Mr. Essenberg has been gradually failing of late and little hope is held out for his recovery.

The Young People's Society of the Christian Reformed church will render a program and serve refreshments at the church Thanksgiving evening.

Jake VanUnen, Henry VanderSlik and Ralph A. VanderHeide left for southern Michigan last Saturday. They received word that their brother, John VanderSlik, had been seriously injured while threshing beans.

The ladies aid of the Christian Reformed church gave an entertainment and social to the associate members and their families last Thursday afternoon. The meeting was well attended and everyone enjoyed the affair immensely.

The case of Mrs. W. Brown vs. M. Henry was dismissed on the grounds of no cause of action. This is sufficient proof that the claims made did not exist, although the publicity given a person during a time as this is far from pleasant and people are determined to make more out of a case than ever happens.

Marion Center Lad Has Narrow Escape From Serious Injury

Kenneth, the five year old son of Mr. and Mrs. Urman Hawkins, who live about four miles out on the Phelps road, near Marion Grange, met with an accident at about five o'clock Thursday afternoon, when he fell between the front and rear wheels of a wagon his father was driving, the heavy rear wheels passing completely over the little body. His collar bone was broken and he was considerably bruised by contact with the frozen ground, but is recovering nicely.

Buy a Monarch Range
and You will Never Regret it

If you have looked around at different kinds of ranges you have probably noticed that every one, cheap and high-priced alike, is said to be, "A fuel saver and a perfect baker." Every salesman knows that these are two things a woman demands and therefore makes these claims for the range he sells, even though he can't show you wherein his range is esentially different from others.

Now, if you have had experience in the use of different kinds of ranges you know that this is not true of all of them. Either you have owned or had a friend who owned a kitchen stove that was just the opposite of a "fuel saver" or one that was far from a satisfactory baker.

It is an easy matter to protect yourself against future troubles of this kind by investigating the merits of the "Monarch" range. They are built tight and will stay tight.

NO DISGRACE TO BE GERMAN

ILLINOIS EDITOR SAYS THOUSAND TIMES NO

Plainly Explains His Views on What a German-American Should Be

Fred J. Kern, editor of the Bellsville, Ill., News-Democrat, will never get the iron cross from the "All highest" of Garmany but would doubtless get the other kind if Imperial William could lay hold of him.

After explaining in his newspaper that hs has "nothing but the purest Teutonic blood flowing in his veins," Mr. Kern goes on to give his views of what a German-American should be. Thia was in reply to a man who asked him whether hs thought it was a disgrace to be a German.

"Our prompt reply," says Mr. Kern, "was, no, emphatically no, and no again, and a thousand times over again, no, no, no, not by a damn sigbt."

"What is a disgrace, is for a man of German origin, or of any other nationality to live in the United States, to be a voting citizen of the United States, to enjoy the benefits of free institutions of tho United States, for such a man to be unfaithful to the United States, for him to be a kaiser booster, and knocker, a traitor, a copperhead, a sneak, an ingrate, and a dirty car, against the United States in the hour of war and trouble."

It appears that the Staats-Wochenblatt, a German language newspaper printed in Springfield, Illinois, scolded Mr. Kern because he did not stand up for the kaiser. This is what Mr. Kern retorted:

"Where did this poor deluded man get it into his head that we owe any support or encouragement to the kaiser?

"We are first last and all the time an American, not of the divided allegiance, even though of German extraction.

"The Hohenzollern outfit drove our ancestors out of Germany, and they exercised a good judgment in selecting the land of the free and the home of the brave as the country for their children and grandchildren to be loyal to.

"They renounced Germany when they bade good-bye to her shores. America is fighting the battle now which our forefathers so nobly began in 1848.

"We have far more interest in the outcome of the present war than the American with no Teutonic blood coursing through his veins.

"We want to see the militaristic parasites who have sapped the life blood out of the people of Germany for centuries licked and licked to a frazzle."

Charlevoix, Mich.
Sirs:

At a meeting of representative farmers and business men held at Boyne City, the evening of October 5, the undersigned committee was requested to ascertain the feeling in the county regarding the seeuring of a County Farm Agent, and the advisability of bringing the matter before your honorable body.

Tbe proposition is this—the U. S. Government has offered to pay $1800 or the average salary of such an agent, provided the county will care for such expenses as clerk hire, office rental, transportation and etc., incidental to the accomplishment of his work. This would amount to about $1400 or about ten cents on a thousand assessed valuation.

We have already been in tonch with a goodly number of tha representative leaders in various lines in County, and tbe consensus of opinion is that tbe matter should be brought to you for action at this time, if we are to avail oarselves of the proposition submitted by the U. S. Dept. of Agriculture to counties organizing this winter.

We, therefore, kindly request that you designato a certain day and hour, when you will grant a public hearing with tho ultimate view of taking aetion on tbe matter in the regular session of your board now sitting. Will you grant us an immediate reply so that we may notify those interested of the time convenient to you?

Yours respectfully,
COMMITTEE:
May Stewart, County School Commissioner; R. W. Merrill, Pastor M. E. church, Boyne City; E. M. Ackerman, Sec.-Mgr. Boyne City Chamber of Commerce.

Moved by Wm. A. Tindell, seconded by Wm. H. Cook, that Friday, the 12th at 1:30 o'clock p. m., be granted as the time for public hearing on the question of securing a County Farm Agent. Motion carried.

Motion made by Fred Shepard, seconded hy Wm. H. Cook, that we adjourn until tomorrow morning at the hour of 8:30 o'clock. Motion carried.

The following resolution was read by T. J. Gilbert:

WHEREAS, it is deemed advisable for the best interest of the County of Charlevoix to have the claims and accounts egninst the County audited and paid oftener than once a year, and believing that by so doing, the County will be nble to purchase supplies at a more reasonnble price; and

WHEREAS it is n difficult matter for the Board of Supervisors to audit the books and settle with the County Treasurer during the regular session of the Board, and it being deemed expedient to have the books of the County Treasurer audited by some enpable and reliable accountant as of the first day of October of each year; and

WHEREAS the establisbing of n committee of three to audit the claims against the County and direct their payment at least once a month, will allow the County to purchase supplies cheaper than under the present system and will nt all times apprise the Committee of the supplies or purchases needed from month to month. Now therefore be it resolved as follows, to-wit:

Section 1. That a Committee of three known as the Auditing Committee, end consisting of the Chairmen of the Board of Supervisors, or his successor as chairmen, or in case of his not being re-elected, his successor as supervisor. from his township or ward and two other supervisors to be elected by the Board: Provided, however, that should either fail of re-election their successor as supervisor shall take their place on said committee, shall constitute said committee, and said committee is hereby established, and shall hold office from the date of their election until their successors are elected at the next regulnr October session of said Board.

Section 2. That said committee shall meet on the first Tuesday of each and every month nt the County Clerk's office at the County seet and audit all claims or nccounts against the County and shall direct the payment of all claims which in the opinion of the committee are a proper charge agninst the County and should be paid.

Section 3. That a majority of said committee shall constitate a quorum to do business, and that before a claim shall be paid, it shall first have been approved by a majority of the entire committee.

Section 4. That each member of said committee actually attending said monthly meetings shall rsceive each month for his said services the sum of Four Dollars and actual expenses, necessarily incurred by said member in attending said meeting, and that the compensation and expenses of each member attending shall be duly audited and paid each month.

Section 6. And be it provided that said committee shall cause an accurate and complete aadit of the books of the County Treasurer to be made as of the First day of October of each year, by some reliable and accurate accountant, the said aadit to be completed and ready to present to the said Board of Sopervisors on the first day of its regulnr October session following said audit; and it is further provided that the cost of said audit shall be presented to the Board of Superviaors at said regular session.

Section 6. That every Coanty official or agent for the Connty of Charlovoix shall each month at the meeting of said committee anbmit, in writing, to said committee the supplies that tbey may need in their respective departments and said committee shall pass upon said applications and approve of said proposed purchases at said meeting if said committee deems them necessary and a proper charge against the Connty of Charlevoix: Provided, however, that supplies may be ordered and expenditurca incurred by the said County officials and agents in cases of emergency.

Section 7. This resolution shall in no way refer to or affect the expenditures of the presiding judge of the Circuit Court for Charlevoix County.

Section 8. This resolation shall take immediate effect and the members of said committee shall cease an accurate and complete aadit of the books of the Connty Treasurer to be made as of the First day of October of each year, by some reliable and accurate accountant, the said aadit to be completed and ready to present to the said Board of Sopervisors on the first day of its regulnr October session following said audit; and it is further provided that the cost of said audit shall be presented to the Board of Superviaors at said regular session.

Section 6. That every Coanty official or agent for the Connty of Charlovoix shall each month at the meeting of said committee anbmit, in writing, to said committee the supplies that tbey may need in their respective departments and said committee shall pass upon said applications and approve of said proposed purchases at said meeting if said committee deems them necessary and a proper charge against the Connty of Charlevoix: Provided, however, that supplies may be ordered and expenditurca incurred by the said County officials and agents in cases of emergency.

Section 7. This resolution shall in no way refer to or affect the expenditures of the presiding judge of the Circuit Court for Charlevoix County.

Section 8. This resolation shall take immediate effect and the members of said committee shall be elected at the present session of the Board of Sopervisors.

Motion made by T. J. Gilbert, seconded by Daniel S. Payton that the resolution be accepted and adopted.

The following opinion of Lisle Shaushan, Ass't. Pros. Attornsy was handed in by Daniel S. Payton.

October 12, 1917.

Gentlemen:

In relation to the compensation of the Couaty Road Commissioners, I beg to state tbat the Board of Supervisors shall fix the compensation of such commissioners for such time as the commissioners sball eerve the county in the capacity of Coanty Road Commissioners. This is foand in the Compiled Laws nf 1915, in section No. 4354, and so far as I can ascertain is the only authority granted to the Bonrd of Supervisors to fix the road commissioners compensation. It does not state when the compensation shall be fixed or for whnt length of time, and you will notice thnt it mekes the commissioners in the plural so that the Board of Supervisors would be authorized to fix the same compensation for all of the commissioners in the same amount and, in my opinion, the Bonrd of Supervisors would not be allowed to fix the compensation of one commissioner different from the compensation of another commissioner, nor would the Bonrd be allowed to fix the compensation for each individual commissioner nt different times.

Fixing the compensation for the County Road Commissioners is purely statutory and depends solely upon the statutes authorizing this action of the Boerd. The question has been raised that after the compensation had once been fixsd, it could not be changed during the time for which such officer was elected. This idea is derived from section No. 2514 of the 1915 compiled Laws of Michigan which reads in pert as follows: "thet the annual salaries of all salaried County officers." It cannot be claimed that the County Road Commissioners are salaried County Officers, neither can it be claimed that they received an ennuel salary and their case is different from that of the County Clerk or County Treasurer, both of whom may receive a certain stated amount of salary together with all fees pertaining to their office.

In tbe case of the County Road Commissioners there are no fees pertaining to their office but any compensation they receive must be for time actually spent in the service of the County in their capacity as Road Commissioners, so that they might receive during a stated year a compensation of any sum depending entirely upon the number of days they actually devoted to the service of the County. And this being the case, they cannot be considered as county salnried officers receiving an annual salary; so that they would not be classed as a salaried county officer and would not come under the provisions of the law relative to the salaries of county officers.

The entire matter being purely statutory then the Board of Supervisors are limited to the authority granted to them in section No. 4354 and under that section, can at any time, fix their compensation and can do so from year to year without any regard to their term of office, and in my opinion the compensation of every Road Commissioner in the County of Charlevoix should be the same and should be fixed at the same time and that the Board of Supervisors may change the compensation as they see fit at any regular session of the Board.

Respectfully submitted,
LISLE SHANAHAN,
Assistant Prosecuting Attorney.

Report of the Committee on Ways and Means

To the Honorable, the Board of Supervisors for the County of Charlevoix, Michigan.

Your committee on Ways and Means report and recommend the adoption of the following resolution:

RESOLVED, thnt whereas there is now on hand in the County Treasury the sum of $9,442.95; and whereas the said sum is not sufficient to meet the current expenses of the County of Charlevoix up to the time the taxes will have been pnid for the ensuing year; and

WHEREAS, it is necessary to anticipate the taxes to be collected the ensuing yenr by borrowing the sum of not to exceed $10,000 as may be needed for ninety days from the banks having heretofore entered an agreement with the County of Charlevoix as county depositories at the best rate of interest avnilable. Provided, however, that should said loan be made from other sources at a more advantageous rate of interest, the same shall bo so placed.

NOW THEREFORE, be it resolved that the County Clerk and the County Treasurer be and are hereby instructed to borrow the sum of not to exceed $10,000 as may be needed for a period of not to exceed ninety days from the banks having heretofore entered an agreement with the County of Charlevoix as county depositories at the best rate of interest available.

PROVIDED, however, that should said County Clerk and County Treasurer be able to borrow the said sum of money from other sources at a more advantageous rate of Interest, they shall borrow the same from said other sources; and

BE IT FURTHER resolves that the sum of $73,374.95, being the sum of $6.00 on each $1,000 of assessed valuation for the County of Charlevoix according to the present assessment roll for said County shall be raised by taxes upon the taxable real and personal property in the County of Charlevoix to be expended for County purposes and to be known as the "County Taxes."

Respectfully submitted,

After Recess

Dwight L. Wilson called for the epecinl order of the day.

Tho following opinion of the Ass't. Prosecuting Attorney was read by Dwight L. Wilson:

To the Committee on Compensation for County Road Commissioners.

Gentlemen:

In examining the law under which the highway road commissioners nre operating, I find thut in section ten, it provides that neither the Clerk nor nny member of the Board of County Road Commissioners shall directly or indirectly by, either personally, or as a member of any firm, or stockholder in uny corporation, be pecuniarily interested as contractor or employe in nny contract entered into or work carried on by or for such board. Under thia Section you will find that the law is very strict, oven preventing the Road Commissioners from being interested in any contract work, a corporation, of which he might bo a stockholder, being interested and specifically mentions that the Road Commissioners shall not be interested as an employe in any work carried on by tbe Road Commissioners; so that under the law, the Rond Commissioners cao not hire themselves as employees of tho Board, and that it is illegal for the County Road Commissioners to hire each other and draw componsation therefor.

All tbrough the County Road law, it is contemplated that tho Board of County Road Commissioners should be an administrative board and in the 1917 Act it provides in Section Nine, explicitly, that they shall be an administrative Board and as such administrative board they would draw whatever per diem the Board of Supervisors might fix, their duties corresponding in a way, to the duties of the Board of Sopervisors. There is no question that the Board of Supervisors could not authorize the plastering of the Court House and hire Supervisor Cook to do tbe work without his first resigning as Supervisor. The same rule holds with the County Road Commissioners.

The law does not contemplate that the County of Charlevoix could raise three mills for County roads, that being the limit until thia year, and have the Board of County Road Commissioners, hire themselves and draw their labor out of the general contingent fund. In other words, when the County of Charlevoix raisod the limit of taxes for good roads, the Board of County Road Commissioners had no right to increase that amount by drawing their pay as employees of the County Board of Road Commissioners from the general or contingent funds. In other words, all employees of tho Board of County Road Commissioners shall be paid out of ths road fund and should be paid by the County Road Commissioners.

As the Board of County Road Commissioners are operating in Charlevoix County, thers is no check upon their time. They hire each other and meet and pay each other by presenting their bills to the County Clerk. The law did not contemplate any such procedure and in my opinion is illegal and can he stopped by any resident tax payer of the County of Charlevoix. And I believe that the bonds of each of the County Road Commissioners are liable to return to the County of Charlevoix, those sums of money pnid out to the highway commissioners for their labor, as it cannot be considered administrative work of the Board where the members of tho Board act as foremen on three separate road jobs.

Nowbere in the Road Law is there any express power conferred upon the Board of County Road Commissioners to enter upon the business of rond building and that it is the intention of the Legislature that the road should be constructed by contract and the law provides that the snid commissioners may employ superintendents, engineers, servants and laborers, necessary for the proper carrying on of the work of road building. Section ten provides that the commissioners shall employ a competent County Highway Commissioner who shall make all surveys ordered by the Board, prepare plans nnd specifications for all roads nnd exercise such general supervision over all constructions, and will insure that the plans and specifications are carried out. This provision in section ten, is mandatory and the Board of County Road Commissioners must obey it and the County Engineer must supervise the building of roads, and by thnt, he must view the roads and ascertain whether or not they are being constructed in accordance with the plans.

As the road system is being operated in Charlevoix County you can imagine the amount of authority the County Highway Engineer would have, when he is employed at the will of the Board of County Road Commissioners, and would have to pass upon and supervise the men who hire him. In other words, he would have tn superintend, and if necessary, compel the individual Road Commissioners who having been hired by the same Board, that is themselves, to build roads for the County, under the supervision of an engineer hired by themselves. Tho law did not contemplate any such situation, and I beg leave to call your committee's attention to the case of Brandt vs. Luce, being a case in regard to the County Road Law passing upon sections ten, twenty-one, nineteen and twenty, and this case is found in volume 177 of the Michigan Reports on page 190 and reads as follows:

"There is no express power conferred upon the Board to enter upon the business of rond building, in this or any other sections of the law. Tbere is power to reject bids for construction and after rejecting them to do the work to which the bids referred, by day labor, purchasing necessary material, in which case the plans and specifications for the work and all bids received and the reason in writing for not letting the job by contract, shall be filed in the office of the County Clerk. That the Legislature's purpose was that roads should be constructed by contract is evidenced, also by the provisions of section twenty."

In my opinion, the County Road Commissioners cannot employ themselves to build roads and that any money paid out of the general fund for their services in the construction of roads and not as an administrative board is illegal and that the per diem compensation allowed them is for meetings of the board or work of the Commissioners in an administrative capacity snd not in the capacity of a road builder.

"I am awars of the fact, that the County Road Commissioners bavs drawn money for their services in the construction of Roads and that each Commissioner audits and allows his own bills and the bills of the men working under him, which is agreed to by the other commissioners, that commissioners have been interested in work carried on by or for such Board and that no doubt they have been advised that they had tbe right so to do, however, in view of the decision in the "177 Michigan Reports," I am satisfied that they are proceeding illegaliy and if it is illegal for them to do this, they should stop, and if they persist in doing so, they should be obliged by some higher authority to proceed in a legal manner.

Respectfully submitted,
LISLE SHANAHAN,
Ass't. Pros. Att'y.

HEAVY MEAT EATERS HAVE SLOW KIDNEYS

Eat less meat if you feel Backachy or have bladder trouble—Take glass of Salts.

No man or woman who eats meat regularly can make a mistake by flushing the kidneys occasionally, says a well-known authority. Meat forms uric acid which excites the kidneys, they become overworked from the strain, get sluggish and fail to filter the waste and poisons from the blood, then we get sick. Nearly all rheumatism, headaches, liver trouble, nervousness, dizziness, sleeplessness and urinary disorders come from sluggish kidneys.

The moment you feel a dull ache in the kidneys or your back hurts or if the urine is cloudy, offensive, full of sediment, irregular of passage or attended by a sensation of scalding, stop eating meat and get about four ounces of Jad Salts from any pharmacy; take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast and in a few days your kidneys will act fine. This famous salts is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and has been used for generations to flush and stimulate the kidneys, also to neutralize the acids in urine so it no longer causes irritation, thus ending bladder weakness.

Jad Salts is inexpensive and cannot injure; makes a delightful effervescent lithia-water drink which everyone should take now and then to keep the kidneys clean and active and the blood pure, thereby avoiding serious kidney complications.

Motion mnde by Fred Shepard, seconded by Jay Adams that the findings of ths expert accountant in auditing the County Road Commissioners books be presented at the adjourned meeting of this Board next December. Motion carried.

The following notice was read by Wm. H. Benjamin:

DRINK HOT WATER IF YOU DESIRE A ROSY COMPLEXION

Says we can't help but look better and feel better after an inside bath.

Tn look one's best and feel one's best is to enjoy an inside hath eseh morning to fluab from the system the previous day's waste, sour formentations and poisonoue toxins hefore it ie absorbed into the blood. Just as coal, when it burns, leaves behind a certain amount of incombustihle material in the form of asbes, so the food and drink taken cach day leave in the alimeatary orgass a certain amount of indigestihle material, whieb if not eliminated, farm loxins and poisons whieb are tben auckod into the bloed tbrough the very ducts which are intended to suck in oaly nourisbment to sustain tbe body.

If yau want tn sco the glow of healthy bloom in your cbeoks, to seo your skin get clcerer and clearer, you are told to drink every moroing upon arising, a gisss of bat wster witb a teaspoenfnl of limestone pbosphato in it, which is a barmless means of washings the wasto mstoriel and toxins from the stomach, liver, kidneys and bowels, tbus cleansing, swectening and purifying the entire alimentary tract, before putting more food iato tbo stomacb.

Men and women with sallow skins, liver spots, pimples or pallid complexian, also those wbo wake up with a costed tongue, bad taste, nasty breath, othcrs who are botbered with headacbes, billous spells, acid atomach or constipation should begin this phosphated hot water drinking and are assured of very pronounced results in one ar two weeks.

A quarter pound of limestone bosphate costs very little at the drug storo but is sufficient to demoustrate tbat just as soap and hot water cleanses, purifies and freshens tho skin on the outside, so hot water und limestone phosphate act on the inside orgaas. We must alwnys consider that internal sanitation is vastly more important than outside cleanliness, because the skin pores do nnd absorl impurities into the bloodl, while the bowel pores do.

FOR USE IN MICHIGAN

To the Housewives of Michigan:

The following recipes have baen prepared and tested at the Michigan Agricultural Collega under the supervision of Oaan Georgia L. White, member of the executive committee of the Michigan food conservation service. They are practical, economical, and of first clase dietary value.

Thoy heve baen prepared with especial view to Michigan conditions—native products being utilized so far as possible, and market prices in this section of the country being taken into spacial account.

They lay down a practical method by which Michigan cooks may assist in the great movement to SAVE FOOOSTUFFS. Use them. Help tha cause. Help win the war.

LIQUIO YEAST.

4 medium-sized potatoes, washed end pared; 1 quart hot water; 1 C sugar; 1 t salt; 1 enke dry yuest soaked in 1-4 C lukewerm water or 1 ceks compressed yeast.

Grete or grind the potatoes directly into the weter. (A food grinder is convenieat for tbe purpese.) Boil five minutes stirring constently. Wash potatoes. Add suger snd salt; allow tbe mixture to cool. When lukewarm, add tho yeast. Keep at ordinary room temperature (sbout 70° F) for 24 hours, when it will be resdy for use. This should be kept in a cool, dark place. An esrthen jar or enamelware pail is a good cantainer for it and should he scalded before tbe yeast is put into it. Oae recipe makes six cupfuls. 1 cupful equals 1 yeast cake.

If liquid yeast is used in making bread, it may be necessary to add a little inore flour (1-2 C or 1 C) than tho recipe calls for. In making bread a smsll amount of dough may be saved for use in place of yeast nt the next baking. The same care, however, must be taken with it as with liquir yeast; it must be kept covered and in a cool place.

"OLO GLORY BREAD."

1 C rye; 8 C flour (white); 1 t salt; 3 T shortening (may be emitted); 3 C whole wbcat flour; 4 C water; 1 yeust cake, or more according to tbe length of time allowed for rising.

Add salt and shortaning to boiling water; cool to lukewarm; add yosst cake, dissolved in a little of ths water. All flours mixed together and knead until smooth and soft. Let rise until double its size. Kuead snd shape into loaves. Let rise. Bake one bour. This makes four good sized losves. "Old Glory Bread" is used much in France at present.

OATMEAL MUFFINS.

1-2 C milk; 1 C cooked oatmeal; 1 egg; 2 T fat; 1 1-2 C flour; 2 T sugsr; 1-2 t salt; 4 t baking powder.

Cook oatmeal, using one part oatmeal to two parts water. A large proportion of water makes too soft a mush and gummy muffins. Mix milk, oatmeal, egg, and melted fat. Add dry ingredients after sifting them together. Bake 25 to 30 minutes. This makes 10 to 12 muffins. These muffins sre not as light as plain muffins, but flnvor is very good.

OATMEAL BREAD.

1 C milk and water or water; 1 t salt; 1 T fat; 2 T sugar; 1 C rolled oats; 2 1-2 C wheat flour; 1-2 cake compressed yeast; 1-4 C warm water.

Scald liquid and pour it over tbo rolled oats, sugar, and yeast, salt and fat. Let stnnd until lukewarm (about half an hour). Add yeast softened in warm water. Add flour and kneed. Let rise until double its bulk. Knead again and place in a pan. Wben light, bake in a moderate oven from 45 to 50 minutes.

OATE BREAD.

3 C flour; 1-2 C sugar; 2 t salt; 6 t baking powder; 1 C bran; 1 C milk or water; 1 egg; 4 to 5 T shortening (oleo, Wessou oil, etc.); 1 1-2 C dates and nuts.

Mix and sift flour, sugar, salt, and baking powder. Add bran and fruit. Add liquid, add egg, and shortening. Bake in loaf.

SOUR MILK GINGERBREAD.

1 C molasses; 1 C sour milk; 2 1-3 C flour; 1 3-4 t soda; 2 t ginger; 1-2 t salt; 1-4 C melted butter.

Mix molasses, and sour milk, and add melted butter. Sift dry ingredients snd combine mixtures. Beat thoroughly. Pour into an oiled pan, bake 25 minutes in a moderate oven.

ORESSING.

1-2 C sour cream; 1-2 t salt; f. g. pepper; Yolks of egs grated fine; 1 T vinegsr; 2 t melted butter.

Add ingredients to sour cream. Stir dressing well. Pour over the potatoes and egg whites, and mix well. Serve cold.

GRAHAM MUFFINS.

1 1-2 C grabam flour; 1 C flour; 1 C sour milk; 1-2 C water; 1-3 C molasses; 3-4 t soda; 1 t salt; 2 T melted shortening.

Mix and sift dry ingredients; add milk to molasses and combine mixtures. Bake in a bot nven.

OATMEAL GEMS.

2 C rolled oats; 1 1-2 C sour milk. Let etand over night or at least 6 or 8 hours. Add 1 agg; 1-4 C sugar; 1 t soda; 1 C flour; 1-2 t salt. Makes 18 gems.

GRAHAM BREAO.

1 pt. sour milk; 1-2 C brown sugar; 1 t soda; 3 C graham flour.

NOTE—In all of thess recipes all measurements are level, and T equals tablespoon, t equals teaspoon, C equals cup, f. g. equals few grains, f. d. equals few drops.

WAR BREAO.

1-4 lb. cornmeal (3-4 C); 1-2 lb. bran (4.427 C); 2 1-2 lb. bread flour (8.96 C); 5 T fat; 5 T sugar; 4 t salt; 5 C water; 1 cake compressed yeast.

Soak yeast in 1-2 C of the water. Boil remsining 4 1-2 C of water. Pour into it tbe cornmeal stirring constently. Cook 5 minutes. To the hot cornmeal add the fat, sugar, snd salt, stirring until fat is melted. When cooled to lukewarm, stir in the dissolved yeast cake, and add flour and bran. Knead on baard until smooth. Place in pan, grease top, and let rise until its bulk is doubled. Bake. Make four goed-sized loaves. This may be shaped into rolls if preferred.

RYE BREAD.

1 qt. milk; 2 T sugar; 4 t salt; 2 T butter; 1 cake compressed yeast; 6 C rye flour; 3 C wbite flour.

Scald the milk and pour it over the sugar, salt, and fat in a large mixing bowl. Allow this mixture to cool until it is lukewsrm. Dissolve tbe yeast cake in some of the mixture, being very careful not to use the liquid until it is lukewarm. Add the yeast to the rest of the mixture snd if tbere is time, put in a warm place for an hour. If not convenient, add the flour gradually, reserving one cupful to be used in the kneading. Set in a warm place for about 1 3-4 hours. Mix down and let rise again for one hour. Mold, shape, and put into greased bread tins. Set in a warm place, nud when dough bas doubled in volnme bake in a moderete oven for one hour. This makes two large loaves or three medium ones; weighing all together about 4 1-2 lbs.

NUT RBEAD.

2 C sour milk; 1-2 C sour cream; 1 t soda; 1 t salt; 1 C nut meats; 3 C graham flour; 1 C white flour; 1 C sugar.

Mix dry ingredients, add sour milk and sour cream, and lastly the nut meats broken in small pieces. Tbis will make two loavos. Bake in a slow oven. Nuts are uaed for garnisbing or in combination with most of the salads. They are also combined with many of the dried fruits when preparing them for tbe table end in the fruit conserves.

WHOLE WHEAT OR GRAHAM BREAO.

1 1-2 C lukewurm milk; 3 T brown sugnr; 1 1-4 t ssit; 3 C whole wheat or graham flour; 1-2 yeast cake.

Scald the milk, togother witb the sugar and selt. When lukewarm, add the yeast, mixing it first with a little of the milk. Add the flour, beat well, and let it double its volume. Beat it thoroughly, put into a pan, and let it rise. In a pun of standard size it should come nearly to the top. Bake. Makes one large losf.

SOUR MILK CORN BREAO.

2 C corn meal; 2 C sour milk; 2 T butter; 2 T sugar, white or brown; 2 eggs; 1 t soda; 1 1-2 t salt.

Mix all the dry ingredients, including the soda, togetber. Tben add the sour milk and the eggs well heaten and butter. The bread sbould be baked in a shallow iron or granite pan for about 30 minutes. Buttermilk may be substituted for the sour milk, in which case tbe butter should ho slightly increased; or sour oream may be used and the butter omitted.

GRAHAM-NUT BREAO.

2 C graham flour; 2 C white flour; 1 C sugar; 2 C milk; 1 egg; 4 t baking powder; 1 t salt; 1 C nut meats (cut).

Mix and sift flour, salt, and baking powder togsther; combine witb milk, to wbicb the beaten egg bas been added; add sugar, tben nnt meats, and mix thoroughly. Put in bread pans and allow to rise in a warm place for 30 minutes. Bake in a moderate oven. Sufficient to baks two loavas.

BRAN BREAO.

3 C bran; 1 C flour; 1 T sngar; 1 t salt; 1 t soda; 1 T melted fat; 1 beaten egg; 2 C buttermilk or sour milk.

Mix bran with sifted flour, sugsn salt, and soda. Add melted fat, and beaten egg, and lastly bottermilk. 1-2 C obopped figs or raisins may be added before the milk. Egg may be omitted.

HONEY AND NUT BREAO MUFFINS.

1-2 C boney; 1 C flour; 1-4 te 1-2 t soda;; 1-4 t salt; 2 C bran; 1 T melted butter or other fat; 1 1-3 C milk; 3-4 C English walnuts.

SCALLOPED POTATOES.

Wash, pare snd cut 4 potatoes in one-fourth inch slices. Put in a layer in buttsred baking dish, sprinkle with salt end pepper, dredge with flour, and dot over with 1-2 tablespoen butter or oleo; repeet. Add hot milk until it may be seen through in the top layer. Bake 1 1-4 hours or until potato is soft.

Slices of becon ar freshened salt park may be added to top af potato if the amount of butter is lessened.

Variations for cooked potetocs: a. Cut potatoes in dice of uniform size; season with salt, pepper, butter. Sprinkle with chopped parsley. b. Cut cooked potetoes in cubes or slices. Add white sauce. Cheese may be added to this white seuce; c. Put creamed potatoes into a buttered baking dish; cover the top with buttered bread crumbs; bake until brown; d. Arrange alternate layers of creamed potatoes and grsted cbeese in a buttered baking disb; cover the top of the disb.

STUFFED BAKED POTATOES.

Cut baked potatoes in half, remove the pulp, mash it, add enough milk for the usual consistency of mashed potatoes, and season with butter, salt and pepper. Fill the cases with this mixture, dot the tops with butter or brush with milk, and beks for eight or ten minutes in a hot oven. Potatoes may be stuffed in the morning and heated for noon or in the evening for supper.

Variations: To the mashed potatoes, before tbe cases are filled, may be added any one or a combination of the following: a. Beaten white of egg (1 egg to 3 medium-sized potetoes); b. Grated cheese (1-2 cupful to 3 medium-sized potatoes); c. Chopped meat (1-2 cupful to 3 medium-sized potatoes); d. Chopped parsley (1 T to 3 medium-sized potatoes.)

WHITE SAUCE.

2 T butter or oleo; 2 T flour; 1-2 t salt; f. g. pepper; 1 c milk.

Melt tbe butter, edd the flour, salt, pepper, and stir until mixture is smootb. Add milk. Stir sauce until it tbickens. Cook five minutes. Add to potatoes.

Variations: a. Combine potatoes and peas for creamed vegetables; b. Combine potatoes and carrots for ercamed vegetables. c. Parsley or cheese may be added to the white saucc; d. Psprika or green poppers may be added to white sauce.

SCALLOPEO POTATOES.

Remove the ekin from boiled potatoes and cut in slices one-fourth inch thick. Arrange ths sliced potatoes in layors in a buttered baking disb, covering each layer witb white sauce (recipe above.) Sprinkle the top with buttered crumbs, and bake for sbout twenty minutes.

Variations: Add in layers, a. Herdcooked egg, sliced; b. Grated cbese; c. Minced bam, beef, etc.

BAKEO POTATOES.

Select potatoes of uniform size; wash them witb a vegetable brush; place them on the grate in a hot oven; bake them about forty-five minutes or until soft. Crack the ekin in order to let out tbe steam wbicb otherwise would condsese and cause sogginess.

RICED POTATOES.

Force cooked potatoes through a ricer or a coarse strainer into a bot vegetable disb. Avoid handling in order to keep tha potatoes light and attractive in eppearance. Variation: Brown in a buttered baking disb in the oven.

BOILEO POTATOES.

Select potatoes of same size so that that they will cook evenly. Scrub clean and pare thinly. Drop into boiling water and boil until soft. Salt wben half done. When done, drain off every drop of water and sbake over the fire until dry.

CREAMEO POTATOES.

3 to 4 medium-sized potatoes. Pare and cut potatoes in cubes. Drop in boiling water. Cook until tender. Drain. Add wbite sauce.

BOILEO POTATOES WITH SKINS.

Select potatoes of same size. Scrub clean. Drop into boiling water and boil until soft. Skins may be removed before serving.

STEAMED POTATOES.

Prepare ths potatoes as for boiling. Place them in a steamer, cover tightly, and steam for sbout 30 minutes or until tender.

DAIRY WISDOM.

The bull with a good disposition is desirable, but never trust him.

Be especially kind and thoughtful of the young belfers that are to calve in the spring.

Time and feed are worse than wasted on a scrub or grade bull.

Handle the heifers carefully every day. Keep them thrifty by good feeding.

The milk pail is a potent source of revenue, and, alas, sometimes a potent source of bad milk and cheesy butter.

BUTTER MAKING IN THE WINTER TIME

Artificial heet is absointely necessary to perfect ripening in extreme cold weather, writes W. W. Rockwood in the Hoard's Dairyman. Unless there are enough cows to make churning oftener desirable twice a week will do very well et this time of year. In that case the cream should bo held cold, but not so as to freeze, until the last twenty-four hours before the butter is to be churned and then warmed up to about 65 degrees. This is best done by means af a warm water bath, testing carefully with a dairy thermometer and stirring the cream constantly to insure even distribution of heat. When the desired temperature is reached the cream should be removed from the water bath, covered and held at as near that point as possible until it develops the proper degree of acidity. At this stage of development an artificial starter may often be employed with good results. If a majority of the cows in the herd are fresh or comparatively so a starter is not necessary. No starter at all is preferable unless the medium to be introduced is freshly soured milk or buttermilk perfectly free from any trace of bitterness or mold. Cream treated as above described should ripen sufficiently for churning at the end of twenty-four hours.

When properly acidified for churning cream should pour from a dipper like thick molasses, and the last drops should "pit" the surfnce lightly as they fall. Both outside and inside the dipper will be thickly coated with adhering cream at this stage. These are signs which enable the experienced eye in determining when cream is ready for the churn.

For years past the merits of the Red Polled breed as a beef producer have been thoroughly exploited in carcass tests and in the show ring. This side of the Red Polls has been so well shown up that most people not thoroughly posted on the breed class them at once entirely among the beef cattle. This, however, is absolutely unjust to the breed, as the true Red Poll is a milk producer as well and has been since an early time. The bull shown is a Red Poll.

Much annoyance is avoided in cold weather by having the cream at the proper temperature when the churning begins.

In extreme cold weather the rinse water should he warm enough to preserve the waxy consistency of the granules. The temperature should he about the same as the contents of the churn. Very cold water renders the butter too hard to work well, and its use is entirely unnecessary.

When the washing is complete and the salt incorporated the butter should be worked up at once. This may conveniently be done in the churn by revolving it very slowly and allowing the butter to drop solidly from top to bottom until thoroughly pressed together in large lumps. A final manipulation with the ladle after the butter has been removed to the bowl will express the remaining brine and leave it in the best possible shape for packing or printing.

Tips For the Dairyman.

How much do you psy your milkers? There is no work more important on the farm. Cheap milkers ruin cows and get less milk.

Buttermilk should be sold wherever cream is sold. Arrange to supply the people in your town with good buttermilk.

It is better to co-operate and purchase good bulls so as to get better blood in your herd than to co-operate to try to hold up the price of milk produced by poor cows.

The dairyman who does not keep records and test his cows for butter fat may well be compared to a merchant who sells goods on credit, yet does not set down in writing any of the credit accounts. Test; don't guess.

Cows Make $70 Apiece.

Twelve Holstein cows owned by Charles A. Smedley of Kensington, Kan., averaged 250 pounds of butter fat a cow last year and made him a net profit of $70 a cow. The price of the cow is not as important as the yield. These cows were a better buy at $300 each than they would have been at $25 if they would yield only 120 pounds of butter fat a year.

BETTER SCHOOL ATTENDANCE

A 15 Per Cant Increase in the Proportion of the Available Children Attending Schools Took Place Following Conatruction of Good Roads in Eight Countias.

A 15 per cent increase in the proportion of the available children attending schools took place following the construction of good roads in eight rounties studied by the office of public roads and rural engineering of the department of agriculture, it is shown in a recent publication of the office. The improvement in roads was followed also in several of the counties, the report shows, by consolidation of a number of the little one room schools into graded schools, which give the pupils better educational advantages; by development of various industries and by social improvements due to easier intercourse. These improvements are related closely to increases in land values and decreases in hauling costs, effects also traced to the construction of improved roads.

In Spotsylvania county, Va., the average daily school attendance increased from 57 per cent of the enrollment before the roads were improved to 77 per cent after. Several small schools were consolidated. Between 1909, the year preceding the building of good roads, and 1913, the year following their completion, the shipment of forest products, the principal products of the county, increased more than 78 per cent. The increase during this period in the poultry business in the county was 77 per cent and in dairying 110 per cent.

In Dinwiddie county, Va., the average daily attendance for children for thirteen schools on the improved roads was 63.4 per cent of the enrollment in

THE GRADED SCHOOL TAKES THE PLACE OF A NUMBER OF LITTLE ONE ROOM COUNTRY SCHOOLHOUSES.

1912-13, while the average attendance for all other schools in the county was 56 per cent. Several school consolidations have been effected, larger school buildings have been constructed, and pupils have been transported to school at the expense of the educational system since the road improvements were made. Truck gardening and dairying, which were profitable only within three miles of the principal market town of the county before the road improvement, are now carried on profitably within a seven mile radius.

In Lee county, Va., a considerable industry has been built up following the road improvements in the shipment of tanbark, extract wood and pulp wood, products which could not be profitably hauled over the unimproved roads. The improved highway system has attracted buyers of farm products who travel from farm to farm and furnish a new cash market for the farmers. There has been a 25 per cent increase in buggies sold by a county vehicle factory.

In Wise county, Va., social conditions have been bettered since the good roads were constructed, many farmers along the improved highways having built new homes or improved old ones, adding sanitary conveniences. School attendance has increased materially, but since compulsory attendance regulations went into effect about the time the improved roads were completed the influence of the two factors could not be determined separately. Several school consolidations have been made.

Automobile registrations in Franklin county, N. Y., increased from 371 before the road improvement in 1912 to 883 after road improvement in 1914, and two automobile bus lines connecting distant towns in the county were established as soon as the improved roads were opened.

There has been a notable stimulation of dairying and general diversification on the farms of Dallas county, Ala., since the improvement of the roads of that county.

In the section of Lauderdale county, Miss., where most of the roads have been improved, the school attendance increased from 72 per cent of the enrollment in 1912, just after the road work started, to 81 per cent in 1913, after the completion of the work. Several school consolidations have been effected.

AN EPOCH OF GOOD HIGHWAYS

Elimination of Waste In Road Management.

GOOD LOCAL INVESTMENTS

The Highway Construction Movement Spreading Over the Entire Country.. Taxpayers Awake to the Value of It and Bankers Ready to Furnish Necessary Money.

Road building—rail end wagon—has whipsawed around in the United States until the country road has taken the lead in the field of construction, writes James Brooke in the New York Evening Sun. Where the linking together of cities and important manufacturing centers by steel rails was once an all absorbing preoccupation, railroad construction is eclipsed today by the intensified work of replacing ruts and bog holes between Antioch and Smith's Chapel with a smooth, clean, permanent concrete highway.

Elimination of waste in highway management and prevention of loss of time in delivering farm products to market because of poorly constructed roads is clearly indicated in the trend of the times. This trend is appraised by students of economy as the prime reason why country roads occupy a leading position in the field of construction today. It was this trend that found expression in the $7,000,000 bond issue recently passed in New Jersey under the terms of the Egan "good roads" bill, in the $15,000,000 highway bond issue in California and in the success of similar financial propositions in other parts of the country.

Taxpayers are learning how easily capital may be had in a large volume at low interest rates to build roads that will last and earn their own cost in the reduction of hauling time and in the lessening of wear and tear on vehicles. The old idea that borrowing money to build hard roads means greater taxes without a sufficient tangible value in return is being dispelled by the experience of communities where permanent highways have been built. Rural communities are learning that it is cheaper to issue bonds and borrow money on the outside in large amounts at 4 or 5 per cent to build a new road system and be done with it and ride as you pay rather than use their own money and dribble it along in a pay as you go or pay as you ride policy. They are fast finding out that the bond plan, according to its supporters, is simply one way of bringing more capital into the county or community and applying that capital to bona fide and the purchase of home supplies during the period in which construction is under way. And when this construction is done upon a permanent basis, as in the case of concrete, the whole process of hiring outside capital and using it for internal improvements, such as roads, becomes a sound investment for the community for the very simple reason that the rate paid for the use of outside capital so employed is much less than the gain it brings to the community in the virtual elimination of highway repairs.

A visit today to sections where permanent road building is under way reveals a surprising contrast to the old method of road work. Where in times past a few farmers with teams were scattered along the lane, engaged in scraping ditches and filling up depressions, regular construction gangs are now at work, not merely on one lane, but throughout entire counties.

Before actual construction begins little narrow gauge railroads are usually built along the country road, and material, such as cement, sand and crushed stone, is rapidly transported from the railway freight station to points where the roadbed is being laid. This material, measured to right proportion, is loaded in dump cars and drawn by donkey engines to machines, where it is mixed into a quaky mass and there spread over the road. As construction extends out into the county the dinky railways, as they are called, are extended until the entire system of main market roads has been covered. The county highway engineer or superintendent is usually supplied by the county with an automobile, and he makes the rounds of the entire section each day, visiting districts in which construction is under way.

ARGUMENT FOR GOOD ROADS

Most arguments for road improvements as an aid in transporting farm products are based on hauling grain, cotton, timber and other heavy materials, says the American Highway association. There is another class which is important in some sections to which attention was recently drawn by Fred W. Davis, commissioner of agriculture of Texas. This is the class of perishable products which it is very important to deliver in good condition at the shipping station.

Many shipments have been rejected by consignees for bad condition, started while hauling the produce over rough roads. Such rejections are usually ascribed to the crookedness of the commission merchant, but Mr. Davis says he has observed tomatoes and other produce loaded into cars in such a damaged condition that they could not possibly be accepted at their destination. As a remedy in a poor roads district many farmers fit their wagons with springs, which reduce their capacity, and in this way incur an expense to overcome the bad conditions which would go for toward paying the taxes needed for good roads.

FEDERAL AID FOR ROADS.

Nearly 5,000,000 Square Yards Supervised In Last Fiscal Year.

Nearly 5,000,000 square yards of roadway, the equivalent of 561.0 miles of road fifteen feet wide, were constructed under the supervision of federal road specialists in the last fiscal year, according to the annual report of the office of public roads and rural engineering of the United States department of agriculture. This is more than double the mileage so constructed in previous years. The roads constructed under supervision of the office include experimental roads, post roads, county roads and roads in national parks and forests. The expenditures of the office for this purpose were chiefly for engineering services and supervision, the communities, except in the case of forest and park roads, meeting the bulk of the costs for material and construction.

A special appropriation was made for the construction of the post roads in the postoffice appropriation bill of 1912. Eight of the eleven post road projects remaining at the beginning of the last fiscal year were completed by the end of the year, bringing the mileage of the completed roads under this special project to 697.6. Three of the original seventeen projects, aggregating 59.47 miles in length, remained uncompleted at the end of the year. The eight projects completed are in seven states and traverse fifteen counties.

The demonstration maintenance work undertaken in 1914 on a through route from Washington to Atlanta was continued during the year, the mileage under supervision increasing from 721 to 876. The cumulative effect of continuous maintenance, says the report, has been demonstrated by the fact that from March 15 to the end of the fiscal year, June 30, 1916, the road was not closed to traffic at any point.

In the national parks and national forests the office supervised construction of approximately 170 miles of road, of which about seventy miles were completed. One of the roads under construction—the Escalante-Winder road in the Powell national forest, Utah—will open up communication with a settlement in the valley of the upper Colorado river which has heretofore been practically cut off from the rest of the world.

INCREASE IN ROAD BUILDING.

Expenditure on Highways Shows 250 Per Cent Gain In Decade.

An enormous increase in the total expenditures for road building and bridge construction marked the development of highway work in the United States during the past twelve years. Statistics compiled by the office of public roads show that the expenditures for this work increased from approximately $80,000,000 a year in 1904 to about $282,000,000 in 1915, or more than 250 per cent. State expenditures increased from $2,500,000 to more than $53,000,000. In addition, more than $27,000,000 of local funds were spent under state

The rapid growth in importance of state highway departments is shown by the report. Since 1891, when New Jersey established the first of these agencies, every state except Indiana, South Carolina and Texas now has some form of highway department. The falling off in value of road work performed by statute and convict labor was from 25 per cent of the total in 1904 to less than 5½ per cent of the total in 1915.

Road Building In Peru.

The government of Peru has adopted a scheme of road building to apply to all parts of the republic. Projected roads are classified in four groups—national, departmental, provincial and district. The national government is to have charge of the construction and maintenance of the national roads, which will be those between the principal points of the republic. Other roads will be in charge of departmental, provincial and district authorities. A staff of road engineers will be organized and provided for in the annual budget.

ROAD MAINTENANCE.

The greatest waste of public moneys that is being committed today is in surfacing our country roads and then apparently abandoning the same, says E. B. House of the Colorado experiment station. No county that engages in real road building can afford to dismiss its workmen when the road has been constructed. The fact of the matter is that the work is just then well underway.

It rarely ever happens that the initial work on the road is done wisely, but there are a multitude of little things that later must be added or repaired in order that the road may be in good condition. Ruts and chuck holes are sure to form, and these must be filled or the road soon goes to pieces. These things should be planned for and done quickly if the improved road is to do the fullest service, and this is the one thing that it seems to me some of our county commissioners are neglecting. They become so imbued with the idea of building good roads that they fail to prepare for the maintenance of roads already constructed.

FIRST NATIONAL FOREST ROAD.

To Be Built by the Federal Government In the Apache National Forest.

The secretary of agriculture has authorized the location survey of a section of the first project in road construction submitted under the "national forest section" of the federal aid road act. This section is the only one in the law which provides for actual construction of roads by the federal government. Roads built under authority of this part of the law are designed primarily to promote economic development and to serve public convenience in localities where much of the land is in national forests. The proposed road on which action is taken is in the Apache national forest, Greenlee county, Ariz.

The preliminary estimate of the cost of construction of the seventy-one miles of road to be surveyed is $342,500. Greenlee county proposes to hold a bond election to raise the necessary funds to contribute 50 per cent of this amount. An additional twenty-nine miles of road in Apache county will be necessary to complete the project and, according to the preliminary estimate, will bring the total cost to $420,000.

Approval of the plans for survey was based upon the industrial resources which will be opened up and also upon the offer of one-half co-operation by the county. The construction of the road will make possible a north and south trunk line through a region now inaccessible and will connect with existing east and west state highways. In addition, it will, it is stated, make possible the sale of large bodies of timber for the use of copper mines in southern Arizona and will afford means of travel for settlers, besides cheapening the cost of protecting and administering the national forest. The development of water power in the region will be assisted, and a beautiful recreation area will be opened up for tourist travel and for the residents of the desert cities during the summer months.

WHEAT BREAD (4 LOAVES.)

1 qt. lukewarm milk, water, or a mixture of the two; 2 cakes compressed yeast, or 3 C lukewarm milk, water, or a mixture of the two; 1 C liquid yeast or 1 cake yeast; 1 1-2 T salt; 1-4 C sugar; Fat, if used, 1-4 C or less; 3 qts. sifted flour.

Original bulk of dough, 2 quarts; bulk when ready to be made into loaves, five or six quarts. Boil the water or scald the milk. Put the sugar and salt (and fat, if used) into a mixing bowl. Pour the hot liquid over it and allow it to become lukewarm, mix the yeast with a little of the lukewarm liquid and add it to the rest of the liquid. If convenient, set this aside in a warm place, not over 86° F., for one hour. If not convenient to set it aside, add the flour at once, putting in a little at a time and kneading until the dough is of such consistency that it sticks neither to the bowl nor to the hands. This requires about 10 minutes. Cover, let rise 1 3-4 hours at a temperature of 86° F; it may be better to set it at a lower temperature but the lower the temperature the longer the time required for the rising. Cut down the dough from the sides of the bowl. Knead a little and set aside to rise again for one hour. With a good bread flour, the dough would treble its bulk in each rising; with a soft wheat flour, it would not rise much beyond twice its volume. Divide into portions, mold, and place in greased pans of standard size. Allow to rise until a light touch will make a slight dent. With good bread flour this happens when the dough reaches the top of the pans. Bake 50 minutes.

SWEET POTATO CROQUETTES.

6 medium-sized sweet potatoes; 1 egg; 2 T butter; 2 T milk; 1 t salt.

Scrub the potatoes. If they are scraped, or peeled, drop at once into cold water to prevent discoloration. Boil, drain, and put through a colander. Add the butter, milk, and salt. Beat the egg and stir into the mixture. Form into croquettes. Dip into dried bread crumbs, then into the heated egg, to which has been added two tablespoons of milk or water, then back into the bread crumbs. Bake in a buttered pan until nicely browned. Serve with White Sauce or Cream Sauce. Nuts may be added to these croquettes, almonds preferred.

SWEET POTATOES AND APPLES.

Boil sweet potatoes as directed; slice the long way of the potato. Make alternate layers of sliced apples and sweet potatoes, sprinkling 2 T of brown sugar and 1 t butter cut in small pieces on each layer. Pour over this when the pan if filled, 1-4 C water, and bake until apples are done, and the top is a delicate brown.

POTATO AND PEA SALAD.

3 medium-sized potatoes; 1 1-2 C canned peas.

Make potato balls from potatoes with a vegetable cutter. Boil until tender, drain, and cool. Cover peas and potato balls with salad dressing. Arrange on lettuce leaves and add mayonnaise or boiled salad dressing.

POTATO SAVORY.

1 pt. sliced potatoes, 1-2 small onion; 1 T butter; 1 C water; 1 1-2 t salt.

Peel and slice the onion in the bottom of a buttered pan, add the potatoes, sprinkle with salt, and pour the hot water over all. Bake in a slow oven two hours or more. ("New Cookery"—Miss Cooper.)

POTATO STUFFING FOR FOWL.

2 C hot mashed potatoes; 1 1-4 C bread crumbs; 1-3 C butter or oleo; 1 egg; 1 t salt; 1 t sage; 1 finely chopped onion.

Add to the potatoes the other ingredients in order in which they are given. (Cornell University.)

NOTE—In all of these recipes all measurements are level, and T equals tablespoon, t equals teaspoon, C equals cup, f. g. equals few grains, f. d. equals few drops.

THE UNITED STATES MUST CONSERVE WHEAT.

1. By eliminating waste in the use of all breads and cereal products.
2. By eating more vegetables in place of other foods.
3. By observing at least one wheatless day per week.
4. By using other cereals (for whole or in part) for bread making.

POTATO BREAD.

The following recipe for potato bread has been so made as to use a large amount of potato as compared with flour. Excellent bread can be made with less potato. In making recipes it should be remembered that a pound of mashed potato contains about 1 3-4 cups of water and starch and other substances, about equivalent for the purpose to those in a cup of wheat flour.

Straight Dough Method.

2 lbs. boiled and peeled potatoes (equivalent to about 3 3-4 lbs. water and 3 cups flour); 2 1-4 pounds bread flour; 1 1-2 level T salt; 3 level T sugar; 2 cakes compressed yeast; 4 T water.

Clean thoroughly and boil, without paring, 12 potatoes of medium size, allowing them to become very soft. Pour off the water, peel and mash the potatoes while hot, being careful to leave no lumps. Take 3 lbs. or 5 solidly packed half-pint cups of mashed potato, and when at the temperature of luke-warm water add to it the yeast, rubbed smooth with 3 tablespoons of lukewarm water. Rinse the cup in which the yeast was mixed with another tablespoon of water and add to the potato. Next add the salt, the sugar, and about 4 ounces of the flour or 1 scant half-pint of sifted flour. Mix thoroughly with the hand, but do not add any more water at this stage. Let this mixture rise until it has become very light, which should take about two hours if the sponge is at a temperature of about 86 degrees F. To this well-risen sponge, which will now be found to be very soft, add the remainder of the flour, kneading thoroughly, until a smooth and elastic dough has been formed. The dough must be very stiff, since the boiled potato contains a large amount of water, which causes the dough to soften as it ferments. Therefore add no more water to the dough unless it is absolutely necessary. Set back to rise until it has trebled in volume which will require another hour or two. Divide the dough into four parts, mold them separately, and place in greased pans which have been warmed slightly. Allow the loaves to rise until they have doubled in volume and bake for 45 minutes.

MOIST CHOCOLATE CAKE.

1-3 C butter; 1-2 C sugar; Yolks of 2 eggs; 1-2 C sugar; 1-2 C hot mashed potato; 1 oz. chocolate, melted; 1-4 C sweet milk; 1 C sifted flour; 1 3-4 t baking powder; 1-2 T cinnamon; 1-2 t mace or nutmeg; 1-4 t clove; 1-2 C walnut meats, chopped fine; whites of 2 eggs beaten dry.

Cream the butter. Add the first half cup of sugar. Beat yolks of eggs. Beat in second half cup of sugar. Beat the two mixtures together. Add potato. Add chocolate. Add spices and baking powder to flour. Add milk and flour alternately. Add walnut meats. Fold in egg whites. Bake in loaf. Do not add any frosting to this cake.

CREAMED SWEET POTATOES.

6 small sweet potatoes; 2 t salt; 2 eggs; 1 1-2 T sugar; 3 T butter; 3 T flour; 3 C milk.

Remove the skins of cooked sweet potatoes and cut each into four pieces. Place the potatoes in a baking dish. Make sauce of milk, butter, flour, sugar, salt. Beat the eggs and add slowly to the hot sauce. Pour over the sweet potatoes. Bake in a slow oven until mixture thickens. Do not let cook until the mixture curdles. This could be used in place of a meat dish.

GLAZED SWEET POTATOES.

8 medium-sized sweet potatoes; 1-2 C brown sugar; 1-3 C water; 1 1-2 T butter or oleo.

Remove the skins of cooked sweet potatoes and cut in halves lengthwise. Arrange in a buttered pan. Make a syrup by boiling the sugar and water for three minutes. Add the butter. Brush potatoes with syrup and bake until brown, basting with remaining syrup. Serve in a hot, covered dish.

BROWNED SWEET POTATOES.

6 medium-sized sweet potatoes, 2 T sugar; 2 T butter.

Cut in halves lengthwise cooked potatoes. Place in a buttered pan. Brush the tops of the potatoes with the butter. Sprinkle slightly with the sugar. Place in a hot oven and bake until nicely browned.

BOILED SWEET POTATOES.

1. Select potatoes of same size; 2. scrub clean; 3. Drop into boiling water; 4 When done, drain off the water and shake over the fire until dry.

NOTE—In all of these recipes all measurements are level, and T equals tablespoon, t equals teaspoon, C equals cup, f. g. equals few grains, f. d. equals few drops.

Michigan Food Director.

MASHED POTATOES.

Thoroughly mash cooked potatoes. Add four tablespoons hot milk, one tablespoon butter, and a little salt and pepper to each pint of potatoes. Beat until light and pile lightly on a hot serving dish.

Variations: a. Shape mashed potatoes into small cakes. Brown in a frying pan in a small amount of hot fat. Center may be filled with peas or bits of meat; b. Puff: Add beaten whites of eggs 12 eggs to 6 medium-sized potatoes). Pile the mixture lightly in a baking dish and bake in the oven until it puffs and browns. The yolks of the eggs and grated cheese also may be added; c. Potato Border: Spread a wall of mashed potatoes one inch thick around the outside of a buttered pan. Remove the pan, and fill the center with creamed meat or fish. Reheat before serving; d. Mashed potatoes may be shaped as pears or apples. Paprika may be sprinkled on for coloring and a clove or short cut of macaroni in the end for the stem. Brown before serving.

CODFISH BALLS.

2 C mashed potatoes; 1 1-2 C shredded codfish (freshened and slightly par-boiled until soft); 1 egg; 1 T butter; 1 T milk.

To the mashed potatoes add the codfish, butter, and milk. Beat the mixture until light. Add the egg which has been well beaten. Drop spoonfuls of this mixture into a kettle of hot fat, frying not more than six or seven at a time. Remove the balls when a delicate brown and drain on unglazed paper. These balls may be baked or browned in a small amount of fat.

POTATO SOUP.

2 C hot riced or mashed potatoes; 1 qt. milk; 2 slices onion; 3 T butter or oleo; 2 T flour; 1 1-2 t salt; f. g. celery salt; f. g. pepper; f. g. cayenne; 1 t chopped parsley.

Scald the milk with the onion, remove the onion. Add the milk slowly to the potatoes. Melt the butter; add to it the dry ingredients; stir the mixture until it is well blended. Add this to the liquid mixture, stirring constantly and boil. Add parsley or not as desired. Serve.

POTATO SALAD.

6 cold boiled potatoes; 4 T salad oil or melted butter; f. g. cayenne pepper; f. d. onion juice; 2 T vinegar; 1-2 T salt; 2 T chopped parsley.

Cut the potatoes in to 1-2 inch cubes. Make a dressing by mixing thoroughly the other ingredients. Pour this dressing over the potatoes and allow them to stand 15 minutes. The salad may be garnished with lettuce or parsley. Serve with a cream dressing or mayonnaise.

POTATO AND CELERY HASH.

3 medium-sized boiled potatoes; 1-2 t salt; 1-2 C cut celery; 1 T butter.

Mix cold potatoes and finely cut celery. Add salt, melted butter and stir together. Place in hot oven and brown. Stir occasionally until celery is well cooked.

MAYONNAISE DRESSING.

1 egg; 1-2 C Wesson oil, corn oil, or olive oil; 1 t salt; 1-8 t pepper; 1 T vinegar.

Break egg in a bowl. Add acid, salt, pepper, and two tablespoons oil. Beat thoroughly. Add remaining oil beating constantly.

POTATOES A LA GOLDENROD.

Cut 2 cups boiled potatoes into cubes. Separate yolks from whites of four hard boiled eggs. Chop the whites and force the yolks through a potato ricer or strainer. Add potato. Add white sauce. Serve on toast if desired.

ROASTED POTATOES—FRANCONIA POTATOES.

Parboil potatoes for ten minutes. Remove the skins and place the potatoes on a roasting rack with meat. Bake until the potatoes are soft (about forty minutes) basting them occasionally.

POTATO SALAD.

Dice four medium-sized potatoes. Separate the whites and yolks of two hard-cooked eggs. Dice the whites and mix with potatoes. Add dressing.

GERMAN SALAD DRESSING.

1 C cream (sweet or sour); 1 T vinegar; 1-2 t salt; 1-4 t paprika.

Whip the cream until it is stiff. Add the other ingredients slowly.

MEAT LOAF.

Riced or mashed potatoes may be substituted for part or all of the bread crumbs generally used in a meat loaf.

NOTE—In all of these recipes all measurements are level, and T equals tablespoon, t equals teaspoon, C equals cup, f. g. equals few grains, f. d. equals few drops.

TAKE INTEREST IN SOLDIER BOYS

WACO RESIDENTS NOTED FOR THEIR HOSPITALITY

Sammies Hard at Work Learning Modern Methods of Warfare—Hint to Red Cross

(By Harold W. Usher)

"I promised last time to tell you some interesting things about Waco, but I believe that there are not very many. The most noticeable one is the bospitality of the people and the interest they take in the work and life of the soldiers. The soldiers that are enlisted men are as welcome in the homes of the Waco people as the officers, whioh is very unusual. The churches here co-operate in the work of making the life of the soldiers some pleasure, and they certainly succeed.

"The country around Waco is mucb like the farming lands of Texas being very fertile. This city is one of the greatest cotton producing centers in the world, and it is also a thrivlng manufacturing site. I had a chance to seo some of the farming country through the kindness of Mr. Clifford Beattie. He came out to camp one Sunday in his car, and we took a trip up the Brazos river to a dam site. The object is to make this river navigable from Waco to the Gulf of Mexico. In order to do this a series of dams had to be built, and we visited one of the largest of them. All the way out there I was impressed by the fine farms and good roads of this part of Texas. Of course, cotton was the main crop, but there were also several others, some of wbich are raised in Michigan.

"The work here at camp preparing the boys for the trench warfare is going on rapidly. Each regiment has its system of trenches and barb-wire entanglements to practice in, and they duplicate as far as possible the real trench fighting. Bomb throwing and hand grenade practice is carried on every day, and the men are becoming very efficient in this line of fighting. Our signal platoon under Lieutenant Crauch, is also doing great work and progressing rapidly.

"The boys from East Jordan received comfort kits from that place tonight, and all seemed to enjoy their contents. We hoys from Charlevoix have read in the papers what good work the Charlevoix Red Cross was doing for the soldiers in France, and we aro beginning to feel a little jealous. We nlways did believe in starting such good work at home. Of course, ladies this isn't a hint, but———?"

CELEBRATED HER 77TH BIRTHDAY ANNIVERSARY

Women's Relief Corps Surprise Mrs. Amanda Moore

The Woman's Relief Corps surprised Mrs. Amanda Moore at her home on Mason street, with a pot luck party, Saturday afternoon and evening, the occasion being the hostess' 77th birthday anniversary.

Those present were the president of the Relief Corps, Mrs. C. R. Bellinger, and Mesdames Hodge, Eggleton, Ross, Swartz, Allison, Yemans, Blissett, Lancaster, Himebaugh, Ulrich, Miller, Plum and Denton, and Miss May Swartz.

The time was very pleasantly spent in visiting, and the guests departed wishing the hostess many happy returns of the day.

CELEBRATES WEDDING

Friends and Relatives Help Make Day and Eventful One

Mr. and Mrs. S. H. Smith celebrated their fortieth wedding anniversary on Thanksgiving day, at their home on Mason street. A number of friends and relatives were present and Mr. and Mrs. Smith were the recipients of many beautiful and useful gifts, among them being twenty dollars in gold and twenty dollars in new gold certificates, forty dollars in all, which was significant of their forty years of wedded life.

Thanksgiving came on the 29th of November forty years ago, just as it did this year. Everybody enjoyed a good dinner and a good time.

Gave Banquet and Dance

The members of the Carpenter's Union gave a banquet and dance Thanksgiving evening in the Odd Fellow Hall. A delicious supper was served, after which the guests danced until a late hour, having spent a very enjoyable evening.

Circuit Court In Session

Circuit court opened Monday with Judge Chester presiding in the court room and Judge Mayne holding court in his private office passing only on chancery and divorce cases. The jury in the case of The People vs Cora E. Biossat was secured late Tuesday afternoon, after some 28 jurors had been called. The case is now on trial and will probably occupy the attention of the court the remainder of the week.

INSURANCE AGENCIES CONSOLIDATE

WELL KNOWN AGENCY DISPOSES OF BUSINESS

Charlevoix Abstract & Engineering Co Absorbs Business of Burnett Insurance Agency

The Burnett Insurance Agency, which for years has been one of the leading agencies in the city, is preparing to transfer its business to the Charlevoix Abstract & Engineering Co., with offices in the Levinson block.

The Burnett Agency is one of the oldest and most reputable business firms in the county, and was established a number of years ago. From its start it was conducted by A. T. Burnett, and after his death was continued by his son, E. A. Burnett. The company's business was large, consisting of not only the insurance end, but real estate, rentals and bonds.

The Charlevoix Abstract & Engineering Co., which was established some two years ago, has rapidly accumulated a thriving business, and with the consolidation of the two firms, will be one of the largest business houses in this line of occupation in Northern Michigan. The company not only write insurance of various kinds, but make a specialty of mechanical and engineering work, surveying, and has a number of people in its employ.

One of the latest men added to its force is James F. Sieler, formerly in charge of the western district Chicago Drainage Canal. He came to his present employes well recommended, and during the time he has been here, has proven himself not only a very capable man, but a valuable acquisition to the working force of the Abstract & Engineering Co.

E. A. Burnett, monnger of the Burnett Insurnnce Agency, will retain an interest in the business and will assist in the manngement of the consolidntion for the present. Later the business will be under the supervision of Charles H. Emrey, secretary of the Charlevoix Abstract & Engineering Co.

WILL DISTORTED STATEMENTS OF THIS NATURE DEFEAT THE BONDING ISSUE?

Holland, Mich., Dec. 3, 1917.

To the Voters of Charlevoix County:

A notice in a recent issue of the East Jordan Enterprise, "Concrete vs. Gravel or Macadam," is most unfair. The editor took the minimum cost of gravel roads and the maximum cost of concrete roads. The concrete roads cited by the editor was in one instance 20 feet wide and in the other case asphaltic macadam top on a concrete base, and 18 feet wide.

The contract awarded to Derbeek and Bronkhorst of Ottawa county, was a Kent county job, and while the price was $31,000 for two miles, it included concrete culverts and bridges and some expensive grading. The effort of the above named publication seemed to be to mistake and twist facts in order to prove that I am not informed on the subject. The county of Ottawa can furnish to anyone interested, a sworn statement of the fact that their 16 foot concrete roads are costing from $10,000 to $12,000 per mile, exclusive of grading. To compare a 9 foot gravel road with an 18 or 20 foot concrete road, is intentionally misleading, and if the opposition to the bond issue will stick to facts, the people will have no difficulty in seeing that money invested in permanent roads is a better investment than in gravel roads that will not endure without prohibitive upkeep charges. Concrete roads on trunk lines will bring state reward of $6,800 per mile, which makes a net cost of a little more than ordinary gravel, and it seems asine for any paper to misstate facts in order to kill any such important and progressive issue before the people of Charlevoix County.

Now, regarding the bonding proposition. Ottawa county bonded itself six years ago for $600,000 and built gravel roads. These roads answered our purpose well for a time, but as the traffic increased, it became necessary for us to rebuild these roads, and taking the experience of other counties who have been building concrete for several years, we find it very much cheaper and more durable, and I can assure the voters of Charlevoix County, that with the great advantage they have in getting such a large amount of federal aid for their Dixie Highway in addition to the $6,800 per mile on the Mackinaw Trail, that it will be very much cheaper to bond than it will not to bond.

This is my advice as a practical road builder who has absolutely no interest except to state the facts.

Yours truly,

AUSTIN HARRINGTON,
Chairman Ottawa County Road Commissioners.

The above is but one of many misleading and untruthful statements which have appeared in the above mentioned publication. In its great desire to defeat the proposition to bond the county for $350,000 to be used entirely for the building of permanent roads, and also in the past to defeat every proposition suggested for the betterment of Charlevoix County and the people in general, the editor of this paper has resorted to every measure, usually of a misleading nature, to confuse and mislead the voters of the county in such a manner that they will be or have been unable to intelligently vote on any question brought before them.

Why not revert to tallow candles and corduroy roads to appease the mind of a few superannuated specimens of antiquity?

SUDDEN DEATH OF MRS. CLARENCE WITHERS

R. C. HAMMETT NAMED FUEL ADMINISTRATOR

Local Man Called Into Service of Uncle Sam

Charlevoix county is to have a fuel administrator in the person of R. C. Hammett of this city, appointed Tuesday by W. K. Prudden, federal administrator. Mr. Hammett immediately wired his acceptance and is now awaiting orders to proceed with his duties.

There is no doubt as to his ability to do the required work and in our mind it would have been a hard proposition to have selected a better man. As to his duties, we are as yet uninformed, but it might not be a bad suggestion to have included among them the enforcement of the statute or local ordinance regarding weights and mensures.

Following is the text of the telegram received by Mr. Hammett:

Lansing, Michigan, 4:25 p. m.
December 4, 1917.

"R. C. Hammett,
"Charlevoix, Michigan.

"You have been appointed fuel administrator for Charlevoix county. The government has the right during this crisis to call on such big patriotic men for this service. Your acceptance expected by wire.

"W. K. PRUDDEN."
Federal Fuel Administrator.

Election Next Tuesday

Tuesday of next week is the date of the special election called for the purpose of deciding whether or no the people of Charlevoix county are in favor of better roads, and it is to be hoped that every voter in the county will express his opinion at the polls on that day.

It is universally conceded that good roads are condusive of benefit to every resident, and with a future such as Charlevoix county has, the present bonding proposition should be carried by a very large majority. Residents of the rural districts are too intelligent to vote against a matter for their own betterment—and it certainly is to their interests to have better roads over which to haul their products.

Tuesday's election reaults should show to the world that Charlevoix county people are just as energetic and progressive as those of any other region under the sun.

WAR STAMP TAX EFFECTIVE DEC. 1

MANY MORE ITEMS ARE NOW ASSESSED

Last Section of Revenue Law to Bring Millions Into This Nation's Coffers

The war stamp taxes became effective Saturday. This is the third and last section of the war revenue bill and it is expected to bring many millions of dollars into the national treasury. The provisions of the law which will most interest Charlevoix residents are:

Promissory notes and each renewal thereof, 2 cents per $100.

Real estate conveyances, 50 cents per $500 and fractions thereof on the consideration less incumbrance.

Bonds, debentures and certificates of indebtedness, 5 cents per $100.

Indemnity and surety bonds, except in legal proceedings and reinsurance, 50 cents each and 1 per cent additional on premiums charged.

Capital stock issues, 5 cents per $100 and 5 cents per share when the stock is not par, stamps to be attached to stock bonds and not to certificate.

Capital stock sales or transfers, 2 cents per $100 par value and 5 cents per share when no par.

Proxies for annual and other corporation meetings, 10 cents each.

Checks and drafts not payable at sight, 2 cents per $100.

Ordinary checks are not taxed, but the "post dated" check will have to have a stamp attached. Ordinary drafts payable on sight are exempt, but drafts with the time fixed for payment will require the stamps. The law is not explicit on trade acceptances, which rapidly are coming into vogue in commercial transactions, but when the time limit for payment is fixed it is probable the tax will have to be paid. Certificates of deposit in the banks are thought to be exempt as such certificates are in reality payable on demand. Mortgages are not taxed, but the promissory note accompanying the mortgage is liable to the levy.

MEN MUST FURNISH THEIR PRESENT ADDRESS

Registered Man Who Move Must Notify Local Board

Colonel Bersey, adjutant general, has notified County Clerk Lewis that he is in receipt of an order from Provost Marshall General Crowder at Washington, warning all men registered last June who are still outside the National army, and who may have changed their places of abode or post office address, to communicate immediately with their local boards where they are registered, and furnish their present addresses, so that the questionnaires which will begin to be mailed December 15, will reach such registrants without delay. Registrants are bound by law to keep themselves advised of all proceedings in respect of them, and failure to do so may result in their losing exemption or discharge.

SEEING WAR AT CLOSE HAND

DEAN SCROGGIE DESCRIBES LIFE AT FRENCH FRONT

Says American Soldiers Are Compelled to Wears Odds and Ends of Clothing

Another letter just received from the battle front in France, written by Dean Scroggie, a former Charlevoix boy serving with the American ambulance corps, describes his daily life and duties in a manner which should convince all of the real seriousness of the present world conflict and of the dangers which will confront our troops as they take their place in the trenches.

Dean says the boys are not as neat looking soldiers today as they were when they entered the service. There they wear most anything. French helmets, short blue rain coats, fur-lined English leggings, American trousers and for shoes, whatever happens to fit one's feet. He asks the people at home to send him some catsup and chili sauce, as none of these are served in the French army, and he is unable to buy any outside of in Paris, some distance from where they are located.

Following is one of his letters, under date of October 29, written to his brother, W. D. Scroggie of Detroit:

"Dear Anna, Val and Bill—I have been intending to write but have not had time. We are now at the front and see the war at close hand. We work two days at the front then come back and work at the base for two days. Some times we evacuate from the post to the hospital, but I like it better out at the front. We stop at Post de Secours, meaning "relief stop." The wounded are carried here on stretchers, then we take them frim there to a base station. Our first day out the shells were dropping mighty close. Gee, you can hear that old whistle coming, then you make a run for a dugout or drop flat on the ground. My chum dropped into soft mud and when he got up he looked like a mud statute.

"Perhaps you would like to know what a dugout is. Well, from the outside it looks like a potato pit covered with sand bags, but the inside resembles a minature lumber camp. We sleep on stretchers as a rule. I can stand the shells, but I draw the line on rats. Honestly, they are ten inches long. Night before last, one started coming down between my blankets. I made one grand jump, took my sleeping roll and climbed up into the hay.

"One other thing, we do most of our driving at night without any lights. A few nights ago I was second out. The fellow ahead went out at eleven o'clock and I got my call at 2:30 o'clock. My, it was some night—raining and black as coal. We started out and on arriving at the farthest post, a French guide got on the car. We drove over a road that was tore up with shell holes. Gee, I thought we were going right into the German trenches. The guide made a jump for a hole and left me to turn around. We started back, my pard riding on the fender, directed me the road, and at one time he had to walk ahead. Still one don't mind it for it sure is exciting.

"As you know we are with the French army and get their rations. At seven o'clock you get coffee and bread, at ten thirty one gets soup, meat and bread, at 4:30, meat, bread, coffee and soup. We sure do get plenty of wine. You better start my Christmas things soon for it takes a month to come. Well, it is time to get ready to go back to the front, so I will close. Hoping to hear from you soon,

"Your loving brother,
"DEAN."

LADIES! SECRET TO DARKEN GRAY HAIR

Bring Back its Color and Lustre with Grandma's Sage Tea Recipe.

Common garden sage brewed into a heavy tea, with sulphur and alcohol added, will turn gray, streaked and faded hair beautifully dark and luxuriant. Mixing the Sage Tea and Sulphur recipe at home, though, is troublesome. An easier way is to get the ready-to-use preparation improved by the addition of other ingredients, costing about 50 cents a large bottle, at drug stores, known as "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound," thus avoiding a lot of muss.

While gray, faded hair is not sinful, we all desire to retain our youthful appearance and attractiveness. By darkening your hair with Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound, no one can tell, because it does it so naturally, so evenly. You just dampen a sponge or soft brush with it and draw this through your hair, taking one small strand at a time; by morning all gray hairs have disappeared. After another application or two your hair becomes beautifully dark, glossy, soft and luxuriant and you appear years younger. Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound is a delightful toilet requisite. It is not intended for the cure, mitigation or prevention of disease.

WAR PIE CONSERVATION

Every home and every army agrees that man must have a balanced meal, with a good dessert, either at home or in army rations.

That doesn't mean that you shouldn't economize in desserts these days.

You should and you can.

NONE SUCH Mince Pie is a very real dessert—none better. And a NONE SUCH package of Mince Meat works out the economy of pies, cakes, puddings, and cookies.

NONE SUCH is economical, because its condensed form and paraffin-lined package prevent waste.

It costs only a few cents and is cheaper than bulk mince meat bought by the pound.

NONE SUCH MINCE MEAT is made from the very best ingredients. Just what you would use if you were making it yourself, and it comes to you cheaper than you could make it yourself.

A package of NONE SUCH Mince Meat becomes three times the package weighs when the moisture in making is added.

Bake a NONE SUCH War Pie—a regular Mince Pie with no top crust. That saves flour, shortening, labor, and expense. A NONE SUCH War Pie saves and conserves, as we are asked to do by the U. S. Food Administration.

SOMETHING FOR NOTHING---NEVER

DISTORTED IDEAS OF AUTOMOBILE SERVICE

Service in Auto Business Should Be Same as Other Merchandising Proposition

Based on a comparison with the practice of any other industry, public utility or merchandising organization, automobile service in the United States stands very high. Based on what some of the public have been educated to expect, automobile service is the rush heap of sales facilities—something that is not.

The layman privileged to listen to whining complaints of some car owners might well conclude that if ever he had the wherewithal to buy a car, he would defer the purchase for fear the service distractions might bring him to an early grave. Give a dog a bad name and sooner or later he will be shot or poisoned. Way back in the Noah's ark period of the industry somebody gave automobile service a bad name, and ever since then every one seems to have been taking a shot at it.

Making my living by assisting in the conduct of the automobile business, I rise to protest. Automobile service is good service,—inferior service is an exception. True, the manufacturer cannot select his buyers and therefore his cars are used by all sorts of irresponsibles. It's the kick of the chronic malcontent, whose owning of a car ought to be legislated against, that spreads the gospel of poor service until it becomes a byword.

To clarify the atmosphere, and by comparison get the term "service" in proper surroundings, may I mention some things in other and highly specialized business activities, not as condemning the others, for each is doing a wonderful public service, but to prove how very much more is commonly expected from the much maligned "automobile service" than we manage to get unywhere else.

Railways Serve

One of the penalties of the motor car business is the frequent necessity for travel. Passenger train No. 417 is scheduled to leave Toledo at 7:25 p. m., to arrive in Chicago at 1 a. m. I boarded the train at 7:20 the other night, and it never moved out of the yard for an hour and ten minutes. The car was cold, the porter uncivil, and the arrival in Chicago ten minutes too late for a western connection.

What would happen if any owner of an automobile—a railroad official, if you will—was himself subjected to similar indignity when endeavoring to avail himself of the facilities of a "service station?" And this railroad is a wonderful institution, doing marvelous things, and praised beyond measure for the size of its performance.

In days of former affluence, before the bears hit the stock market, you bought a house. I did. On a cold night in February the water pipe froze—yours has, many a time. Only a motor car radiator must never freeze. You phoned the plumber; three hours later he showed up, minus tools. Three hours more and the thirty-minute job was finished. You paid him and a helper for six hours' time, and cleaned up after him—and you joke about it, it's national humor. Suppose the plumber owns a motor car and his radiator freezes. He phones you to come and get the car, and appeals to unseen forces because you didn't tell him it was going to be cold, wants a car to use while his is being repaired, and cannot understand why he should pay the bill.

"Service" By Wire

In September I ordered by wire two dozen red roses to be delivered at the opening of the new building of the Overland-Wausau (Wisconsin) Company. The wire was transmitted "red crosses," and the florist supplied carnation pinks. Can you imagine what would happen if a telegraph official ordered a left rear fender and we shipped him seat covers?

Hotels Sometimes Prevaricate

A party of four arrived at a well-known hotel at six-thirty, tired and dirty from a hundred-mile automobile ride, and ordered dinner in the room. An hour and a half later the manager apologized: the order had been overlooked, the kitchen was closed, and we ate at a "greasy spoon" around the corner. The manager of this same strictly modern hostelry is a motorcar owner. He recently complained that the front tire wore out at 4,500 miles, while the left was O. K., and wanted free replacement, though he admitted on cross examination he had bumped a curb and had not noticed that it had knocked a wheel out of true. I'm acquainted with the hotel. It's first class—one of the best in the section, if not the best. It's a pleasure to stop there. But if one followed the practice of the car owner, that hotel could sue for defamation of character—could fold its blinds, close up shop and quit, unless it could get patronage that was deprive of hearing the story of this one mistake.

I ordered five pounds of candy to

NOTICE!

To Car Owners

Last spring a gentleman drove up to our Electric Shop with an inoperative battery, the result of Winter neglect. He had reached the conclusion that "the battery was no good."

We, of course, explained that the battery hadn't been properly cared for during the long months of winter inactivity; depreciation had been rapid and the battery was practically worthless.

But the owner remembered the home-made "care" he had given his battery, and said: "Why I took that battery off the car, brought it to the house and put it in the cellar behind the furnace. What more could you expect."

We then explained in detail how a battery must be stored and cared for during the cold months—how it must be recharged regularly to keep it in condition to resist cold weather and prevent internal injury while idle. "Of course, I see my mistake now," replied the owner, "but if I were in the battery business I'd warn my customers about such things."

May we suggest this as YOUR WARNING to insure yourself against unnecessary battery expense next Spring, by leaving your battery with us this Winter?

PYTHIANS IN CAMP CUSTER REMEMBERED

Lesson of Friendship to be Staged December Twelve

The "War Relief Council" of the Grand Lodge Knights of Pythias at a recent meeting passed a resolution authorizing the Grand Chancellor and Grand K. of R. and S. to procure a list of all Pythians in Camp Custer and to take such action as was deemed necessary for looking after their welfare. This has been done and a portion of the $500,000 "War Relief Fund" now being raised by the order is recommended to be used for this purpose, partly through the local lodge at Battle Creek, the nearest lodge to the Camp, where the soldiers have already found hearty welcome and entertainment, and a portion to be used in entertainments in the camp and for more substantial work, so far as possible, and so far as army regulations will permit.

The "Lesson of Friendship" will be staged in the great Y. M. C. A. auditorium at Camp Custer, December 12, by the Grand Lodge team, and will be public for all soldiers who wish to attend, whether members of the order or not.

Local committees have been appointed from Battle Creek Lodge and from Pythians at the camp to act with the "War Relief Council" in looking after their interests.

The Y. M. C. A. buildings at the camp were found to be ample for assembly rooms and it is the concensus of opinion of the Pythian boys in the camp that the welfare methods above outlined will fill all needs.

SCHOOL COMMISSIONERS NOTES

The next spelling contest of the season is that of Chandler township, December 14, at the Major schoolhouse at 7:30.

News came late this week that Marion No. 4, the Nowland school, had purchased a Waterbury Heating and Ventilating plant. This is the fourth school this fall to make such an investment. Out of 69 school districts there are only ten schools now heated with stoves. They're rapidly becoming a thing of the past.

During the past week two attendance reports stand out as especially worthy of praise. Miss Grace Howard of the Slaughter school reports no absences and no tardy marks for two weeks. Miss Fineout of the Woodard school makes a similar report. Miss Liskum of the Robinson school reports only one half day of absence as a total for the two weeks. All reports show a marked improvement.

Teachers looking for a simple Xmas play will find a very good play with the true Xmas spirit published in the Schoolmaster, edited by Prof. Wilber of Ypsilanti. Ask for the December number.

Teachers and parents have been asked to co-operate in the big national Red Cross membership drive which is to open soon.

The most splendid Red Cross work yet accomplished in the school room is that of the Slaughter school. These boys and girls have rolled 500 trench candles and have them ready to cut and boil. The girls of the school have also knit five washcloths for the Red Cross besides tha oaes which they knit for their mothers.

Nearly all excuses for absences due to fall work have now expired and we should expect good attendance now in every part of the county. Regular attendance is necessary to good work and interest and we trust that every parent will do his best to see that the children are in school every day.

Our schools are starting in their Xmas work and we are glad that this is so yet we trust that with the world issues at stake, and with parents facing a hard winter, with our country at war and our boys needing all we have or can earn, we hope we say that every grownup will take this means of teaching the true spirit of Xmas. Let our Xmas be simple, let our gifts be to the needy without hope of return, let us work for the boys and may our own Xmas be such as is possible only with the true joy that comes from knowing that all has been done faithfully and well.

Clear, Peachy Skin Awaits Anyone Who Drinks Hot Water

Says an inside bath, before breakfast helps us look and feel clean, sweet, fresh.

Sparkling and vivacious—merry, bright, alert—a good, clear skin and a natural, rosy, healthy complexion are assured only by pure blood. If only every man and woman could be induced to adopt the morning inside bath, what a gratifying change would take place. Instead of the thousands of sickly, anaemic-looking men, women and girls, with pasty or muddy complexions; instead of the multitudes of "nerve wrecks," "run-downs," "brain fags" and pessimists we should see a virile, optimistic throng of rosy-cheeked people everywhere.

An inside bath is had by drinking each morning, before breakfast, a glass of real hot water with a teaspoonful of limestone phosphate in it to wash from the stomach, liver, kidneys and ten yards of bowels the previous day's indigestible waste, sour fermentations and poisons, thus cleansing, sweetening and freshening the entire alimentary canal before putting more food into the stomach.

Those subject to sick headache, biliousness, nasty breath, rheumatism, colds; and particulary those who have a pallid, sallow complexion and who are constipated very often, are urged to obtain a quarter pound of limestone phosphate at the drug store which will cost but a trifle, but is sufficient to demonstrate the quick and remarkable change in both health and appearance, awaiting those who practice internal sanitation. We must remember that inside cleanliness is more important than outside, because the skin does not absorb impurities to contaminate the blood while the pores in the thirty feet of bowels do.

CONFIDENCE

A darkey boy stopped in to the Board of Health, to have them record the death of his father. "Where did he die?" asked the man behind the desk. "He ain't dead yit boss, but he am goin' to be dead in the mornin'," replied the boy, "and I 'spects to be too busy to come around then." "Then I cannot record his death," explained the man, "he may get well you know." "Not a chance boss," said the boy. "De Doctor say he goin' to die and he gib him de medicine and he knows what's in it."

We know what is in our jobs that makes them satisfactory. The best mechanics that we can hire combined with careful attention to details. Marked by years of experience. Make us prove it.

WAR SAVINGS STAMPS

Everything's ready now for the war savings certificate campaign that opens this week.

War savings certificates and thrift stamps might be called minature Liberty Bonds. They are to help the government win the war against Prussianism and they are to give the individual citizen a chance to share personally in this victory for democracy.

It takes only a quarter at a time—25 cents a week or a day, as you're able—to purchase thrift stamps and that little 25 cents will draw 4 per cent interest when invested in Uncle Sam's war savings and war winning scheme.

Thrift stamps at 25 cents each or war savings certificates at $4.12 each can be purchased from December 1 at any bank or postoffice, and at many department stores, drug stores and even corner grocery stores. After January 1918, the $4.12 certificates will cost one penny more every month. On January 1, 1923, that $4.12 certificate can be cashed for $5. It can be cashed earlier of course, but the interest earned will be less.

Thrift stamps, as soon as there are enough of them, can be turned into war savings stamps. With the first war savings stamp comes a certificate containing spaces for twenty such stamps. If all twenty spaces are filled by the last of January, 1918 the purchaser will have saved $82.40 for himself and loaned the government that amount. And his $82.40 will come back to him in 1923 as $100.

The British empire, it is estimated has 5,000,000 purchasers of such war savings certificates. Up to last June 110,000,000 certificates had had been raised by that means.

Here's a chance for everybody, even the worker with the small weekly wage.

THE FEELING "BACK HOME"

Members of congress who have failed to back up the national administration in the prosecution of the war have been put to the test and found wanting. As a result they are to be displaced. Probably none of them would admit that they have any fears as to what their fates will be when they again seek office, but at the same time each and everyone of them realizes that the "back home" vote which they believed they were catering to when they did not support the administration in the war preparations is just opposite to what they supposed it would be. Congressmen who thought that because a few of their most ardent supporters were pro-Germans that the votes of this class were preferable to those of true Americans, have now awakened to a realization that America is for Americans after all and that it is America that they betrayed or tried to when they did not give President Wilson the support he had a right to expect from both houses of congress. The United States is loyal to the core. There may be a few black sheep in the country, but they are gradually being rounded up and branded for what they are. Among these black sheep are the "slacker congressmen" who when the proper time comes will be given a practical demonstration of what the people think of them. Every congressman who failed to support the national administration after this country entered the war, must be ousted from office. Loyalty organizations and all true citizens assist in this work. Regardless of party affiliations all voters must aid in repudiating these men who have misrepresented instead of represented the true Amricanism of their own communities in congress.

After the Russians get through fighting each other, perhaps they will be ready to combine forces and take a swat at the common enemy.

A Brooklyn man cut a gash in his wife's head with a saucepan because she didn't bake an apple pie. He must be a German.

The Germans thought they were pretty cute in the strategy of war, but they are finding out that even they have many things to learn.

The Germans, it is stated, are using 7,000 substitutes for food. If they are getting any regular food at all one wonders what it is.

Germany's theory is that a house divided against itself is easy prey. Throttle the propagandists.

There are signs that German propaganda is failing even in Germany.

Red Cross Dance

Big entertainment given by Auxiliary Red Cross at Masonic Temple, Friday, December 7.

In order to raise funds for the high school Red Cross Auxiliary, which has recently been organized, the students of the Junior and Senior high, announce a program and dance for Friday, December 7, at the Masonic Temple.

The program of readings and music given by the high school people, starting at 7:00, will be followed by a dance, which will be as new and unique as it will be enjoyable. For each dance, five cents will be dropped into the small boxes carried by the girls. Thus you may dance as long as you wish at the price of 5c a dance. This is in charge of student and faculty committees, and a good time is assured. The program, costing only 10c is as follows:

America—Everyone.
Piano solo—"Paul Revere's Ride," Wilma Stevenson.
Reading—"A Xmas present for a Lady," Bulah Schweitzer.
Chorus—Sixteen girls.
Violin duet—"Meditation," Stites and R. Saltonstall.
Vocal solo—"Keep the Home Fires Burning," Benona Bartlett.
Reading—"Selections from Service," William Hampton.
Piano solo—"Narcissus," Bruce Armstrong.
Violin Solo—"Dance of Wildflowers," Freeman Coblentz.
Star Spangled Banner—Everyone.

Dan P. Mather returned from Fort Sheridan training camp last week and is now home subject to orders. Dan was one of the lucky members attending the training camp who came home with a second lieutenant's commission. He will be connected with the ordnance department, U. S. R.

If you are troubled with your eyesight, see G. O. Searl at the Hotel Charlevoix, Saturday, December 8. —Adv. 49t1.

Service Day at Our Store

Friday, December 7, 1917

For the benefit of our many customers and users of DeLaval Cream Separators, we have established a DeLaval Service Day.

On this day we shall be glad to have any DeLaval user bring his separator complete to our store for a complete and careful inapection and adjustment which will be made free of charge. Should any parts, due to unusual wear or accident, need to be replaced, this will be done, the only charge being for the price of the new parts used. No charge will be made for service.

A DeLaval Service Man will be with us to assist with this work. Bring in your DeLaval Separator complete that day and receive the benefit of his advice on the care and operation of the machine, as well as the free service. It is our wisb, and that of the DeLaval Company, that every user of a DeLaval Separator get the maximum of efficiency at the minimum of cost, and we therefore urge you to avail yourself of this free and useful service.

Come early and avoid delays.

SOMETHING FOR NOTHING---NEVER

be delivered at the hotel in New York. The hotel was a mile from the famous candy dispensary. Eight hours later (twenty minutes before train time) I learned, after sixty minutes of telephoning, that "it got on the wrong wagon." I directed a taxi driver to proceed to the station via the candy shop. I spied the package—it had never left the sales floor. But the next time I go to New York I'm going to buy candy at that same shop. The little saleslady was profuse in her apology; that helped. It might be suggested that good looking pleasant voiced young women in the service station would reduce complaints.

"The Voice With a Smile"

At my residence I have two phones. It's a lack of appreciation of public service needs that necessitates two phone systems. It is no uncommon thing to, in response to an incessant ring at 2 a. m., paddle across the cold floor, with the wintry winds blowing goose pimples into prominence, grab the receiver, only to hear a sleepy female mumble, "What number, please?" or to be asked if you are the suloon or the undertaker.

How seriously do we complain of these things? We are so accustomed to them that we look upon them as a regular procedure (as they are.) But let the automobile man even nearly approach these irregularities, and immediately Mr. Car Owner launches into the realm of high invective.

Mr. Brown buys a car. He never ran one. He takes a lesson; then he takes the family for a ride. He skids against a telephone pole—and is surprised that the car won't be ready until Friday, that he cannot borrow a car to use in the meantime, and that he had to pay for the repairs.

Mr. Brown's Familiar Misapprehension

Mr. Smith drives his car five thousand miles—he prides himself on his reputation as a rough driver. The car develops trouble, it has a pain—just the natural mechanical protest against prolonged abuse. The "robber" from whom he bought the car insists he pay for the repairs, and that his shop do the work at a profit. Mr. Smith sits down and pens a four page letter to the president of the factory that manufactures the car, pointing out the grevious error on the part of the sales manager in permitting the dealer of whom he bought the car to retain the agency. Why, if the motor car executive did as requested by motor car owners, he would cancel all his dealer contracts on an average of four times a year.

Let's suppose Mr. Brown—the owner of a Simple Six—telephoned the electric lighting station that the ——— ——— lights wouldn't burn and, secure in the safety of a telephone conversation, invoked anathema on lighting companies in general and the local one in particular, winding up by threatening to install gas. The lighting expert travels post-haste to the dwelling place of Mr. Brown, turns on the switch, and the lights flush on. That's a parallel case with that frequent call on the garage to "come and get your——— car," when all that is wrong is an empty gas tank. Yet the motor car owner wants his attention to come under the heading of "free service."

A railroad engine goes into the shop for a week, and if the railroad needs the motive power it uses a reserve engine that it—the railroad company—has bought and paid for. It doesn't expect Mr. Baldwin to supply an engine to use while the one is laid up; if it did, it could take it out in expecting. Mr. Motor Car Buyer phones you to come and get his car, wants it overhauled during the noon hour, delivered at his front door, and, if delayed, sees no reason why the repair shop should not provide a car for his use.

Anybody's Dog

Anybody can insult the motor car man. The gentleman of color buys a second-hand car and automatically acquires the right to abuse the dealer. If you threw him out of the shop he writes the factory. Mrs. Strongmind dispenses with a husband, uses the alimony to buy a car, and permits the dealer to serve in lieu of a husband as a target for bitter invective. Willie Lightpate has been given a car by a "fond relative," with the idea that his life insurance will compensate for the burden of his existence to date. Pending the hoped for casualty, he has a perfect right to talk to the motor car salesman as the fancy serves him. Be he ever so humble at his daily occupation, equip him with a power vehicle, of whatever vintage, and his becomes the airs of an autocrat as he drives up to the salesroom preparatory to the Saturday afternoon in the country.

If we run our automobile business as is run any successful business dealing in any other commodity, we would consider that service meant selling a good automobile and being prepared against any emergency, to keep that car in as nearly as possible continuous operation, at a reasonable expense.

But something for nothing?

NEVER!

STOP CATARRH! OPEN NOSTRILS AND HEAD

Says Cream Applied In Nostrils Relieves Head-Colds at Once.

If your nostrils are clogged and your head is stuffed and you can't breathe freely because of a cold or catarrh, just get a small bottle of Ely's Cream Balm at any drug store. Apply a little of this fragrant, antiseptic cream into your nostrils and let it penetrate through every air passage of your head, soothing and healing the inflamed, swollen mucous membrane and you get instant relief.

Ah! how good it feels. Your nostrils are open, your head is clear, no more hawking, snuffling, blowing; no more headache, dryness or struggling for breath. Ely's Cream Balm is just what sufferers from head colds and catarrh need. It's a delight.

GLASS OF SALTS IF YOUR KIDNEYS HURT

Eat less meat if you feel Backachy or have Bladder trouble—Salts fine for Kidneys

Meat forms uric acid which excites and overworks the kidneys in their efforts to filter it from the system. Regular eaters of meat must flush the kidneys occasionally. You must relieve them like you relieve your bowels; removing all the acids, waste and poison, else you feel a dull misery in the kidney region, sharp pains in the back or sick headache, dizziness, your stomach sours, tongue is coated and when the weather is bad you have rheumatic twinges. The urine is cloudy, full of sediment; the channels often get irritated, obliging you to get up two or three times during the night.

To neutralize these irritating acids and flush off the body's urinous waste get about four ounces of Jad Salts from any pharmacy; take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast for a few days and your kidneys will then act fine and bladder disorders disappear. This famous salts is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and has been used for generations to clean and stimulate sluggish kidneys and stop bladder irritation. Jad Salts is inexpensive; harmless and makes a delightful effervescent lithia-water drink which millions of men and women take now and then, thus avoiding serious kidney and bladder [illegible]

The KITCHEN CUPBOARD

PLANK COOKERY.

IT is time that the plank came back into use, only be sure that your plank is of oak. No other wood will be accepted as a substitute by the true epicurean. Plank cooking is practical for the home kitchen where a dozen dishes, economical and savory, may be prepared in this way, adding to the family menu an always welcome spice of variety.

If you are ambitious to try a beefsteak Chateaubriand, select a tenderloin, porterhouse or rump steak and see that it is cut thick. Have it nicely trimmed and wipe it with a damp cloth. Skewer it into shape and broil on one side on a hot greased broiler.

Meantime slip the plank into the oven and heat it smoking hot, rub it over with butter and when the steak has cooked from five to seven minutes on the broiler turn it, cooked side down, on the plank. Then fill the pastry bag, into which a rose tube has been fitted, with potatoes prepared in the usual way and force them around the steak in a wavy border. This is a very simple proceeding, and after you have tried it once or twice you will find you can make all sorts of flowers and other dainty decorations.

Planked corned beef hash for a supper or luncheon is not to be surpassed. Chop the corned beef very fine and mix it with twice its quantity of cold boiled potatoes, also finely chopped. Add a tablespoonful or two of minced green peppers, a very little grated onion and pepper and paprika to taste; also a little salt if necessary. Then moisten with milk and add a tablespoonful of melted butter. Heat and butter the plank and make a mound of the hash upon it. Flatten slightly and make several indentations on the surface. In each of these place an egg, sprinkle with pepper and salt and dot with butter. Cook in a hot oven till the eggs are set and the hash heated through. Sprinkle with finely minced parsley and garnish with small cucumber pickles cut in halves lengthwise. Serve with ketchup or chili sauce.

PLOW THE GARDEN.

Loosening the Soil Has a Beneficial Effect on Future Crops.

Winter plowing of the garden is of extreme importance in Oklahoma, for it offers a practical method of helping solve the drought problem. The loosened soil is in an ideal condition to absorb water. The winter snows melt and are absorbed, scarcely any of the water that falls as rain is lost, and as a result a vast store of moisture is available later in the year when rains are scarce and the plants need water.

Likewise winter plowing is beneficial in other ways. The alternate freezes and thaws break up the soil particles, liberate plant food and put the ground in an ideal physical condition. Insects in large numbers are killed by the cold winter weather, and the trash which lies upon the ground rots and becomes available for plant use. Moreover, ground which is winter plowed warms up early in the spring and in rainy seasons can frequently be planted before it is possible to do spring plowing.—C. W. Rapp, Department of Horticulture, Oklahoma Agricultural College.

MICHIGAN RED CROSS LEADS

STATE IS GIVEN ITS OWN HEADQUARTERS

Charlevoix County People Attend Big Conference Held on Monday and Tuesday

Michigan has "gone over the top" in Red Cross work and per capita membership in the United States The work of the Michigan division of the central district in the American Red Cross organization has developed so rapidly and so overwhelmingly that it has been found necessary to place the state in a unit by itself with Detroit as its central headquarters. The state is still a part of the Chicago district, but will have its own packing center in Detroit, and its own officers.

On account of the difficulty in transportation during the winter months the upper peninsula will ship to Chicago until spring when it is expected that it will become a part of the regular state plan as it is now working in unison with the lower section of the state.

To start the next year's work in Michigan on a thoroughly systematic basis a big conference of the heads of departments in the county chapters was held in Detroit, Monday and Tuesday of this week. Charlevoix county was represented at this conference by John Porter, chairman of the county board of directors, East Jordan; Rev. Sidebotham, chairman of the membership committee, East Jordan, and Mrs. J. M. Harris, representing the women's work in the county.

The conference opened Monday afternoon at the Hotel Tuller, at 2 o'clock, with Sydney T. Miller, chairman of Michigan state board of the American Red Cross presiding. Among the speakers were Mark T. McKee, director of the bureau of development; Paul H. King, director of publicity; Mrs. R. H. Ashbaugh, director of the bureau of women's work, and many others from both the state and central district departments.

On Tuesday afternoon Governor Albert E. Sleeper addressed the conference and at this time others who appeared on the program were Frederick W. Stevens, Bruce D. Smith, J. J. O'Connor and Henry P. Davison, chairman of the National War Council.

There was also a public session in the Detroit Armory Tuesday as a closing feature of the conference.

Hear the Last Big Gun on the Bonding Proposition in Charlevoix County

Regarding the Dixie Highway: For the present, all we would have to do, will be to sell Twenty-five Thousand ($25,000) Dollars worth of bonds which will, with the Six Thousand ($6,000) Dollars per mile, given us by the government, and Nine Hundred ($900) Dollars, given us by the State, making our share, Four Thousand One Hundred ($4,100) Dollars with which to build one mile of road, costing Twelve Thousand ($12,000) Dollars. This Twenty-five Thousand ($25,000) Dollars completes the road from Green Sky Hill to Bay Shore, with a concrete road Sixteen (16) feet wide.

Regarding the Mackinaw Trail: This can be done. A nine (9) foot concrete road, can be built from Boyne Falls south to the Antrim county line, for approximately the Fifty Thousand ($50,000) Dollars, that has been assigned to Boyne Falls. A nine (9) foot concrete road can be built for from Seventy five hundred ($7,500) Dollars to Eight Thousand Dollars ($8,000). The double reward on this road is Four Thousand ($4,000) Dollars, so you see we get this road really less than a gravel road would cost.

Boyne City can build a sixteen (16) foot concrete road to Walloon for Twelve Thousand ($12,000) Dollars per mile, and the state pays for this road Six Thousand Eight Hundred ($6,800) Dollars.

Surely will it not be rank foolishness to refuse to bond now when we can get this amount of award money.

But, remember, it cannot be gotten unless we vote "Yes" next Tuesday.

MONARCH Malleable Ranges Fully Protected Against Rust Damage by Vitreous Enameled Linings

If you have looked around at different kinds of ranges you have probably noticed that every one, cheap and high-priced alike, is said to be, "A fuel saver and a perfect baker." Every salesman knows that these are two things a woman demands and therefore makes these claims for the range he sells, even though he can't show you wherein his range is esentially different from others.

Now, if you have had experience in the use of different kinds of ranges you know that this is not true of all of them. Either you have owned or had a friend who owned a kitchen stove that was just the opposite of a "fuel saver" or one that was far from a satisfactory baker.

It is an easy matter to protect yourself against future troubles of this kind by investigating the merits of the "Monarch" range. They are built tight and will stay tight.

COMPULSORY MILITARY TRAINING

IN SENIOR AND JUNIOR HIGH SCHOOL CLASSES

Exercises to be Taught Are "Setting Up" Drills Used in Regular U. S. Army.

The Board of Education at its meeting Tuesday evening, passed a resolution providing for compulsory physical training for the boys in the senior and junior high school classes. The superintendent has power to excuse those physically incapacitated, or those engaged in active participation in one of the school athletic teams. While they did not include the girls in the compulsory training, they included in the resolution a clause favoring such training when it becomes feasible.

Lieutenant Victor H. Hampton, who will be here for a few weeks, will give the instructions and drills for the present, and when he leaves to join the colors, the superintendent will name one of the teachers to continue the work, as by that time they will have received sufficient instruction to take it over.

It is likely that from time to time, one of the boys who shows most aptitude will be named to captain the class during drills. The exercises being taught are the "setting up" drills used in the army, which, more than anything else have resulted in the splendid physical development seen in all of our boys who have been a few weeks in camp.

This action on the part of the board deserves hearty commendation. In the past we have trained the minds but to a greater or less extent neglected the bodies of pupils. It is a splendid thing and we hope to see it maintained, and eventually made to take in the girls as well.

A THOROUGH TEST

One to Convince the Most Skeptical Charlevoix Reader

The test of time is the test that counts.

Doan's Kidney Pills have made their reputation by effective action.

The following case is typical.

Charlevoix residents should be convinced.

The testimony is confirmed—the proof complete.

Testimony like this cannot be ignored.

Mrs. M. Olney, 310 W. Hurlbut St., Charlevoix, says: "I have used Doan's Kidney Pills on different occasions for kidney trouble. I suffered from severe backache and Doan's Kidney Pills greatly benefited me. Others of my family have also used this medicine for lame back and pains in the kidneys with good results."

CONFIRMS HER STATEMENT

Five years later Mrs. Olney said: "I have never found another kidney medicine that can equal Doan's Kidney Pills. The occasional use of this medicine keeps my kidneys in good condition. I will never go back on what I have said before in praise of Doan's Kidney Pills."

Price 60c, at all dealers. Don't simply ask for a kidney remedy—get Doan's Kidney Pills—the same that Mrs. Olney had. Foster-Milburn Co., Mfgrs., Buffalo, N. Y.

The kind of peace Russia can now make will be anything but peaceful.

Russia's next backward step will be to restore vodka to the throne.

Free Storage On Your Automobile

With the Repairing and Painting

Have your car overhauled and placed in good running order this fall and winter, so you may thoroughly enjoy the first day's wheeling in the spring. After a long season of usefulness your car really needs a certain amount of overhauling work. It is the most effective means for lengthening the life of the machine and for protecting the lives of those who ride. It is a notable fact that automobiles which are occasionally given a thorough overhauling seldom go wrong, and remain in service for years.

Our workmanship is of the best and the price low, according to the amount of work done. We will do it by the hour or by the job.

NEW BONDS FOR $8,500 000,000

MORE MONEY MUST BE PROVIDED

Congress Expected to Ask for Two More Liberty Loan Issues

The nation probably will be called on to absorb two more Liberty bond issues between February 1 and July 1 aggregating more than $8,500,000,000. Within a week or two the house ways and means committee is expected to frame a new bond measure.

Congress will have to authorize early in the session means of collecting from the American people between now and July 1 about $5,000,000,000 in addition to the $3,666,000,000 Liberty bonds already authorized but yet to be issued, the $1,000,000,000 or less expected from war savings campaign and about $3,000,000,000 from war taxes.

Most congressional leaders believe the $5,000,000,000 balance must be provided principally by issue of bonds and Secretary McAdoo has told members of congress that he heartily favors this method.

Another big finance question which will receive the early attention of congress is the continuance of loans to the allies. If the present rate of extending credits to the allies is continued the $7,000,000,000 authorized credits will be exhausted by July 1 and congress will have to decide whether to continue the loans after that time. Six billions will be required for the fiscal year beginning next July 1 if the rate of $500,000,000 a month is kept up.

George D. Swinton was given a surprise party Wednesday evening by his children and grandchildren, the occasion being his 73rd birthday anniversary. The surprise was complete and the occasion a very happy one.

CHRISTMAS RED CROSS DRIVE

EVERY CITIZEN URGED TO BECOME A MEMBER

Drive to Open on December 16 and to Close December 24—Nationwide Movement

Uncle Sam is starting a drive for members to the Red Cross. This is the Christmas drive. The money is to put nurses and surgical dressings behind our boys at the front. Our country can not make a big drive on the enemy until these supplies are at hand in large quantities. This drive is to open on December 16 and is to last until December 24. At that time every family in which every one is a member will be given a window card indicating that they are a 100 per cent family. Our country population is 10,157, and we should have 19,157 members. Our country asks us merely to gain a fair percentage of our population and will then not launch another membership campaign for one year.

Following is the allotment assigned to each city and township of the county; and each place should work hard to reach the figures assigned us. Next week the number of members in each township will be published and at the close of the campaign the number gained in each city and township so that we may see just how well we have done. On a basis of population each township should have the following number of members.

Bay	75
Boyne Valley	125
Chandler	75
Charlevoix	75
Evangeline	87
Eveline	150
Hayes	142
Hudson	37
Marion	142
Melrose	137
Norwood	94
Peaine	63
St. James	125
South Arm	142
Wilson	113

The cities have been assigned the following on population basis:

City of Charlevoix	594
Boyne City	1000
East Jordan	625

Complete county assignment is thus 3,801 members for the Christmas drive of 1917.

We can do it! We know we can, but it means a lot of work. It means that every school, every church, every factory, every mill, every grange, every gleaner association, every lodge, every place of business, every farm and city home in this county will need to be boosters in a patriotic cause. Let us care for our boys. The Red Cross can do it.

To the county winning the largest pectentage of members will be presented a large silk banner with the name of the county embroidered upon it. Th percentage basis gives all an equal chance. Gov. and Mrs. Sleeper will personally present this banner to the winning county. Will Chnrlevoix win the banner? Citizens it is up to us!

DOUBLE WEDDING AT DICKY HOME

Daughter and Son Married Last Wednesday Evening

The home of Mrs. Dickie at 106 Garfield Ave., was the scene of two quiet weddings last week. The first occurring Thursday afternoon at two o'clock, when her daughter, Jessie, was united in marriage to Clifford C. Peters, who has spent the past season working in Iowa, returning to Charlevoix, Monday, December third.

The latter taking place Saturday evening at six o'clock, when her youngest son, Roy, was united in marriage to Miss Inga Hastad, whose home is in East Jordan, but has been working in Charlevoix for the past year or more.

After the extending of hearty congratulation, an appropriate lunch was prepared and enjoyed by all. Both couples will reside in Charlevoix and we all wish them happy, successful lives. A. G. Pontius officiated at both events.

PROTECT YOUR SHADE TREES

Considarable Injury Is Ceused By Snow Plow

The attention of the Courier was called to considerable injury being done to shade trees about the city by the horse drawn snow plow.

In many instances the sharp edge of the plow have broken or peeled the bark from some of the most beautiful and thrifty trees in the city, and these injuries may be the cause of their total loss. Take a board and nail it on the tree next to the side walk, and then if the plow slues and strikes them, the board will keep them from injury.

By advocating these precautions, we do not mean in any manner to criticize the men doing the work of cleaning the walks or those in charge of the work. It is simply a matter of precaution, as there is no way for the driver of the snow plow to keep in the middle of the walks, and the plow will invariably swing from side to side, especially when encountering a drifted place. Protect your trees by nailing on a board where the plow is liable to hit them.

FUEL COMMITTEE FOR COUNTY

NEW ADMINISTRATOR NAMES HIS ASSISTANTS

Ask Citizens to Save Coal Now or Freeze Later—Work of New County Board

R. C. Hammett, last week named by Federal Fuel Administrator Prudden as chairman of the county board, issues the following notice, and urges its strict observance by citizens of the county:

Notice

Charlevoix County Federal Fuel Administrator, County Committee, R. C. Hammett, chairman; business address, County Bank Building, Charlevoix; R. Mackay, East Jordan; C. J. Herron, Boyne City:

"All reports, complaints, etc., shall be made to members of above committee.

"The state fuel administrator will recognize no one but the county chairman.

"Save coal now or freeze later."

R. C. HAMMETT,
Chairman County Committee, Federal Fuel Administrator for State of Michigan.

The above named men were named a fuel committee for Charlevoix county and city, to serve without pay, during the present crisis and to take charge of the whole of Charlevoix county. The committee will have its headquarters at the office of the chairman, Mr. Hammett, in the County Bank Building, Charlevoix.

All complaints from both dealers and users of fuel, all applications for coal and all reports on conditions in Charlevoix, city and county will be made to the chairman of this committee, as he is the only man the federal department will recognize.

The committee will soon make a survey of the local situation, the amount of coal needed, the anticipated monthly needs, the price per ton charged by dealers, the gross margin of profit taken by dealers, etc.

This work will be started within the week, and a survey of the county will also be completed within a short time.

SURPRISED THEM

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Staley Taken Unawares by Relatives

About 30 relatives surprised Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Staley Monday, December 3, at the home of their parents, Mr. and Mrs. S. H. Smith. They were enticed away from the house to the home of one of the relatives for supper and detained until the party had arrived. A delicious pot luck supper was served and about midnight the guests returned to their homes after having spent a very pleasant evening. Mr. and Mrs. Staley left Thursday noon for their home in Detroit after a month's visit with relatives here.

ROAD BONDING PROPOSITION CARRIES BY MAJORITY OF 914 VOTES

Cities of Boyne City and Charlevoix Vote Nearly Four to One In Favor of Bonding—Much Opposition at East Jordan—the Vote

Charlevoix and Charlevoix county went "over the top" by an overwhelming majority for good roads at Tuesday's election, despite the fact that the weather man was on a rampage and there were no roads to travel on, other than occasional stretches where the wind had cleared away the white mantel that covers the entire district to the depth of several feet.

All told, so far as we have been able to secure returns, 2,444 votes were cast, 1,679 for bonding and 715 against, leaving a majority in favor of bonding of 914.

Good roads enthusiasts are congratulating themselves on the result of the election, and the possibilities of placing Charlevoix county on the map as having the best or equally as good roads as any county in the state.

Below is the vote by precincts, showing clearly the trend of thought regarding the proposition in each district:

EARLY RESIDENT HOME ON A BRIEF VISIT

Former Captain of "Gazelle" Notes Great Changes Here

John Mason and wife of Brownsville, Texas, are in the city for a visit with relatives and friends after and absence of many years.

Mr. Mason and his wife lived in Charlevoix years ago, and the older residents remember Capt. Mason of the steamboat "Gazelle" which plied between Charlevoix and East Jordan.

About 28 years ago they moved from here to California, and from there to Nevada, where they ran quite an extensive cattle ranch until they disposed of it recently and purchased a large tract of land near Brownsville, Texas, where they expect to make their future home.

Except for a little change in the color of his hair, Captain John looks just the same as he did when he was treading the quarter deck of the "Gazelle" and his visit here brings back to the minds of the older residents, the pioneer days before railroads or automobiles were known here, and when the "Gazelle" was the chief means of transportation in the county.

79TH BIRTHDAY

Friends Help George W. Cook Celebrate Event

About 12 friends of George W. Cook surprised him at about 5:30 Tuesday afternoon, December 6, the occasion being his 79th birthday anniversary.

At 6:00 the guests entered the dining room where a bounteous supper was served, and after a very pleasant evening they departed after wishing their host many happy returns of the day. He also received many tokens of the esteem in which he is held by his friends and relatives among them being a beautiful boquet of carnations from his brother, H. O. Cook of Muskegon.

STATE SAVINGS BANK DISTRIBUTES SAVINGS

Christmas Savings Club Proves Popular and Accounts More Than Double Each Year

The State Savings Bank of this city has mailed to people of Charlevoix and vicinity checks aggregating $7,000 representing their savings as Christmas Savings Club members for 1017.

This savings plan was inaugurated by the State Bank two years ago, the membership for 1917 being double the membership of 1916, showing the popularity of this manner of savings. While a goodly portion of the amounts received are re-deposited in the regular savings department of the bank where 4 per cent interest is paid, compounded semi-annually, a portion is used for Christmas shopping and for other purchases.

The Club for 1918 opens December 17, on plans exactly like the 1917 club. Circulars covering the different plans may be had for the asking, the local papers are also carrying advertising this week explaining the system.

Your money comes back to you in one lump sum just before Christmas. The key that unlocks the door of wealth is persistent saving. Now, as never before it is incumbent on every one that they save. Enroll in the 1918 Club the week of December 17, 1917.

BIOSSAT ARSON CASE STILL HANGS FIRE

Only Case to be Heard at This Term of Court

The case of Cora E. Biossat, charged with arson, is still occupying the attention of the court and jurors, having dragged along ever since a week ago last Monday with the side of the prosecution not yet all presented. Mrs. Biossat is on the witness stand as the paper goes to press.

Saturday Judge Mayno announced that this will be the only case tried at the present time, an adjourned term being set for January.

WAR HAS MADE MANY CHANGES

SAYS COUNTY FOOD ADMINISTRATOR, A. A. SWINTON

Present Situation a Surprise—Duty of All to Sustain Food Administration Measures

War has brought about many changes and new conditions; and who would have prophesied three years ago that the food in Charlevoix county would be under government control? says Dr. A. A. Swinton, food administrator of Charlevoix county.

But such is the actual fact. Where only a few years ago we revelled in plenty, we now begin to feel the pinch of want—yes, actual want, for many people can not get what they pressingly need to live on. Meat flour, butter, eggs, and milk have trebled in price and the end is not yet. Even though you have plenty of money, the government asks you to have no more than thirty-day supply on hand. Even the farmer who raises his own grain is limited to a thirty-day supply of flour.

The government asks the miller to do economic milling. "Considering the present food shortage it is important that millers 'clean' their feed of every particle of flour. If every miller in the country will watch this even more than in the past it will add materially to the world supply of flour."

At a millers' meeting recently it was urged upon all millers to ask the public to observe wheatless day, that by so doing they may do their bit toward conserving flour. At this meeting it was given out that the shortage in wheat is so keen that soon the millers would be asked to lessen the output of their mills so as to have some flour the year around. The United States government is called upon to feed the allies, and with the short crop in the United States we may face actual want for bread before another crop is harvested.

The millers, on the whole, are working in harmony with the government, and in this way much flour is sent across that otherwise would not have been available to feed the starving thousands.

It is extremely fortunate that the government has taken control of wheat, for speculators would have made untold millions by manipulation at the expense of the poor.

We hear much talk of the bumper corn crop and all that. In our estimation this bumper crop will be about half of a normal crop, for about half of it will be unfit to put on the market. What corn we have here is a fair sample of corn elsewhere—soft, soggy, and half matured. Buckwheat is less than one-fourth of a crop.

With the high prices of feed, hogs and cattle are put on the market prematurely.

It simply means much higher prices for pork and other meat later on. It behooves every citizen to be loyal to the government. The food administration may not be to the liking of everyone. It is a hard problem to solve. Able men are at the head of it and work for little or no pay. If we can help win the war by saving in food, and thus help the helpless women and children who are looking to us to be fed with bread, let us do it and do it cheerfully.

100 BUSHELS OF BEANS ARE BURNED

Horton Bay Merchant Suffers Disastrous Fire Loss

In a fire which is supposed to have caught from sparks, the big barn in the rear of the Lester Fox store at Horton's Bay was burned at about 5 o'clock Tuesday afternoon. With the barn went one hundred bushels of beans and a Ford automobile. The loss is estimated at more than $2,000. Insurance was carried on the automobile.

The fire was not discovered until it had gained a good start. All efforts to remove the car and beans proved futile. Only by hard work on the part of the men who came from the nearby farms and residences was the store and other nearby buildings saved.

That was considerable of a tank drama the Tommies staged at Cambrai.

BARNARD

Snow bound!

The storm on Saturday and Sunday was a very striking reminder of that beautiful poem of Whittier's.

Some of those in the vicinity who went to town Saturday afternoon were forced to stay over in Charlevoix until the following afternoon on account of the severity of the storm. The roads were rendered almost impassable, consequently tha two special services for Sunday morning and evening were done away with. The mailman on route One ventured out as far as Clarence Beattie's Monday, then turned around and went back.

Barnard was well represented at the Detroit Area conference held at Petoskey last Wednesday and Thursday. Those who attended were: Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Burns, Mr. and Mrs. Edmund Shapton, Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Block, Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Shapton, Mrs. Geo. Sands, Mrs. Thos. Shapton, Mrs. Geo. Ager, Mr. and Mrs. Howard Gornell, Mr. and Mrs. Earl Shapton, Mr. Henry Harkness, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Clarke and Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Beattie. They all went in automobiles and report the meeting well worth while, "a feast of good things."

THAT BACKACHE SPELLS DANGER!

Action Today May Save Charlevoix People Future Misery

A bad back isn't a bad thing if it serves as a warning of hidden kidney disorders. Kidney diseases are frightfully common today. We overdo so much. We don't give the kidneys a chance to rest up, and while a bad back, some urinary disorder, an occasional dizzy spell or a persistent headache may be the only outward sign, the kidney trouble that is behind it all may be overlooked or neglected. Put your signs to use. Take them as warnings. Fight off kidney weakness. It takes only a kidney disorder to start a case of fatal Bright's disease, from which 100,000 people die in the United States every year. Prompt treatment at first—that's all that's necessary to keep kidney weakness from turning into gravel, dropsy, gout, heart trouble or Bright's. Use Doan's Kidney Pills—the oldest, the most widely used, the best-recommended Kidney Pill. Fifty thousand Americans recommend them publicly. Here's one Charlevoix case:

John McCall, 905 Bridge St., says: "My back was so lame I could just about move. My kidneys were weak and acted irregularly. Dizzy spells bothered me and I would often have to grasp something to keep from falling. I was in awful shape when a friend recommended Doan's Kidney Pills and I tried them. This medicine completely and permanently cured me."

Price 60c, at all dealers. Don't simply ask for a kidney remedy—get Doan's Kidney Pills—the same that Mr. McCall had. Foster-Milburn Co., Mfgrs., Buffalo, N. Y.

HAYES

Earl Sneathen returned home Monday from Battle Creek.

Mrs. Knudsen is staying at E. E. Stroud's while they are away.

Mr. and Mrs. E. E. Stroud started Monday for Jackson to attend the State Grange.

Frank Sneathen left his car in Charlevoix Saturday. He was not the only one who had to do that.

This has been a severe storm for the first of the winter. No mail Monday and nothing sure yet for today (Tuesday).

A few weeks ago an article was sent to be printed in regard to parcel post delivery on rural routes. We did not see it in print. Wonder why?

They all tell us that we should not pay only four cents a pound and not more than five for graham flour, when wheat is only $2 per bushel, but we are paying seven cents per pound that is making two cents per pound profit more than they should.

We want Hay and Straw, in any quantity. Argo Milling Co. 50t2

EAST CHANDLER AND THUMB LAKE

Iva Crego is boarding at Mabel Clark's.

Carl Clark made a business trip to Clarion Thursday.

William Hughes went to Charlevoix for jury duty last week.

J. M. Snyder was in Boyne Falls on business one day last week.

It is now time to lay the poor "Lizzie's" away. How thankful she must be to get a little rest.

There was school Saturday in Chandler district No. 2. Making up the day after Thanksgiving.

Mr. Sweet of Petoskey has been working at Mr. Snyder's putting in boilers and pipes for their new bath room.

BOAT MUST HAVE PITCHED AND ROLLED

Sailors Experience In Saturday's Storm in Poetry

The following verses are ths result of a conversation actually overheard, and refers to our Saturdsy gale on Lake Michigan, just off Charlevoix:

THE LAST LIFT
(By Rae Stanley)

We hung on the resf 'till the break o' day,
Not far from our "leadsr net,"
But her hook had a grip on tbs old blue clay,
An' that's what counts, you bet I

O'course she headed 'em through ths night,
But I knew that her hook would hold.
An' we "stuck her out" 'till the mornin' light,—
Oh I man ! but she pitched and rolled I
It was pretty frosty at break o' day,
An' the lake, she was all a-steam,
An' to flnd them nets, it wa'nt no play,
'Twas like huntin' a dead man's dream.

By luck I found my "sailor man,"
An' we started to make the lift,
I says, "Pard, we'll fight as hard aa we can,
For the barge is bound to drift.

An' my husky "pard" replied, "You bet,
We'll git 'em in spite o' hell,"
An' we "stuck," 'till we lifted every net,
An' we loaded her down right well.

The wind went round to nor-nor-east,
An' Lord ! how she did blow !
The waves was white as a wedding feast,
But 'twas dark as hell below !

An' tho wind she blew a livln' gale,
An' the storm was a blindin' snow,
An' the ice was makin' above her rail,
An our headway was pretty slow.

We set our course for South Point buoy,
An' the waves they could hiss and swish,
But at dark we had made old Charlevoix,
With a couple o' ton o' fisb.

NOTICE!
To Car Owners

Last spring a gentleman drove up to our Electric Shop with an inoperative battery, the result of Winter neglect. He had reached the conclusion that "the battery was no good."

We, of course, explained that the battery hadn't been properly cared for during the long months of winter inactivity; depreciation had been rapid and the battery was practically worthless.

But the owner remembered the home-made "care" he had given his battery, and said: "Why I took that battery off the car, brought it to the house and put it in the cellar behind the furnace. What more could you expect."

We then explained in detail how a battery must be stored and cared for during the cold months—how it must be recharged regularly to keep it in condition to resist cold weather nnd prevent internal injury while idle. "Of course, I see my mistake now," replied the owner, "but if I were in the battery business I'd warn my customers about such things."

May we suggest this as YOUR WARNING to insure yourself against unnecessary battery expense next Spring, hy leaving your battery with us this Winter?

GRANDMA NEVER LET HER HAIR GET GRAY

She Kept Her Locks Dark and Glossy, with Sage Tea and Sulphur.

Whea you darken your hair with Sage Tea and Sulphur, no one can tell, because it's done so naturally, so evealy. Preparing this mixturs, though, at home is mussy and troublesome. For 50 cents you can buy at auy drug store the ready-to-use preparation, improved by the addition of other ingredients, called "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compouad." You just dampen a sponge or soft brush with it aad draw this through your hair, taklag one small strand at a time. By morning all gray hair disappears, and, after another applicatlon or twa, your hair becomes beautifully darkeaed, glossy aad luxurlaot.

Gray, faded hair, though no disgrace, is a sign of old age, and as we all desire a youthful and attractivs appesrance, get busy at ooce with Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compouad and look years younger. This ready-to-use preparation is a delightful tollet requisite aad aot a medicine. It is not intended for the cure, mitigation or prevention of disease.

We want Hay aad Straw, in any quantity. Argo Milling Co. 50t2

MARION CENTER SCHOOL NOTES

Ida Ingalls was absent from school a few days last week on account of illness.

Twelve of our pupils were absent Monday on account of bad roads, the result of the heavy snow storm Saturday and Sunday which rendered the roads impassable in places.

No mail received Monday. Guess the roads were too bad for our earrier.

Mr. C. E. Launderville is home from France on a two month's furlough on account of illness.

Floyd Black and Clarence Meggison left Monday afternoon for Grand Rapids where they intend to enlist in the cavalry.

The farewell party given at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Black Saturday evening for Clarence Moggison and Floyd Black was not very well attended owing to the severe storm. Those who were brave enough to venture out report a very enjoyable time.

Mrs Henry Poquette is ill with the grippe.

(Too late for last week)

Miss Beryl Meggison is ill with chicken pox.

We are glad to hear that Kenneth Hawkins is improving so rapidly.

Now Thanksgiving is over, we are busy at work preparing our Xmas program.

Marion township school will hold a spelling match here during the month of Februnry. The scholars are taking a very active interest in preparing for it.

Miss Marie Cliff is working for Mrs. Davis at Phelps.

Miss Vernice Bluck is again working in Charlevoix.

Mr. and Mrs. Byron Bowdish and family and Mr. and Mrs. Henry Van-Dusen and son Lester, spent Sunday at the Jas. Cook home.

Mr. aad Mrs. George Herrington were Central Lako visitors one day last week.

Mr. and Mrs. Jas. Meggison and family spent Thanksgiving with Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Smith and family, of Charlevoix.

RED CROSS

The work at the local Red Cross rooms continues in a lively maaner.

A large shipment is belag sent this week.

18 pair wristlets.
26 pairs socks.
One pair bed shoes.
10 helmets.
3 mufflers.
18 sweaters.
39 cumfort pillows.
100 trench candles.
500 surgical dressings.
1 box surgical dressings.

The Red Cross behind the firing line takes the place of a million and a half men. Michigan, by its fine record in this work, is the first state in the Union to be given its own headquarters—Detroit. Nebraska is aext in line. Let everyono rally to this great labor of love.

The party given hy the school was a real success and gratifiention to everyone, over fifty dollars being rnised.

"Red Cross standard surgienl dressings in millions must be sent over (to France) with all possible speed," cables Mnjor Grayson M. P. Murphy, head of the Red Cross commission to France.

Please come and help us nt the rooms here in Charlevoix, so that we may do our bit in helping to save the lives of our noble young mea.

SCHOOL COMMISSIONERS NOTES

It is always a pleasure to open tbe mail at a week end. This week it is a particular pleasurs to note the good school spirit in some uf our rural districts. This week in particular wo nots that the Phelps school district has by special meeting purchased additional land for the school yard. We had knowa for some time that Mr. Dewey bad many plans for beautifying the school grounds and a card brings the creditable news that the district and school board work with him in bis plans.

A letter from Miss Irene Gregory in the Blain school district tells that a pio social has netted them $17.10 and it will be spent for something for school betterment. When we consider the size of ths district and the location of the school this is quite the best record this year.

The newsy items which a few of our teachers send in to the editors from their districts indicate that school room improvemsnt is tbe watchword. Just recently in the Nowland school in Lakeside of Bay, in Horton Bay, in Walloon, in the Howard school now at work, and in tbe Star school.

Newsy items in letters and in the teachers news items indicate at least ten schools already doing as busy work for all grades the knittiag and trench candles for our Red Cross branches. They get the work from the Red Cross headquarters in any town.

A joyous letter from Miss Allen of Ironton tells us that the furnace in the school is being re-installed and that they hope to use it soon.

Miss Underhill writes that she has a newspaper aad current events lesson regularly once each week instead of history. We certainly think this fine in every case where it is done systematically and urge also that boys and girls be held responsible for this work just as in any other necessary subject.

The Red Cross Xmax drive for membership is to be launched in this county on December 16. News comes to this offiee that the next drive will be just one year later but that we must simply have four thousand members in this county. Every voter should become a member, every voter's wife where there are families and that our county must win the state championship for patriotism aad thus have Governor and Mrs. Sleeper personally present us with a winner's banner. We already have the co-operation of our schools and LET US WIN !

There will be ao more commissioner's notes for four weeks as the commissioner wishes to donate the space of this column to the Red Cross Membership drive throughout the county. In the meaatime the work of the county will be carefully tended and all good things noted with which to begin the new year in our schools.

Before withdrawing the notes for even the brief period of the Xmas month, the commissioner wishes to extend to all a very joyous Xmas and a new year better than any known in the past.

THE PRESIDENT'S MESSAGE

President Wilson's message to Congress is not startling. It is neither sensational, emotional, pyrotechnic nor passive. It is a calm statement of specific facts set out so clearly that a child can understand every word and every sentence of it. It is a declaration of resolute courage to carry the war to a successful conclusion, an emphatic determination that Prussian militarism with all its horrors shall be forever blotted out of civilization.

The recommendation to Congress to declare war against Austria-Hungary was expected. The declaration of war on this ally of Germany will be nothing more than a formality, as a state of war has existed between the United States and Austria-Hungary for many months. Beginning with the unlamented Dumba agents of Austria have been the dark horses for pro-German propaganda in the United States, and since war was declared on the Hohenzollern dynasty they have taken up the active campaign of espionage, sabotage and treachery where the hand of the recognized "alien enemy" was stayed to a certain degree. Austro-German armies invaded Italy, an ally of the United States, and American soldiers face the dual foe intrenched on French and Belgian soil.

A declaration of war on Austria-Hungary could not sensibly be averted, and in all probability a formal declaration of war will be made against Turkey and Bulgaria in the near future, although the president dismisses the acute situation between these countries and the United States with a warning that he will not hesitate to ask for a declaration of war against them if necessity demands it.

"We shall go wherever tho necessity of this war carries us," declared President Wilson, "but it seems to me that we should go only where immediate and practical considerations lead us and not heed any others."

In view of recent dynamite outrages, the application of the torch, the acts of trenchery, the persistent pro-German propaganda, it seems the duty of congress is to immediately enact such drastic legislation that will effectually curb the underhand war at home. Austrian agents at present are free to go where they will and carry out the crooked work plotted by the kaiser's agents under cover. If for no other reason war ought to be declared against Austria-Hungary in order to place subjects of that nation in the United States under the restriction of the alien enemy law.

The president recommends legislation to control profiteering and declares that the law of supply and demand has been replaced by the "law of unrestrained selfishness." Congress will meet many obstacles in carrying out this recommendation, but it is surmised that "war profiteering" will be smothered by the same indomitable will that has set itself to drive kaiserism to the wall.

The president closes with the declaration that "the eyes of the people have been opened and they see the hand of God is laid upon the nation," but he does not attempt to lead anyone to believe that God will fight our battles. He imparts this injunction, "He will show them favor, I devoutly believe, only if they rise to the clear heights of his own justice and mercy."

The message as a whole outlines a fixed policy for the United States in this war for democracy, human rights human freedom and justice to all mankind. It was telegraphed to all parts of the world and all nations read it simultaneously with the people of the United States. Thus the position of the United States is set out before the world, our war aims are clearly told, and there is no room for misunderstanding on the part of any individual or nation.

GIVE THEM THE LIMIT

Enemy aliens who have betrayed the hospitality of America are being marched off to concentration camps. They were assured of treatment more generous than they could have expected anywhere in the world, if they were willing to behave themselves decently. The offenders knew what the were about, and deserve no sympathy.

It is high time the guilty were rounded up and all potential offenders were given a wholesome lesson. And if present laws apply only to German enemies, congress should promptly see to it that Austrian, Bulgarian and Turkish enemies who are covertly warring against us in our own land and our own homes have their fangs pulled.

Next come disloyal citizens. Fortunately they are not many in proportion to our whole population, and yet they are far too many for the patience or the safety of the nation. Attorney General Gregory has warned them.

"To all the disloyal in this country a message will be sounded which they can understand, through the criminal courts. May God have mercy on them for they need expect none from and outraged people and an avenging government."

The attorney general is right. The nation's patience is exhausted with this class of offenders, as with the other. Their offense is greater than that of the aliens, because they have not merely sought to injure a nominal enemy—they have broken their oath and betrayed their own country.

The public will support the government in any steps it may take, however drastic, to protect us from further treasonable crimes.

A German soldier says in a letter that the crown prince bestowed an iron cross on the company gardener for growing some fine lettuce. Well, anyhow, there's one German who didn't have to slaughter a few babies to get a decoration.

The Army and Navy bazaars in New York took in $71,475 and had $754 for the beneficaries. New York City is still easy picking for the slickers.

A magazine writer says that profanity has greatly increased within the last few years. Another effect of high prices and coal shortages.

Lord Northcliffe says he is coming back to the United States. He must of found something here either to praise or to criticize.

Two million people gave to the Y. M. C. A. fund, it is announced. Which convinces us to our regret that a lot of people didn't.

A bull calf was sold at the recent National Dairy Show for $53,200. Still we'd rather be worth less and not be a bull calf.

Leniency to an anti-American propagandist merely breeds more propagandists.

Hindenburg is learning how to drive with the gears in reverse.

General Byng seems to have been rightly named.

CHARLEVOIX H. S. NOTES

Latest reports from the firing line: The counter attack led by "generalissimo" Wells was entirely successful and by strategy the rear flank was completely routed, and now are forced to be under the watchful eye of their commander. The "triangle" is still intact. No casualties.

The rink has again been secured for basketball. The boys are fixing it, so that it will not be as cold as usual.

—o—

There were only 15 tardy marks Monday morning. Pretty good for a beginning.

The number of blocks for the quilt is steadily increasing, showing that the girls are anxious to do their "bit."

—o—

The "Hand of Mystery," surrounds the city tower. Perhaps the witch of ancient lore engaged in their wild incantations on some "foul" night had discovered that here was an ideal spot on which to lay their gaudy signs, or perhaps the elves of darkness climbed to the top of the receptacle and implanted the words of mystic fame, "C. H. S, '18, Seniors, Rah !" on its gruesome outline.

WAR CAUSED BY PLAN OF KAISER

HE SOUGHT CONTROL OF THE ENTIRE WORLD

Tarkington Convicts Ruler of Earth's Greatest Crime—People Must Stop It

(By Booth Tarkington)

When the war began in August, 1914, all those neutrals who wished to understand the right and wrong of the matter, that their opinions might not be unjust, began to seek every source of information which might help them to learn who started it and why.

At first—as the sources of information were not immediately at hand—there seemed room for argument, though on the face of things it was apparent that Austria first declared war upon Serbia, and Germany then declared war upon Russia and France. We saw plainly that Serbia had been begging and squirming to avoid war and that Russia had been working for peace. Austria and Germany were the countries that declared war, and, of course, until somebody did actually declare war or actually make war, there was a chance of peace.

Austria Bent on War

As soon as the diplomatic documents were published we all saw—any person who could read was able to see—that Austria had been bent upon war with Serbia and that Germany had wanted Austria to make such a war, and, under a rather careless pretext of wishing to preserve the peace, had actually prevented peacemaking on the part of other governments. It was clear, too, that Russia had been bound to protect Serbia from Austria, and that Germany understood this and knew that Austria's attack on Serbia meant war between Austria and Russia, which also meant, of course, war between Germany and Russia and between Germany and France, since the latter was Russia's ally.

Nothing could have been more significant than this, that Germany, being herself already prepared—down to the last buckle—for immediate war, declared war on Russia for the alleged reason that Russia was getting prepared for war.

Self-Defense the Excuse

We know this sort of talk of old in a thousand trials for cold blooded murder in our own country. "Self-defense!" shouts the murderer's attorney. "The deceased made a motion towrd his hip pocket," Germany stood with a bright, new automatic revolver in hand, and Russia made a motion toward the hip pocket—where there was later found a penknife with two blades broken. "Self-defense," Germany claimed loudly through her attorneys. "He made a motion toward his hip pocket, so I had to shoot him."

The German chancellor declared in the reichstag that Russia made this fatal motion toward the hip pocket in spite of England's effort to keep peace. Russia "began it," said the chancellor—and then a few days later all Germany began shouting that England "began it!" This was when England fulfilled her oath to Belgium and Germany broke her own.

Evidence Against Germany

The evidence went more and more against Germany, and there were some vicious sidelights which made the case stronger against her. The German army was sent into the peaceful little country of Belgium, which it turned into a slaughterhouse, with the owners for victims, and the German government said that the German army did this because it would help Germany to conquer France.

At the same time the Germans in authority told a great number of lies to excuse themselves. They said that they knew they were doing a wrong thing, and that they were breaking the law and violating their oath; and nevertheless they claimed that they were justified because the Belgians were a wicked people and France intended soon to behave (in respect to Belgium) as Germany was behaving. Altogether, the trickiness and cruelty of Germany in the Belgian matter caused our opinions of the German government (concerning who began it) to become much darker.

Convicted by All Men

So far as Belgium went, the Germans were finally and absolutely convicted in the plain sight of all men; convicted of lies as odious as they were stupid; convicted of the most abominable, cold blooded plotting; convicted of a selfishness not seen on earth since the seventeenth century and of a cruelty not known since the sixteenth.

Of course, men who were capable of these things in regard to Belgium were of a character distinctly capable of having plotted the great war, and, as they lied about Belgium, they would lie about the rest of it.

Since then evidence has piled up—evidence not circumstantial, but so direct that it leaves no doubt. This evidence is colossal and conclusive, and is almost all German.

Would Dominate World

It is no longer possible to debate the question and the court has decided—the court consisting of the nations of the world. That court found that Germans plotted to dominate the world and decided and attempted to kill the men and women and children of certain other nations, and to continue the killing until these nations submitted to German domination, after which all remaining nations would be compelled to submit.

It seemed incredible that there were such ideas left over in the twentieth century world, but there is no longer, any doubt of it.

It is the preposterous but undeniable truth that there exists a large and powerful group of Germans—prosperous people and of high attainment in certain specialties—who decided to have great numbers of simple minded men under their orders go out and kill their fellow men and continue to kill them in order to increase the power of the plotters. The great majority of the men who did the actual killing would obtain no benefit whatever for themselves and many of these German soldiers might have brought little enthusiasm to their task if they had understood it, so they were told that they were fighting for the "existence of the fatherland" and that "Russia began it" and "England began it."

Germany a Perjurer

Of course a government which believes in violating oaths—that is, violating the honor of the nation which is represents or controls—such a government would lie to its own people. (It made Germany a perjurer, for the German government stands before the world as Germany and it acts as and for Germany—until the German people remove it, and only by removing it can Germans regain for Germany something of lost honor.) This government deceived its own people first about the immediate causes of the war, then about the historical causes of the war, and then most vehemently about the character and intentions of the allies opposed to Germany.

Some German Lies

Is there a doubt anywhere that the German rulers will lie, in any manner whatsoever, if they believe the lie will result to their own advantage? Then take one lie with which they have filled Germany that the president of the United States and the American congress, with the American people behind them, declared the United States to be in a state of war with the German empire because the American munitions makers wanted to make more money, and Mr. J. P. Morgan was afraid of the depreciation of his loans to England!

There are two significant things about this lie. One is the state of mind of the German politician who puts it forth, and the other is the state of mind of the unfortunate German subject who believes it. The politician must necessarily count on an abysmal ignorance as well as a loyal credulity in the subject; and the politician who uses such lies is of a type we know in our own country, in certain lower forms of slum precinct manipulation.

Army Behind the Machine

But in Germany this type—better educated, incomparably more powerful, but nevertheless the moral twin of one of our corrupt precinct committeemen of the slums—is in actual high control of the German destiny and has as its obedient machine, not ward heelers from the barrel houses, but the most terrible army known in history; and if the German spirit truly manifests itself through such an agency, it is a spirit so sinister and of such mighty ill-omen to us that we must either exorcise it by high explosives or be its slaves, for this is the voice that we hear from Germany:

"We Germans," it trumpets, "are God's chosen people, his special favorites, and God is German himself. God rules over us in the person of our kaiser, whom he appointed for that purpose. We are better than all other people of the earth; we are wiser and purer and nobler and stronger and cleverer and kinder and braver and more spiritual and more warlike than all others.

Deceit is Held Moral

"We are so much greater than they that whatever we do to advance our own interests at the cost of theirs is right and praiseworthy. If we kill a great many of them, those who survive will in the end be improved for they will work for us and learn something by observing us. Any deceit is proper and morally correct if it benefits us; and when we practice a policy of terror upon those who oppose us it is really philanthropy and shows how gentle we are, because the survivors learn through our cruelty that it is useless to oppose us, therefore they the sooner submit their wills to ours.

"We can not do wrong, no matter what we do, so long as all that we do is for our own benefit. And, since our nation is warlike, war is beautiful and necessary. We study in peace times how to use every man of us in time of war, and that is our great glory. By our bright swords we will take possession of the earth, which ought to belong to us, because we are Germans. We believe in the heaviest possible breeding of babies, that they may grow up and be trained to carry liquid fire and poison gas against any opposition to us.

All Others Ruffians

"And all the same, we are the only real peace lovers in this malign and prejudiced world, which, except for us the Austrians and the Bulgarians and the Turks, is composed exclusively of stupid ruffians who were so jealous and envious of us that they forced this war upon us, hoping to make some money out of us by annihilating us. We love peace, and are fighting for our mere existence. That is, the right to adjust our frontiers so that they will include the countries which we have conquered by the sword. For instance, we must never again be threatened by an invasion through Belgium. We prepared for this war as no country ever before prepared—not even in 1870, when we made war on France—and we were forced to begin it because we had to begin it before somebody else did."

The president called, hoping that there might be Germans in Germany with whom the world could make peace.

World Against Germany

Is there any one who does not realize that it is the world which is at war with Germany? The United State of America, the French republic, the Russian republic, the British empire, the Chinese republic, the Japanese empire, the Portugese republic, the republics of Brazil, of Cuba, and of Bolivia; the kingdoms of Italy, of Roumania, of Greece, of Servia, of Montenegro, of Siam, and the republics of San Martino and of Liberia are at war with Germany.

It is conceivable that even under great provocation the people of all these nations could go forth and kill Germans if the German cause had been a good one or if Germany had been a peaceful country wantonly attacked and not the calculating assailant?

And the world can not make peace with Germany because the men who led Germany out to kill in the bad cause are still in control of Germany. So long as their power remains what it is Germany can not be trusted an inch further than our pioneer fathers could trust a Comanche.

Incurably Treacherous

The plain reason is this, that the rulers of Germany have come to be known as the Comanches were known as creatures persistently and incurably treacherous.

At the head of the German government and controlling it is a man of singular apparance and of a mind as singular. He has beliefs about himself which, were he a citizen of our country, would cause him to be cared for in a sanitarium, and he has theories about human conduct which, were he an American and did he endeaver to put those theories into action, would cause him to be cared for in a penitentiary.

Imagin an American— or any modern human being—who seriously believed himself personally selected and appointed by the God of the universe to rule so absolutely over millions of his fellow men that it would be their conscientious duty to shoot down their own parents and their own children at a word of command from him! And imagine what would happen to an American who got a neighbor killed because the neighbor's yard stood between him and the yard of a second neighbor whom he intended to kill.

What sort of a plea would be the murderer's if he said in court, "But I heard on good authority—I don't say whose—that the second neighbor thought of coming through the dead man's yard to fight me in mine"

He Thinks Destruction

The German kaiser has really thought persistently of all non-Teutonic countries in terms of destruction, and when he has spoken his private thoughts his speech always has been: "Let us find the best way to weaken and injure them." These real thoughts of his came out characteristically when, on his yacht at Kiel, he said that Europe had made a great mistake in not strongly favoring the south, during our civil war, for thus two weak countries might have been created to take the place of the powerful union. Something might be hoped for even yet, he went on, if the east and west could be sufficiently stirred up against each other.

Look and Feel Clean, Sweet and Fresh Every Day

Drink a glass of real hot water before breakfast to wash out poisons.

Life is not merely to live, but to live well, eat well, digest well, work well, sleep well, look well. What a glorious condition to attain, and yet how very easy it is if one will only adopt the morning inside bath.

Folks who are accustomed to feel dull and heavy when they arise, splitting headache, stuffy from a cold, foul tongue, nasty breath, acid stomach, sea, instead, feel as fresh as a daisy by opening the sluices of the system each morning and flushing out the whole of the internal poisonous stagnant matter.

Everyone, whether ailing, sick or well, should, each morning, before breakfast, drink a glass of real hot water with a teaspoonful of limestone phosphate in it to wash from the stomach, liver, kidneys and bowels the previous day's indigestible waste, sour bile and poisonous toxins; thus cleansing, sweetening and purifying the entire alimentary canal before putting more food into the stomach. The action of hot water and limestone phosphate on an empty stomach is wonderfully invigorating. It cleans out all the sour fermentations, gases, waste and acidity and gives one a splendid appetite for breakfast. While you are enjoying your breakfast the water and phosphate is quietly extracting a large volume of water from the blood and getting ready for a thorough flushing of all the inside organs.

The millions of people who are bothered with constipation, bilious spells, stomach trouble, rheumatism; others who have sallow skins, blood disorders and sickly complexions are urged to get a quarter pound of limestone phosphate from the drug store which will cost very little, but is sufficient to make anyone a pronounced crank on the subject of internal sanitation.

DRINK PLENTY WATER IF KIDNEYS BOTHER

Eat less meat and take Salts for Backache or Bladder trouble—Neutralizes acids.

Uric acid in meat excites the kidneys, they become overworked; get sluggish, ache, and feel like lumps of lead. The urine becomes cloudy; the bladder is irritated, and you may be obliged to seek relief two or three times during the night. When the kidneys clog you must help them flush off the body's urinous waste or you'll be a real sick person shortly. At first you feel a dull misery in the kidney region, you suffer from backache, sick headache, dizziness, stomach gets sour, tongue coated and you feel rheumatic twinges when the weather is bad.

Eat less meat, drink lots of water; also get from any pharmacist four ounces of Jad Salts; take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast for a few days and your kidneys will then act fine. This famous salts is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and has been used for generations to clean clogged kidneys and stimulate them to normal activity, also to neutralize the acids in urine, so it no longer is a source of irritation, thus often bladder weakness.

Jad Salts is inexpensive, cannot injure; makes a delightful effervescent lithia-water drink which everyone should take now and then to keep the kidneys clean and active. Druggists here say they sell lots of Jad Salts to folks who believe in overcoming kidney trouble while it is only trouble.

THAT DOG GONE DOG OF YOURS

WILL COST YOU A HEAP IF WITHOUT TAG

Theo Too He Will Be Gone For Good —Better See Township Clerk Soon

Under the new dog tax law, being Act 347, Public Acts of 1917, owners of dogs seem to be in for a pretty "dog gone hard time."

Under this law, every owner of a male dog must pay annually $2 and of a female dog unspayed $5.00 or spayed $2, unless the dogs are confined absolutely to the premises of the owner, or are accompanied every where they go by the owner, custodian or care-taker, or wear a tag securely fastened to the collar of the dog showing that the annual license fee has been paid. This does not apply to dogs under four months of age. These dog tags are purchased by the State Live Stock Sanitary Commission during the present month of December and sold at cost to township or village clerks.

Before February 1 of each year every owner of a dog must pay the above fee to the village or township clerk and receive one of these tags, which he must attach to the dog's collar.

These fees go into a fund the purpose of which is to re-emburse those whose stock has been killed or injured by dogs.

The penalties for not paying this tax or rather for permitting a dog to run at large without the required tag is

1. The law makes it the duty of all sheriffs, deputy sheriffs, constables and police officers to enforce the provisions of the law.

All dogs must be listed by assessors or supervisors at the time of taking the annual assessment and said lists reported to the township or village clerks within 30 days.

2. It is the duty of any sheriff, deputy sheriff, constable or police officed to destroy any dog or dogs found at large in violation of this act. The fees for this work are the same as for the execution of warrants in criminal cases.

3. Any person violating this act is subject not only to the loss of his dog but to a fine not to exceed $25 or imprisonment not to exceed 30 days or both.

4. This act does not limit the common liability of the owner of the dog for damages.

There is a special provision in the charter of many cities and to these this law does not apply.

The provision in reference to the payment of losses is as follows:

The man who wants to make collection calls upon a disinterested justice of the peace in the township where such killing occurred who proceeds to view the live stock so killed or wounded, and, if satisfied that the killing or wounding was done by a dog or dogs, he shall make a certificate stating such fact and his estimate of the amount of damage sustained and shall deliver this certificate to the clerk of some township or village who shall file and record the same. The justice gets $2 and 10c a mile one way for his services.

Ellsworth Section

The clerk shall then issue an order on the village or township treasurer, payable out of the special fund so provided for that is if there is sufficient money in the fund to take cars of the matter. Any surplus at the end of the year, in excess of $200 shall revert to the general school fund.

ELLSWORTH SCHOOL NOTES

The high school was hard at work last week with their monthly exams.

All three teachers are busily engaged preparing a Christmas program which they will give Friday evening, December 22. They are planning a good program. The place at which the entertainment will be given has not been decided yet.

Because of the heavy storm there are a number living out in the country that have been absent from school.

The ninth and tenth grades are preparing a debate on, Resolved, "that the United States should Declare War on Austria." The school has been trying to follow the war as closely as possible.

WAR CAUSED BY PLAN OF KAISER

There is the kaiser's foreign policy and the order of his mind and of his heart. What he meant was that it would be a good and beneficial thing if the people of our eastern and western states could be brought to kill one another in great numbers and thus the union yet be divided.

The kaiser twice played wantonly and without the slightest provocation on the verge of war with the United States—once on the coast of Venezuela and once in Manila bay. While Germany was in a state of friendship with England he proposed to Russia that Russia and Germany attack England; and while Germany was in a state of friendship with the United States he proposed to England that England and Germany seize Mexico and destroy the Monroe doctrine.

Plotted Against United States

His agent Zimmerman asked Mexico to propose treachery to Japan that the two get together might dismember and plunder the United States. His diplomatic agent, resident in Buenos Aires by courtesy of the Argentine government, made treacherous use of the Swedish legation to send word to Germaas how to destroy Argentine ships and "leave no trace."

The government of the United States and the governments of the world are literally unable to make peace with the people this revealed. How can treaties be made with men who not only believe in breaking treaties but also believe that killing is glorious if they do the killing and can retain the property of the slain?

We continue our beginning because the German government is the same government that it was a few months ago when we found that it was making war upon us—and we have no choice but to fight it until either it is thoroughly whipped or some better kind of Germans—Germans of good sense, good feeling, and of an honorable reliability—get control of Germany.

Peace will come as soon as they do.

LESSONS OF THRIFT.

Learn to Spend Money Only For Things You Really Need.

There are few persons so rich that they do not need to exercise care and forethought in their expenditure. Human needs, human desires, human sympathies, are so vast, occasions of outlay so beset all of us at every step that unless we are watchful we quickly find great resources reduced to nothing, without our knowing how. The speed with which money departs is one of the first lessons of experience to man, woman and child, but we are slow to apply our own experience in our judgment of others.

Every one should be taught from childhood to weigh the needs of expenditure. This I must have, this I can go without, this I greatly want, if other demands still more imperative are not balked by it. By buying this now I can avert the necessity of a double expenditure a year hence. On the other hand, if I refrain from a purchase tempting at the moment I may be glad of my self control, even within a week. Questions like these have to be settled by every human being. Can any training be more important than that which enables us to settle them?

Exactly the same disposition to weigh and to compare must be brought into giving, into charity, if giving is to be discreet and wise and not in the end injurious to giver and receiver both. If we want a useful test for the difficult distinction between avarice and thrift we may say that thrift is more sparing with self than it is with others, whereas avarice pinches others sooner than itself, although it may pinch both.—Youth's Companion.

HEAD STUFFED FROM CATARRH OR A COLD

Says Cream Applied in Nostrils Opens Air Passages Right Up.

Instant relief—no waiting. Your clogged nostrils open right up; the air passages of your head clear and you can breathe freely. No more hawking, snuffling, blowing, headache, dryness. No struggling for breath at night; your cold or catarrh disappears.

Get a small bottle of Ely's Cream Balm from your druggist now. Apply little of this fragrant, antiseptic, healing cream in your nostrils. It penetrates through every air passage of the head, soothes the inflamed or swollen mucous membrane and relief comes instantly.

It's just fine. Don't stay stuffed-up with a cold or nasty catarrh.

U. S. MARSHAL VISITS CITY

ALIEN ENEMIES MUST COMPLY WITH LAW

All Territory Within Half Mile of Postoffice and Government Buidling Forbidden Ground

United States Marshal, Herman O'Connor visited Charlevoix, Wednesday of this week, his object being to see that the recent proclamation of the president regarding aliens was enforced, and also to give those who are entitled to permits a chance to obtain them direct from him.

While here Mr. O'Connor prescribed and declared the following: That all the territory adjacent to, and within one half mile of the postoffice building in Charlevoix, Michigan, to be forbidden territory, under the Proclamation of the President, issued April 6th, 1917, and also all territory within one half mile of any fort, camp, arsenal, aircraft station, factory or workshop for the manufacture of munitions of war, or of any products for the use of the army or navy, or any iron or copper mine or electric power plant.

All alien enemies living within the above zones or wishing to come within or pass through the same, must apply to the United States Marshal for a permit to do so or subject himself liable to summary arrest and detention until the conclusion of the war.

By the term alien enemy is meant all male persons over fourteen years of age who are subjects of the German Empire and who have not become naturalized citizens of the United States. Persons who have declared their intention by taking out their first papers must also have permits.

That the contents of this proclamation will be rigidly enforced there is no doubt. Aliens must strictly comply to its decreen or arrent and punishment will follow. Blanks containing question which most be answered by the applicants have been left with the postmaster, T. George Finucan and all alien enemies must secure one of them at once, or trouble will follow. Do this at once, those who come under the ruling of the proclamation.

HELP FORT SHERIDAN ASSOCIATION

Newly Commissioned Officers In Need of Financial Assistance

An association has been formed of the men at Fort Sheridan, R. O. T. C. for the purpose of loaning to newly commissioned officers, a sum of not to exceed seventy five ($75) dollars for home service, and not to exceed Two Hundred and fifty ($250) dollars for service abroad, and also to give legal or other service to the officers in order that they may leave with their minds free from worry for the welfare of those dependent upon them. Practically the whole camp seized the idea and became members, paying a membership fee of five ($5) dollars, and in many cases much more. As over 1,000 men have asked for loans, it was found that this sum was entirely inadequate for the purpose, and for the present money has been loaned to the association by the banks. It is necessary to cover this deficiency immediately, and the general public is relied upon to meet this demand.

Anyone wishing to take out supporting membership in the Fort Sheridan Association, apply to, Lieut. Dan W. Mather.

WHAT A MAN WANTS FOR CHRISTMAS

When a man wants to be "dead sure" of the right thing for a Woman's Xmas Gift, he goes to a woman's store; there he sees what women buy for themselves, and gets the expert advice of other women.

The rule works both ways, and the resourceful women seeks out the man's store and the advice of other men.

This is a store for men; it sells things a man enjoys owning; the things he gets for himself. And it's a place for both men and women to buy gifts for men.

Our stock is generous and varied:

Wool and Sheeplined Mackinaws
Fur Coats and Fur Mittens
Wool Shirts, Underwear and Socks
Mittens, Fur Caps, Cloth Caps
Traveling Bags and Trunks

The line of goods is so varied it is hard to enumerate all of them. Our line of Wool Coats for boys have proved winners and many have bought them. We have Sweaters for Men, Boys and Women, heavy work clothes that stand the wear and tear, Knee Pants for boys, Boys' Mackinaws, and hundreds of articles that are suitable for gift making. Ask to see our line, we will be glad to have you call whether you buy or not.

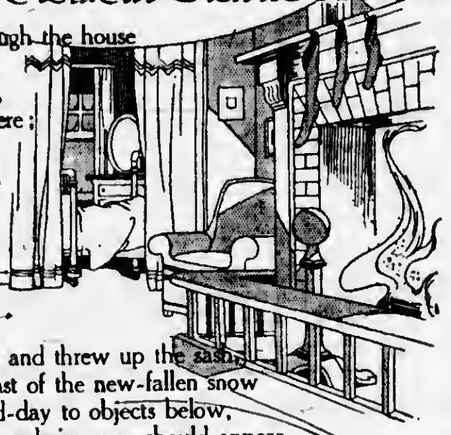
A VISIT FROM ST. NICHOLAS

by Clement Clarke Moore

'TWAS the night before Christmas, when all through the house
Not a creature was stirring, not even a mouse;
The stockings were hung by the chimney with care,
In hopes that ST. NICHOLAS soon would be there;
The children were nestled all snug in their beds,
While visions of sugar-plums danced in their heads;
And mamma in her kerchief, and I in my cap,
Had just settled our brains for a long winter's nap,
When out on the lawn there arose such a clatter,
I sprang from the bed to see what was the matter.
Away to the window I flew like a flash,



Tore open the shutters and threw up the sash.
The moon on the breast of the new-fallen snow
Gave the lustre of mid-day to objects below,
When, what to my wondering eyes should appear,
But a miniature sleigh, and eight tiny reindeer,
With a little old driver, so lively and quick,
I knew in a moment it must be St. Nick.
More rapid than eagles his coursers they came,
And he whistled, and shouted, and called them by name;
"Now, Dasher! now, Dancer! now, Prancer and Vixen!
On, Comet! on, Cupid! on, Donder and Blitzen!
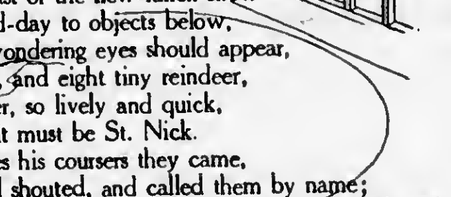
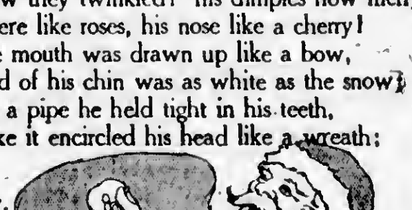
To the top of the porch! to the top of the wall!

Now dash away! dash away! dash away all!"
As dry leaves that before the wild hurricane fly,
When they meet with an obstacle, mount to the sky;
So up to the house-top the coursers they flew,
With the sleigh full of Toys, and St. Nicholas too.
And then, in a twinkling, I heard on the roof
The prancing and pawing of each little hoof.
As I drew in my head, and was turning around,
Down the chimney St. Nicholas came with a bound.
He was dressed all in fur, from his head to his foot,



And his clothes were all tarnished with ashes and soot;
A bundle of Toys he had flung on his back,
And he looked like a peddler just opening his pack.
His eyes—how they twinkled! his dimples how merry!
His cheeks were like roses, his nose like a cherry!
His droll little mouth was drawn up like a bow,
And the beard of his chin was as white as the snow;
The stump of a pipe he held tight in his teeth,
And the smoke it encircled his head like a wreath;

He had a broad face and a little round belly,
That shook when he laughed, like a bowlful of jelly.
He was chubby and plump, a right jolly old elf,
And I laughed when I saw him, in spite of myself;
A wink of his eye and a twist of his head,
Soon gave me to know I had nothing to dread:
He spoke not a word, but went straight to his work,
And filled all the stockings; then turned with a jerk,



And laying his finger aside of his nose,
And giving a nod, up the chimney he rose;
He sprang to his sleigh, to his team gave a whistle,
And away they all flew like the down of a thistle.
But I heard him exclaim, ere he drove out of sight,
"Happy Christmas to all, and to all a good-night."

REGISTRATION FOR SECOND DRAFT

BEGAN ON FRIDAY MORNING OF LAST WEEK

Voluntary Enlistments of Registered Men Now Forbidden Except In Certain Lines

The privilege of voluntary enlistments in the United States army, of registered men ceased on Friday of last week, except as to certain medical and dental students.

Uncle Sam will select his fighting men from the list of nine million men who on the following Saturday will answer 148 searching questions, the answers to which will determine his liability to military service.

The questionnaire automatically revokes all exemptions and discharges under the first draft. Failure to return his answers in seven days after he receives the questions makes the registrant liable to a year in prison. Mailing of the list by the local board constitutes legal notice to the registrant. His failure to receive it does not excuse him.

The questions are framed to draw out every bit of information that may be of value to the boards in fixing the class to which a man is to be assigned. No detail of the status of dependents or of possible or actual outside sources of income, has been overlooked.

The registrant, after filling in the inside of his questionnaire, indicates on the front the class to which he believes he should be assigned. If the board agrees, there is no further action necessary by either party until the individual comes due for military service and is called up for physical examination. If the board disagrees and places the registrant in another class, the machinery for appeal to the district board is set in motion automatically.

Of the nine million men who will receive the lengthy questionnaire it is estimated two million will be assigned to the first class and subject to duty with the colors before any man in any other class is called.

The first class will be made up of the following:

(A) Single man without dependent relatives.

(B) Married man, with or without children, or father of motherless children, who has habituully failed to support his family.

(C) Married man dependent on wife for support.

(D) Married man, with or without children, or father of motherless children; man not usefully engaged, family supported by income independent of his labor.

(E) Unskilled farm labor.

(F) Unskilled industrial laborer. Registrant by or in respect of whom no deferred classification is claimed or made. Registrant who fails to submit questionnaire and in respect of whom no deferred classification is claimed or made.

All registrants not included in any other division in this schedule.

Legal and medical advisory boards in every community will aid the registrant in making his answers. He will indicate in what occupations he considers himself expert and from that list it is purposed to create separate groups of men trained in any particular trade or profession should the need arise for them.

The men will be divided into five classes. The fifth composed of the following will be exempted or discharged from draft.

(A) Officers, legislative, executive or judicial, of the United States or of state, territory, or District of Columbia.

(B) Regular or duly ordained minister of religion.

(C) Student who on May 18, 1917 was preparing for ministry in recognized school.

(D) Persons in military or naval service of United States.

(E) Alien enemy.

(F) Resident alien (not an enemy) who claims exemption.

(G) Person totally and permanently physically or mentally unfit for military service.

(H) Person morally unfit to be a soldier of the United States.

(I) Licensed pilot actually employed in the pursuit of his vocation.

Members of well organized religious sect or organization, organized and exsiting on May 18, 1917, whose then existing creed or principles forbid its members to participate in war in any form, and whose religious convictions are against war, or participation therein.

Advisory Boards Organizing

Supporting affidavits of other persons must be secured by every registrant who claims exemption or deferred liability in grounds of studying for the ministry, dependency and industrial or agricultural grounds.

Liability to service in the other classes follows the numbers drawn in the famous lottery on July 20.

These classes will be made up of the following:

Class II

(A) Married man with children or father of motherless children, where such wife or children or such motherless children are not mainly dependent upon his labor for support for the reason that there are other reasonably certain sources of adequate support (excluding earnings or possible earnings from the labor of the wife,) available, and that the removal of the registrant will not deprive such dependents of support.

(D) Married man, without children whose wife, although the registrant is engaged in a useful occupation, is not mainly dependent upon his labor for support, for the reason that the wife is skilled in some special class of work which she is physically able to perform and in which she is employed, or in which there is an immediate opening for her under conditions that will enable her to support herself decently and without suffering or hardship.

(C) Necessary skilled farm laborer in necessary agricultural enterprise.

(D) Necessary skilled industrial laborer in necessary industrial enterprise.

Class III

(A) Man with dependent children (not his own) but toward whom he stands in relation of parent.

(B) Man with dependent, aged or infirm parents.

(C) Man with dependent, helpless brothers or sistors.

(D) County or municipal officer.

(E) Highly trained fireman or policeman, at least three years in service of municipality.

(F) Necessary custom house clerk.

(G) Necessary employee of United States in transmission of the mails.

(H) Necessary artificer or workman in United States armory or arsenal.

(I) Necessary employee in service of United States.

(J) Necessary assistant, associate or hired manager of neeessary agricultural enterprise.

(K) Necessary highly specialized technical or mechanical expert of necessary industrial enterprise.

(L) Necessary assistant or associate manager of neeessary industrial enterprise.

Class IV

(A) Man whose wife or children are mainly dependent on his labor for support.

(B) Mariner actually employed in sea service of citizen or merchant in the United States.

(C) Necessary sole managing, controlling or directing head of necessary agricultural enterprise.

(D) Necessary sole managing, controlling or directing head of necessary industrial enterprise.

TRAPS BIG WOLF

Harbor Springs Indian Gets Bounty of $35.00

Peter Paul, a Cross Village Indian who does considerable hunting and trapping, caught a full sized grey timber wolf in one of his traps last week. There is a bounty of thirty-five dollars on the animal and Paul appeared at the county seat Friday and claimed the bounty. For some time people have insisted that there was an occasional wolf in this section and this is proof of their claims.

INCOME TAX HITS HUNDREDS

NEW LAW INCLUDES INCOMES OF OVER $1,000

In Case Person Is Unmarried—Blank Should be Applied for at Once

Every unmarried resident, male or female, of Charlevoix, whose income is over $1,000 a year, $83.33 a month, and all married persons whose income is $2,000 or over, must report to E. J. Doyle, internal revenue collector at Grand Rapids, with the least possible delay, so that income tax blanks may be sent them. Formerly the minimum income on which a report was required was $3,000 and only the persons who heretofore have been making reports are on record at the collector's office. Failure to make returns as required by the law is punishable by a fine or imprisonment.

The statute provides: "Every unmarried man, woman or child, with a net income of $1,000 from wages, profits, interest, rent or any other source during the year ending Dec. 31, must report." Married persons the heads of families, having net incomes of $2,000 must make similar reports under oath, prior to March 1, 1918.

For single persons the tax will be two per cent on incomes over $1,000 to $3,000 and four per cent on all above $4,000. An additional surtax becomes effective after $5,000 of income is reached, which increases with the size of the income.

For married persons, (man or woman) the tax is two per cent of incomes over $2,000 to $4,000. The surtax is the same as is the case with those who are unmarried.

The government will keep a check upon all persons who may have taxable incomes. This it will do in part, by asking employers to furnish a list of their employees, with their names and addresses, who receive incomes of $800 a year or over.

HANKEY DAM AT PETOSKEY GOES OUT

Rush of Water Carries Away Spillway and Foot Bridge

Fully fourteen feet of the Hankey Milling company's dam across Bear river just above the city light plant at Petoskey, went out shortly after 1 o'clock Friday afternoon.

Two little school girls had just reached the east side of the foot-bridge and were not ten feet away from it when the whole structure there went down the river. These little tots evidently missed being drowned by a mere matter of ten seconds time. Some man crossing to the west had also just crossed the place when the trouble developed.

The foot-bridge and spillway were washed out and a part of the fill on each side of it went down stream. The trouble will compel the shutting down of the mill for several days.

Timbers and lumber were hurried to the place within an hour of the washout and work started getting repairs made. It is estimated that with fair weather the repairs will be completed in a few days.

The Christmas Spirit

"Good-will to Men"

As Christmas is ushered in this year we are at war—at war to enforce a righteous peace coupled with justice.

We are allied with the cause of right. We are fighting for justice that recognizes the individual rights of man—justice that will forever prelude a repetition of this world disaster.

This is the spirit of America today—it is with our boys "somewhere in France," with our sailors upon the high seas, with with our great national army mobolized in the cantonments; with us at home---in our labors, our duties and our sacrifices.

May we ever maintain this spirit.

To the invalid it is a distinct aggravation not to be able to have Christmas dinner at least with the family. But since that is often necessary a little thought will bring much cheer with each relay of the tray when well arranged little dishes appear in the place of the usual portions which greet the weary eyes.

Only an invalid can realize the joy of seeing a whole piece of roast beef carved or the scanning of a whole turkey or fowl, realizing one can select the extra titbit one prefers, instead of the everlasting samples of food from the regions below. But a salad disguised as a Christmas tree and other individual dainties which say right out to the listening ear as well as to the eye, "I was made for you alone," will bring much joy to the stay-abed.

For the first consideration it is well to consult the attending physician before making the menu, so that there may be no heartbreaking denials, for to the monotonous life of the invalid, especially the slowly convalescent, every disappointment becomes magnified to a mountain of distress. And it is surprising how a very simple menu may hold, concealed to the layman, the most disastrous combinations for that particular patient.

The edge of the tray may be decorated with a garland of green and a Christmas nosegay with a bit of cherry red ribbon laid beside the cover, and there may be a miniature forest of Christmas greens, in which the orange or grapefruit is placed.

One great advantage in the individual dinner is that the invalid need not wait and may be served without waiting while others are enjoying themselves. A plump squab or young chicken, already sliced, but apparently whole, with dashing crimson bows on its leg, may symbolize the turkey. The cranberry sauce may appear as a star in the center of the mashed potatoes, and any one who has carried trays will appreciate the space and the lightness of one dish less when two can be combined.

It is an excellent plan to have a small sized table, covered with a white cloth and decorated with the greens, on which the presents may be arranged for Christmas morning and later in the day used for serving. Here should be placed a supply of table silver and extra plates, so that everything required will be at hand, and, again, the tray will be lighter.

Each dish should bear a sprig of holly, and the sandwich, with any particular filling, should bear a star of currant or cranberry jelly. This same idea may be used for little Christmas cakes, with a filling of jelly and a jelly star on the white frosted top.

For the salad there is a tree of crisp lettuce leaves, through which is thrust a skewer (stained with brown gravy or beef juice) as the tree trunk. This tree trunk is supported by two slices of toasted bread, with a filling of nuts and mayonnaise. All through the tree between the leaves are bright bits of vegetables, such as carrots, beets and peas, to form a vegetable salad, or, if a fruit salad is preferred, bits of apple, halved grapes and nuts and celery may furnish the decorations of the tree. French or mayonnaise dressing may be served separately and the filling omitted from the bread.

Illustrated is a pretty salad for the invalid tray. Preserved cherries are selected and pecans thrust into the center of each one when they are arranged temptingly upon a plate.

The Christmas Gift

by

MINNA IRVING

Copyright, 1916, by American Press Association.

SHE took a scrap of filmy lace,
A bow of ribbon blue,
A bit of gay brocaded stuff,
A silken tasael, too,
A yard of gold and silver cord
And sewed and shirred and tied
The dainty fragments each to each
And viewed her work with pride.

SHE put it in a snowy box
And made a package trim
And sent it off by parcel post
On Christmas eve to "him."
It had no name nor any use
To serve or to uplift.
She could not class the thing herself.
'Twas just a Christmas gift.

Pleasant Christmas Custom.

A pleasant old time custom was that of presenting to the mother or ladies of the household at Christmas a silver spoon. The custom was introduced in the seventeenth century and was much in fashion in England, and it came to be of considerable significance and importance, inasmuch as the donors vied with each other in securing for their wives and other friends such specimens of silver as were not only of considerable intrinsic value, but of rare and unusual pattern and of exquisite finish. And so each spoon naturally came to be in a certain sense historic; at least it would always be a souvenir of the particular Christmas festival when it was presented. The matron of middle life would have suggested much of her family history and experience by looking over her spoons.

Christmas Occupation For Children.

One of the prettiest Christmas "occupations" was published in a magazine a few years ago. It was a sheet containing a fir tree and about 100 tree toys and ornaments on and under the tree. This may be imitated at home. Let the children cut and paint a fir tree in conventional Christmas tree shape. The toys may be cut from the advertisements of magazines and catalogues and may be painted or crayoned

Let Christmas Stand For Pleasure

Let Christmas stand for pleasure and for the reason that it is especially the Christian day. Then Christianity drops her weeds and smiles. Then the whole world takes up the refrain:

Religion never was designed
To make our pleasures less.

And the good Dr. Doddridge comes singing in:

I live in pleasure when I live to thee.

The doctor must not fly his own logic. Not to live in pleasure is not to live to thee. Pure pleasure it must be, no doubt, but that is the pleasure embodied in Christmas.

If we were to fancy a wholly Christianized world it would be a world inspired by the spirit of Christmas—a bright, friendly, beneficent, generous, sympathetic, mutually helpful world. A man who is habitually mean, selfish, narrow, is a man without Christmas in his soul. Let us cling to Christmas all the more as a day of the spirit which in every age some souls have believed to be the possible spirit of human society. The earnest faith and untiring endeavor which see in Christmas a forecast are more truly Christian, surely, than the pleasant cynicism of atheists, etc., which smiles upon it as the festival of a futile hope. Meanwhile we may reflect that from good natured hopelessness to a Christmas world may not be farther than from star dust to a solar system.—George William Curtis.

FRED G. BELLINGER

NEW YOUNG BUILDING CHARLEVOIX, MICHIGAN

Christmas Eve in New France

IN the little town of "New France," a few miles from Quebec, there lived an old man by the name of Perry Fanchion. He was about sixty years of age, a wealthy old bachelor, who, with the exception of a housekeeper, lived alone in a great weather-beaten old mansion on the river road. He lived a very secluded kind of life, was seldom seen upon the streets of the town, and attracted very little attention when he was seen. There were hardly ten people in the place that knew the man or anything concerning his life.

Yet there had been a time in the life of Perry Fanchion when he had attracted a great deal of attention, and won the sympathy and pity of the whole town. That had been over forty years ago, and in the meantime the town had changed from a village into a city. The old families had died out and the younger generation had forgotten the history of Perry Fanchion.

It was Christmas eve night and bitterly cold. Sleet and snow drove with incessant fury against the great French windows. The heavy old oak doors rattled and shook, while the wind shrilled mournfully among the many old-fashioned gables and chimneys.

Perry sat gazing into the fire. His hair was snow-white, his eyes were dark, and tonight they had a tragic, gloomy look.

On the old colonial furniture the sinister faces carved there grinned horribly and the iron claws seemed to grip the floor hard, as though they were repressing some dark emotion or evil thought.

"Well, Well—I Hope the Children Are All In Bed."

Forty years ago this night Perry was a happy man, for tomorrow he was to marry the beautiful Miss Nelly Leroy, daughter of the rector of St. Agnes.

But that great factor in the events of a man's career, fate, willed otherwise, for only a few days before the wedding was to take place the bride-to-be was stricken with a fatal illness and less than a week later was laid away in the village graveyard.

After the funeral Perry Fanchion shut himself up, almost alone, in the great house. Time moved on and people forgot! One by one his friends left him, until at last he stood alone, a stranger in a stranger world!

About this time the poorer people, the destitute of the city, became aware of the fact that they had a friend, a very good, mysterious friend, mysterious because, try as they might (and did) they never could discover his identity.

One time when a severe landlord was about to turn a poor family out of the home they lived in, because they were not able to pay the rent, that family found the required amount and a short note asking them to accept the money as a gift, by the fireplace. Several times incidents like this occurred among the unfortunate, but as to where these mysterious presents came from, or by whom presented, none could ever tell. But the children suspected Santa Claus of having a hand in the matter.

Tonight as Perry sat by the fire he was very sad and very, very lonesome. The town clock struck ten. Perry arose donned a huge fur coat to play his little act bravely. A worn, tired smile played around his usually grim mouth as he thought of the scenes of joy and poverty he would witness this night. He crossed the town with little family burying ground. He was gone for thirty minutes and when he returned his face showed traces of deep emotion.

"Good-night, sweetheart, I have waited forty years; surely the end cannot be far distant!" he murmured as he softly closed the gate.

There came a jingling of sleigh bells—a sleigh drove up, he entered and was whirled away over the snow.

In a tiny little hovel on the edge of the city five little curly-headed children, dressed in old and ragged but clean clothes were grouped around a small fire trying to keep warm. Their mother was sewing for a living, her husband having died several years ago, leaving the children to her to provide for, and being a woman of good education, she was trying to rear her children as best she might. She was having a desperate struggle and day by day she saw with despair the fight growing harder and harder.

"Mother, when is Santa Claus coming?" inquired little Billy.

For a while mother didn't seem to want to say anything. A large tear fell silently on her work. With a hasty movement, almost angrily, she brushed it aside.

"Perhaps he won't come at all!" she replied with a little catch in her voice.

"N-o-o-o-o!" came a chorus of unbelieving voices from the fire.

"He is coming!"

Suddenly there came a jingling of bells and a sleigh drew up in front of the home.

"Whoop!" yelled Johnny. "Come on kids—Santa Claus! My eye!"

In an instant the fire was deserted and five little heads were peering eagerly out of the door.

"Gee willikins! Look at the toys!"

"Well, well," said Santy in a loud voice, pretending not to see the little ones. "I hope the children are all in bed tonight, for if they are not, I will not come again."

Five curly heads vanished in a second, and when the old gentleman entered the room all were tucked snugly in bed—that is all but Billy, who in his excitement and hurry pulled all the cover up over his head and left his feet and body uncovered.

Santa Claus laughed and dumped the contents of his pack near the hearth. There were drums, dolls, tin soldiers, books, candy, nuts and fireworks.

Just at this moment Billy's toe rubbed up a splinter, and there came a subdued grunt from the bed which changed to a fitful, sleepy kind of cough as the "old fellow" turned around. The snores redoubled in volume. Old Santy handed mother a sealed envelope and departed before she could sufficiently recover from her confusion and surprise to thank him. It was addressed to her, so she broke the seal. The sum and substance of it was, that the house and property of Fanchion and something like five hundred dollars were to be hers upon the death of Perry Fanchion.

So at last the identity of the mysterious Santa Claus and the friend of the poor and unfortunate was disclosed.

Her home was only one of the many to which he had been that night. Tomorrow they would honor him. They would come one and all to thank him, to praise him, to bless him—perhaps to beg for more as the case might be.

The sleigh stopped at the Fanchion homestead and old Santa Claus paid the driver and entered the house.

Perry was weary and as he walked down the dark, gloomy hall he almost dropped with fatigue. Fatigue of the body, weariness of the soul, the soreness of a broken heart, all conspired against him! Wearily he slid out of the disguise. His eyes wandered with a pitiful expression over the empty, dark room. None came to welcome him. No one to love or care for him. She had gone on before. Perhaps she was waiting for him up there now. He didn't know. The blood-chilling faces grinned and the cruel claws gripped.

He drew one of the heavy old chairs up before the dying embers and cast down, bowing his head far over into the grate. Closer he huddled. What was this dreadful chill that seemed to be taking possession of his body? His great sorrow preyed upon him.

"Oh, God!" he murmured; "I can stand it no longer."

Something gentle and soft stroked his hair! his hair that was white as snow. Two arms encircled him lovingly.

He looked up, at first unbelievingly, and then a wonderful smile lit up his face.

"Nelly!" he exclaimed, joyously. "At last you have come for me. I knew you would! I thank Thee O —"

His voice trailed away in the distance.

The fire died out and the faces no longer grined, but seemed to smile in the darkness. Far off, just as the dawn was breaking, the chimes rang out their message. Was it fancy or did a soul far out in space echo:

"Glory to God in the highest and on earth peace, good will toward men."

Perry was at rest!

Christmas Is Still a Religious Holiday

Christmas holds a unique place as a yearly celebration. The observance of other holidays has changed, but Christmas has yielded none of its original sacredness. It is now, as at first, essentially a religious day. Its reality voices a song of fraternity people grow at this season more generous, more indulgent, more human. It is evangelistic for the destruction of malice and ill-will—differences between one and another are forgotten.

Year by year Christmas devitalizes selfishness, and consequently the day is a powerful factor for good. Great characters step from the spiritualized atmosphere; majestic deeds of charity leave their blessing and example everywhere. Yuletide is not merely a period of gift bestowal-or solely a time of thoughtfulness. Its significance is more profound. Feeling is immersed in kindness. Conduct is adapted to what is highest and best.

The first plain Christmas, of which that of today is a sublime issue, dignified sacrifice. The Good Book says: "And there were shepherds watching, and keeping the night watches over their flocks." A manifestation of personal sacrifice. Those who would be rich must give. The gift need not be monetary. Giving is without limitation—if a singer, give to others a glad song; if a millionaire in experience, give freely of advice; if a table of plenty, share the repast with those who are not only physically hungry, but thirsty for sympathy; if invested with geniality, become a prince giver of laughter, of service, of encouragement. Be constructive. Followers of this doctrine draw from the season a rich return in happiness.

CAN DO A LOT IN WINNING WAR

HOW TO HELP WIN THE WAR BY GEORGE ADE

Says Red-Blooded Americans Between Ages of 30 and 50 Can Do a Lot

Advice to Americans between the ages of 30 and 50 on How to Help Win the War, was given thus by George Ade:

While the war is on, the active work in support of the boys at the front will be shouldered cheerfully by men and women a little too old for aerobatic service but not yet frosted at the temples.

They will supply part of the money and most of the "pep" needed to supply and encourage a huge army in the field.

It is for them to realize that wa have passed the period of doubting and question answering.

"Hustling Supplantiog Cooversatioo"

We have come to the days when hastling must supplant conversation.

It was all right six months ago to spare an hour a day in trying to coavince some ona with a vacaat eye and a dark mind that we were really justified in accepting the insolent challenga thrown at us by Germany.

You aro to be forgivea if, even four montbs ago, you spent valuable time trying to convince a sluggish minority that—

First. Government bonds are a safe investment.

Seeond . Pro-German propaganda are to be hit in the head.

Third. Tho allies are to be trusted.

Fourth. The Red Cross is above suspicion and does not obtain money or knitted goods under false pretenses.

Fifth. All taxes which have been levied are justified by extraordinary and unprecedented conditions.

Sixth. Tbis is not a rich man's war; it was not precipitated by any Wall Street influence; it is not concerned over private investments; it is not a grand benefit for munition makers.

Seventh. Fair promises havc no valua when they are made by a criminal who finds bimself backed into a corner.

Eighth. The men in our training camps and aboard transports and stationed somewhera in France are being safeguarded as American soldiers never befors were lookad after, as regards wholesome food, proper sanitation, prevention of disease, and moral guidance.

Why enamerate further?

You'll Find 'Em Everywhere

Abe Martin met a fellow down in Brown County that never beard of Tony Pastor, and we have a taxpayer in our township who thinks the world is flat, and you can find eabaret performers in New York City who don't believe there is such a placa as Iowa, and clairvoyants still find customers and you can name people who will consult a patent medicine "ad," in preference to n doctor, and old Jethro Tilford, over in Shelby Township carries a dried-up potato to keep off tho rheumatism.

In every community you will find a contrary minded sediment of the human race—people who keep themselves somewhat in evidenee by noisily denying facts which arc self-evident to all of their neighbors who happen to be in tho full enjoyment of sanity.

They are somewhat like frogs, i. e., they make an awful noisa in proportion to their number.

Mostly "Atmosphere Disturbers"

Now, if you will taka the trouble to check up in your immediate neighborhood the peopla who, from the beginaing of the war, have been full of doubts and questions and false alarms, you will find that tbey ara few in number and of preeious little importance, except as atmospheric disturbances.

Also, did it ever oecur to you:

That the man who had bought most liberally of Government bonds never questioned the safety of his security?

That tho woman who was knitting the most socks and sweaters never believed the silly stories about the Red Cross being a crooked institution?

That the soldier boy about to board a transport and join his comrades of France and Great Britain never was known to doubt tha sincerity of the men with whom he was soon to join shoulders?

No, indeed!

All the wails and misgivings and fish stories are put into circulation by a few picayune outsiders who were just built to be obstructionists and somehow can't help it.

Belong With the "Tories"

They are in a class with tho Tories who feasted the aristocratic British officers while Washington's Army starved at Valley Forge.

They are a bold over of the Vallandigham clan that revilad Lincoln and gave an underhanded copperhead support to the cause of slavery, even after it was doomed.

They are the kiad of people who oppose public improvements, will not buy tickets for the Chautauqua, criticize the minister if he smiles in public, and attach the presumption of guilt to aay woman attacked by scandal.

They are the small bores, the two-by-fours, the gnats, the sand flies, tho ticks put on earth to teach good people the quality of patience.

The time has come to ignore them.

If we can not lock them up for safe-keeping, at lesst we can shut them out from our daily program and go ahead with the important work laid out for us.

No Time to Waste Proviog Facts

This is no time to waste preelous hours and vocal energy in trying to prove that two and two make four, and water is wet, and the sun sets in the West, and the mad dog of Prussianism must be muzzled.

Do not try to convince the mina-

OSBORNE MAKES HIS ANNOUNCEMENT

IS A CANDIDATE FOR UNITED STATES SENATOR

Wants Republican Nomination for Seat Now Held by William Alden Smith

Former Governor Chase S. Osborn has formally announced his candidacy for the republican nomination for the seat in the United States senate now held by William Alden Smith.

In his statement made public last week, Mr. Osborn says:

"I am a Republican candidate in Michigan for United States Senator.

"To some extent I have a public record. It reflects to a degree my equipment, my temperament, my character and my views. Vanity and assumption are not too much involved, I hope, in believing that it proves that I have tried to be an honest, earnest, courageous, and industrious citizen. When public office has been entrusted to me, I have endeavored to be devoted and conscructive, and to perform the work without reference to any other consideration than public welfare.

"I believe in the loyalty, patriotism, efficiency, and sufficiency of the people of the United States and especially of Michigan.

"I believe without a shadow of reservation that our war with Germany is a just war and that it should officially include Austria-Hungary, Turkey and Bulgaria. Moreover I believe it to be our war. If German's mad imperialism had seized the European world our turn would have come next and we would have been alone in a life and death contest. It is deplorable that our leaders have been without vision as to the necessity for preparedness and that certain members of both Senate and House sat complacently with folded arms in an otiose dream. But now the country is doing so well in every respect that there needs only to be confidence and sustained co-operation to win the war for our nation and our faith.

"I believe in, have advocated for years and will support all efforts toward securing full suffrage for the women in America.

"I believe in the prohibition of the liquor traffic and especially in the aims of the Anti-Saloon League of Michigan, whose brave and devoted leaders have done more for Michigan than can be measured by mankind.

"I believe that there must be organized in the world an international alliance to preserve the peace of the world, comprehending courts of arbitration whose decrees shall be enforced by an internationl police body having power over the lands and waters of the earth to the end that the entire earth shall be a safe and happy abiding place for all sane humanity.

"I believe in organized labor and hold that it is not impossible to so arrange the relations between capital and labor that justice will be enjoyed by both.

"I believe in the wise conservation of every American resource and especially of the child power which is the woman and man force of tomorrow.

"I believe in a classification of and a clear distinction between government business and private business, and that the one shall interfere as little as possible with the other. There should be no meticulous meddling on the part of the government with legitimate private activities; no usurpation by groups of persons of national functions.

"I believe that individual responsibility cannot be passed on to the government and that while wise paternalism can be invoked in many instances that it is not a cure-all for human delinquency either collective or individual.

"I believe in universal military training.

"I believe in equitable taxation.

"I belive in America doing its full part in the work of the world, but that it should not endeavor to be the autocrat of the world, nor an over-insistent pedant.

"I believe in world democracy, but do not believe that it means anything without a continuous improvement in humanism, in fraternity and in that liberty and equality for mankind that are more than a mere slogan.

"I believe in the encouragement of education and of agriculture and in internal improvements even to the extent of coastal canals and canalized rivers and certainly in adequate highways. Internal improvements should be sufficiently removed from politics to protect them and the country from hoobooks.

"I believe in supporting the president of the United States and have no patience whatever with seditious utterances in high or low places. The successful direction of this war is of first importance and transcends any partisan considerations. This does not necessarily mean a muzzled honest press or a complete restriction of the utterances of courageous and conatuctive patriotic thinkers. It seems to me that the past record of a man may be taken to indicate in a degree his tendency to patriotic criticism or destructive treason.

"I believe that all governmental activities should be measured in terms of human weal and before dollar consideration.

"It is ineluctable that our government will be just what we make it and that it will improve in meaningfulness in ratio to individual and collective advancement in stands of citizenship.

"I believe that at least a limited degree those advanced policies of government if proven to be wise, thought to have been demanded only by war conditions, should be continued after the war is over. The exactions and frictions of peaceful times, covering longer periods in which men and women are worn to death, are as trying if not as dramatic, as the strife of war. A good thing to do in war time may be quite as wisely done in time of peace. This only would mean that the first thing always to be considered is widest public welfare.

"I realize that there has not been before a more important United States senatorial occasion in Michigan. Also, I understand clearly that many persons as honest and well meaning as I would have others think I am, have looked upon me as a radical and some of them have thought of me as being an extremist to the danger point. Now that almost every single one and all of my advanced ideas so-called have been adopted throughout the civilized world, including our own country, I assume that those reasonable persons who have viewed me as unreasonable will somewhat revise their estimates. I am, I hope, dangerous to the old laissez faire policies that permitted a few to segregate the blessings of government. If there is in Michigan someone available for Senator who is more aggressively able, more constructively courageous and more independent and resourceful in initiative than I am, I ask people to support him before me. I am as eager as any one to choose the best and strongest man.

"My happiness does not at all depend upon being selected for public office, but it does compel me to offer my services.

"Perhaps it will be remembered that in an attempt to study and know the world, I have visited every country, little and big, on earth that has its autonomy and most of the colonial and suzerain substates.

"If there is any attitude that I have not made clear, I will gladly make public replies to any and all questions bearing upon it.

"With a deep sense of gratitude to God for citizenship in America and Michigan and with a keen feeling of apperciation of the trust and honors already given me by the people of my state, I subscribe myself as

Their obedient servant,

CHARLEVOIX BOY IS FORGING TO FRONT

Son of Local Attorney Goes Into Government Service

Seven automobile technical experts have been requisitioned by the Automobile Industries Committee, to assist in placing war work of the government with the various automobile plants.

Among them is Forest H. Kane, of the Oakland Motor Car Company, Pontiac, Michigan, son of R. W. Kane of this city, and he is already in Washington in readiness to take up his new duties.

Each engineer is assigned to some particular department of the government. He will see what war work and contracts are being done for that particular department, obtain the necessary blue prints and specifications, and keep a record of all these needs in the offices of the committee. As the representatives of the various automobile plants come to Washington to negotiate for war contracts, these engineers will take them in charge and show them exactly what the government desires.

Another instance of Charlevoix youth forging to the front.

The Woman's Association of the Baptist church will hold a Christmas sale in the shop of art, beside the Charlevoix Hardware, on Saturday afternoon and evening, December 22. The sale will embrace a variety of fancy and useful articles, and baked goods. Lunches will be served. 51t1

If all the optimists along your street should arise some morning into a world bedecked with dew sparkles and exclaim in unison, "What a beautiful sunshiny day!" then some two-legged crab would emerge from behind a lilac bush and say, "Yes, but I think it'll rain before night."

If you find a banana skin on the threshold of patriotic opportunity, kick it aside and do not permit yourself to become fussed.

The stalwart men and women of middle age are to keep the home fires burning during the supreme ordeal now at hand.

They are to raise the crops, speed the factories, collect the taxes, organize the home guards, conserve the wheat and meat and sugar, back up the Red Cross, peddle the Liberty Bonds, write the letters, pack the comfort kits, and stand by for orders at all times.

If a busy worker feels some one tugging at his coat tail, the thing to do is to kick straight back and kick hard, but do not waste time in looking around.

By the way, here is an important tip for every man past 30. Do not tell around that you would be keen to enlist if you were just a little younger.

Some of the men just under 30 will have their doubts, and even those who believe you will not find entertainment in your conversation.

THE bosom of Sergeant Lyndham was filled to the brim with disgust and loathing. Nor was this disgust and loathing entirely without reason. Months of wallowing like a pig in the mud of trenches does not sweeten the soul, and when it is combined with endless duties in the cold fall rains of a shell-swept region that is akin to the borders of inferno, the nerves become ragged. Hence had come about the curdling of the milk of human kindness which had previously existed within him.

Nor had a few little midnight surprise parties over the top in which the bayonet had been the principal piece de resistance tended to decrease these sensations. Even being bowled 20 feet by the concussion of a shell had not cheered him. But it had remained for a whiff of poison gas and a squirt of liquid fire to set and solidify his mind to its present condition. Alive, dead, or as yet unborn, Sergeant Lyndham was of the fixed opinion that he did not like the Boches.

And the last 24 hours had been particularly obnoxious from the fact that they had been entirely sleepless. The horizon was still lurid with cannon flashes and the uproar remained fiendish despite the fact that it was hours after midnight, but he was accustomed to such things, and knew that once asleep, they would not trouble him. Also, for all he knew, he might dream of something pleasant. He was free now for a few hours within his blankets, and was in the act of removing his boots when his captain thrust his head within and motioned for him to come forth. Knowing that something both new and disagreeable confronted him, he arose and stepped out as commanded.

For a quarter of a mile they silently wound their way along a muddy road until the dim lights of a partially shell-ruined house appeared before them. Into this they entered, and the sergeant, casting his eyes about, saw the colonel of his regiment sitting at a table. Saluting he stood at attention.

"Sergeant Lyndham," said the colonel thoughtfully, "A few months ago when you accompanied one of our airmen over the line and destroyed a plant of the enemy, you did a very brave and skillful thing. For that act you were made a sergeant. Tonight we must have another duty performed, and I have selected you because of my confidence in your courage and ability. It is very likely that you will not return, yet war demands its sacrifices. Without knowing more of this new duty do you volunteer to try and accomplish it?" It was plain enough now that there would be no rest or sleep for him again this night, and the sergeant's disgust and loathing mounted accordingly. Yet he managed to swallow them.

"Yes, sir," he grunted. The colonel nodded.

"You are a brave and willing soldier, sergeant. Were it not for the fact that the regiment contains so many men like you I would sometimes become filled with fear and sadness. Now for the reason I sent for you. You will remember the trenches which run through Thier's woods, do you not?"

"Slightly, colonel. I helped capture them from the Boches at the point of the bayonet."

"And in turn were driven from them by the same amiable gentlemen." Lyndham made a wry face.

"Yes, colonel. But they surprised us most unfairly. It was all very disgusting and made me loathe them."

"I have no doubt. But now listen. We have reason to believe that they have evacuated the position, while it has become important that we regain it. You will follow my reasoning. If the enemy has deserted the ditch we wish to know it, while if he has not, it is equally important that we should know, since we must be advised beforehand what we may expect when we make our advance—whether resistance or unopposed occupancy. Therefore, we are compelled to send someone as a scout to ascertain the conditions."

"And because of the darkness and treetops the airmen are useless?"

"Exactly. Therefore, you will crawl upon your stomach to the wood, going alone the better to escape observation. By working your way flat upon the ground and instantly becoming still should their lights fall upon you, you may be mistaken by them for what you are likely to become—one of the dead men of which you will pass many, if you are lucky. Should you return with this information, well and good; if not, we will be compelled to adopt other means to secure our information. You had best plan to arrive there by the first light of day that you may be able to observe conditions. If you find the trenches empty, you will have to run for it coming back. We will be watching and if we see you returning, even though you may not succeed in reaching our lines, we will understand that else, of course, they would not let you come back. You see it is all very simple, sergeant."

"As simple as suicide, colonel."

"I can do no more than wish you good luck. However, you will start at once." With another salute Lyndham turned upon his heel and walked away.

Well upon his way, he lay in the darkness on the field between the opposing battle lines. Over his head shells were hurtling, shrieking off into the distance with the wail of banshees. The glare of search bombs threw their ghastly light upon a field still more ghastly. Occasional flights of machine gun bullets swept over him like gusts of cyclone driven hail. He came to a shell crater the size of a cellar, and crept into it. It was half full of mire and the sudden blaze of a rocket revealed horribly torn and bleeding things half submerged in the drainage water of the hole. Filled with unutterable repugnance he abided his time, and in a moment of pitch darkness clambered over the edge and resumed his snakelike crawl through the murk.

He reached the wood, found the maze of entanglements, and making a breach with his wire-cutter, crawled to the edge of the excavation, peered and listened. No sound came from the blackness below, and he slid over the top. Silently he sat until the first faint light of morning came peeping down through the foliage, then cautiously he began his advance. Around the turns he zigzagged his way in the gathering light, revolver in hand, seeing nothing but the grewsome evidence of the strife that had raged about him. Then he made another sharp turn; he stopped suddenly. Before him, sitting with his back against the wall, was a German, who held a revolver leveled at his breast. Swiftly Lyndham's glance swept the other.

Above the unshaven beard of the one who confronted him the cheeks were the sickly color of death, yellow with the unwholesome color of a mushroom. Mud coated him as an envelope from head to toe, and down his breast a small red trickle was creeping. Slowly the bearded lips parted as words bitter with hate fell from them.

"Ach! You have come again, have you, abominable Englishers! But you return to an empty victory, since we have withdrawn our force to a more desirable place. You may have this abandoned sty in welcome, but first you I shall kill."

Lyndham thought rapidly. Though he had a revolver in his hand, his hand hung at this side, while the muzzle of the other man's weapon was full upon his breast. Into the eyes of his foe he saw leap the deadly glare of hatred as the grimy hands tightened about the butt as the finger prepared to press the trigger. Sergeant Lyndham had more than half expected to be killed before the war was over, but he never pictured his end as coming like this—at the hand of one who was already little better than a dead man. Yet what was to be would be, and in what he believed to be his last moment upon earth a thought flashed across his mind. For the first time throughout the black night he had just passed he remembered what day this was, and the sardonic humor of the thing filled him. "Shoot. And a merry Christmas to you, Fritz," he grinned.

"A Merry Christmas to You, Fritz," He Grinned.

Slowly the fingers of the other relaxed. His eyes softened, and a deep sigh came from the heaving chest. The bloodless lips opened again.

"Himmel! And so it is Christmas morning! I had forgotten." The hand sank to the ground and the head fell forward. Very faintly the voice was arising.

"'Peace on earth and good will to man.' What good that I should shoot you, when many more are doubtless at your back—and none of mine? These trenches you have regained—for the time being. Five minutes more and I shall be dead. I die—it is the holiest hour of a man's life as this is the holiest day. Nein. I will kill no more." His face raised, and a faint smile lighted it. "Merry Christmas, Englisher."

Don't Really Mean It.

"Wishing your friends and neighbors a 'Merry Christmas' is a pleasing custom."

"True, but I have conscientious scruples against doing so," answered the thoughtful man.

"What do you mean?"

"I fear a great many people say 'Merry Christmas!' in much the same spirit that they ask, 'How do you do?' They don't care a hang how you do."—Exchange.

MICHIGAN WEATHER IN TEXAS

SOLDIER BOYS SUFFERING FROM THE COLD

Training In Actual Warfare Being Carried On—In Need of Knitted Goods

(By Herold W. Usher)

Camp MacArthur, Waco, Texas, December 11—"For the past week the boys in Camp MacArtbur have been experiencing Michigan weather in Texas. It has been extremely cold and the place looks more like a polar expedition than an army camp.

"The days are spent in hastening our drill and other work and making preparations to leave. Possibly we will not see Christmas in the United States, at least not in Waco, but we certainly hope so. Nevertheless, we are anxious to get across and take a crack at the "boches," especially Kaiser Bill.

"Training in actual European warfare is carried on here and modern equipment is used. For instance, the gas masks. We have them here and practice using them in a building built for this purpose, which is filled with poisonous gases such as are used by the Germans in the trenches. A company fitted out with gas helmets looks like a bunch of coons going to a masked ball.

The signal platoon of this company is busy at work and is making rapid progress. The semiphore and wigwag systems of signalling are used, and it is real hardship to practice it this kind of weather.

"We now have orders to turn in all of our surplus clothing and get rid of our trunks and extra baggage. Everything is carried in bags and the less the better. The list of things to be taken have been given out. We have to take two months supply of tobacco and stamps. Some GOOD American money, toilet articles, writing paper, as much knitted goods as we can get hold of, and something to read. Things are said to be much cheaper in France, at least we hope so, but the things we use a lot here in this country are impossible to get over there.

The Charlevoix boys would certainly thank the Red Cross if they could get them some knitted goods as we have not been able to get hold of any yet.

Buckwheat Bran is bulky and we need the room. To make room we will sell for a short time at $12.00 per ton. Argo Milling Co. 51t1

ADDITIONAL LOCALS

Mrs. Clarence Wood, who has been quite ill at her home on Petoskey avenue, is convalescing.

Irving Hallett and Joseph Sanford of Notre Dame, will spend the holidays with their parents in this city.

John Walker of Albion college will be home the latter part of this week to spend his Christmas vacation.

Glenn Kirby, who has been in Minneapolis, Minnesota, for the past few months, is in the city for the winter.

Ted Kibbe and Allen Arnold of the M. A. C. will arrive in the city the last of this week for the Christmas holidays.

Mrs. A. M. Wilkinson and children left Tuesday for Douglas, Arizona, where they will spend the winter with Capt. A. M. Wilkinson.

Perry Mason and Leslie Shapton of Ann Arbor, are expected home the latter part of the week to spend the Christmas holidays with their parents.

Robyn Merriam is expected Thursday from Ann Arbor where he is attending the U. of M., to spend the holiday vacation with his mother in this city.

Mrs. Georgianna Clapper will leave this week for Leonard to visit her sister, and from there will go to Saginaw, where she will spend the balance of the Christmas vacation.

Louise Walker, Pauline Markham, Ella Meggison and Countess and Lulu Mason, who have been teaching at Midland the present term, are expected home this week for the Christmas vacation.

The thaw of Tuesday which froze during the night and was followed by a light snow, made very treacherous walking and there were many ludicrous spectacles on the streets in consequence. The writer of the above knows.

Christmas exercises at the First Congregational church will be held Monday evening, December 24, at 7:30 p. m. A service of story and song "The Shepherd's Story" will be given by the Sunday school. You are invited. Everybody come.

Last Thursday evening about thirty members of the freshman class of the Charlevoix High school were entertained at the home of Mr. and Mrs. A. L. Fitch in honor of Miss Hildegarde Wilkinson, who left Tuesday for Douglas, Arizona, to spend the winter.

Charles Arthur McDermott, age 40 years, died at the home of his sister, Mrs. Delle Martin in Hayes township, Wednesday morning (today) of heart disease. Deceased was a widower and the only near relatives surviving him are four sisters: Mrs. Delle Martin, at whose home he died, Mrs. J. C. Twisselman of Angel's Camp, California, Mrs. Gordon Bennett of Oregon, and Miss Clara McDermott of San Francisco. Funeral services will probably be held Friday morning at the Catholic church in this city and interment will be in the Catholic cemetery here.

Charlevoix Chapter No. 141 R. A M. held their annual election of officers Monday, December 17. The following officers were elected: John W. Kirby, H. P., Mason H. Rose, K., Henry W. CHRISTMAS BOXES TO SOLDIERS

BOYS FROM HOME ARE NOT FORGOTTEN

Order of Eastern Star Send Timely Remembrances—Urge Co-operative Movement

During the past week the members of the Order of the Eastern Star hava sent sixteen Christmas boxes to our Charlavoix boys in the camps. Thero are still a number of our home boys not remembered but our money is exhausted, and if any person would like to help with this work by contributing money or any of tha articles in tha boxes, please communicate with Mrs. W. H. Miller, or tha chairman of the committee.

Our soldier boys in camp are not furnished with pillows. Will any boys volunteer to get us some balsam to make little head rests for them. This is not against camp rules.

It was not the intention of the O. E. S. to monopolize this work, we only want to feel that we have scattered a few flowers while there is yet time. There may be many thorns in the paths ahead.

Why not make this a community affair and have a standing committee with a member representing every organization in town. A small contribution from many would not be felt, while for a few the work and expense are too heavy.

The plan could be enlarged, and little remembrances sent to our boys at stated intervals, or suitable for special occasions. For instance, a valentine to each boy on the fourteenth of February, an easter greeting, a flag on flag day, a salute to them on the Fourth of July and so on.

It is said that the first thought of a soldier when facing danger, or wounded on the battla field, is of the folks at home.

Whila they go forth to fight for us and protect our country's honor, may we uphold and encourage them as far as our strengtb and means will permit—for

"Our hearts, our hopes, our prayers, our tears,
Our faith triumphant o'er our fears,
Are all with them!"

Following is a list of names of the boys from Charlavoix now serving in some division of tho United States army or navy. It is the intention of the committee to secure a complete list of names of all boys from here, also their addresses, rank, and division in which they are serving. In the list of names below, some may be missing, and if so, it is unintentional, and the committee would deem it a great favor of those who know of the missing ones should send in their names and address. The list does not include those recently drafted or who within the past week have enlisted:

Camp MacArthur, Waco, Texas

Harold W. Usher, Adolphus Allard, Frank Cody, Forrest McGeagh, Clare Nowland and Harry Noble.

Camp Custer, Battle Creek, Mich.

Joseph Brock, Herbert Wakefield, Ned Durance, Dan Cannon, Tim Whitley, Ranney Bacot and Arthur Nettleton.

U. S, Navy

Arthur Edwards and Clifford Paulson.

U. S. Regular Army

Ray Solomon, Russell Wyers and Albert McClanathan.

U. S. Officers

Dr. W. W. Mitchell, Camp Custer, Battle Creek; 2nd Lieut. Percy Crane Louisville, Kentucky; Captain Clare Coulter, Indianapolis, Indiana; 2nd. Lieut. Dan P. Mather, city; 2nd Lieut. Victor H. Hampton, city; Capt. A. M. Wilkinson, Fort Sill, Oklahoma.

Now Serving in France

Dean Scroggie, Cecil Burns and Lester Taggart.

For the Committee,

CORRESPONDENCE

BARNARD

Hiram Starr moved to Charlevoix on Monday.

John Beattie has entered the employment of Edmund Shapton on tha Nicbols Dairy farm.

Ray Bowdish of Charlevoix visited at the home of his sister, Mrs. Clarence Beattie, the latter part of the week.

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Scroggie hava rented rooms in the Howard Gornell house and moved in the first of the week.

Mrs. Sims Baker returned home Saturday from Harbor Springs, where sha has been visiting her son, John Holiday and family.

James Block moved his family and household goods to Charlevoix last week, and is residing in the Norman Smith house on State street.

Floyd Black, Howard Bennett Clarence Meggison and Georga Spayde, entered the service of Uncle Sam in the fight for democracy last week.

On Friday evening of this week will occur the Christmas program. This will be very unusual in its form this year. First, there will be a party for the Sunday school classes consisting of a supper and a little fun. Supper is to be served promptly at 7 o'clock. At 8 o'clock will occur the Christmas program, in the course of which Rev. Parshall will speak in behalf of the Red Cross and its state-wide campaign for membership, which is being carried on at this time. Instead of the usual Xmas tree with its contributions for candy and presents, an offering will be taken for the benefit of the Orphan's Home at Highland Park, Detroit. It is also expected they will unveil a service flag in honor of the three Sunday school boys who have gone to serve their country.

EVELINE

Nels Lyngklip has moved into the Christensen house for the winter.

Fred White is buying up a carload of cattle for shipment to Chicago soon.

Farmers are reporting many frozen potatoes in their cellars are causing much damage to the unfrozen ones.

Mr. Skow has a new renter on his farm. We're unfamiliar with his name yet.

Walker school will give their Xmas entertainment on Friday evening, this week.

Gus Carlson and John Knudsen called Dr. Colden last week to attend to sick horses.

Louisa Peterson has purchased a drag saw machine and expects to cut block wood for several farmers in this vicinity.

Bernice Courier was unfortunate last week in losing a fine Jersey calf. The supposed cause for the death was too many frozen cornstalks.

Ironton grange meets in regular session, Xmas night, December 25, and a program will be given after which a pot luck supper will be served for the grangers and their families. All grangers come, you are welcome.

A house to house canvass for Red Cross membership is being carried on throughout the week in Eveline. One hundred fifty members is our allotment. Lets go the second mile and make it 300. You know what it means for our soldiers and it may not be long before your son or husband will be a soldier in need of Red Cross assistance. Everyone subscribe.

CLARION

School will close Friday for two weeks vacation.

Dr. John Reycraft of Petoskey was in Clarion last week.

The M. E. Sunday school will hold a Christmas program at the church on Saturday evening. All are cordially invited to attend.

A party of 17 members of the Red Cross drove to Boyne City on Friday. They were entertained by the Red Cross of Boyne City.

Word was received here that Benj. Hawkins, who lately enlisted, has passed a satisfactory examination, and is now stationed at Columbus, Ohio.

A pretty wedding occurred Saturday at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Younce, when their daughter, Inez, was married to Bert Norton. Mr. and Mrs. Norton are congratulated by all.

DRIVE WELL UNDER WAY

ALL PARTS OF COUNTY WELL ORGANIZED

Citizens, Business Men and Farmers Urged to Do Their Part in World-Wide Movement

The county membership drive is well under way with every part of the county orgsnized and working to gain the quota assigned to it. R. S. Sidebotham, as county chairman of organizing work, had every township provided for and material for work sent to local chairman the week before the campaign opened. As chairman of publicity work, Miss Stewart has sent Red Cross pamphlets to every teacher of rural schools and to all city publicity chairman. Thursday, December 20, has been proclaimed Red Cross School Day in accordance with plans laid down by the state for all districts in Michigan.

Olaf Nordrum of Charlevoix, advises us that things are moving fine in Charlevoix and that they have a lot of good men there. His advertiser, Mason Rose, is full of enthusiasm and even at opening of campaign had placed in windows of merchants the semblance of Red Cross work, so that every sympathetic passerby may see and know the true spirit of the work we do and co-relate this with the true spirit of Christmas. It is his intention that the good men of Charlevoix will make every family n hundred percent family and thus far exceed the small quota assigned to our county seat.

Mr. Merrill of Boyne City believes that Boyne can "go over the top" and live up to Boyne's reputation for progress and spirit. Boyne must have a clear thousand to gain its quota, but the spirit in which they saw their "boys off" at the time of the last contingent, will surely come to the front and prove to the state headqunrters that every part of Charlevoix county, like the one horse shay, is stronger than every other part. C. T. Sherman, Red Cross publicity man, for the campaign, has the spirit right, and has worked with his several business men in a slogan drive in combination with all articles purchased in the city.

W. J. Ellson of East Jordon in following out a well classified line of campalgn, canvassing all peoplo nt their occupations as well as in the homes. In the churches Sunday morning, all were given a chance to enroll or renew their memberships. One mnn signed up for himself, three others and one dollar each for twenty one kindergarten children so that the west side is all provided for. There is still the central school, and all the grades to the twelfth if others wish to follow in the lead. It will help East Jordan to fill her quota, nnd help to put a surgicol dressing on a wound in Rumnnin in plnce of sawdust as a filler. Citizens should watch the thermometer at Strobel's nnd the dial at the bank to learn the success of the drive, then hoost. Mr. Blount, as advertiser, has four minute men in the thentre every night of the week and is in other ways working to make East Jordan feel that she must do her bit to come out on top.

Dr. Conkle of Boyne Falls, took sole charge of the eastern section of the county, and nppointed as chairmsn under him Ceo. Brown and W. H. Ransom of Melrose and J. M. Milford and J. M. Snyder of Chandler, while the Red Cross auxiliary of the Village of Boyne Falls has taken over the canvass. They are confident that Boyne Falls can gain the eighty-one members assigned her and that all the oast will prove loyal. Fatber Jewell has St. James and Peaine well under way and we look for a full quota from the Island.

John Koteskey of Horton Bay is responsible for all of Bay township and Frank Bird for Hayes and the prospects aro fine for both sections. Rev. Parshall of Norwood is looking after Norwood township, and one district in Marion. Elmer Ingalls accepted the chairmanship of three remaining districts of Marion and we expect things Saturday night to show flying colors for Marion. Mr. C. H. Dewey of Phelps is looking after the patriotic and benevolent spirit in Phelps, to make that corner do its bit. E. S. Brintnall of Wilson hopes to report to the county chairman that Wilson township will take no back seat for any township and to prove that her German population are anxious that our boys at the front are well cared for. Every loysl citizen will do this by joining the Red Cross. Nathan Liskum has South Arm well in hand and good old South Arm will rally to the call, work with him, respond to the need and fill the quota. Earl Clark has Eveline to work and the public already knows that he has efficient help and many boosters to prevent the catastrophe of any faithful leaders being compelled to work alone in a good cause. Unless neigbboring townships "get busy" Eveline will prove in two days more than she has everything on the map.

During the week before the drive, every business man was willing and ready to co-operate, every farmer gave a willing ear, and everyone requested to assist earnestly but gladly accepted the responsibility. Sunday morning the campaign started out at white heat and the workers all knew at once that the homes in Charlevoix county had already felt the grim hand of war, that they knew that the poor children of France must be fed and that our county Company I, would be somewhere in France in three or four weeks, dependent upon the Red Cross for comfort, health, perhaps for even the chance to live. There was an earnestness about the church congregations gathering to hear the Red Cross sermons that found relief only in extending the helping hand to join in an nttempt to mitigate the terrible sufferings in No Man'a Land.

Our county, our good old Charlevoix county has more men in military service in proportion to its popuintion than any other county of the state, our county oversubscribed the liberty loan, and came out gloriously on top in the Y. M. C. A. drive. It is to our shnme then that Charlevoix county is second lowest in the state in its Red Cross membership. The Red Cross spirit is this week to supplant the Christmas spirit. At the time this article goes to press, we have not at hand the exnct figures showing the gain in membership but it must be borne in mind that only renewals and new members county. Three days will tell to the county, to the state and to the notion, whether the good citizens of this county have listened to seditious schemers in their efforts to disrupt our forces or whether they have stood loyally and truthfully behind the boys nt the front, whether they trust our President Wilson as President of the Rod Cross snd they will go at home to win the war and save the boys who are fighting for us. Our president and all federal officers our governor and all officers of state our mayors and township officers, our schools, and our churches all stand back of the Red Cross. Our government is the people and the Red Corss is our government volunteers. The county population is over nineteen thousand and we should have just that many volunteer government workers; there should be just that many Red Cross members in Charlevoix county. They should not walt to be bunt up their not walt to be askod but hunt up their chairman and joln for the entire family. Three days moro will tell the tale! Shall we have a Charlevoix county Godlike in spirit and earnest in actlon. WAKE UP! CHARLEVOIX.

WHAT A MAN WANTS FOR CHRISTMAS

When a man wants to be "dead sure" of the right thing for a Woman's Xmas Gift, he goes to a woman's store; there he sees what women buy for themselves, and gets tbe expert advice of other women.

The rule works both ways, and the resourceful women seeks out the man's store and the advice of other men.

This is a store for men; it sells things a man enjoys owning; the things he gets for himself. And it's a place for both men and women to buy gifts for men.

Our stock is generous and varied:

Wool and Sheeplined Mackinaws
Fur Coats and Fur Mittens
Wool Shirts, Underwear and Socks
Mittens, Fur Caps, Cloth Caps
Traveling Bags and Trunks

The line of goods is so varied it is hard to enumerate all of them. Our line of Wool Coats for boys have proved winners and many have bought them. We bave Sweaters for Men, Boys and Women, heavy work clothes that stand the wear and tear, Knee Pants for boys, Boys' Mackinaws, and hundreds of articles that are suitable for gift making. Ask to see our line, we will be glad to have you call whether you buy or not.

FOUND DEAD IN HER CELL

RUTH MCNEVEN ENDS LIFE BY HANGING

Body Found Hanging From Rope in Cell When Called for Supper

Ruth Blaine, or Ruth McNeven, as she is most generally known, who has been confined in the county jail since the latter part of August, committed suicide on Sunday last about 5:00 p. m., by hanging herself.

The unfortunate young woman had been confined in the jail during this period of time for her connection with the hold-up of one Jack Brock, which took place on the Norwood road, south of the city, on the evening of August 14. This affair was one of the rawest ever staged in this section of the state. It will be remembered that the McNeven girl invited Brock to take a walk with her and while they were sitting beside the road, her accomplice, Richard Castle, appeared on the scene and proceeded to beat up Brock, in an attempt to relieve him of his money. Brock, however, managed to escape, with the result that both the McNeven girl and Castle were arrested, placed in jail, where they have since remained awaiting trial.

The young girl occupied a cell off the corridor leading to the apartment occupied by male prisoners. Practically during the entire time of her confinement, her breakfast had been taken to her cell, but for dinner and supper, she was allowed to leave her cell and eat at the table of Turnkey Howard and family. On the day she ended her life her first meal had ended her dife her first meal had been taken to her, and she had eaten her dinner at the Howard table. About 5:20 Sunday p. m., a daughter of Mr. Howard went to her quarters and called her for supper. Receiving no response, she looked into the cell and saw her body hanging from a rope used for lowering a window.

Alarm was immediately made and Coroner Dunham notified before the body was cut down. Examination showed that she had been dead from 20 to 30 minutes.

The rope used was attached to a window used for ventilating the cells, and, as we have been informed, was left hanging or tied in the cell. The young woman had evidently reached up and untied the rope, which was at lease five feet from the floor, and while standing on her suitcase made it fast around her neck and then either jumped off or kicked the case over, allowing the full weight of her body to extend from the rope. Death from strangulation resulted in a few minutes.

The remains were removed to See's undertaking parlors and prepared for burial. Relatives were notified and it is expected interment will take place some time Thursday.

WHAT PIE FOR CHRISTMAS?

Who ever heard of a real Christmas dinner without mince pie?

It can't be done.

There may be cakes and cookies and puddings and all kinds of sweet things but unless there is mince pie there just isn't any real Christmas dinner.

And since it takes mince pie to top off the feast dinners, wouldn't it be a good idea to have mince pie to top off many of the other good meals? Wouldn't it just make the meal on many occasions?

As you probably know, NONE SUCH MINCE MEAT comes in an up-to-date package form — secure from handling; is moderate in price and becomes three times the package weight when [illegible] necessary moisture.

It is the economical [illegible] to buy mince meat because it [illegible]

The package recipe [illegible] for pies, cakes, puddings, and cookies.

Try a NONE SUCH War Pie—no top crust. Saves flour, shortening, labor, money — half the crust. Helps the U. S. Food Administration.

The pie that is good enough for Christmas dinner is good enough for other meals — breakfasts, lunches, suppers, and in the dinner pail. Try it with NONE SUCH MINCE MEAT.

CITY LEASES RICHARDI PLANT

NEW ARRANGEMENT TO TAKE IMMEDIATE EFFECT

The City of Charlevoix entered into an agreement with Henry Richardi of Bellaire today (Wednesday) which may be the final solution of all past and future trouble regarding the city's supply of electricity for lighting and power purposes.

Under the new deal, the City of Charlevoix has entered into a lease with Mr. Richardi, which allows them to take over the Bellaire plant and run it themselves, the consideration being $800 a month.

At the spring election the matter of purchasing the entire holdings of Mr. Richardi, including power plant, water rights, etc., will be voted upon, a satisfactory price having been agreed to between both parties concerned. Should the city at this election decide to buy (Mr. Richardi's) holdings, the rental under the present lease will be applied to the purchase price, and the city becomes its owner.

The lease is for a period of ten years, price per month $800, the city to pay all upkeep and running expenses. In next week's issue of the Courier, we will give in detail the entire proposition. The shift from the Rock Product plant to the Bellaire plant will probably take place Thursday.

GAVE SURPRISE PARTY IN HONOR OF SISTER

Mrs. Crover Ceneit gave a surprise miscellaneous shower Monday evening in honor of her sister, Miss Murion Swartz, who is soon to be married to H. O. Mohrman of Lansing.

The dining room decorations were carried out in pink, and from the ceiling at each end of the table, was suspended a pink parasol into which the shower of gifts were placed. The favors were pink baskets filled with sweetmeats and decorated with hearts and cupids. Twelve young ladies were present and the gifts were numerous and beautiful.
